New Loans Available For Study

Student loan applications may be turned into the Student Loan Office in Scales Hall until August 1.

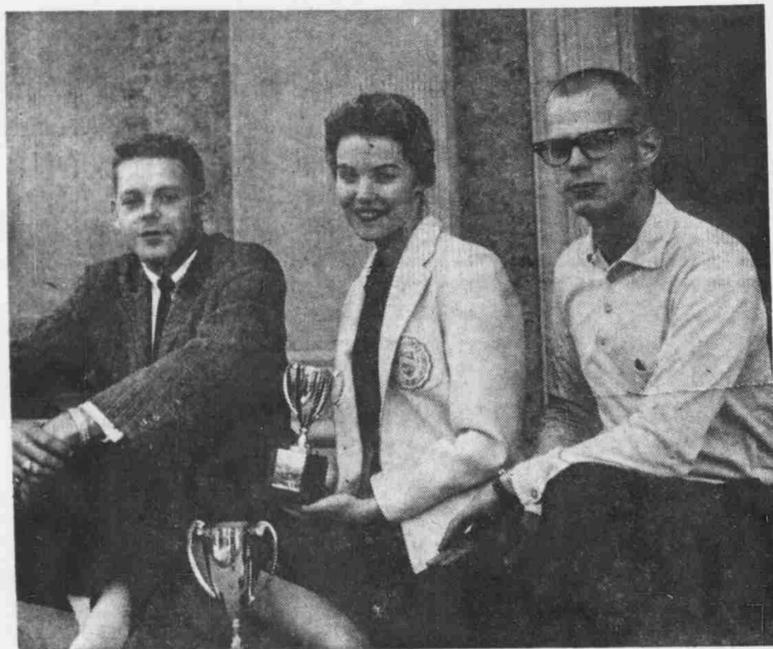

Because August 1 is the end of the summer and the beginning of the fall, a time when many students forget such incidentals, Harold Weaver, manager of the loan office, encourages students to file applications immediately.

With no interest charged until one year after the borrower ceases to be a full time student, a qualified student may borrow enough money to meet his college-related expenses. After graduation the rate of interest is only 3%.

These terms come under the National Defense Act Student Loans and the UNC Student Loans. This is the first year that such a liberal loan program has been offered at the University.

To receive this loan the applicant must be a full-time student, in need of a loan, who has been in residence at the University for one quarter. He must have a "C" average for this period of time. Students owning cars will not be considered as needing loans.

Students must also be a permanent resident of the United States and be willing to make an affirmation of allegiance to the United States of America.

MOCK DEMS — Nancy Wills, Miss Chapel Hill of 1960, poses with Bob Wilkinson, Mock Democratic Convention parade manager, and Hobart T. Steele, co-chairman of the Convention Arrangements Committee, to show off the first and second prize trophies which will be awarded to the best floats in the Convention parade, Friday, April 29 at 1:30 p.m.

In addition to the trophies, a first prize of $50 and a second of $25 will be awarded. Any organization wishing to enter should leave their name and telephone number for Bob Wilkinson at the YMCA-YWCA offices. Miss Wills will be queen of the parade. The Mock Democratic Convention will be in Woolen Gym Friday and Saturday.

Legislature Hears Reading On Presidential Appointments

Student Legislature IDC Pass Resolution As Result Of Damages

The IDC and the Student Legislature have recently passed resolutions favoring the change from bottle-drink machines to cup-dispensing machines in men's dormitories.

"This is a result of the acts of violence in which bottles have been connected," said Swag Grimsley, IDC president. "A few residents have been injured by dropped bottles and others cut on broken bottles lying on the floors."

"The IDC would like to know student reaction to the idea of pushing for a complete change to cup-dispensing machines," said Grimsley. "If this is not done, only those machines which have been abused excessively or those in dorms which have shown lack of responsibility in regard to bottle violence will be removed." Also considered in the resolution was the unauthorized door-to-door soliciting that has been going on in men's dorms all year.

