

WEATHER
Generally fair, windy and colder today with snow flurries likely in the mountains. High in mid-40s.

VOLUME LXVIII, NO. 127

The Daily Tar Heel

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 1960

Offices in Graham Memorial

67 years of dedicated service to a better University, a better state and a better nation by one of America's great college papers, whose motto states, "freedom of expression is the backbone of an academic community."

APR 7 1960

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

Dr. Lake To Talk At UNC Tonight

Dr. I. Beverly Lake, North Carolina gubernatorial candidate, will give a political talk in Carroll Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

He is appearing in one of a

DR. I. BEVERLY LAKE

Miss Carruthers Named Queen At Military Ball

Carol Carruthers reigned as queen of the Carolina units of the Air Force and Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps annual Military Ball Friday evening.

Miss Carruthers was chosen from a court of seven beauties, nominated by the cadets. The contestants marched into the ballroom under an arch of sabres. Capt. Carl Tiedeman of the Navy placed the tiara on the queen's head.

The Queen is a senior from Charlottesville, Va., majoring in English. She is president of Pi Beta Phi social sorority and has been a member of the Yackety Yack and Homecoming Beauty Courts.

Suzanne Cameron, Jane Felton, Teddy Ann Holton, Joan Jarman, Mary Will Long and Harriet Walton were members of the queen's court. The Scabbard and Blade Society sponsored the ball, held at the Durham Elks Club. Music was furnished by the Embers.

TAR HEEL BEAUTY NO. 16—Linda Gholson, a junior education major, is Tar Heel Beauty No. 16. A member of Chi Omega sorority, she is from Portsmouth, Va. (Photo by RON CUNNINGHAM)

Solons Pass 2 Bills Discuss Judiciary

By DAVE JONES

The Student Legislature took time out from its continuing discussion of the Judicial Procedures bill last night to act on several waiting measures.

First, were the two bills introduced by Rep. Bob Sevier (UP) setting up bipartisan election boards for the judiciary elections. Sevier asked to have his bills withdrawn because the election was over and they could not serve any purpose at this time. He also expressed a desire to have a chance to make some changes in view of experience gained under the first districted judiciary election.

Also postponed, this one until Thursday, was the bill by Rep. Jim Crowder (SP) providing for the filming of an Honor System movie. Rep. Bob Nobles bill to proclaim November 3rd of each year as John Motley Morehead Day was discussed. The contributions made to the university by Mr. Morehead were enumerated and the support given the measure by the Morehead Foundation was reported to the body.

A roll call vote on the measure was called for, and it passed. Copies will now be sent, under the provisions of the bill, to Mr. Morehead, Chancellor Aycock, President Friday, Mr. Fetzer, Mr. Armstrong, the Morehead Trustees and to The Daily Tar Heel.

Two bills by Speaker Pro Tempore Jim Scott (SP) were brought up. The first, a measure calling for the substitution of paper cup dispensing machines for bottle soft drink machines, was passed.

Scott's second bill, calling for the elimination of the loyalty oath provision for individuals receiving federal funds for their education, was under discussion when "Time" was called. Discussion of the judicial procedures bill resumed, leaving this measure without complete discussion or a vote.

At press time this discussion was still in progress and sponsors of the judicial act didn't know how long they would need to complete it.

G. M. SLATE

Activities scheduled in Graham Memorial today include:

Elections Committee, all day; Roland Parker I, II; State Board of American Association of United Nations, 10 a.m.-12 noon; Grail; Ways and Means Committee, 2-4 p.m.; Woodhouse; Budget Committee, 4-6 p.m.; TV Room; International Student Board, 4-6 p.m.; Woodhouse; House Committee, 4:30-6 p.m.; Roland Parker III; Panhellenic Council, 5-6 p.m.; Grail; Society of Janus, 6:30-7:30 p.m.; Woodhouse; Carolina Women's Council, 7-8:30 p.m.; Grail; Chess Club, 7-11 p.m.; Roland Parker III.

DUKE-UNC PHYSICS COLLOQUIUM
A joint meeting of the Duke-UNC Physics Colloquium will be held today at 8 p.m. in the Duke physics building. Dr. Dransfeld of Bell Telephone Labs will speak on "Excitation and Propagation of Hypersonic Waves in Solids."

