Four Judicial Bills Confront Board

Astronaut Stops For Nothing, But

Space Trip Costs Soar

This is no ordinary man being sawed in half, but is Morehead Planetarium's Lt. Maltsby being prepared to accommodate the reclining support in the hypothetical space ship for a "Trip to the Moon" program opening June 30. Authentic high altitude pilot's gear in the background was lent to Morehead Planetarium for the program by Seymour Johnson Air Force Base. Sawing the hypothetical spaceman is Jim W. Gates, Planetarium technician.

Move Made To Cool Off GM Offices

Five bills, four of them dealing with summer school operation of campus judiciary bodies, were introduced in the Monday afternoon meeting of the Summer School Government Board.

The fifth, introduced by Dewey Sheffield, proposed appropriating $1,000 for air conditioning the Student Government Offices. Sheffield's bill was sent to the Finance Committee for consideration.

The four judiciary bills are:

1. a resolution to establish councils for Honor Code and Campus Code violations;
2. a resolution to establish an attorney general, an assistant attorney general and an attorney general's staff for summer school sessions. (Investigations of campus and honor code violations are currently investigated by two non-voting members of the Honor Councils.)
3. a resolution to specify jurors' responsibilities and duties.
4. a resolution to specify councils' duties and responsibilities.

All five bills were sent to the Ways and Means and Finance Committee as for consideration; they will be reported out of committee at a Tuesday meeting.

Acting Student Body President Angus Duff appointed Moyer Smith and Dick Olive to investigate the feasibility of paving the parking lot in big fraternity court. He said the present lot has several holes in the paving.

In other executive action, the following appointments were made with Board approval:

Men's Honor Council: Bill Allen; Student Government Board: David Leffler; Ways and Means Committee: Chairman Dewey Sheffield, Jerry Fisher and Richard Olive; Finance Committee: Chairman David Leffler, Moyer Smith and Marvin Taylor.

Magill: 'No Activities Unless Interest'; Meeting Set Today

"If there is no interest after this next meeting, there will be no summer activities council," said Sam Magill, assistant dean of student affairs, Monday when two students showed up to organize summer activities.

Today at 4:30, with "a thousand dollars to finance us," Magill will help "anyone interested" plan summer activities in Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial.

"There can be or cannot be an activities council," said the assistant dean, "but the students should do it. If I wanted a program I could sit down in my office and write one out. That's not the way it should be done."

Underwriters Open Seminar

The eighth annual Seminar on Life Insurance, featuring separate sessions on formula programming and estate planning, will be June 22-25 at the University.

The North Carolina Assn. of Life Underwriters joins the South Carolina and Virginia Associations in sponsoring the study.

Courses will be taught by experts from the Institute of Insurance Marketing at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

The program is designed for agents, supervisors, managers and home office men from the tri-state area, and approximately 100 persons are expected to attend. Full time representatives of legal reserve life insurance companies are eligible to attend.

Classes will be conducted in Carroll Hall, under auspices of the UNC Bureau of Business Services and Research.

Advance enrollment is being handled by R. Kennon Taylor Jr., C. L. U., of Durham, special agent for New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

George Stone of Greensboro is the publicity chairman for the N. C. Assn. of Life Underwriters.
