'We're Outnumbered,' He Says

Mock Dem Leader Norman B. Smith Is GOP -- Really

By MARY ALICE ROWLETTE

The Democratic student leader is a Republican.

Norman B. Smith is chairman of the University of North Carolina's Mock Democratic National Convention, which will meet in Woollen Gym Friday and Saturday. Smith is a registered Republican.

"I know it seems odd for me to be heading the Democratic Convention the tall senior from Franklin, N.C., admits, "but I feel that this idea of a Mock Political Convention at UNC is tremendously exciting, even if it is Democratic."

There were several reasons for deciding to have a Democratic Convention, Smith said. "In the first place there are enough candidates for the Democratic nomination to make the Convention a real dog fight and a lot of fun. Everybody knows who the Republicans are going to nominate," he commented.

"Then, too, we Republicans are outnumbered," he said. "This is a Democratic state and, thus, a Democratic campus. We felt therefore, that many more people would be interested in a Democratic Convention."

The National Committee has been working on the Convention since last Spring, according to Smith, but there are "10,000 last minute details to be taken care of."

It's taking a lot of work to turn Woollen Gym into a Convention Hall. Banners have to be hung, the speakers' platform must be built, radio and television facilities must be provided, flowers have to be ordered and so on.

Phi Delta Theta Sets Work Day Wednesday

Beta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta will conduct its annual Work Day project Wednesday.

The chapter's project for this year is to assist on construction of a Little League field for Chapel Hill boys under 12. The field is to be located in the Colonial Heights Area.

Plans are to seed the field, build fences, and construct dugouts. Approximately 60 boys will assist in the project from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m.

NORMAN B. SMITH
... He's Republican

will broadcast the Convention and, through a network, nearly every radio station in the state will be able to carry the Convention.

Congressman Ed Edmondson (D-Okla.) will keynote the Convention Friday at 8 p.m. Gov. Luther Hodges will give the welcoming address Friday at 3 p.m.

On Saturday, Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) will give the Party Unity Speech.

Another main attraction will be a parade through downtown Chapel Hill at 1:30 p.m. Friday. About 20 units have been entered, according to Parade Manager Bob Wilkinson.

"But all these things are really just icing on the cake," said Smith. "The main attraction will be balloting for President Saturday night."

"Besides being a lot of fun, the Convention should be an educational as any event held at the University in a long time," he continued. "I hope that every student will sit in on at least a few sessions." He said admission will be free to students upon presentation of the ID cards. Non-student admission is 50c.

British Art Featured In Display

"Young British Painters," an exhibition of work by seven of England's leading young artists is being shown through May 15 at the Ackland Art Center.

The exhibition includes 34 oil paintings and drawings by Sandra Blow, Robyn Denny, Donald Hamilton Fraser, Peter Lanyon, Louis Le Brocqy, William Scott and Bryan Wynter.

All the works are characterized by boldness and assurance in movement, form and color, and by different surface textures. The moods of the paintings vary from the powerful to the poetic.

William Scott, most familiar to American art students, has been represented in "Younger Europeans" at the Guggenheim Museum and in "The New Decade" show at the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. He has also had a one-man exhibition at the Martha Jackson Gallery, New York.

Peter Lanyon, a student of Ben Nicholson, had a one-man show at the Catherine Viviano Gallery.

Donald Hamilton Fraser's work is in the permanent collections of The Carnegie Museum and the National Gallery of Canada. Sandra Blow has work in the collection of the Museum of Modern Art.

Denny has frequently exhibited in England. He was represented in the "New Trends in British Art" show in Rome, 1957.

Bryan Wynter's paintings were shown in the Tokyo Biennial Exhibition, 1957. He has had numerous one-man exhibitions at the Redfern Gallery, London, during the past decade.

State Affairs Committee Completes Selection Of Officers For Campaign

Riner, Friedman, Whitehurst Named

Davis B. Young, chairman of the Committee on State Affairs, yesterday announced the completion of the group's officer selection.

