

The Daily Tar Heel

67 years of dedicated service to a better University, a better state and a better nation by one of America's great college papers. whose motto states, "freedom of expression is the backbone of an academic community."

WEATHER

Partly cloudy to occasionally cloudy and warmer with a chance of some drizzle. High today, 75 to 80. Scattered showers and mild to night or Friday.

VOLUME LXVIII, NO. 144 Complete Wire Service CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1960 Offices in Graham Memorial APR 21 1960 FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

Nobel Recipient To Speak Tonight On Need For Peace

Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize-winning chemist, will speak at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Memorial Hall on "The Need for Peace in a Nuclear World." Admission is free.

The distinguished scientist's address is being sponsored by the Chapel Hill-Durham branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Dr. Pauling's lecture will be the main event in the local WIL observance of the Jane Addams Centennial. The famed American social worker was one of the founders of the WIL and served as its president until her death in 1935.

Dr. Oscar K. Rhee of the UNC

Department of Chemistry will introduce the speaker, who will also address the Chemistry faculty on Friday.

Awarded the Nobel Prize for his research into the nature of the chemical bond and its application to the elucidation of the structure of complex substances, Dr. Pauling has been a faculty member of the California Institute of Technology since 1922.

From 1927 to 1958 he was chairman of the Institute's Division of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering.

His contributions to chemistry have been recognized by 10 awards, including the American Chemical Society Award in Pure Chemistry. For discoveries in the field of medicine, Dr. Pauling was awarded the Thomas Addis Medal of the National Nephrosis Foundation in 1955 and the Phillips Medal of the American College of Physicians in 1956. In 1957 he received the Grotius Medal for contributions to international law.

Holding honorary doctorates from 16 universities, including Oxford and Cambridge, Dr. Pauling is author of six books, about 300 scientific papers, and many articles on social and political questions. In 1948, he was given the Presidential Medal for Merit for "outstanding services to the United States."

DR. PAULING ... Speaks Tonight

Distance Is Problem Says Last Lecturer

By ADELAIDE CROMARTIE

"There is a distinctive mortality quality to this paper," said Dr. Maurice Natanson as he embarked last evening in Memorial Hall on the last lecture of the year, "The Discipline of Passion."

Dr. Natanson, associate professor of Philosophy and author of two books, delivered the third lecture of a series initiated this year.

The speaker, in presenting the thoughts he would communicate if this were his last lecture and if he were to die today, posed the problem of how man's being born into the world constrains with the essential condition all men must face.

"In the exiles to silence," he said, "we listen for the pulse of our being. . . . The passion of man's being is his education" and "to become educated is to insist on oneself as a valid point of beginning."

In trying to discover himself when "Thrust into the contemporary scene," man faces the problem of "distance." This "distance" is the division between "A concrete being and universal performance." It is a division between "man and men," between "the individual and totality."

"Why bother to do anything in this world?" Why commit oneself?

Dr. Natanson gives a poker game as an example of man's dilemma in facing this "distance." The player is aware of the other players, they of him. He is also aware of his relationship with them in this "social game." Yet is also recognizes such maxims as "It's not who wins that counts, but how you play the game," and its counterpart, "Winner take all. Loser stands alone."

Interviews Set For UNC News Editor's Post

Applicants for the editor of the UNC News, Summer Session weekly newspaper, will be interviewed next week it was announced yesterday by William Long, assistant dean of Student Affairs. Interested students should apply to Mr. Long in South Building.

The editor will be paid $25 per issue, and there will be 12 issues of the paper, six each Session. The first issue will be published June 9.

The editor will appoint an assistant editor, whose salary will be $15 a week.

It is expected that the UNC News will again be a tabloid paper, and will contain advertising from those merchants who wish to reach the students and faculty in the Summer School.

HANDBOOK INTERVIEWS SET

Students interested in applying for editor or business manager of the 1960 Carolina Handbook will be interviewed Monday, 3 p.m., Grail Room.