Votes All In, Only Counting Remains In Student Elections

4 Freshmen To Appear Tomorrow

By SUSAN LEWIS

Two hours of listening to the Four Freshmen can be yours for $1.

The singing and instrumental group will appear tomorrow night in Woolen Gym, from 8 to 10 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Senior Class.

Proceeds will go towards the Senior Class gift.

Admission is $1 per person and tickets may be obtained today and tomorrow in Y Court from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., or the Y office all day or Graham Memorial all day.

Tickets will be sold at the door Thursday night.

Senior class officers Wade Smith, Jim Crawford, Bunkie Jester, Cynthia Grant and Dick Pattison also have tickets. In addition, representatives in all dorms, sororities and fraternities have tickets for sale.

Class President Wade Smith reminded students that the concert may be attended with or without a date. Campus dress is the attire for the evening.

As the gym bleachers will not be in use, students should bring blankets or cushions for floor sitting.

Arriving in Chapel Hill about 6 p.m. Thursday, the Four Freshmen will leave eight after their performance.

The vocal and instrumental group was recently voted the most outstanding singing group in the nation.

Ross and Don Barbour, Ken Albers and Bob Flanagan compose the quartet and between them they play seven instruments.

Singing together since 1943, the Four Freshmen are widely known for their hit records and albums, TV and night club appearances and nationwide tours.

ORDER RINGS TODAY

Today is the deadline for juniors and seniors to put in their orders for class rings. Orders will be taken at Y Court from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The Class of '61 or any previous class is eligible to order. Delivery will take about eight weeks. Class ring chairman is Jim Scott, 109 Lewis Dorm.

VALKYRIE SING DEADLINE

The deadline for Valkyrie Sing entries is tonight, 8 p.m. Contact Frances Reynolds at 22361.

BEN LENHARDT

Tabulation Begins Today At 1 P.M.

By PETER NESS

All that remains is the counting, now that the votes are in. Election returns will be published in tomorrow's paper for at least the big four" (president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the student body) and also for the editorship race, if the count is finished in time.

Tabulation begins today in Graham Memorial in the Roland Parker lounges and is expected to be complete by 12 p.m., in time for the paper's deadline.

Ben Lenhardt, chairman of the Elections Board, said, "All persons interested in coming to Graham Memorial tomorrow after 1 p.m. to aid in counting the ballots will be welcome.

"I am taking this opportunity to thank all the members of the Elections Board for their faithful and diligent work on this election. Without their help, it would have been impossible for us to conduct the spring elections."

Lenhardt added, "if it becomes necessary, a runoff will be held on Tuesday, March 29."

A comparison between this and last year's election indicates that voting yesterday ran the same, or only slightly heavier for all offices. Voting was heavy from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., slackening off until later in the day when the inevitable last minute rush of voters reached the polls.

Last year's presidential candidates gathered a total of 3,507 votes, a number which is expected to be surpassed by approximately 500 this year. Voting for Men's Honor Council and Student Council positions is not expected to reach last year's proportions.

German Art On Display In Ackland

German prints giving a cross-section of leading trends in contemporary German graphic art are currently on exhibit at the Ackland Art Center. The exhibit will be on view until April 14.

Loaned by the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., where they were first shown, these works constitute a gift to the people of Germany. They were sent to Washington during the summer of 1955 with an expression of gratitude by Theodore Heuss, president of the Federal Republic of Germany.

He wrote: "The money for the purchase of these works of art was raised by millions of Germans, some of whom have experienced the active help of unknown men and women of other nations, and all of whom are deeply aware of the great debt of gratitude which the German people owe to men and women all over the world."

The present selection of 45 works from the collection of 60 is being circulated throughout the United States by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

Woodcuts, lithographs, etchings, linoleum blocks, and monotypes, both in color and in black and white are included. Styles range from realistic to the abstract, with the majority of works tending toward two-dimensionality.

32 To Attend Science Writers Institute Here

Thirty-two newspapermen from 15 states are scheduled to attend the Science Writers Institute sponsored by the School of Journalism here March 28-30.

Also scheduled to participate are 12 observers from regional and national agencies. The institute, co-sponsored by the Institute of Natural Science at the university, is financed by a grant from the National Science Foundation. Dr. Donald Neil Luxon, Dean of the School of Journalism, is director.

