DeGaulle Will Visit America In April

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles De Gaulle will come to America April 22 for a weekend of talks with President Eisenhower and probably a trip to the West Coast.

The French President will be arriving fresh from talks with Russia's Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in Paris. And after De Gaulle returns to Paris Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Harold MacMillan will meet with him there for the East-West summit conference starting May 16.

A Paris announcement today said that after spending April 19-22 in Canada, De Gaulle will come to Washington for a three-day stay and will be in the United States until the end of the month. In Washington, the White House said Eisenhower was particularly pleased with the visit.

U. S. and French officials are working out details for the De Gaulle trip. While final decisions have not yet been reached, De Gaulle was reported likely to go to New York for a day after he leaves Washington and then visit the West Coast with perhaps a stop or two at other U. S. cities.

Diplomatic sources said San Francisco or Los Angeles, or both, are being considered as visiting points for the French Chief of State. Invitations have been coming in from people in other big cities too, it was said.

One city from which the French Embassy said have come many requests for a De Gaulle visit is New Orleans, which boasts a strong French heritage.

In Washington, De Gaulle is slated to arrive on a Friday which would give him opportunity for a long weekend with Eisenhower. Diplomatic informants said there is a possibility Eisenhower might invite De Gaulle to his Camp David retreat in nearby Maryland. Khrushchev went there during his visit last September.

Unique Case

Man Who Barked At People Cured By Tranquilizers

By HAL R. COOPER

LONDON (AP)—The singular case of a man who barked at people was placed in the annals of human behavior today by a British psychiatrist.

The man, now 65, barked like a dog every 10 minutes for a year and a half.

His bark was so loud it could be heard at a range of several hundred yards. It frightened his more timid fellow commuters when he was waiting for a bus.

It was especially raucous when he was in the hands of his dentist. The psychiatrist, Dr. Sidney Bockner, reported the case in the journal of mental science.

The man was naturally left-handed. He attributed his strange ailment to a teacher who forced him to write right-handed when he was a schoolboy.

Until he was 63, he barked only occasionally. But then the urge became uncontrollable and he took to barking six times an hour.

"His dentist," said Bockner, "protested that extracting a tooth was more unnerving for him than for the patient, in view of the loud accompaniment."

Things finally reached the point where the man was fired from his job, and he turned to Bockner for help.

Bockner prescribed a tranquilizing drug. The barking became progressively less frequent.

"And now, after six weeks on the drug, he is almost cured," Bockner wrote.

Law Grants Are Offered By N.Y.U.

Looking for a fellowship for next year? Carolina seniors are being offered three widely varying possibilities.

A Root-Tilden scholarship in being offered by New York University. It provides $2500 annually, and renewable but the applicant must be in the top quarter of his graduating class, possess leadership qualities, and be unmarried. Each Root-Tilden scholar is assigned a sponsor who is a practicing lawyer or judge in the New York area.

The Carolina senior interested in teaching can apply for one of George Peabody College for Teachers' $1500 fellowships. Up to three applicants from Carolina may be taken. The MA is earned in one four-quarter year and the student has a choice of majors. Peabody College is in Nashville, Tenn.

Seniors may also apply for a fellowship of $1800 for education in government leadership at George Washington University in Washington, D. C. The school of government there has been recently reorganized. The applicant must have in his undergrad major an average of B or better. In Washington he gets daily contact with the day-to-day government operations.

Would Hold 12,000, Cost $5 Million

UNC officials will ask for a new coliseum at next Monday's meeting of the Board of Trustees, President Friday confirmed today. Cost is estimated at $5 million.

"The administration," said Friday, "will present plans for a multi-purpose building, although this plan will be preceded by requests for teaching, research and library facilities."

The auditorium of the proposed building would seat the entire student body and faculty, and be used for Commencement exercises, major addresses, and other university and public occasions.

A rollout stage with acoustical backdrop would disappear for indoor athletic events, such as home basketball games. There would be adequate spectator space. Woolen Gym now accommodates about 5,000.