Young appointed Ed Riner of Rocky Mount and Ken Friedman of Chapel Hill public relations directors. Also named in the selection was Miss Bettie Ann Whitehurst of

ED RINER
... public relations

KEN FRIEDMAN
... public relations

BETTIE ANN WHITEHURST
... executive secretary

Rocky Mount, who will serve as Executive Secretary and direct the work of the office staff.

Aside from Young, the group's other officers include Bill Norton, vice-chairman; Angus Duff, Eastern director; Bob Baynes, Piedmont director; and John Renger, Western director.

Commenting on the appointments, Young said, "Ed Riner is without question one of the best journalists on this campus. His newspaper experience will be invaluable to our program."

"Ken Friedman, present sports editor of The Daily Tar Heel, is an extremely clever individual whose creative ability will be well utilized by the committee in its attempt to lobby for University budget needs, particularly a new student union."

"Bettie Ann Whitehurst is one of the most capable women students on this campus. She has done an outstanding job as Secretary of the Orientation Committee. She knows how to handle a job such as this, and I look forward to her working with us."

Riner's chief job in relation to the Committee's program will be the writing of newspaper articles. He will be in charge of keeping the University community informed on all budget developments through both news stories and editorial columns in The Daily Tar Heel.

Young added, "One of the chief functions of the State Affairs Committee will be to educate the students on what is going on in Raleigh. If we do nothing else during our year of existence, we will present a comprehensive analysis of the budget to the students."

Riner will also be in charge of any releases on the Committee which may be sent out to state papers. If it is possible to have a special budget issue of The Daily Tar Heel, he will also have the responsibility for this.

Friedman will assist Riner on any journalistic projects upon which he needs aid. In addition, Friedman will be in charge of the editing of the biennial State Affairs Booklet, which will be distributed to all legislators in Raleigh, every major newspaper editor in North Carolina and other interested citizens.

Miss Whitehurst will be the only woman on the Committee's officer slate. She will direct all paper work, recruit a secretariat and join with the other officers in formulating any policy and plans.

Young has asked that any student interested in serving on the Committee contact one of the officers and submit his name and home county.

The Committee, in addition to the officers, will be composed of one student from each of North Carolina's 100 counties.

Young also stated that he recently had a "very satisfactory" meeting with the University's Director of Development, Charlie Shaffer.

Young said Shaffer appeared well pleased with the plans and ideas of the Committee, and that he expressed hope the student group would work closely with the University Administration on the budget.

Shaffer will speak to a meeting of the entire Committee within the next three weeks. By this time, the group's membership will be complete.

Opposes First Resolution

Washington Sitdown Strike Meeting Biased, UNC Delegate Grigg Report

By SUSAN LEWIS

A Washington, D.C. conference on sitdown strikes last weekend reported that only a small number of white students in the South are opposed to lunch-counter sitdowns by Negroes.

The conference, however, was very biased and not truly representative of Southern sentiment on the subject," UNC's delegate, Student Body President David Grigg, said. It was sponsored by the National Student Association.

Every student body president in the nation was invited, but of those attending only 184 were official delegates," Grigg said.

The conference started Friday with a series of speeches by Southerners, participants being Negro or white students who have been intimately in-involved in the sitdown movement.

Saturday Northern students spoke in support of the movement.

After the speeches, the body broke into discussion groups to consider resolutions.

Grigg spoke against the first resolution considered, one in general support of the movement.

"Up until the time I spoke, there had been no opposition expressed against the movement," Grigg said.

"I felt that people were getting a distorted picture of Southern feeling on this issue and that someone should speak for the other side," Grigg said in explaining his action.

Grigg told the body the sitdowns would not ease the situation in the South. "They might do some good by making people think," he said, "but they are doing more damage by causing more racial bitterness in some areas."

"The movement won't give the Negro the respect and human dignity he seeks," he said. "It only may get him a hamburger."

The resolution was passed by an 80-13 vote. UNC voted NO.

World News In Brief

Ike, DeGaulle Said To Agree On Disarmament's Priority

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and French President Charles De Gaulle were officially reported in agreement that disarmament should have top priority at next month's Paris Summit Conference with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Spokesmen for the two chiefs of state also said—a few hours after Eisenhower and De Gaulle concluded pre-summit strategy talks—that the presidents agree in substance on all problems to be discussed.