"The numerous Negro boys who move through the dorms are to be

UNCTo Be Represented At SUSGA Convention

By DAVE JONES

The Legislature's shroud of secrecy was lifted Thursday evening long enough to make Freshman scholarship awards, hear the first reading on five presidential appointments, and take action on two measures.

The extremely limited amount of action taken was due to the length of the secret discussion. This part two and a half hours.

The discussion centered around a report given by a special committee which had been appointed by Speaker Bob Sevier. When it was announced that the committee was ready to give its report to the legislature a motion was made to postpone the report until 10:15 p.m., but after brief discussion, the motion was withdrawn by its sponsor.

was originally proposed that Grigg's trip be an opportunity to do some recruiting for NSA among the non-members who are members of SUSGA.

However, the possibility of the withdrawal of UNC from NSA now makes this aspect of the trip unfeasible, but it gives greater importance to the possibility of UNC's being recruited into this southern organization.

The legislature is subsidizing the president's trip to Hattiesburg by defraying $155.00 of his expenses.

The question of the National Student Association was brought up by SP Floor leader Bob Nobles. Nobles moved, immediately prior to adjournment, that the decision to have a referendum on NSA be reconsidered.

The question of whether or not to reconsider the decision will be taken up next week. However, Nobles' action leaves the door open for the legislature itself to decide whether or not to keep UNC in the National Student's Association.

If Nobles' motion fails, the campus will vote on the question. There is a bill to set the date ready for presentation in the event the motion should fail.

The first of David Grigg's initial appointments had their first reading Thursday. Bob Baynes was re-appointed to be Attorney General. Davis Young was appointed head of the State Affairs Committee. Wade Hargrove heads the Campus Affairs Committee. Johnny Clarend heads the International Students Board and Jim Scott is the new Academic Affairs Committee Chairman.

If the order of business permits, these appointments will be considered next week. Under the provisions of a decision made on the opening day of the 25th Assembly, the nominees for Attorney General, Summer School President and certain other offices will be required to appear in person before the body to express their views on pertinent questions.

Pauling Asks Recognition Of Red China

By JANE McCORKLE

Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize winner in Chemistry, said in an interview Friday that our recognition of Red China would hasten international disarmament.

"I think we made a mistake in recognizing Chang Kai-Shek but that can't be helped now. We should offer China admittance to the United Nations if they will sign the test-ban agreements."

He said the greatest threat to the United States now are the fanatic anti-Communists who believe that war with Russia cannot be stopped. "There are small differences, but I think an agreement will probably be reached within three months that will benefit both sides."

"Russians and Americans are very much alike," Dr. Pauling said. "They are very proud of their country. They don't want to conquer us, just compete with us."

"In spite of unpeaceful conditions in South Korea and Africa the world situation has improved. It is improving every year, for the people on the whole understand the world problems."

Dr. Pauling spoke Thursday night in Memorial Hall. He was sponsored by the Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom, and is a chemistry professor at the California Institute of Technology.

'Caligari', Early Expressionistic Film Will Be Shown Here

"The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," one of the all-time great motion pictures, will be the second offering in the UNC-Chapel Hill Film Society's spring series Sunday evening, 8:30, in Carroll Hall.

Forerunner of the so-called "Golden Period" of German cinema 1920-1926 - "Caligari" won worldwide acclaim as the first expressionistic film. The picture created a sensation when it was introduced in 1920, and constant revivals during intervening years have made it even more celebrated.

Conceived by Carl Mayer and Hans Janowitz from a newspaper story about a Hamburg murderer, "Caligari" was directed by Robert Wiene, produced by Erich Pommer at the Decla studios in Berlin, and designed by Walther Reimann.

Hermann Warm and Walther Rohrig. Its stars were Lil Dagover, Conrad Veidt and Werner Krauss.

