Religious Groups' Program Will Be Varied In Summer

Wesley Foundation and Westminster Fellowship will present a varied program for students during the summer.

A supper meeting will be held each Sunday evening from 5:30 to 7:30, along with a program and recreation. Informal study groups will be held during the week.

Harry Smith will lead a drama study group, while Bob Johnson will head a group of modern Protestant theologians.

The summer schedule for the combined groups is as follows:
June 12—"Politics and Evangelism," led by Harry Smith;

June 19—"Hating the Church," Deene Clark;

June 26—"The Searchers," a film;

July 3—"What's Modern Art All About?" Bob Johnson;

July 10—"Issues in the National Elections";

July 17—"Hymns in Worship."

For further information call Ben Potter at 96116.

Chancellor William B. Aycock is to attend an institute for presidents, chancellors and other top administrators of colleges and universities at Harvard University the last week in June.

Foreign Films To Head Free Flick Schedule

Ten films from ten different nations are slated to be shown as free flicks this summer.

The flicks, sponsored by the Summer Activities Council, will be shown in Carroll Hall auditorium at 7:30 each Thursday night.

The schedule:
June 16—Skanderbeg (Albania)
Also to be shown are some short subjects by the Bureau of Audio Visual Education.

The newest building on the UNC campus is the air-conditioned Peabody Hall, which houses the School of Education.