Positions will be named by the Selections Board of the Publications Board.

Additional information may be gained by calling Harold O'Tuel at 89108 or Rick Overstreet at 89062.

Legislature To Tackle '60-61 Budget Tonight

Legislature will tackle the 1960-61 budget again tonight at 7:30 Gerard Hall.

Speaker Bob Sevier said yesterday debate will be centered mainly around budget appropriations for Orientation, International Students Board, Carolina Handbook, Yackety Yack, Daily Tar Heel and Graham Memorial.

Legislature will also elect two representatives to the Consolidated University Student Council.

Other bills on the docket which may be considered are:

ing of an honor system movie; a by-law revision of Student Legislature; a $125,000 travel appropriation for the Student Body President's trip to the 1960 Convention of the Southern University Student Government Association.

Also a resolution approving the aims and methods of students seeking services at lunch counters throughout the South; and a resolution encouraging the repeal of the loyalty oath in the National Defense Education Act; and a $50,000 appropriation for the Cosmopolitan Club's Annual International Open House.

MEETING THE DEADLINE Alice Risien (above), junior art major, prepares an exhibit for the Spring Art Festival, sponsored by the Presbyterian Student Center. The deadline for entries has been extended until Saturday noon, April 23.

Entries will be divided into five categories—oil, watercolor, sculpture, charcoal and photography. They may be turned into the Student Center today and tomorrow from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on Saturday until noon.

Only students will be allowed to enter the showing. Their works will be judged by visiting critics.

The festival will be opened by a reception Sunday, April 24, at 2 p.m. The remaining program of the festival, to last until the announcement of awards, April 26, will include special movies, daily showings, lectures and discussions.

Petite Dramatique Sets 3-Act Camus Tragedy

By BLAKE GREEN

"We're cheated, I tell you. Cheated! What do they serve, those blind impulses that surge up in us, the yearnings that rack our souls? We cry out for the sea, or for love? What fertility!"

In the lines of Camus's tragedy "The Misunderstanding" his characters search for an outlet to the suffocating atmosphere which envelops each of their lives, and, in their pent up emotions, release with wrath upon one another, the tragic overtones of their whole existence.

Monday and Tuesday evenings, 25 and 26, Petite Dramatique brings to the campus a three act play from the collection of the French playwright, Albert Camus.

In their adaptation of the emotions and endless searching of his characters, the five actors exhibit the realm of despair and gloom which characterizes the play.

In the situations involving each of them, Camus has injected the language of tragedy which finds the mother portrayed by Marion Fitz-Simons, changing from the cohort in a murderous scheme, to her belief in the final act that . . . for all murderers a time comes when, like me, they are dried up within, sterile, with nothing left to live for. That's why society gets rid of them; they're good for nothing."

Mrs. Fitz-Simons, is a Chapel Hill resident and has had previous experience with theatrical companies and summer theaters—among them "The Lost Colony" and "Unto These Hills."

She has also been in many Playmakers' productions, her most recent being "Look Homeward Angel." Other theater experiences include work as director in Raleigh and Burnsville, and instructor of English and Dramatic Art courses at Hood College and W.C.

The bitterness of Martha, the daughter, ". . . I hate this, narrow world in which we are reduced to gazing up at God . . ." is portrayed by Betty Green of Jacksonville, Florida. A senior majoring in dramatic arts, Miss Green has had previous experience with a little theater group in Jacksonville and in summer stock. With the Playmakers, she played the role of

Angus Duff Elected Chairman Of GM's Board Of Directors

Freshmen To Be Given Awards For B Averages

Awards for scholarship will be presented to 1958-59 freshmen with overall B averages at tonight's session of the Student Legislature in Gerrard Hall at 7:30.

