Hurricanes Rally To Top Tar Heels

By ELLIOTT COOPER
Special to the Tar Heel

MIAMI, Fla. — Miami claimed its fourth victory of the season here last night in the Orange Bowl by combining a strong defense with the passing of Frank Curci to drop Carolina 14-7 before a crowd of over 31,000.

Twice in the game, the Hurricanes stopped Tar Heel marches inside their own 15, and this proved to be the difference in the contest.

The winners got one touchdown in the first half, and then rallied for another in the third period after a Jack Cummings to Al Goldstein pass had tied up the count at 7-7.

In the closing stages of the game, the Heels looked like they were going to come up with a second TD and a chance to knot up the count as they had the ball first and ten on the Miami 11. But two running plays gained only one yard, and Cummings then missed in a pair of passes to enable the winners to gain possession of the ball.

The Tar Heels got their only score of the night early in the third quarter after a 70-yard drive. The long gainer of this march was a 38-yard pass play from Cummings to Goldstein which carried down to the Miami 13. Three plays later the two combined again on a 12-yarder for the score. Bob Shupin's kick tied the score with 9:20 left in the period.

The Hurricanes were not to be denied, however, as they came back with a drive of their own to tally the winning touchdown. With Curci's passing doing most of the damage, Miami drove down to the Carolina 11, and on the next play halfback Jimmy Vollenweider swept his own left end and went the remaining yards for the payoff TD.

The Hurricanes' first touchdown came as the result of a pass interference penalty against Carolina halfback Skip Clement. Midway into the opening quarter, Cummings punted to Curci and the Miamian put the ball in play on their own 46.

On the next play, Curci ran for 24 yards down to the Tar Heel 30. The following three plays gained the Hurricanes but four yards. And on fourth and six, they lined up for a field goal attempt, but Curci took the snap from center and tossed a long pass into the end zone intended for Larry Wilson.

Both Wilson and Clement went up for the ball in the end zone and the Tar Heel back was charged with interference as he fell across the Miami end. This put the ball on the Carolina 1. On the following play Curci sneaked across for the score.

"To be able to speak English better" is the goal of 12 foreign students attending the YMCA English classes.

The Foreign Student Committee of the "Y" is conducting the classes to teach the students everyday American speech. The teaching committee comes from many parts of America. They are teaching the foreign students slang expressions, jokes, idioms and correct pronunciation.

The students come from Japan, Korea, Formosa, Algeria, Belgium, Puerto Rico, France, Egypt, Columbia, Philippines and several other countries.

The group meets Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. upstairs in the "Y". All interested foreign students are urged to attend.

Gov. Hodges, Party Visit In Frankfurt On Industry Mission

By HANNS HEUERBOURG

FRANKFURT, Germany.—Gov. Luther H. Hodges and other members of a North Carolina trade and industry mission made a 12-hour sidetrip to this financial capital of West Germany Friday.

They flew in Friday morning for a lunch arranged by the German-American Chamber of Commerce and were to leave again by air for Munich Friday night.

The lunch was attended by the governor and four other members of his party as well as five leading German businessmen, including Dr. Hans C. Boden, president of Allgemeine Electricitaetsgesellschaft, the German General Electric.

The governor told newsmen the three-hour discussion turned up "some very practical suggestions" from the Germans. He also said the Germans were very much impressed by the story he told of North Carolina's potential.

"Some of them had done some homework in encyclopedias," he said. "They were completely shocked when they heard that our state is the nation's largest manufacturer of textile, tobacco, and household furniture products."

He said the Germans suggested an exchange of information booklets as a practical way of further promoting business contacts.

In Germany, these booklets prepared by North Carolina with information on labor, taxes and other statistics, could be distributed through the chambers of commerce, the German businessmen suggested.

The governor said the results of the mission up to now had been "very satisfactory."

"It is an investment in the future, in good relations," he said.

In addition to the governor, these mission members attended the Frankfurt luncheon: Orton A. Boren, Watts Hill Jr., J. N. Pease and John M. Reeves.

Meanwhile, another group of the mission was busy in Stuttgart, following up initial contacts in individual talks at the Chamber of Commerce building there.

Members of the mission said at least two German manufacturers, one of baking machines and one of furniture, had definite plans of establishing branch plants in North Carolina.

The entire mission of 67 will link up in Munich Saturday. Gov. Hodges will make an address over Radio Free Europe, the privately financed American transmitter broadcasting to Iron Curtain countries.

Lewis R. Holding, president of the First Citizens Bank and Trust Co., probably will be on the air with him.

Interviews Monday For Dem Event

Interviews will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for selecting temporary chairmen for the Mock Democratic Convention to be held on campus April 28-29, Norman B. Smith announced yesterday. Smith is chairman of the convention's "national committee."

The interviews will be held on the second floor of the YMCA Building in the convention's office from 2-5 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday and 2-4 p.m. on Tuesday. There will be a poster in Y Court where interested students may sign up for the interviews.

