Senior Day Activities Today; Party At Patio Begins At 3

By LEE ARBOGAST
Today is the day for all the seniors to enjoy themselves, for today is Senior Day.
Things got started with free flicks last night. Members of the class of '59 enjoyed themselves at two showings of "Green Mansions," thanks to the kindness of Andy Gutierrez, manager of the Varsity Theatre.

And today is the big day. All seniors with the permission of their instructors are excused from regular classes. Official activities get under way with a class meeting in Memorial Hall at 10:00 this morning.

Jeff Hare, class president, has stressed how important it is for all members of the class to be present at this meeting. For one thing, the permanent class officers will be elected, as will be Mr. Alumnus and Miss Alumna. Another important feature will be an explanation of the Alumni Drive by Mr. J. Maryon Saunders, Alumni Secretary for the University. Tickets for the afternoon drawings will also be given out at the meeting.

After the class meeting, festivities will be transferred to the Patio; here, all sorts of entertainment and fun are in store. There will be games, such as badminton, horse-shoes, beer-baseball, and a golf chipping contest, with prizes. Eric Roper and Don Millan have even ordered "equipment" from Reno for the casino-run.

Care to test your skill and/or luck, pardner? Throughout the afternoon there will be drawings for various prizes donated by Town & Campus and The College Shop.

Jim Talley will MC the talent show which will begin round five o'clock and feature The Shades and The Circle Nine. Humor, melodies, and lots of surprises are in the offing—fun for all.

Someone will be getting hungry along about this time, so, thanks to Sarah Arnold and the Senior Social Committee, there will be a delicious bar-b-que supper from Watts Restaurant for the seniors around six.

Nick Kearnes will provide the entertainment for the evening. Starting around eight, Nick and his combo will be going strong. And it will even be economical to be there—after all, how often are the prices on the Patio's chief commodity reduced, five cents a can?? Enjoy yourselves 'til 12, coeds.

Unfortunately, Wednesday morning, seniors will have to try to go to regular classes. And yet senior activities will still be going on, for Wednesday is the beginning of soliciting for the Alumni Fund. This really is important to the class, the individual members of the class, and to the University as a whole. Members of the Class of '59 cannot be urged strongly enough to join and support their University.

Thursday will be another regular school day, but things will begin jumping again that night. Hogan's Lake, "the scenic part of the territory," will be open for members of the senior class. The BYO party will officially get under way at eight when Willy Hargraves and his combo begin entertaining. As a last fling, coeds will once more get to stay out 'til midnight.

Things will be fun. Don't forget that important class meeting at ten this morning in Memorial Hall. See you there.

MED AWARD WINNERS — Robert A. Ferrell, left, and Robert C. Brown, right, have been named winners of the Sheard Stanford Prize of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists. Shown with the two students is Dr. Kenneth Brinkhous, head of the Department of Pathology. The $100 awards will be made at the commencement program of the School of Medicine on June 1.

Student Party Passes Nine Bylaw Revisions

The Student Party made final eight revisions of its bylaws in its meeting Monday night.

The Constitutional Revision Committee, chaired by Bill Whichard, made all but one of the recommendations.

The party chairman will henceforth appoint a single executive assistant to help him fulfill his duties. The secretary will be required to prepare copies of Advisory Board and party meeting minutes for both the chairman and vice chairman.

The treasurer will submit monthly financial reports to the party. In the future the file clerk will be elected. It was announced that Betty Phillips has been appointed to this position for the coming year, under the former bylaws.

The membership of the SP Advisory Board, the party policymaking body, was increased by two members to be elected in the fall. The Advisory Board will have power to request oral reports from the chairman of standing and special committees, rather than having weekly written reports required.

In the interest of more efficient campaign management, the party decided to have four coordinators, rather than the two customary in the past. There will be an overall campaign coordinator, a "Big Four" coordinator, a legislative coordinator, and a special coordinator.

The party passed an amendment to the bylaws proposed by Tom Cordle providing for the reimbursement of party officers for expenditures connected with the party.

There was some discussion of a proposed amendment concerning the establishment of a joint membership and publicity committee. After it was specified that the committee handle no elections publicity, the amendment passed its first reading. The bill calling for an additional $55 appropriation to the National Students Association for a tenth delegate to the national convention, which failed by two votes in the Legislature, was discussed at some length.

It was announced by social chairman Martha Morgan that the Student Party will have a pizza party at La Pizza next week, following a short meeting in Roland Parker Lounge at 7:30 p.m. All party members have been urged to attend.

AFROTC Presents 3 Awards

Two Cadet of the Month Awards and one Military Achievement Award were presented to outstanding AFROTC Cadets during drills on April 30.

Receiving the Cadet of the Month award were Cadets William M. Richardson and William J. Smith, both freshmen.

Lewis D. Saunders, a junior business major, was presented the Military Achievement Award. Saunders is Commander of the Arnold Air Society.

The Cadet of the Month Award is given to the cadet who is most outstanding on the basis of performance, interest and appearance.

PiKAs Elect Officers

Following its elections Wednesday night, Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity named Dick Robinson as president.

