

67 years of dedicated service to a better University, a better state and a better nation by one of America's great college papers. whose motto states, "freedom of expression is the backbone of an academic community."

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1959

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

Gamecocks To Open Season Against S. C. State This Afternoon

ROOPER
The Gamecocks basketball team will begin its season against South Carolina State this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. in the gymnasium of the latter school. The team is coached by Walter Hambrick, who is beginning his second season as the UNC head coach. The team is expected to reach its peak potential for tonight's another match with S. C. State. Senior guard Doug McKeel and junior forward Doug McKeel have been forced out of action.

With these two on the bench, the burden of carrying the Tar Heel offense falls on lettermen Harvey Saltz, Lee Shaffer, and York Larese. Moe's spot in the lineup will go to Ray Stanley with either Hugh Denzhue or Jim Hudcok starting at center.

Against the Gamecocks the Tar Heels have an almost unbelievable record of 29-1 in the series between the two schools. South Carolina was roughly handled in the ACC last season as it won but two games in conference competition and ended up in last place with a 2-12 league record. Overall the Gamecocks were not much better as they finished with a 4-20 slate for the year.

A change in the coaching ranks, however, and the return of eight lettermen brighten the SC outlook for an improved win-loss percentage.

Taking over from Walt Hambrick as head coach this year is thirty-six year old Bob Stevens. The Gamecocks' new mentor comes to South Carolina from Michigan State where he was an assistant to Fordy Anderson.

Although the SC cage forces lost the services of high scorer Jay Pericola along with Dickie Prater and Fred Lantz, the veterans that are back from a solid group with lots of experience. Leading this faction are forwards Mike Callahan and Walt Hudson, both of whom averaged better than ten points a game last season.

Holding down the center spot for the Gamecocks will be 6-10 Larry Dial and 6-7 Bob Frantz. In the backcourt is where South Carolina is hurting since Ronnie Johnson and Mal Quick are the lone veterans back.

Thursday night the Gamecocks opened their season with a 67-50 victory over Erskine. The outstanding feature of this game was the showing of sophomore Art Whisman who emerged as the high scorer with 21 points. A 6-4 forward, Whisman led the South Carolina frosh last year with a 16.5 average.

Pre-Season Scrimmages

Despite the fact that the Tar Heels have had closed scrimmages with Furman, High Point and Belmont Abbey plus an alumni game last Wednesday under their belts, this afternoon's contest is the first one that will count in the record, and the outcome will be a definite measure of how good Carolina is really going to be.

In Larese, Shaffer, and Saltz, McGuire has a trio that hit on better than forty percent of their shots from the floor last season. The scoring averages for these three at the end of the 1958-59 season was 15.1, 13.2, and 11.9.

McGuire's top reserves in the early-season going figure to be sophs Yogi Potet and Don Walsh plus letterman John Crotty at the guards with Grey Poole and Lou Brown filling in up front.

Editor Davis B. Young Is Murdered

Davis Young is dead

Photo by Brinkhaus

Action Started As Part Of Annual Mock Trial

By FRANK CROWTHER
ACTING EDITOR

Davis B. Young, Editor of The Daily Tar Heel, was shot to death by an unknown assailant last night in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial.

Witnesses described the gunman as medium height and dressed in a polo coat, and hat pulled down over his eyes.

Sheriff Peter Maydanis of Manning County questioned the witnesses, and stated that, "my staff will investigate all possibilities in bringing the murderer to justice."

Maydanis stated last night several hours after the shooting that it was known that Young had many enemies which he had developed since assuming the editorship. He said that several leads had turned up, but declined to disclose names.

FLASH

Associate Editor Frank Crowther will take over immediately as acting editor. Crowther will serve until an election can be held to determine Young's successor.

BULLETIN

The action that took place last night is all part of the Annual Mock Trial sponsored by the PAD Legal Fraternity. This year's Mock Trial will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Friday, Dec. 11th in the Law School Courtroom. Attorney General Malcolm Seawell will be the presiding judge. Everybody is invited to attend.

Young entered the University in the fall of 1957, and began his political career that spring when he was elected to the Student Legislature. In November of 1958, he was elected president of the sophomore class in one of the most heated elections of recent UNC political history.

In that election, Young lost to Charlie Graham on the first ballot by 273-271. Young appealed the election on a series of discrepancies and the Student Council ordered a new election. Young was victorious the second time by 190-184.

Last spring, Young was elected to the editorship in another controversial election. At one point he was running against Dave Jones, Ron Shumate and Harold O'Tuel. All dropped from the race before Election Day, leaving Young the lone candidate.

Young was a 20-year-old junior from Lawrenceville, N. J. His family could not be reached for comment.

Debaters Participate In N. Y. U Tournament

UNC student debaters, who recently swept top honors in a Georgia event, are participating this week in the Home of Fame Tournament at New York University, along with teams from 50 northern schools.

