

WEATHER
Sunny and rather windy with temperatures in the low 40's.

The Daily Tar Heel

67 years of dedicated service to a better University, a better state and a better nation by one of America's great college papers, whose motto states, "freedom of expression is the backbone of an academic community."

VOLUME LXVIII, NO. 106

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1960

Offices in Graham Memorial

MAR 2 1960

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

Your Symposium

Hospitality Committee Aids Symposium Guests

By MARY STEWART BAKER

Ginny Aldige and Gigi Ayers together operate the affairs of the Social and Hospitality Committee for the Carolina Symposium, the organization responsible for the comfort and speakers and officials participating in the program.

Miss Ayers, from Akron, Ohio, is a senior, who is majoring in Political Science. She transferred to UNC from Northwestern University where she was a member of Delta Gamma social sorority, and she is a S-Ray Greek here.

In extra-curricular activities, Miss Ayers is co-chairman of publicity for the YMCA cabinet and she also works with the W.A.A.

Ginny Aldige, originally from New Orleans, La., lives in Durham now. She is a senior majoring in International Studies.

Miss Aldige's activities include work with CCUN and the Newman Club; she is also an editorial assistant for the Daily Tar Heel, social chairman of the Stray Greeks and a member of the Mademoiselle College Board.

The Social and Hospitality Committee deals with all arrangements for the guest speakers. Arrangements are made for transportation of the speakers, reservations at the Carolina Inn and all meals. Information about Chapel Hill and Carolina is also provided for the speakers as well as a special Symposium week banquet and various receptions.

Many of the committee members will greet the speakers as they arrive and serve as host or hostess during the Symposium week.

GINNY ALDIGE

VIRGINIA AYERS

Student determined to remain dry during Thursday's drizzle parading around campus beneath a multi-colored beach umbrella.

Couple on study date in library both sound asleep behind the same book.

Dorm Residents Plan New York Trip In March

Definite plans were made by a group of dormitory men for a three-day New York trip at a meeting Wednesday night in Cobb. The trip will be the first of a series sponsored by the YMCA and the IDC.

This group, which anticipates about forty members, will leave here Thursday evening, March 24. Before returning to the campus late Sunday night, they will have seen two Broadway plays and visited places of interest.

Some of the places they will visit include the Museum of Modern Art, the United Nations, Greenwich Village, the Guggenheim Museum, Carnegie Hall, the Metropolitan Opera, the Statue of Liberty, Rockefeller Center and some television shows.

The cost of the trip, which includes transportation, tickets, leader and hotel, will be $30 to $35.

Representatives from the Y and IDC will be in Joyner, Lewis, Winston and Cobb on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to contact students in those dormitories who have indicated an interest in the trip but were unable to attend the meeting last week in Cobb.

Orientation Leaders Will Be Chosen

Twenty-two men and women students will be chosen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to guide next fall's Campus Orientation Program activities such as: the W. C. dance, the activities session, picnic, rewriting the orientation manual, the planning of library tours, planetarium tours, merchant's day, etc.

"I feel that a position on the Orientation Committee gives the student an opportunity to use his own initiative," said Jack Mitchell, orientation chairman, "for new ideas and plans are always welcomed into our ever-expanding program."

Editorial Page Plans Outlined By Yardley

"The editorial page of the Daily Tar Heel should be a sounding board for opinion from every sector of the campus," says Jonathan Yardley.

The candidate for the editorship of the Daily Tar Heel gave his views on editorial page policy and plans yesterday, placing greatest emphasis on the need to draw more fully upon the "great resources of writing talent in the student body that are presently neglected."

Yardley said that he is particularly interested in making monthly surveys of campus problems on the editorial page. He plans to make these studies the products of extensive research and hopes, through doing them, to offer possible solutions to problems which face the students and the University as a whole.

"I would also like to see more recognition, on the editorial page, of achievements made by faculty members and students of the University," Yardley said. "I think that the editor has a great obligation to his readers to do more than present opinion; he must also present the facts from which constructive ideas may be formed."

The junior English major reiterated his desire to obtain the services of a nationally syndicated columnist, preferably Walter Lippmann. "A columnist of this stature would add immeasurably to the scope of the page," he said, "and would give students greater insight into pressing national problems."

Yardley said that he hopes to find a student cartoonist to do occasional cartoons, "of professional quality," on campus events. "Cartoons and drawings add a great deal to the color and life of an editorial page," he said.

Reviews, the candidate said, would be directed either by the editor or an arts editor, and would be handled by various students and faculty members who are considered proficient in the particular subject to be criticized. "There are a great many cultural elements in Chapel Hill which the Daily Tar Heel is ignoring, such as the Ackland Art Museum showings and the Music Department programs," Yardley said. "The Tar Heel should give these events full coverage if it is to be truly a campus paper."

Science Fraternity Inducts 7 Students

Seven students were initiated into the Alpha Alpha Chapter of the Sigma Gamma Epsilon Society at its February meeting.

A honorary earth science organization, Alpha Alpha admits candidates on the basis of scholastic achievement in both general and earth science courses.

Those initiated were: Wallace Fallaw, William Mallory, Benjamin Morgan, Thomas Pickett, John Smith, Ranjit Tirtha and Nicholas Woodas.

Ty Boyd Prepares To Auction

"WHAT AM I BID . . . for dates with these young ladies?" cries Ty Boyd, WCHL radio announcer, as he prepares for his role as auctioneer at the Campus Chest Drive auction which will be held in Gerrard Hall, beginning at 7 p.m. The drive itself will be conducted the week of March 2-9. The two coeds above are Susan Woodall and Carolyn Kelley.