There will also be space for ROTC drills, classrooms, labs, and offices. Athletic coaches will also have their offices there.

Woolen Gym would then be used only for PE classes and intramurals.

If the Board of Trustees passes the request, it will have to get the approval of the executive committee as well as the Advisory Budget Commission before further plans could be made. The final OK must come from the 1961 General Assembly of the State Legislature.

The University hopes to get part of the necessary appropriation from the State and part from private sources. Preliminary plans and sketches for the proposed structure have been completed, and officials of the institution have been showing the plans around in hopes of getting the ball rolling with donations.

President Friday pointed out that the principal of construction of such a building by the use of both private and public funds is well-founded.

The 12,500 seat Coliseum at State College in Raleigh began with a $100,000 contribution in

NC Hospital Will Receive Large Grants

The North Carolina Memorial Hospital has been awarded a grant of $114,494 by the General Medical Services Division of the National Institutes of Health of the United States Public Health Service.

The grant will finance a four-year research project entitled: "Improving Hospital-Physician Relations Through Education." Dr. Robert R. Cadmus, director of the hospital and professor of hospital administration of the School of Medicine will serve as principal investigator.

The purpose of this study is to develop within the existing medical curriculum an effective program of instruction which will provide to the maturing medical student a better understanding of the administrative implications of the practice of medicine, particularly in the hospital setting. It is hoped that with increased knowledge and with the development of sound and mutually acceptable concepts, these relationships can be strengthened on a national level.

Many members of the clinical faculty of the School of Medicine will be directly or indirectly involved. A local faculty advisory committee as well as nationally recognized consultants will participate in the project. There is no anticipation that any new or separate course will be developed, Dr. Cadmus said, but rather that the new information will be incorporated into present teaching patterns.

The rapid injection of many complex social, economic and administrative aspects into the practice of medicine, within the last decade, particularly in the hospital and the third-party agency segments of medical practice, has put great emphasis on the need for developing and maintaining constructive relations between doctors and hospitals, Dr. Cadmus explained. As an example of its importance nationally, some 12 of the 50 resolutions presented to the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association at its most recent meeting in Dallas concerned Physician-Hospital Relations.