"Caligari" will be introduced by Elmer Oettinger of UNC's Department of Radio, Motion Pictures and Television, a member of the Film Society's sponsoring committee.

Also on Sunday night's bill is an experimental short, "The Life and Death of a Hollywood Extra," which was heavily influenced by "Caligari." Filmed in 1928, this one-reel short was directed by Robert Florey; designed, photographed and edited by Slavko Vorkapich, with close-ups by the late Gregg Toland who became Hollywood's most distinguished cameraman.

Film Society showings are available only to those who are members. Anyone wishing to join should contact Walter Spearman, Bill Morrison, Jack Hargett or Maggie Dent.

Stevenson Suggests Double Standard For U. S. Editors

WASHINGTON, AP — Adlai E. Stevenson, with a mild dig at what he called "The Republican partisanship of the Press," told the nation's editors today they must not use a political double standard.

"The government, the ins, must be measured by the same standards of responsibility as the opposition, the outs," said Stevenson, two-time loser as Democratic candidate for the Presidency. "The press must call 'em as it sees 'em, not as it would like to see 'em."

Stevenson took part in a panel discussion of "The role of the opposition," a feature of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' meeting.

He was joined on the panel by the leaders of Britain's and Canada's "outs" — Hugh Gaitskell, head of the British Labor Party, and Lester Pearson, Chief of Canada's Liberal Party.

West Raps Soviet Military Secrecy

GENEVA, AP — The Western powers declared the Soviet Union is obsessed with military secrecy. They expressed fears this may hide aggressive intentions despite Russian calls for peaceful co-existence.

U. S. Ambassador Fredrick M. Eaton bluntly told the deadlocked 10-nation disarmament conference that Soviet insistence on secrecy was the main cause for the failure of every East-West discussion of disarmament since World War II. The Soviet Union rejected this view.

Eaton, acting as spokesman for all the five Western delegations, said no progress was possible at this conference as long as the Soviet Bloc refuses to discuss effective controls to insure compliance with a disarmament treaty.

The six-week-old conference has been at a standstill since it began. Each side rejected the other's disarmament plan. The West said the Soviet plan was too vague on controls. The Soviet Union and its allies said the Western plan was all control and too little disarmament.

U. S. Gives DeGaulle Big Welcome

WASHINGTON, AP — French President Charles De Gaulle Friday won a cheering, flag-waving welcome from 200,000 admirers as he arrived for four days of strategy talks with President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower, a big smile on his face, led the extra-elaborate red carpet reception for the tall French soldier-statesman four hours before they sat down for confidential discussions.

The solemn De Gaulle, his face occasionally lighting up with a half smile, swiftly made clear at the airport his main aim was to help forge a solid allied front prior to next month's East-West summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

"A grave international debate is going to take place in three weeks," he said. "Before joining this debate on behalf of France, it was indeed necessary that I converse with the President of the United States."

Rocky Heaps Praise On Nixon

PHILADELPHIA, AP — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York heaped high and unusual praise on Richard M. Nixon Friday. He gave him everything but what the Vice President probably wants the most — Rockefeller support in the race for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Few candidates — and Nixon now seems a shoo-in — ever got more kindly treatment.

"Dick Nixon has been a very good friend of mine for many years," Rockefeller said. "He has done an absolutely superb job as Vice President."

Counselors To Receive Orientation Briefing

Orientation counselors will receive further briefing on methods and procedures of their duties on Monday evening.

Mary Stewart Baker, counselor trainer, announced that the women's counselors will meet Monday, 7:00 p.m., in Phillips Hall. She asks that counselors please note the change in meeting places; room 265 in the new wing of the building.

The counselor's manuals will be distributed and explained, after which the group will split into groups of ten to discuss the honor system with members of the Women's Honor Council.

Jack Mitchell, Orientation Chairman, announced that the Men's Orientation Counselors will meet Monday night at three separate locations, with each individual counselor to be notified by mail as to the time and place of the meeting he is to attend.