Campus Chest Aids Goettingen Scholars

By SUSAN LEWIS

"Your drive, your goal, your responsibility,"

And part of this responsibility includes supporting (through the Campus Chest) the Goettingen Exchange Scholarship Program.

Next year two UNC students will study at Goettingen University in Germany.

This scholarship, provided by the Campus Chest fund (30 percent of the total), pays the recipient $450 for travel to and from Germany. Goettingen University pays the holder the equivalent to $75 to cover room, board and tuition.

Generally the student attends a two-month session at a language school at his own expense.

There are only seven months of instruction at Goettingen — from November to July, with a spring vacation of March and April, plus holidays.

Being centrally located in Germany, the student will be well situated to see Europe.

Must one lose this year academically? Robert C. Noble, one of last year's winners, says that credits from non-science courses are more easily transferrable than others; but that the student is responsible for requesting exams in Goettingen, since they are not normally given at the end of each course.

"Perhaps the greatest benefit from a year in a foreign country

Legislature Meeting Is Reviewed

By EDESEL ODOM

Nature and man collaborated Thursday night to present the Student Legislature with a whip lashing tempest. Mother Nature supplied rain on the window panes, while legislators contributed thunder and lightning in the chamber.

The whole mix-up centered around the ratio of dorm to fraternity members on the Men's Council. Were the dorms to have an eight to four majority or a seven to five? That was the question.

The original bill called for four fraternity members, but it was amended to give them five. When the bill in its entirety came up for a final vote, Rep. Bob Nobles (SP) called for a quorum, but was not recognized by Speaker David Grigg. The bill was passed.

Rep. Hank Patterson (UP) moved reconsideration on the bill. He did this because, under the by-laws, a bill can be reconsidered only once. He urged defeat of his motion, which would consequently clinch the bill's passage.

Nobles gained the floor and charged Grigg with "flagrantly ignoring" a call for a quorum, and again called for a quorum. He and others of the Student Party staged a walk-out to prevent the meeting of a quorum, thereby leaving Patterson's motion for reconsideration hanging until the next meeting.

Tar Heels Face Blue Devils In Final Pre-Tourney Tilt; Tie For ACC First At Stake

YMCA Officer Applications Now Open

Jack Raper, president of the YMCA, announced today that interviews for those interested in being nominated to run for the YMCA executive cabinet for the coming year will be held in the afternoon Monday, through Friday, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Y.

Those desiring to be interviewed should fill out a form available in the Y office and sign the appointment schedule there.

A nominating committee, composed of all senior members of the present cabinet will select nominees for the offices of president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, program chairman and membership chairman of the organization.

The election for these offices will be held March 15. Raper urged all interested in applying for or learning about any of the offices to sign up for interviews.

If what happens twice happens thrice then Carolina will close out its regular season basketball schedule tonight in Durham with at least a twenty point victory over Duke.

In their two previous meetings this season the Tar Heels have walked away with easy victories both times. The rivals met in the second round of the Dixie Classic and the Tar Heels belted the Blue Devils, 75-53.

In the conference game played here two weeks ago Carolina triumphed by an even greater margin as it won 84-57.

With a victory tonight the Tar Heels can finish up their ACC slate at 12-2 and achieve a tie with Wake Forest for first place in the league.

Duke 7-6 In ACC

The Blue Devils currently stand at 7-6 in conference competition and could end up in a tie with South Carolina if they lose tonight and the Gamecocks defeat Maryland this afternoon.

Since the loss to Carolina, Duke has split its last four games winning two from Virginia and bowing to Maryland and Wake Forest. Over the last pair the Blue Devils have been led by 6-9 forward Doug Kistler who tossed in 22 points on both occasions.

Despite these two high scoring contests Kistler's average is just a shade over 10.0 a game. The top marks on the Blue Devil club belong to Howard Hurt and Carroll Youngkin who both have 13.3 averages.

Tar Heels Win Finale

The Tar Heels enter tonight's fray after scoring their most impressive victory of the season in the home finale against Virginia. Five Carolina seniors took the floor at Woollen Gym for the last time Thursday night and helped to crush the Cavaliers 97-58.

The scoring of Lee Shaffer and the passing performance put on by York Larese were major factors contributing to the Tar Heel triumph. The combination of Larese's passing and Doug Moe's shooting accounted for several of the most spectacular plays of the

INFIRMARY

The following students were in the Infirmary yesterday: Nancy Bradner, Alice Forester, Sara Karaker, Charlyne Grines, Tony Harrington, James Thomas, Hubert Stoneman, Spottwood Robinson, Barry Adler, John Barefoot, James Jerrell, Linda Rehm, Henry Harris, Everett Hassell, Kenneth Baucum, Dorsey Hart, Robert Davis, Chandler Van Orman, and Robert Grubb.

Playmakers' 'Volpone' Extended To Monday

Ben Jonson's famed comedy, "Volpone," has been received with such enthusiasm that it will be held over until Monday, Feb. 29. Tickets are still available for Monday night only at the Playmakers Business Office, 214 Abernethy Hall, and at Ledbetter-Pickard in Chapel Hill.

Dormitory Honorary Inducts 15

THE SOCIETY OF JANUS INDUCTS — This term's inductees into the Society of Janus are: Pete Thompson, Tommy Williams, Pat Morgan, Bob Bontempo, Swag Grimsley, Bill Sayers, Mr. Arthur Beaumont, James Parker, Dean William Long, Bob Thompson, Dave Alexander, Charlie Gray, Jack Raper, James Kinney and Tom Mehl. Photo by Charlie Blumenthal