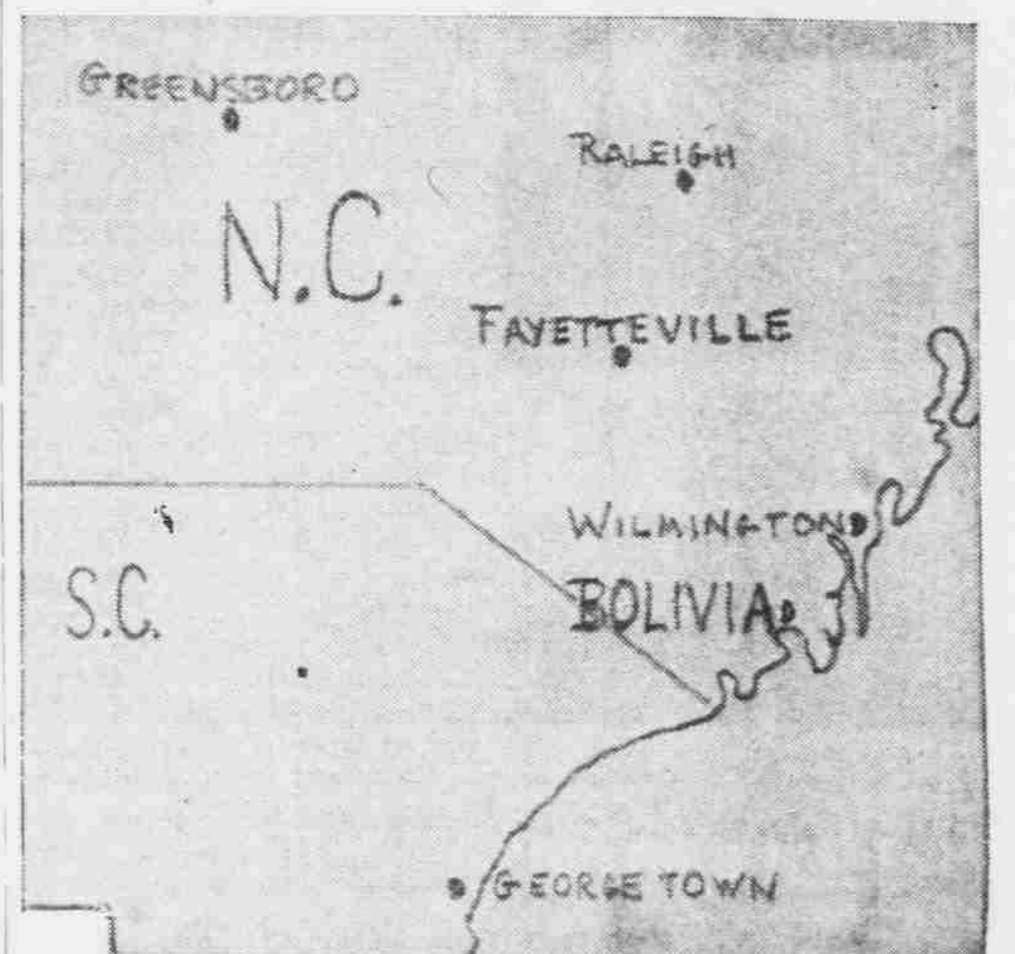

Although much thought and study has already been done in this field, the NIH research grant awarded to N. C. Memorial Hospital is the first major research project designed to concentrate on this sensitive inter-professional relationship.

No Survivors Found On Desolate Coast

By CHARLES L. WEST

BOLIVIA, N. C. (AP)—A National Airlines four-engine plane loaded with Northern passengers headed for Florida vacation spots crashed with 34 persons aboard in rain and darkness near here today.

Searchers found no survivors. Twenty-five bodies had been recovered by early afternoon. The plane carried 29 passengers and five crew members.

Reporters who hurried to the woods and fields where parts of the massive night coach tumbled out of the murky skies about 2:45 a.m. (EST) said there appeared to have been an explosion in flight.

The passenger list included Retired Navy Vice Adm. Edward Orrick McDonnell, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor and other decorations. He commanded aircraft carriers in the Pacific in World War II.

The big ship was one of two substitute flights. Passengers originally had been booked on a jet flight which was canceled because of a broken windshield. The other substitute flight reached Miami without incident.

Several of the dead passengers were harnessed in Mae West life jackets—some of them inflated. Bent against a pine tree was an orange, 25-person capacity life raft, fully inflated. Such rafts inflate automatically when released.

At least three dead men were found strapped in their seats. These seats had been ripped from the plane and were scattered about the piney woods.

The plane, flying non-stop from New York to Miami, was last heard from at 2:31 a.m., when she was just south of Wilmington, a river port city 25 miles northeast of this tiny village. Her flight plan called for her to veer to sea near here and fly 500 miles from here to Palm Beach, Fla., over the Atlantic.

Bodies of several passengers had dug into the soft earth, the upper portions remaining above surface. Trees of the area were not clipped, indicating a vertical plunge by the stricken ship.

The FBI dispatched its special disaster squad of fingerprint experts to the scene to attempt identifications.

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent four investigators to try to determine the cause.

A detachment of 40 Marines from the base at New River flew in by helicopter to help search the area for bodies.

In the woods the searchers discovered a large hole in the mud. Investigators said one of the big engines might have buried itself there.

Honor System Re-examined Before Crucial Referendum

By RUSTY HAMMOND

and MARY ALICE ROWLETTE

(second of a series)

Next Tuesday, January 12, Carolina students will go to the polls in a special referendum election. It contains four points, all of having to do with the Honor System, which will be voted upon separately.

If any of all of these are passed, they will be added to the Student Constitution under a section providing for rights of defendants.