Joe Roberts of Mt. Holly, and Jeff Lawrence, of Washington, D.

C. form UNC's affirmative team, and Taylor McMillan, of Parkton, and Mack Armstrong, of Rogersville, Tenn., the negative team.

At Emory University's Peachtree Invitational Debate Tournament in mid-November, the squad took the overall tournament win, the first place in affirmative team competition and first place in individual competition, won by McMillan.

Accompanying the students to New York was Donald K. Sprungen, instructor of speech in the Department of English.

Carolina is also represented this weekend at the 19th annual Appalachian Mountain Forensic Tournament at Boone. Competing for honors at the ASTC event are Carroll Raver and Jim Rivenbark, affirmative; and Johnny Killian and Earl Baker, negative.

At both the New York and Boone tournaments, the debate will center on the this year's intercollegiate query, "Resolved: That Congress should be given the power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court."

Increased Demand Noted For Liberal Arts Grads

An increased demand for liberal arts graduates as teachers in both public and private schools has developed in the past few years, according to Mary Watson, director of the Cooperative Bureau for Teachers in a release Friday.

Miss Watson pointed out that a student interested in teaching should not count himself out because he lacks specific educational training.

All students interested in obtaining further information may do so by writing the Cooperative Bureau for Teachers, 22 E 42nd St., New York City.

UNC Glee Club Slates Series Of Area Shows

The Men's Glee Club will have the opportunity to exhibit its talents at several local performances during the coming week.

At the UNC-USC game today the club will give a halftime show which will include "Hark the Sound," the "Finlandia Hymn," the "Fight Song," "Viva Tutti," and the first performance of a "College Medley," arranged by Dr. Joel Carter, the Glee Club director.

Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock worship service of the First Baptist Church, the club will present several selections from the works of Handel.

The "Christmas Hymn," as well as several Handel selections and traditional carols, will be sung for the Durham Women's Club at their Wednesday meeting, Dec. 8.

Algeria Scene Of 5-Year Battle Which Has Become Full-Scale War

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in the series of articles in accordance with International Emphasis Week. Today's article is authored by an Algerian refugee studying here.

By RACHID BENOUMEUR

Algeria is situated in the northern part of Africa, between Tunisia and Morocco. Since 1954 it has been the battlefield of a general uprising which is still going on and has become a full-scale war.

According to French statistics, between Jan. 1 and Aug. 1 of this year more than 23,000 Algerian freedom fighters have been killed. The French forces stationed in Algeria number 600,000 soldiers and policemen, two-thirds of the French air force and one-half of the French army.

The Algerian civilian population has been the main victim of this colonial war. During the past four and a half years approximately 500,000 civilians have been killed or seriously wounded as a result of French bombardments and reprisals; 100,000 are imprisoned or held in concentration camps; more than 300,000 are refugees in Morocco and Tunisia, and more than 1,000,000 Algerians have been forcibly "resettled" by the French army in heavily guarded centers where they are now in imminent danger of death from famine. Falling within the scope of the general movement of emancipation now sweeping Africa and Asia, Algeria presents one of the most tragic examples of the heavy cost of freedom.

The methods used by France in the conduct of this war of reconquest have been denounced by leaders throughout the world, as well as by many eminent Frenchmen who have been shocked by the irrefutable evidence of the use of torture and concentration camps—even in France—by the French army.

Therefore, it should occasion no surprise if the Algerian problem has focused the attention of the international community.

But the French government continues its refusal to recognize the principles laid down in the Geneva conventions on treatment of prisoners of war as applicable to the Algerian people.

Moreover, when the states of the Arab League and certain Asian and African countries, recently liberated from colonialism, brought the Algerian situation to the United Nations' attention in search of a solution, France refused to cooperate with the world forum, arguing that it was an "internal problem," so that the United Nations General Assembly has discussed the problem in four successive sessions in vain.

The responsibility of the UN members is much more seriously involved. After a more than five-year struggle, the western countries have not yet condemned colonialism in Algeria.

The following is from a North African and has been reproduced by John Phillips, an American citizen born in Algeria:

"We denounced the Russian terror in Hungary, like you Westerners. But I notice you Westerners do not denounce French oppression in Algeria which is just as bad. Is it because tyranny is only denounced when it is Communist and forgiven when practiced by the West? I hope this is not the case. If it is, I am certain the next generation of Moslems will turn back on the West and you will have lost far more than Algeria."

DR. E. P. DOUGLASS
To Discuss Free Enterprise

Dr. Douglass Speaker At Tuesday YRC Meet

The American free enterprise system and its role in our economic life will be discussed by Dr. E. P. Douglass at a meeting of the Young Republicans Club, Tuesday, 8 p. m., in the law school courtroom, second floor Manning Hall.