Smith said that each living unit on campus will be a "state" for the convention. "I hope that several people from each dorm, fraternity and sorority on campus will show interest in being temporary chairmen for their 'state,'" said Smith.

He emphasized that there was no need for any political experience to be temporary chairman since there will be several meetings throughout the year to acquaint the chairmen with the structure of the Democratic Party and the duties of the chairmen.

The National Committee has been working on the convention since last spring, according to Smith, and he is sure that "several prominent speakers" will be at the two-day convention.

It will be the first mock political convention in the history of the University.

Student Directory Goes On Sale Monday

The 1959-1960 edition of the student directory will be on sale next Monday or Tuesday, Nov. 9 or 10. The directory will be on sale at Y-Court for 50 cents a copy.

This year's edition will contain the home and campus addresses of students and faculty members in addition to a description of the buildings on campus and information on Graham Memorial.

In Germany, these booklets pre-

Former Faculty Member Here Gets U-T Office

Dr. Herman E. Spivey, alumnus and former faculty member here, has been named academic vice president at the University of Tennessee, effective Feb. 15, 1960.

As academic vice president, Dr. Spivey will be responsible for all instructional, research and extension programs conducted on U-T's campuses at Knoxville, Martin and Nashville and for research and extension programs conducted throughout the state.

The university's medical units at Memphis are under the supervision of another vice president.

Dr. Spivey, a nationally known educator, is currently dean of the Graduate School at the University of Kentucky. He was a faculty member in the UNC English Department from 1933 to 1936.

Dr. Spivey was born in Hemingway, S. C., but was reared at Falcon in Cumberland County. He earned the A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of North Carolina.

Prominent in the American Assn. of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities Dr. Spivey is currently chairman of the Council of Instruction and a member of the Executive Committee of that organization.

2 UNC Language Professors Nominated To Assn. Offices

Two University language professors have been nominated for election to offices in the South Atlantic Modern Language Assn. at the 29th annual meeting in Atlanta, Ga. this week.

Frank M. Duffey of the Romance Languages Department was nominated for reelection as editor of the SAMLBA Bulletin for a three-year term.

Nominated for a three-year term as association secretary-treasurer was Dr. Ransom T. Taylor of the Germanic Languages Department. They are among six candidates named by a three-member nominating committee headed by Prof. Jacques Harde, also of UNC.

Several other Romance and Germanic language professors from UNC are taking part in the Atlanta meeting this weekend. A large delegation from the English Department also is attending and participating.

Presiding at sessions will be Dr. Walter W. Arndt, assistant professor of Russian, at the Slavic section and Alfred Engstrom French, at a literary criticism discussion.

Hollers has served as governor of Boy's State, president of his freshman class and is now on the varsity baseball team.

A party platform for the coming elections will be considered next Tuesday afternoon.

Students Urged To See About Absentee Votes

The Elections Board announced Friday that students who know they will be absent from Chapel Hill on the day of campus elections, Nov. 17, and who wish to vote must obtain an absentee ballot by 5 p.m. Nov. 13.

The General Elections Law states that "any student, who is unable to vote at the proper polling place for one of the following reasons: (1) interment in the infirmary, (2) absence from Chapel Hill, or (3) any other reason approved by the Elections Board, shall be permitted to vote."

A written request for such a ballot, turned in to Jay Deifell, Elections Board chairman, must include the individual's name, class, campus address and the address where the person will be.

After Nov. 13, the only way a student may obtain an absentee ballot on short notice is through the special permission of Deifell.

Meeting Set Monday To Recruit Members For Angel Flight

A meeting for girls interested in becoming members of the Angel Flight will be held at 5 p.m., Monday, in Gerrard Hall.

The Angel Flight is a sponsoring organization for the AFROTC. They meet each Thursday to aid in special functions of the group. Girls are chosen for their charm, beauty and interest in the AFROTC program.

At the Monday meeting full information about the program will be presented. Nominations may be made by Air Force cadets or by present Angel Flight members.

Nominees will be invited to a selections tea Nov. 12, 3-5 p.m. At that time the girls may sign up for an interview which will take place the following week. Invitations will be sent out soon after the interviews.

Chapel Hill Firemen Douse Blaze In Bank

A fire at the University National Bank on Franklin Street resulted in no extensive damage Friday night, according to the Chapel Hill Fire Department and to Gordon Perry Jr., assistant cashier of the bank.

Chapel Hill police reported that Officer Lindy Pendergrass spotted a blaze behind a teller's cage as he patrolled his beat about 3 a.m. He reported it to the Fire Department. Firemen gained entrance to the bank by breaking a front window.

According to Chapel Hill police, the blaze was evidently due to the burned out motor of a record player sitting on a counter. The fire had spread to paper material behind the counter when spotted by officer Pendergrass. The record player provides music for the bank's patrons.

UP Board Nominates Hollers Junior Prexy

The University Party executive board Thursday afternoon nominated Rus Hollers as candidate for president of the junior class.

