Legislature To Meet Tonight; Session To Consider 11 Bills

Student Legislature will meet tonight, 7:30, Phi Hall, fourth floor New East, to consider 11 bills.

All legislators have been urged by David Grigg, speaker of the legislature to be present as a quorum is necessary to do business, and it is necessary for certain bills to be considered before holiday adjournment.

The Crownover Bill to amend amendments to the constitution dealing with the judicial branch of Student Government is slated to come up for vote before the body.

The Daily Tar Heel finance bill is also expected to come up tonight. Other bills which might be on the agenda for the night include the Foreign Student's Relation Board appropriations bill, the Carolina Symposium appropriations bill, the codification of Student Government statutes commission, the paved sidewalk between Teague dorm and Raleigh Road, traffic safety in the area around the new men's dorms and the Campus Affairs Board bill. University Party Chairman Hank Patterson expressed the hope that necessary bills would be brought to the front and others held over until after the holidays, thus keeping the meeting as brief as possible.

Wrestlers Seek First Victory

Carolina dropped its third consecutive wrestling match last weekend and unless Sam Barnes forces pull themselves together quickly UNC seems destined for another losing mat campaign.

An apparently superior Tar Heel squad invaded the Citadel and found itself "out-conditioned and out-hustled," in the words of Barnes, to the tune of 23-8.

"The boys are angry and I am too," was Barnes' reaction to the third straight loss. He figured that his crew would defeat the Citadel easily, and had the Tar Heels done so and had they defeated Virginia in the 16-15 match they lost earlier in the campaign, they would have been off to the start they expected to have.

Barnes shouldered much of the blame for the Citadel defeat. "All (the boys) did their best; I just hadn't worked them hard enough all week." An indication of this lack of preparedness was seen in the fact that three Carolina wrestlers headed for victory were overtaken by their opponents.

Chip Woodrum (130) and Roger English (137), making their varsity debuts, and heavyweight Bill Shipp couldn't hold up after taking the lead.

Barnes will go with his first team lineup against Davidson tonight. That means Frank London at 123; Woodrum at 130; English at 137; Gilchrist at 147; Shuford at 157; Russell at 167; Alexander at 177; and Shipp at heavyweight.

Grail, GMAB Caroling At 8 Tonight In 'Y'

Don't forget the campus caroling tonight.

Carolers should meet in Y Court, 8 p.m.

Co-sponsored by the Order of the Grail and GMAB, the caroling will be accompanied by an accordionist and the Glee Club.

After the group has finished its rounds of women's dorms, President William C. Friday's home, downtown, big fraternity court and the Carolina Inn, the singers will go to Graham Memorial for refreshments.

Dick Robinson, Grail president, stated, "We hope every fraternity, sorority and dormitory will be with us tonight. Let's combine our Carolina spirit and use it to put back into Christmas the true meaning and real enjoyment of the season. I am sure everyone will have a fine time being together and caroling together."

"We feel that this Christmas caroling will add the finishing touch just before school is out and put us in the proper mood for the Christmas vacation," GMAB President Angus Duff said.

"Everyone is invited to enjoy refreshments at an informal gathering after the caroling; and although we are expecting only 500, we sincerely hope that many more than this will join with us to celebrate the pre-Christmas season," Duff added.

Good standing in the street behind Kenan dorm waving her coat like a matador and then jumping out of the way as cars got closer to her.

Full Dress Ceremony Scheduled By UNC Air Force ROTC

A full dress review ceremony is scheduled by the Air Force ROTC today in celebration of Wright Brothers Day.

The 1 p.m. review will be on Fetzler Field before high university officials, as well as the general public.

COUNT BASIE and his internationally acclaimed orchestra will be the feature performers at the Winter Germans concert February 20, German Club President Jonathan Yardley announced today. The program will include blues shouter Joe Williams, known for his rendition of "All Right, Okay, You Win," and the Lambert-Hendricks-Ross Singers, a vocal group famed for its versions of Basie hits.

Varsity Swimming Team Vies Here With Duke

Carolina's varsity swimming team splashes for the last time before Christmas this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Bowman Gray Pool when it takes on Duke.

The Tar Heels will be seeking their fifth victory of the season and their third win in Atlantic Coast Conference competition.

So far the swimmers own decisions over Clemson and South Carolina in league competition and East Carolina and VMI on the outside. The 48-47 win over the Pirates has been the only close meet of the campaign so far since the Tar Heels have scored better than sixty points in each of the other three.

Captain Harry Bloom continues to pace Carolina with his victories in the freestyle events. Coach Pat Earey enters him in the events which he figures he needs the most and Bloom finishes up first.

One of the major factors for the early success of the swimmers has been the performance of several of the sophomores on the team. Bob Bilbro, Jim Bromwell, Bob Briggs, and Bryon Williams have all done a lot of scoring for the Tar Heels in their respective specialties.