Don Hearn was selected as vice president; Tom Efrid, treasurer, and Bucky Lineburger, social chairman.

Robinson appointed Tom Smith as secretary.

These officers will serve until December.

Raper Names 4 Students In Science Study Here

In naming YWCA cabinet members for the coming year, Jack Raper, YWCA president, announced that four of the newly appointed committee heads are Ed Crow, Y-Night; Vince Muliere, U. N. Educational Committee; Jack Boswell, Foreign Student Committee, and Don Miller, Buildings Committee.

Crow, a junior, has worked with the Y's "Cavalcade of Talent" show during his three years at the University. His committee will be responsible for the talent show and for the combination picnic and entertainment programs which the Y sponsors each spring.

The U. N. Educational Committee sponsors U. N. seminars to New York, the U. N. Model Assembly in Chapel Hill and other educational activity for the United Nations. Muliere, a junior, took an active part in planning this year's Model Assembly.

The committee headed by Boswell, another junior, will seek to aid foreign students in their adjustment to the University and the community by providing classes in English, arranging opportunities for visits in American homes and taking other steps to help orient the foreign student to his new environment. Miller, a freshman, will handle the assignment of office space in the Y building.

INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included:

Cynthia Stokley, Thomas Fratey, Joseph McKenzie, Howard Mayo, Chandler Van Orman, Louis Brown, Wesley Smithman, Franklin Jones, William Owens and James Early.

Send Message To Your Mom Via Radio Club

Don't mail a card for Mother's Day, send it via the UNC Amateur Radio Club.

As a part of their permanent messages service to the campus, the club is running a "special" on Mother's Day messages this week. Anyone wishing to send a message is asked to place it in one of the Radio Club message boxes located in the Y and at Graham Memorial or telephone 3916 after 6:30 p.m.

Each message should contain the name and address of the receiver, the message in brief and the signature and address of the sender. The service is free.

During April the number of messages reached a total of 131 as compared to 63 and 24 messages for the two previous months which the club station has not been on the air.

Not included in this total are the numerous "phone patches" or calls in which the telephone line is connected to the transmitting and receiving equipment.

Senior Orator Will Receive Mangum Medal

The annual Willie P. Mangum Medal, the University's oldest award, will be presented to the outstanding senior orator Friday at 8 p.m., according to Dave Matthews, Mangum Medal Committee chairman.

The Mangum Medal is an oratorical award given under the auspices of the Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Literary Society.

Seniors wishing to enter competition for the Medal may still do so. Deadline for entrants is Thursday at 5 p.m., by which time oration topics should have been submitted to Dean Mackie's office.

Each contestant is expected to deliver an oration of about ten minutes (ten minutes length. Last year's orations included such topics as: "I Speak for Democracy," "How to Become B.M.O.C. or 13 East Steps Toward Failure" and "The Effects of McCarthyism in America." Winner of last year's Medal was Carl Barrington.

All graduating seniors, including those graduating at the end of summer school, are eligible to compete. The contest is to be held at 8 p.m. Friday in Di Hall, 3rd floor, New West. It will be judged by members of the faculty, representing the economics, history and English departments.

The Mangum Medal was established in 1878 by Misses Martin Person and Mary Mangum of Orange County in memory of their father, Willie P. Mangum, a member of the University class of 1815.

Correction

The Daily Tar Heel would like to correct a story which was printed on Sunday morning. The paper said that two University students had been convicted in a check forgery case and sentenced to 18 months.

In reality, the bill of indictment read worthless checks and not check forgery. The sentence was 18 months suspended.

We regret this error.—Editor

Social Fee Vote Today

Coeds will vote today on whether or not social and activity fees will be levied next year.

If a special referendum is passed by two-thirds of coeds voting, the Women's Residence Council will request the administration to authorize the collection of the fees, not exceeding $5 per year, from all dorm residents.

The polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. today in all coed dorms. In Kenan, the hours for balloting will be from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The legality of the collection of social and activity fees by each coed dorm was challenged earlier this year. A ruling by the Student Council held that the collection of fees by dorms was unconstitutional.

In action taken by Student Legislature two weeks ago, a bill was passed calling for the referendum.

On the ballot, the referendum states: "I am in agreement with the collection of social and activity fees provided they are not in excess of $5 per year." Coeds will vote either "yes" or "no."

The collection of fees through this year has been $3 from each dorm resident each semester.

Pulitzer Prizes; Drama Goes To 'J.B.'

NEW YORK, May 4.—The 1959 Pulitzer Prize for fiction was awarded today to "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters," by Robert Lewis Taylor.

The drama award went to "J.B." by Archibald MacLeish.

The gold medal for meritorious public service in journalism was awarded to the Utica, N. Y., Observer-Dispatch and Utica Daily Press for their campaign against local vice, gambling and corruption.

The international reporting prize went to Joseph Martin and Philip Sanatoro of the New York Daily News, for their account of the downfall of the Batista regime in Cuba.