Dr. Ernest Mackie will present certificates to the following students:

James Curtis Abell, Bobby Dean Ames, Frank Harper Avert, Frank Walton Avery, Maurice Victor Barnhill III, Robert Hodges Bilbro, Reginald John Brooker, James Patterson Browder III, Gordon Douglas Brown, Jeha Gilbert Baie, Jr., Paul Leach Burroughs, George Worth Campbell, Jr., Bobby Forrester Caviness, Johnson Burns Climard, Carl Phillips Cole, James Reuben Copland III, Allen Thomson Cronenberg, Jr., Benjamin Franklin Rutchfield, Jr. and John Calvin Dailey, Jr.

John Jey Deifell, Jr., Hilton McLeod Dickson, Jr., Willima Yates Dover, Roy Eugene Eller, Troy David Epey, Grover Woodrow Everett, Jr., Thomas K. Fitzgerald, John Callanan Frye, James Carlos Gaudin, Jr., David John Goode, Stephen Winston Grafman, Carroll Lee Gray, Ian Morgan Happer, Wade Hampton Hargrove, Jr., Kent Waddell Healy, Lawrence Doyle Healy, Alton Oliver Hoppel, William Slocum Horseland, Jr., Jimmy Turner Inscalni, John Lewis Johnson, Charles Lee Jones, Stephen Edward Kestler, Floyd Harold Kushner, Jeffrey Lawrence, John Edward Leimone, Benjamin Franklin Lenhardt, Jr., Richard Stephen Leslie, Samuel Wayne Loflin, Stephen Carlton Lowder and Robert Bailes Malone, Lemuel Harris Marks, Ronald Edward McArthur, John Michael McClister, Edwin Gray Mendenhall, Don Gilbert Miller, Glen Robert Moore, George Thompson Noel, Joe Loveman Oppenheimer, George Marion Paddison, Jesse Robert Peel, Clifton Edward Pleasants, Jr., James Barry Pittleman, Thomas Lemuel Presson, Alvis Marvin Rich, Jr., William Macon Richardson, Jr., Gordon Daniel Robbins,

Want Summer School Office? Apply Now

Students who wish to serve on the summer school Student Government Board, the Men's Honor Council, or the Women's Honor Council should make appointments now for interviews, Student Body President David Grigg said yesterday.

"This is the most important thing that I have before me now," Grigg stated. "We need to have an efficient summer school government, and this is a chance for people who don't have time to serve during the regular terms to contribute to Student Government. Next week is the last week for interviews, Grigg urges all students to sign up in GM for appointments."

SWING INTO SPRING

The Sophomore Class will continue its "swing into Spring" Friday afternoon by taking over Julian's College Shop from 1-9 p.m. The proceeds from the afternoon's activity will be used to finance a combo party in Y Court on April 30.

Seeking Volunteers

Sanford Boosters Meet

Erwin Fuller, Bob Futrelle, George Bender, John Baie, Pete Thompson, Dave Alexander, Leon Barber, Arch Scales, Bill Lineberry and John Snyder.

Graduate campaign head Ammons asked that all graduate students interested in the campaign meet in the Law School Courtroom, at 7:00 Tuesday. Undergraduates are invited to call 7011 or to come to the campaign headquarters located in the Chapel Hill Realty Co. office.

Labor Law Expert To Speak Tonight

Gerhard P. Van Arkel of Washington, D.C., will speak on "Union Corruption and the Labor Reform Act of 1959" at the week Lecture at 8 o'clock tonight in the Law School Courtroom in Manning Hall.

Van Arkel is a recognized expert in Labor Law, having served under President Truman as General Counsel of the National Labor Relations Board. He is a graduate of Princeton and the Harvard Law School.

GMAB President Picks Officers

Angus Duff has been elected chairman of the Graham Memorial Board of Directors for the coming year, breaking a five-year tradition. Formerly the presidency has been held by the Student Body President.

Duff, who succeeds former Student Body President Charlie Gray, appointed Judy Albergotti as recording secretary and Minnie Barnes as corresponding secretary of the Board.

In other GM action, R. V. Fulk, who succeeds Duff as GMAB president, announced his committee chairmen for the coming year.