The Blue Devils already have lost to a conference foe since N. C. State turned them back 52-43. Against the Wolfpack in this meet Duke won the 400 medley relay, the diving, the 100 freestyle, the 200 backstroke, the 200 breaststroke, and the 400 freestyle relay.

Rhodes Scholarships Sought By 3 Students

Results of Rhodes Scholars interviews at Guilford College Wednesday have not yet been determined.

WUNC Names Staff Member Of The Week

Martin Richek has been selected as this week's outstanding staff member at WUNC Radio. The selection of Richek was made by Jack Mayo, WUNC station manager.

This marks the first time since the selection program began three weeks ago that a freshman has received the honor.

In making the selection Mayo said, "Martin has shown an intense interest in all phases of the station operation even in the three months he has been on the staff. His pleasant personality has made him a popular member of the WUNC staff."

At present Richek is a studio engineer on the station's staff. After getting his degree in Radio-Television and Motion Pictures he plans to enter radio and television production.

Prior to entering Carolina this fall he worked as a production assistant at radio station WKTC in Charlotte. This summer he attended the eighth annual High School Radio-Television Institute here, on a scholarship given by the Jefferson Standard Broadcasting Company, owners of WBT-WBTV in Charlotte and WBTV in Florence, S. C.

Eisenhower Heads For Summit Talks In Paris Saturday

Chief Of State's Stock Falls In France's Eyes

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — President Eisenhower's stock among French officials has sunk to a low ebb only two days before his arrival in Paris for a Western Summit Meeting.

Eisenhower is under attack among the higher echelons of the French administration, not so much as an individual but as head of a government that is sharply at odds with President Charles De Gaulle's policies.

Two controversial issues are creating at least a public impression of a U. S.-French crisis:

1. The United States dislikes the proud De Gaulle's attitude toward the Atlantic Alliance. His refusal to pool some of his French forces causes irritation. His resolve to lead France into the atomic weapons business at a time of delicate negotiations with the Soviet Union in Geneva on nuclear disarmament also raises U. S. misgivings.

2. For its part, France resents what officials consider to be inadequate U. S. support for De Gaulle's quest for an Algerian settlement. The U. S. abstention in last Saturday's United Nations vote on Algeria stunned Paris.

TEP's To Enlarge

TEP plans to enlarge.

Tau Epsilon Phi social fraternity recently purchased the house and lot at 220 E. Rosemary St., to the left of their present dwelling, at a cost of $20,000. The fraternity plans to spend approximately $75,000 remodeling the new house.

Construction will begin in March and will be completed next fall.

The buildings will be joined by a Colonial style porch. Behind the porch will be a living room which will run the length of both houses.

The kitchen will be moved into the new dwelling and other rooms will be converted into bedrooms.

President Relaxes In Mediterranean

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH

With Eisenhower in the Mediterranean, Dec. 16 (AP)—Relaxed and relaxed, President Eisenhower sailed over the sun-bathed Mediterranean today.

Comfortably clad in sports coat and slacks, the President took it easy most of the day as he headed for Tunisia, where tomorrow he will confer with Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba.

After a brief stopover in Tunis—eighth stop on his 11-nation mission—the President will return to the U. S. heavy cruiser Des Moines for a 24-hour cruise to Toulon. In the French city Friday, he will board a special train for Paris to attend the Western Summit Conference opening Saturday.

FIRST DAY
Even during this first rest break in his tour, the chief executive managed to put in two hours on drafting the state of the union message he will deliver to Congress in January. He worked with Malcolm Moos, one of his speech writers.

SEES AIR SHOW
Eisenhower also saw rocket-firing fighters from the accompanying aircraft carrier Essex put on a spectacular air show. Later he received a salute from the commander of the British Mediterranean Fleet, Adm. Sir Alexander Bingley, who sailed out from Malta. From his flagship, Tiger, Bingley signaled:

"I am honored and delighted to be able to salute you while you pass on your mission of peace through the sea you knew so well in war."

SCHEDULE

Tunis, Tunisia (AP)—President Eisenhower's schedule for today:

7 a.m. Arrives off Tunis aboard U. S. Cruiser Des Moines.

8 a.m. Flies by helicopter to a landing strip near President Habib Bourguiba's presidential palace at La Marsa, northeast of Tunis.

8:15 a.m. Has breakfast and talks with Bourguiba.

10:15 a.m. Leaves palace by car with the Tunisian president for El Aouina Airport, six miles away.

11 a.m. Returns by helicopter to the Des Moines for overnight voyage to Toulon, France.

12 noon A joint communique is issued in Tunis and aboard the U. S. Aircraft Carrier Essex, escorting the Des Moines.