It is generally conceded that the most important of these four points is the one dealing with apportionment of council members. Should this point pass, defendant would have "the right to be judged by a council of students elected under some form of geographical apportionment to be specified by the Legislature." It further provides that defendants will have this right only in courts which have the power to suspend, and will become effective after the spring election this year.

At present, all but one of the members of the Men's Honor Council are fraternity members.

The term of the lone exception, Dewey B. Sheffield, expires soon. All but one of the members of the Women's Honor Council, are members of a sorority. Over 3/4 of the student body are no sorority or fraternity members.

The passing of this point would undoubtedly bring about more equal representation. Of course, the wording of this section is general and the actual apportionment would be set up by the Legislature after the spring election, probably along the lines of the Legislature itself.

Jury Discussed

Another point deals with the jury. At the present time, jurors are interviewed and selected by the respective councils. Should this part of the referendum pass, jurors would be selected "randomly," or from the Student Body at large. This method is of course the one used by our public courts. The defendant would also be given the right to dismiss a "reasonable" number of jurors prior to the beginning of the trial. This point applies only to councils with the power to suspend, and becomes effective

March 1, 1960.

At the present time, the defendant is given the right to dismiss a "reasonable" number of jurors by the Attorney General's office for various reasons. For instance, if the defendant felt that one of the jurors knew him too personally to judge him, or that one of them was an enemy, the Attorney General's office would drop that juror's name from the list. However, in the past this has been done simply as a courteous gesture. The passing of this point would make it law. The number of jurors a defendant could drop from the list or the reasons for dropping them would still be up to the discretion of the Attorney General's office.

Student Could Have Counsel

A third point to be voted on Tuesday has to do with a counsel for the defense. This would give the student "the right to an active counsel for his defense, subject to his own choice from among the members of the student body."

Just in the past year, counsels for defense have come into general use. The Student Council and Men's and Women's Honor Councils have allowed the use of defense counsels, but at the present time, they may bar these counsels from the trial if they wish.

This section of the referendum also states, "that counsel shall be allowed to ask reasonable questions as adjudged by the chairman of the council under whom the jurisdiction the case is being tried." This would be effective on passage. More simply stated, this point means that the defendant would have the right to cross-examine the witnesses.

In the past the Honor Councils allowed limited cross-examination. The Student Council has not allowed this.

Right To Witnesses

The fourth point of the referendum would give the defendant "the right to summons witnesses or obtain evidence for his defense." This would also be effective on passage.

As the Honor System court system stands now the defendant only has the right to summon character witnesses. Character witnesses have nothing to do with the decision of innocence or guilt. They may influence the council as to sentence.

At the present time, the Attorney General's office summons all witnesses and obtains all evidence used in the trial.

Two of the clauses, as stated, specify use only under councils with the right to suspend. The councils with that right are: Men's Honor Council, Women's Honor Council, Student Council, Law School Court, Med School Court, and Dental School Court.

Joint Statement Issued

Dewey B. Sheffield, Chairman of the Student Party, and Hank Patterson, Chairman of the University Party, have issued a joint statement in support of all points on the referendum. The bill for the referendum was proposed in Student Legislature by Bill Norton (SP).

The fight to get a referendum ballot to the students has been a long and hard one. Earlier in the year, the Student Council ruled a similar attempt unconstitutional. President Charley Gray supported the Council's stand. Most of the members of the old Men's and Women's Honor Councils, and the Student Council, were opposed to the bill, and are opposed to the present referendum.

A Judicial Commission appointed by President Gray is still working on other possible court reforms, but has not reported as yet. The current referendum has nothing to do with the findings of that group.

Pro-referendum leaders have reason to believe the measure will pass on Tuesday. They point out that in a vote such as this, persons interested enough to vote are usually in favor; while those opposed rarely bother to cast their ballots. A very light vote is predicted by most for next Tuesday.

In every dorm, sorority and fraternity on campus the measure either has been or will be discussed by campus leaders, in an attempt to familiarize the Student Body with the issues involved.
