

Why Are You Here?

(See INQUISITIVE PHOTOGRAPHER, Page 6)

U.N.C. NEWS

VOL. I, NO. 2

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1959

EIGHT PAGES

School Week In Session Here

"Meeting the Challenge of Talented Youth" is the theme of this year's school week program, sponsored by the School of Education, now in its second day on the University campus.

Last night, Robert J. Havighurst, professor of Education at the University of Chicago addressed a body of predominantly students on "The School's Responsibility for the Academically Talented Student." The meeting in Carroll Hall auditorium, where all the conference sessions will be held, was presided over by Arnold Perry, dean of the School of Education.

High School TV Institute Opens Here

ELMER OETTINGER

State high school students attending the ninth annual North Carolina High School Radio-TV Institute will have the instruction of University faculty members plus speeches by some of the outstanding radio and television men in the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters.

Elmer Oettinger, lecturer in the Radio, Television, and Motion Picture (RTVMP) Department of the University, directs the two-week workshop, which began Sunday and ends Sunday, June 21, under the co-sponsorship of the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters and the University Extension Division and department of RTVMP.

The Institute will offer courses (See RADIO-TV, Page 4)

Campus Sees

Crowd of high school students standing on steps on Morehead Planetarium, all talking. Frustrated photographer, trying to assemble group, finally gives up and whistles loudly. Silence. Apparently stunned by the sudden silence, photographer hesitates before beginning to give more directions.

Professor Thelma Gwinn Thurstone of the University's School of Education will speak on "Identifying the Gifted" tonight at 8 p.m. A. K. King, director of the summer session, will preside.

"A Feasible Program for Educating America's Talented Youth," will be the topic of Professor Havighurst's address, Thursday morning at 10:30. Arthur Jordan, professor of Education here, will preside at the terminal meeting.

"The program was geared to the students this year," said Dean Perry. The general idea of school week has been to aid North Carolina's teachers and school administrators and to present them with a challenge. Because of such a large attendance from the summer school students in past years this conference topic was chosen with them in mind.

The two speakers, Professor Havighurst and Professor Thurstone, are not only educators but have both conducted research and authored books in the field. Professor Havighurst after research in the field of human development at all age levels, wrote or co-authored "Who Shall Be Educated?"; "Father of the Man"; "Adolescent Character"; "Older People"; "Society and Education" and "Educating Gifted Children."

Professor Thurstone who has been here since 1952 has published "Learning to Think Series"; "Tests of Primary Mental Abilities"; "Factorial Studies of Intelligence"; "Primary Mental Abilities."

Professor Havighurst first (See SCHOOL WEEK, Page 6)

PROF. ROBERT HAVIGHURST

DR. THELMA GWINN THURSTONE

... UNC's specialist in education of gifted children

Ford Foundation Sponsors Educational TV Training

By JANE McCORKLE

"On Camera" educational TV secondary school teachers from all over the United States will arrive here on June 15 to begin an eleven day workshop in the new educational TV program.

This Inter-School TV Program is being sponsored by the Fund for the Advancement of Education and the Ford Foundation. UNC's many facilities for telecasting are credited for its selection as the conference site.

Alexander J. Stoddard of the Ford Foundation will direct the program. He is the consultant and director for the national Inter-School TV program for youth education. He will be assisted by Dr. Lyndell Welbourne and other members or the Ford Foundation staff.

Speakers at the sessions will be Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, vice president for the Fund for Advancement of Education; Charles Siepmann, noted authority on educational TV; professor Leslie Greenhill of Penn State, director of research investigating the effectiveness of educational TV; and Cliff Mitchell, former UNC professor.

After the conference 140 of the teachers will stay for three more weeks as graduate students.

"Educational TV will take the best teachers and make them to find."

available to every crossroad in North Carolina," said Dean Perry, "The problem concerns getting good teachers to more students, and good teachers are hard

Teachers from 42 North Carolina school systems will take back the formation of an educational telecast program back to the state's "cross roads."

Summer President Gives Appointments

By SUSAN LEWIS

Angus Duff, acting as president of summer session Student Body as appointed by the regular session Student Body President Charlie Gray and confirmed by the student legislature, has announced committee and board appointments for summer school.

Hank Patterson was appointed by the Student Body President, will serve as summer school secretary-treasurer.

Duff and Patterson will serve as chairman and secretary-treasurer respectively of the summer school Student Government Board. Also serving on the committee will be Jerry Fisher, Dewey Sheffield, Marvin Taylor, Richard Olive and Moyer Smith.

The judiciary will consist of the Men's Honor Council and the Women's Honor Council. Jimmy Thompson, Wayne Anderson, Elliot Swartz, Davis Young and Gay Shuford will serve on the Men's Honor Council. No chairman has yet been announced.

The Women's Honor Council will be headed by Libby Johnson. On the Council are Patty Faires, Claire Hanner, Rose Hawk, Alice Kent, Gayle Melton and Judy Rock.

Duff announced that there would be a meeting of the Men's and Women's Honor Council and the Student Government Board next Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Roland Parker I.

Acting as president of summer school, Duff will have the power to appoint the chairmen and members of temporary committees; to call and preside as chairman of the Student Government Board; to (See PRESIDENT, Page 5)