Tunisian time is six hours ahead of Eastern Standard.

'Ike' Will Face New Problems

By HERB ALTSCHUL

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — The United States stuck to its guns today in its row with France over NATO military affairs. A NATO spokesman said a majority of members of the Atlantic Alliance appear to support the U. S. program to integrate defenses.

The dispute dominated proceedings of the NATO meeting for a second day as the 15 members were informed that the Soviet Union has built up a powerful nuclear and missile system under a fourth arm at its military forces.

When the council adjourned tonight a NATO spokesman said the integration issue would be referred to a committee for study.

Britain, West Germany and Belgium gave support to the American view that the alliance must have an integrated international command.

Franz Josef Strauss, West German defense minister, rapped what he called "special egoistic interests within NATO." He said NATO must decide whether it is to be a "modern system of alliance or a conglomerate of national states with the United States withdrawing to its continent."

French Defense Minister Pierre Guillaumat set the pot boiling by condemning the view of Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, that France is weakening NATO by refusing to "integrate her forces and not allowing atomic warheads to be stockpiled on her soil. Guillaumat said Twining got out of bounds by mixing in political questions. He expressed regret that Twining's speech at a secret NATO military meeting last week got into the press.

Thomas S. Gates Jr., new U. S. secretary of defense, then declared the United States "endorses the military substance" of the Twining speech.

He defended Twining's "competence, right and responsibility" to discuss the military effects of political decisions.

But he said he also deplored that what Twining said was published. He agreed with Guillaumat to the extent that "we do not support the concept of the military putting pressure on the political arm of the government."

Gen. Lauris Norstad, the American supreme commander of NATO in Europe, also made a pitch for unified air defenses.

Fraternities Extend Cheer To Area's Underprivileged

By PRINGLE PIPKIN

Christmas time this year will see UNC fraternities extend their kindness to less privileged groups around Chapel Hill.

The Kappa Alpha Order entertained 58 underprivileged children from Hillsboro. During the party, Wednesday afternoon, the children were given presents along with ice cream and cake.

Around 45 children from the Negro orphanage in Oxford were given over 200 presents by the members of Chi Phi fraternity during a party Tuesday. Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority gave this party in conjunction with the Chi Phi's.

Children from the Wright Refuge in Durham received presents and attended a party at the Chi Psi Lodge.

When the members of Chi Psi found that these children did not have a Christmas Tree, the fraternity men gave them the one at their house.

Six members of the Kappa Sigma fraternity went over to Gravelly Sanatorium and played a Christmas bingo game for patients Monday night.

When children from the Wright Refuge come for a party on this afternoon at the Kappa Sigma house, they will be presented a bicycle and given individual Christmas presents. The party will be co-sponsored by Kappa Delta Sorority.

Beta Theta Pi fraternity will entertain 26 children from the Negro Community Center in Carrboro with a party and Christmas presents. The party will be with Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

Around 30 Negro orphans from Raleigh will visit the Phi Beta Theta's for a party and presents. The party will be given in conjunction with Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

Sigma Chi members are collecting old clothes to be turned over to a welfare group.

Sigma Phi Epsilon will buy groceries, clothes and household goods for a needy family. Toys were given to the children at a party Wednesday. Theta Chi will give food and coal to a needy family.

Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha and Zeta Beta Tau are adopting needy families through the Empty Stocking Fund.

Delta Kappa Epsilon will make a contribution to the Empty Stocking Fund. "Fraternity men, realizing that there are many not as fortunate as we, are trying to see that less fortunate families in the Chapel Hill area have a merrier Christmas." Interfraternity Council President Ashe Exum commented.

Christmas Music Show To Feature UNC Chorus

The University Chorus under the direction of Wilton Mason will broadcast a program of Christmas music over 455 stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System on Dec. 21, 4:35 a.m.

The program is one of a series featuring outstanding choral groups around the country and was especially requested by Phil Lampkin, director of music for the Mutual Broadcasting System.

The program is made up of spirituals and sacred selections. Christmas carols from many lands and popular arrangements of old Yuletide favorites.

Featured as soprano soloist will be Quillian White. Chapel Hill's resident composer Edwin Stringham will be represented by his "Ave Maria" for unaccompanied voices.

The taped performance of the 75-voice group has been enthusiastically received in the Washington offices of the Mutual Network, where it has been declared "one of the highlights of our annual series."

Dr. Mason, director of the chorus said "I am very proud of the work this group has done and I am delighted to have the chance to make it known to many of our alumni and friends."

Placement Service

Publications Available

Free copies of two publications listing a variety of information for job hunting seniors and graduate students are available now at the Placement Service, 204 Gardner.

The publications, "1960 College Placement Annual" and "Career for the College Man" contain an alphabetical listing and description of companies which recruit college graduates, indexed by fields of work.