Eisenhower and De Gaulle issued a terse communique which gave no hint whatever regarding details of their discussions, which commenced last Friday.

'Many' Hurt In S.C. Train Wreck

SENECA, S.C. (AP)—A Southern Railway passenger train was reported wrecked near Seneca at 4:10 p.m. Monday. A police department official here said there were reports of many people injured.

A police dispatcher said she knew only that the train had wrecked and that nearby hospitals were "overflowing with the injured. There were a lot of people hurt."

Calls for doctors, nurses, ambulances and fire trucks were sent to Anderson and to Toccoa, Ga.

The wreck scene is about six miles West of Seneca toward the Georgia line.

Voting Rights Case Settled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Lawrence E. Walsh Monday announced entry of a consent judgment at Memphis, Tenn. ending voting discriminations against Negro voters in Fayette County, Tenn.

It marked the first voting rights case under the 1957 civil rights act to be settled by negotiation. Justice Department officials expressed hope others could be similarly ended without "extensive and protracted litigation."

In the Fayette County case, filed last November, the Department charged that the Democratic primary elections in Fayette County were the "only meaningful elections" and that Negroes had long been barred from participating in them.

Fayette County Democratic nominees, the government said, have had opposition in the general elections for many years.

Legal Gymnastics Inch Forward

RALEIGH (AP)—A legal battle contesting application of trespass laws in lunch counter demonstrations is inching forward toward a final decision.

The next step will come later this year when the state supreme court considers an appeal from a case decided Friday in Wake Superior Court.

Two Negro youths were sentenced after they were convicted of trespassing at the downtown McLellan Dime store last month.

The Wake trial was an appeal from a Raleigh city court conviction. Attorneys for the Negro college students, who gave notice of appeal to the state's highest tribunal after the sentencing, said they would take their fight to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The two students, Albert R. Sampson, 21, of Everett, Mass., and James A. Fox, 19, of Washington, D.C., received 30-day road terms suspended on payment of $25 fines and under the conditions they remain on good behavior for two years. Both are students at Raleigh's Shaw University.

Segovia Concert Blends Artistry With Flavor

Old World flavor will blend with an artistry that few have equalled on a stringed instrument when Andres Segovia appears in Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Students will be admitted free until 7:45 p.m. to this concert, which is sponsored by Graham Memorial. After 7:45 p.m. tickets will go on sale to the general public for $2. Student spouses will be admitted for $1.

Since his first public appearance at 14, Segovia has dedicated over half a century to the development of his art, meanwhile maintaining an air of poise and charm peculiarly absent from the performances of many other winners of popular acclaim.

Various applauded as the "Prophet of the Spanish Guitar," and undisputed master of "the most poetic of musical instruments," he has recently returned from his annual European tour, during which he performed 70 times in eleven countries. He toured the U. S. last spring.

The Segovia legend permeates fields other than that of masterful performer. He is lauded also as musicologist, teacher and composer for his chosen instrument, and for good reason, since his instrument, until his advent as its benefactor, was considered the tool of the cafe performer, rather than the source of inspiration for the composer and musicologist. After he began to master the complexities of the instrument that was to become synonymous with his name, Segovia delved into the ancient art of guitar notation.

MISS MARJORIE CRANE, (above), daughter of Mrs. Luanna Crane of Chapel Hill and a rising senior at the University, flew to Lexington, Ky. recently to attend the Southeastern College Panhellenic Conference Convention. She represented the UNC Panel Council, of which she is president. Miss Crane is a music major and a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

IN FINAL REHEARSAL, Barbara Hicks, dramatic arts major from Nebo, and Bill Smith of Raleigh, prepare for tonight's performance of "The Misunderstanding," a three act play from the collection of the late French playwright, Albert Camus. To be presented free of charge at 8 p.m. in Graham Memorial Lounge, this production of the Petite Dramatique is directed by Anthony Wolff and stars Marion Fitz-simons of Chapel Hill and Betty Green of Jacksonville, Fla. "The Misunderstanding" is the story of a son who returns to his homeland after many years only to be murdered for his money by his mother and sister who do not recognize him. (Photo by Ron Cunningham)