Scientists in five fields of basic science — biological sciences, chemistry, geology, mathematics and physics—will address the newspapermen and take part in question-and-answer periods. Two of the 10 men are from Duke University.

Four science writers who will be chairman of small groups into which the participants will be divided are Victor Cohn, Minneapolis Tribune; Edwad Gamarekian, Washington Post; Walter Sullivan, New York Times; and John Trouard, Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance.

A fifth group chairman will be Hillier Kriegbaum, head of the Department of Journalism at New York University.

Scientist-speakers, their fields, and their institutions are: botany, Dr. William C. Steere, New York Botanical Garden; zoology, Dr. Knut Schmidt-Nielsen, Duke University; chemistry, Dr. Malcolm Doile, Northwestern, and Dr. Marcus E. Hobbs, Duke; geology, Dr. Robert L. Bates, Ohio State, and Dr. Herbert P. Woodward, Rutgers; mathematics, Dr. Saunders MacLane,

Discuss Modern Arts

Pair To Share Symposium Platform

"I am a self-educated man," declares Kenneth Rexroth, one of the four main Carolina Symposium speakers.

Rexroth will share the platform March 31 with Dwight Macdonald, critic and writer for the "New Yorker." Their discussions of the Image of Man will be in the area of "The Modern Arts."

"None of the schools I have attended, except the Chicago Art Institute, have taught me anything," says Rexroth.

Born in South Bend, Ind., in 1905, Rexroth left high school without finishing. He roamed the western United States, concentrating on his poetry and painting. At 17, he published his first poetry and exhibited his first paintings.

Since his teens, he has been a horse wrangler, taxi driver, innkeeper, attendant, baker, machine tender, sheepherder, and forest guard.

For the past 20 years, Rexroth has lived in San Francisco where he is now acknowledged as a major stimulating force in the city's outburst of creative activity. He is reputed to be one of the first abstract painters in America and has given one-man shows in Los Angeles, Santa Monica, New York, and San Francisco.

REXROTH

Rexroth is a pioneer in combining poetry and jazz. Rexroth has given readings all over the West Coast. His poetic works include: "In What Hour," "The Art of Worldly Wisdom,"

"The Phoenix and the Tortoise," and "The Dragon and The Unicorn." In 1958, the Poetry Society of America presented him with the Shelley Memorial Award.

A sampling of Rexroth's jazz-poetry combinations is recorded on the Fantasy LP "Readings from the Poetry Cellar." He is author of several articles and books. Among his books are "The Root Is Man," "The Ford Foundation," "Memoirs of a Revolutionary," and "Henry Wallace: The Man or the Myth."

As a critic he has gained acclaim among his contemporaries for his biting analyses of political and cultural life in America.

Born in New York City in 1906, Macdonald graduated from Yale in 1928. He then joined the staff of Fortune magazine; seven years later he became editor of the Partisan Review.

From 1940-41, Macdonald was a member of the Worker's Party

(Trotskyists), and in 1944 became editor of Politics. For a year, he acted as advisory editor of Encounter (London).

Macdonald is married and has two sons. The oldest is now studying at Harvard.

Macdonald

is a joint statement the co-chairmen said the following:

"In backing Stevenson, we are supporting a man who is a proven statesman as well as a person skilled on the political scene. Stevenson represents a positive and dynamic view-point in both foreign and domestic affairs.

"We are fortunate in having a man who not only has excellent ideas, but also has the forceful-ness to implement them. In the chaotic time in which we are now living it is imperative that the United States has a President of action. Stevenson is such a man."

Stevenson For President Group Forms For Mock Convention

A "Stevenson for President" committee has been organized in connection with the Mock Democratic Convention, April 29-30.

Co-chairmen are Bob Haskell and Randy Mack, 8 Old West.

Committee headquarters have been set up on the second floor of the Y Building. Office hours are 1 to 4 p.m. daily and 7:30 to 10 p.m. nights.

At other times Haskell and Mack may be contacted at 8-9164.

The two sophomores issue an invitation to all convention delegates and interested persons to stop by.

"Support for Stevenson is growing steadily and by convention time even greater strength is anticipated. Talks with delegation chairmen have been most satisfy-