Other Awards
The other journalism awards were: National reporting—Howard Van Smith of the Miami, Fla., News, for his account of the cleanup of a Florida migrant labor camp.

Local reporting—Miss Mary Lou Werner of the Washington, D. C., Evening Star, for a story at edition time; John Harold Brislin of the Scranton, Pa., Tribune and the Scrantonian, for a story involving no deadline.

Editorial writing—Ralph McGill of the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.

Cartoons—William H. (Bill) Mauldin of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

News Photography—William Seaman of the Minneapolis Star.

Literary Prizes
Besides the drama and fiction prizes, these literary awards were made:

History—"The Republican Era: 1869-1901," by Leonard D. White, with the assistance of Miss Jean Schneider.

Biography—"Woodrow Wilson,

American Prophet," by Arthur Walworth.

Poetry—"Selected Poems, 1928-1958," by Stanley Kunitz.

The Pulitzer Prize for music went to John La Montaine for his "Concerto For Piano and Orchestra."

The editorial award to McGill was based on the body of his work during 1958. Specifically cited was an editorial "One Church, One School . . ." which appeared on Oct. 13. The citation also referred to "his long, courageous and effective editorial leadership." The specific editorial referred to the bombing of a synagogue in Atlanta, Ga., and a high school in Clinton, Tenn., as the work of "rabid, mad dog minds."

Mauldin Wins Second
Mauldin received the cartoon award, his second Pulitzer Prize, for a drawing published Oct. 30 after Boris Pasternak was forced to give up the Nobel Prize for Literature. Its title was "I Won The Nobel Prize for Literature. What Was Your Crime?"

Seaman's prize-winning photograph appeared May 17 and showed a dead child lying on a street. Its caption was "Too Late—The Doctor Walked Away."

The gold medal for public service went to the Utica newspapers for "their successful campaign against corruption, gambling and vice in their home city and the achievement of sweeping civic reforms in the face of political pressure and threats of violence."

The citation continued: "By their stalwart leadership of the forces of good government, these newspapers upheld the best traditions of a free press."

Senior Class Picks Officers, Mr. Alumnus, Miss Alumna

The election of five permanent senior class officers, Mr. Alumnus and Miss Alumna will be held at the senior class meeting this morning at 10 o'clock.

John Owens, chairman of the class Nominations Committee, released the names of 12 men and 3 coeds nominated for the class offices. Five other men and five coeds have been nominated for Mr. Alumnus and Miss Alumna.

From the list of 12 men, four will be elected as president, first vice president, second vice president and treasurer. (Any additional nominations from the floor will be accepted.)

In a block beside the names of the 12 men, seniors will vote using the numbers: 1, 2, 3 and 4. The 4 will be placed in a box beside the senior's candidate for president; 3, for the first vice presidential choice; 2, second vice president, and 1, treasurer.

The candidate with the greatest total number from the balloting will be president. The other officers will be indicated by the next high total numbers.

Nominees for these four offices include the following: Wayne Bishop, John Brooks, Bob Carter, Rudy Edwards, Don Furtado, Herman Godwin, Al Goldsmith, Jeff Hare, Hamp Lefler, Jim Long, Danny Lotz and Tucker Yates.

Just a simple check will indicate the senior's choice for permanent secretary. Candidates for this office are Nancy Adams, Katie Stewart and Paddy Wall.

One choice for Mr. Alumnus and for Miss Alumna will be made from these candidates presented by the Nominations Committee: Wayne Bishop, Don Furtado, Herman Godwin, Al G. Goldsmith and Danny Lotz, and Nancy Adams, Katie Stewart, Paddy Wall, Doug Kellam and Dee Dee Devere.

Graduation Invitations May Be Picked Up Today

Graduation invitations may be picked up by seniors today and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on second floor of the Y Building.

The Order of the Grail, which is in charge of the distribution of invitations, has a limited number of extra invitations which will be sold today and Wednesday.

"INHERIT THE WIND" — Shown above are Lloyd Borstelmann, Douglas McDermott and Fred Sitton in The Carolina Playmakers forthcoming production of "Inherit the Wind" scheduled for The Forest Theatre, May 7-9 at 8:30 p.m. "Inherit the Wind" tells the dramatic story of the famous "Scopes Trial" of 1925. Borstelmann appears as Drummond (Clarence Darrow in the original court proceedings) and Sitton plays the role of Brady (William Jennings Bryan). Tickets for "Inherit the Wind" are $1.50. They will be available at The Forest Theatre box office on performance evenings only.

FILL'ER UP — Linda Biser serves punch to thirty parents during Alpha Phi Omega's ninth annual Parents' Day held yesterday. Nearly 1,500 parents and visitors sat under Davie Poplar to hear Vice President William D. Carmichael tell of University traditions and aims. Military reviews, open houses in the various students residences, UNC glee club and band concerts, exhibits and displays highlighted the day. "Thank heaven it's over!" said APO Parents' Day chairman Larry Hayer. Hayer has been chairman of the fraternity's major service project for the past two years. APO is the only fraternity at UNC devoted solely to service. (Photo by Murphy)
