

LONG LINE—Sunday afternoon there was a long, long line awinding up Columbia St. The line of graduating seniors is shown here just approaching Memorial Hall, where the Rev. George M. Docherty gave the baccalaureate sermon. The Rev. Mr. Docherty's theme was "Human guilt." Marshals, photographers, friends, relatives and parents can be seen observing and scurry- ing around as the seniors approach.

Fashion Tips For Coeds

A nine-point fashion checklist will assure every woman an opportunity to be in vogue this summer.

Why a checklist?

When it comes to chalking up high points for fashion, experts say, one clothes approach wins every time: the systematic, critical, unbreathless check of what's IN, what's OUT.

Such a check calls for some fairly ruthless decisions about discarding old stand-bys that have become old hat; and a calm alteration-session with a good dressmaker who will put every hem, hook and dart in proper perspective.

On the fashion scoreboard for this summer, according to the June issue of Vogue Magazine, are these clothes counts to watch:

FULL SKIRTS

Whether their swing depends on pleats or bias seaming, full skirts are IN. Straight skirts that know how to take their fashion easy are still about, but not as strong as they have been.

BARENESS

More bareness is called for; sleevelessness, next-to-nothing sandals; deep V-backs, spaghetti straps on after-six dresses that turn up enchantingly at informal evening parties.

TAILORED CHIFFON

Tailored chiffon is less ethereal, but still flattering as an approving male eye, and meant to be worn by day.

STRAIGHTER HAIR

Should be set in curls, then brushed to a smooth, round shape that's uncurly but inclined to pouf.

OVERBLOUSES

Overblouses are this year's ready-mix fashion.

BROWN LIPSTICK

Call it apricot or topaz or pickled pear, but try it.

SUMMER HATS

Wear more of them.

LONG COTTON SKIRTS

They're the fashion equivalent of greener grass for the woman who can't, or won't, wear pants, at home.

NEW BEADNIK THINKING

Bogus beads are bigger and longer. They're at their peak when worn with earrings the size of silver dollars. So "Big" is the cry for this year's earrings, big enough to go it alone if the day is tropical or the dress so bare it looks even better bare of beads.

TEEN-AGERS

A program is being begun for volunteer teen-agers (from fifteen and a half years up) to work on the pediatric floor at Memorial Hospital this summer. A course of instruction will be given for the volunteers.

COMIN' IN—Seniors here are shown as seen between two columns at Memorial Hall. The seniors were beginning the long march into the auditorium to hear the Commencement address.

Though it was a rather warmish Sunday afternoon, most of the graduating seniors seemed not to mind the heat too much—they just wanted to get that sheepskin.

THE NEXT TO THE LAST MILE—Although the line was not quite a mile long, it must have seemed much longer to these seniors. For representing the largest graduating class in the history of the University, the seniors had a long walk under hot caps and gowns before they entered the cooler—though not much—confines of Memorial Hall. After Sunday's baccalaureate sermon the seniors had only one more walk to make—the one to get that long-cherished diploma.