Chairmen and their committees are as follows: Mary Stewart Baker, Music; Joe Bell, Star Series; Warner Bass, Calendar; Leahy Pollock, Current Affairs; Henry Mayer Publicity; Warren Williams, Films; Jane Hayes, House; Jim Hynes, Social, and Pam Patterson, Drama.

"It was a hard decision Anne Towers, Inman Allen and I had to make," Fulk said. "The chairmen we chose are well qualified," he continued, "and I am certain they will do an excellent job."

Duff has been a member of the Board for three years. He is the former GMAB president, elected to that office as a sophomore.

He is also the only student from UNC ever to be elected president of Region IV of the Association of College Unions, which includes colleges and universities within eight southeastern states, Cuba and Puerto Rico.

The new chairman recently represented the University at the Regional Planning Conference, of which he was chairman, held April 13-15 at the University of Florida.

The primary executive responsibilities of the Board are adoption, modification and review of the annual Union budget; approval and review of all programming activities of the Union; establishing rules for the use of Union facilities; advising the Director on all matters

Twenty-Seven Tapped For IDC Wednesday

Twenty-seven men officially accepted the responsibilities of membership in the IDC at the Council's meeting Wednesday night.

The new members pledged themselves to "diligently maintain and help create better study and living conditions in the dormitories."

President Swag Grimsley welcomed the new members and charged them to help attain the Council's policy of "attempting to promote better social activities for dormitory men and to create better relations between dormitories and other dwellings, as well as to increase the prestige of the council."

Following the induction, seven men were elected to the IDC court, which is the judicial arm of the body.

Those elected were Dave Setzer, Bob Quackenbush, Bruce Higginbottom, George Critz, Wayne Babb, Charles Burgin, and Tony Cavas.

Grimsley then presented tentative plans for the coming term of office to the new members.

Plans called for a newsletter to help bring news of the council's activities before the campus. Also slated were plans to improve the social activities available to the dormitory man, including the possibility of raising the present seventy-five cent dorm social fee to about one dollar.

Grimsley felt that the possible hike would make for better social activities, which "campaign speeches indicated were sadly lacking."

Rules committee chairman Mike

Childs then outlined the council's policy regarding absences from meetings, after which Treasurer Bill Sayers distributed a financial report and explained the functions and procedure of the financial report and explained the functions and procedure of the financial system of the council.

Grimsley closed the meeting with a reminder to both new and old members to discourage solicitation in the dormitories by salesmen.

ANGUS DUFF ... New Chairman of Union policy and general prompting of a detailed view and a strong effort towards a new facility.

Membership on the Board is divided into 10 students and nine faculty and administration members.

Student directors are David Grigg, Judy Albergotti, R. V. Fulk, Bill Norton, Don Hearn, Ed Riner, Joe Oppenheimer, Tommy White, Gary Greer and Minnie Barnes.

The Student Body President, Secretary and GMAB President are automatically members of the Board. The other seven are appointed for one, two and three year terms by the Student Body President.

The nine faculty and administration Board members include Dean Katherine Carmichael, Dean William Wells, Dr. Doug Sessens, Dr. A. M. Scott, Howard Henry, Myron Saunders, Dr. Charles Henderson, John Sanders and Dr. George Daniels.

The director of the Union is automatically a member, with Dean Carmichael and Mr. Saunders having permanent seats. The remaining six are appointed by the Chancellor for three-year terms.

Hillsboro Senior Wins Danforth Fellowship

Danforth W. Roberts of Hillsboro is the recipient of a Danforth Graduate Fellowship in Organic Chemistry, it was announced yesterday Donald Danforth, president of the Danforth Foundation.

Roberts is one of 102 college seniors to receive this award, which is given to young men who are preparing for college teaching. These men are expected to matriculate at the graduate school of their choice and to continue to their doctorates.

Awards are made on the basis of "outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition."

The foundation's aim is to "assist the Fellow in becoming the best trained, most competent teacher he has the capacity to become."

The award includes a maximum grant of $1,500 plus tuition and fees.