Hollers has served as governor of Boy's State, president of his freshman class and is now on the varsity baseball team.

A party platform for the coming elections will be considered next Tuesday afternoon.

Study Groups Set Prior To Symposium

This year's Carolina Symposium topic, "The Image of Man: The Individual in an Accelerating Culture," will be discussed in a series of YM-YWCA-sponsored study groups, designed to prepare students for Symposium Week.

The first such meeting will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Y Cabinet Room with Dr. Maurice Natanson of the Department of Philosophy discussing "Concepts of Man."

Other study groups scheduled include a discussion on "The American Negro in an Accelerating Culture," led by Dr. Peter Walker of the Department of History, on Nov. 19 at 7 p.m.

On Dec. 1, at 4 p.m., Dean Maurice Lee of the Business

School will discuss "Socio-economic Factors in Our Society."

Dr. E. N. Adams of the Philosophy Department will discuss "The State" on December 8 at 7 p.m., and "The Modern Arts" will be discussed by Dr. Joseph Sloan from the Department of Art on Jan. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Each study meeting will develop a different phase of the

PROF. BERNARD FLEISCHMANN
... To Describe Literary Giants

Oklahoma U Educator To Speak Here Tuesday

New developments in European literature will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Bernard Fleischmann, of the University of Oklahoma, Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge of Carroll Hall.

Fleischmann will describe the work of such literary giants as Franz Werfel and Rainer Maria Rilke, as well as their relatively early fame. Then he will show that the current popularity of Franz Kafka, Hermann Broch, and other writers in Austria puts European literature in an entirely new and interesting perspective.

Frances Reynolds, chairman of the project, has stated; "We sincerely hope that you will seriously consider taking part in this study group. The individual student will profit, and the Symposium as a whole will profit."

Dr. Fleischmann received his doctorate in comparative literature at UNC in 1954 and was an instructor in English here until 1959. He is currently assistant professor of comparative literature at the University of Oklahoma and editor of the journal Books Abroad.

Fleischmann, who visits the campus under the sponsorship of the English Club, is perhaps best remembered in Chapel Hill for his lectures last fall and winter on the "Beat Generation."

The public may attend this lecture.

CORRECTION

Due to misinformation in yesterday's "Who, What, Where, When, Why, How" column, it was stated that Zete Bo McDonald pinned Josie Ehringhaus. He did not pin Josie, but Rena Clark.

Gans, Former Tar Heel Editor, Di-Phi Speaker

Curtis B. Gans, former editor of the Daily Tar Heel, will speak at the Di-Phi meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Di-Phi Hall.

"Educational Problems in American Universities" is the title of his speech. He said he would deal specifically with problems on the Carolina campus.

Gans, who is speaking in connection with National Education Week, is now National Affairs vice-president of the United States National Student Association.

Asked to enumerate some of the problems on the UNC campus, Gans, who has visited universities throughout the country, said, "You have every single problem that exists on any major campus in the United States."

He said that he considers education the "number one issue in the United States today."

"There is a great need for public concern about education and for an overturn of social values which place great emphasis on everything but the important things."

Gans said, "And I maintain that education is important," he concluded.

Gary Greer, president pro tem of the Di-Phi, said that all members of the NSA, which is meeting at Duke this week, and all UNC students are invited to hear the speech.

Cobb Dorm Schedules Its 1st Dance Of Year

Residents of Cobb Dormitory and their dates will dance to the music of Les Sutorius and his group next Saturday from 8-11:30 p.m. This is a free dance for the residents of Cobb and their dates only.

In conjunction with the event, 150 freshmen girls from WC are being brought over from Greensboro.

According to Swag Grimesly, president of the dormitory, this is only a part of the Cobb social program planned for this year. This annual fall dance is the first dance of the year for the dorm.

State YRC Official To Speak At Get Acquainted Meet Here

The UNC Young Republican Club will wind up its Fall Membership Drive Monday at 8 p.m. with a "get acquainted" meeting at the Law School Courtroom, second floor, Manning Hall.

The speaker for this meeting will be Erwin L. Porterfield, national committeeman, N. C. Federation of Young Republicans. Porterfield, who was one of 10 young Republicans in the U. S. chosen to visit and study NATO countries in Europe this past September, will speak about his tour which was part of a program to promote contact and cooperation with political youth leaders in other countries of the free world.

Porterfield has been a member of the Young Republicans for the past seven years. He has been chairman of the Young Republicans of Alamance County and has served three terms as National Committeeman for North Carolina in the YR National Federation.

In June of this year, he was a member of the platform committee for the National Federation and was elected vice chairman for five south-eastern states. He has attended the past three national Republican conventions.

Porterfield attended UNC and is a graduate of Elon college with degrees in history business administration. He is presently engaged in the real estate development business in Burlington.

In commenting on the membership drive, Warren H. Coolidge, club president said, "All young people at the University should join with us because of the opportunity available to make a contribution toward achieving stability and progress in both government and our economic life."