A UNC professor of history from 1952-57, Douglass is currently on a two year leave of absence. He is writing a book which will survey major trends in free enterprise from the 17th century to the present. This work is being made possible through a $40,000 grant, given to the University by the Smith-Richardson Foundation of Winston-Salem and New York, to study free enterprise.

Douglass, whose book "Rebels and Democrats: The Struggle for Political Equality and Majority Rule During the American Revolution" was published by the UNC Press in 1955, received his A.B. in history at Princeton, his Masters in Journalism at Columbia. Before entering Yale in 1945, where he received his Ph. D. in history, he worked as a reporter for the Hartford Times. From 1957-58 Douglass was at the University of Erlangen in Germany as a Fulbright professor.

Cancer-Smoking Report Stirs New Controversy

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A Veterans Administration scientist Friday said tissue studies of 238 men who smoked more than a half pack of cigarettes daily showed cell changes which "probably represent a change toward cancer."

The Tobacco Research Committee immediately challenged the statements by Dr. Oscar Auerbach, an associate professor at New York Medical College and who is on the staff of the East Orange, N. J., VA Hospital.

Dr. Robert C. Hockett of the Tobacco Committee said "These same observations first publicized ed by Dr. Auerbach in 1956 have not since been accepted by many other pathologists doing the same type of work and frequently studying many more lungs."

Auerbach's report was made at the annual clinical session of the American Medical Assn. meeting here.

He said lung cancer and conditions which lead to it "depend almost completely on the number of cigarettes smoked."

Tests were made on nearly 20,000 pieces of lung tissue from 402 men who died.

All the 63 who died of lung cancer were smokers, 60 of them using cigarettes, the report stated.

Of the 55 who did not smoke or were light smokers, few changes in lung cells were seen by Dr. Auerbach and a staff including Dr. Arthur Purdy Stout of Columbia University and Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond of the American Cancer Society.

The report said:

Smoking habits determined not only whether each individual had lung disease, but also the amount of cancerous, non-cancerous and pre-cancerous "damage done to the lung tissues."

Among smokers, as many as 75 per cent showed malignant cancerous change in the lining of the lungs which had not penetrated into the lung. The greatest percentage was in the group which smoked the most cigarettes.

The 238 whose lungs showed cell changes probably representing "a chance toward cancer" included the 63 who died of cancer.

Said Auerbach, "These anatomical observations seem to us to indicate that cigarette smoking (See CANCER, Page 3)

Here's Chance To Study In Europe

The Institute of International Education announces an opportunity for American students to combine a six weeks' program of liberal arts study in one of six summer schools abroad with vacation travel.

The British University Summer Schools program allows students to apply to one of its four schools, each of which concentrates on various subjects, Elizabethan drama, English literature, art and music, etc.

The summer school fees, including room, board and tuition range between $245 and $254. However, a few partial and full scholarships will be offered.

The two Austrian summer schools provide the opportunity to attend the Salzburg music festival. Emphasis is placed on German language study, but there will be certain courses taught in English.

Applicants for this program, sponsored by the Austro-American Society, must be between the ages of 18 and 40 and have completed one college year. The total cost of the program is $199 with a few full scholarships being offered.

Applications for both the British and Austrian study programs may be obtained from the Infor-

Students Urged To Buy 1959 Christmas Seals

"What is done for a person in the Chapel Hill community has its direct relationship to the health and welfare of the student population of the University," said Dr. David Gavin, district health director, in commenting on the Christmas Seal drive now entering its second week in the Chapel Hill-Carrboro area.

The proceeds of the drive, which benefit the Tuberculosis Association, are used for the prevention, research and cure of TB. Dr. Gavin pointed out that the benefits of tuberculosis control are often hard to determine or evaluate; but they have a tremendous effect on the whole community as the arrestment of one case may be responsible for the prevention of innumerable other ones.

Since the drive was launched last week all students have received Christmas Seals and have been asked to contribute to the campaign. It was pointed out that among other benefits all students receive free x-rays as a result of the money raised in the campaign.

Everyone has been urged to support the drive and to make use of the Christmas Seals distributed to them.

G. M. SLATE

The only scheduled activity in Graham Memorial today is a free dance, 9-12 p. m. in the Rendezvous Room.

Addison Hewlett Jr. To Speak At YDC Meeting Here Monday

Addison Hewlett Jr., possible N. C. gubernatorial candidate, will speak Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the south dining room of Lenoir Hall.

Hewlett is sponsored by the Young Democratic Club as part of their program to present each of the major candidates in the coming race for North Carolina governor.

Bob Futrelle, local YDC president, stated Friday that the cafeteria line will open Monday at 6:30 p. m. for those who would like to attend the dinner preceding the address. The public is invited.

HEWLETT
YDC Speaker