Antiqua Players To Present Representative Selections Of European Music Tuesday

Representative selections from five centuries of European music will be presented by the Antiqua Players Tuesday night in Hill Hall. A workshop is also open to the public on Wednesday, April 27, at 4 p.m. in Hill Hall.

The 8 p.m. concert will include several fourteenth century pieces as well as their famous Florentine Carnival songs.

The Antiqua Players present one of the most colorful and authentic performances of early music heard in this country. Their work represents much scholarly research.

Under their original name, "The Saturday Consort," the Players made their Town Hall, New York, debut in 1955. The group has been playing together for about eight years.

Roberta Sterne and Colin Sterne play several instruments and change about with remarkable ease, allowing for much versatility in the program. Karl Neumann plays the viola da gamba, a close relative of the cello.

The players have been to Europe on tour, giving successful performances in England, at the International Exposition in Belgium and at the American Conservatory in Fontainebleau. Their Florentine Carnival Songs have been recorded under the Classic Editions label. The current tour, which will take them to several outstanding colleges and universities, is being made under the auspices of the Arts Program, Association of American Colleges.

Bring Oils, Sculpture To Spring Art Festival

Like to place an exhibit in the Spring Art Festival? But you can't decide between your oils, sculpture, watercolor, charcoal, or photography? The Westminster Fellowship, sponsors of the Festival, suggests that you bring one of each — but in all haste. The deadline for entries in these five categories is today at noon.

These entries must be in by today in order to label them and divide them into proper categories. They will be received in the Presbyterian Student Center from 9 o'clock this morning until the 12 o'clock deadline. The exhibition will begin with a reception Sunday at 2 p.m.

Kids Here For Easter 'Flick'

Chapel Hill has been invaded by the kiddie set.

Scores of young scholars have flooded the campus all week.

UNC students have nearly tripped over the four-footers trooping across campus walks and through the long lines in Lenoir.

The reason for this sudden influx is the Easter "flick" at Morehead Planetarium.

"Easter, the Awakening" will continue on the Planetarium dome until April 24.

Planetarium Director Anthony F. Jenzano expects this year's attendance at the show to be the greatest in seven years.

More than 16,000 persons had viewed the Easter spectacle through Tuesday of this week, 11,659 of that number having attended during the weeks of Palm Sunday and Easter.

"Reservations for this last week indicate we'll go over 21,000," Jenzano said.

The Easter story will be given seven times Friday, at 10, 11 and 12 a.m., 1, 2, 4 and 8:30 p.m.; Saturday at 11 a.m., 1, 3, 4 and 8:30 p.m.; Sunday 2, 3, 4 and 8:30 p.m. and ending Monday at 11 a.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Angel Flight Car Wash

The budget is at war. The Angel Flight is losing the war, badly.

Therefore, they will exert a vastly greater effort to wash cars at Barkley's Service Station today. The time is 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. brother,

'Misunderstanding' Is Story Of Family Trying To Escape Life

"The Misunderstanding," a three-act tragedy by the French playwright, Albert Camus, will be presented in the Graham Memorial Lounge on April 25 and 26 at 8 p.m.

Written in 1942 in occupied France, Camus historical and geographical situation is reflected in the claustrophobia suffered by the characters in the play.

Directed by Anthony Wolff, the modern tragedy illustrates the words of Camus that "there is no true theater nor any dramatic work which does not involve human fate in all its simplicity and grandeur."

As members of a family in a small Czechoslovakia town in the early 1940's, the characters portray an endless searching for an unending desire to escape their present life.

The mother and daughter, Martha, who own the inn and find themselves involved in the most treacherous of schemes, are played by Marion Fitz-simons and Betty Green. Jan, the long lost son returning to the village expecting recognition, is played by Bill Smith.

Barbara Hicks is Maria, Jan's wife. The old manservant is played by John Harris.

Through the tragic misunderstanding in the lives of these five characters, Camus weaves the plot of the play.
