

Enrollment Hits 2775

A total of 2,775 students have enrolled for the second term of the Summer Session. This exceeds last year's second summer session enrollment by almost 100.

The combined enrollment for the first and second terms came to a grand total of 6,612 or 412 more than the anticipated summer enrollment of 6,200.

"The first session was one of the most successful we have ever had," said Summer Session Director A. K. King.

"For all practical purposes we are operating on a 12 month basis with maximum attendance in the fall, a decline of almost five per cent in the spring and a decline of about 40 to 50 per cent in the summer.

"There has been much talk of a tri-semester system. The Summer Session has made it possible for us to operate at more than 55 per cent of regular capacity. This is just about as well as institutions on the tri-semester system are likely to achieve," Dr. King said.

About one-third of the first term's enrollment was composed of graduate and post-graduate students. About one-fifth was composed of visiting students representing 109 different institutions throughout the United States.

Woman's College led the list with 115 students here. Duke University was second with 29; Meredith College, third with 25; and Salem College, fourth with 20.

MOST TALENTED—In the Miss North Carolina Pageant held in Charlotte last week, Nancy Wills, Miss Chapel Hill 1960, left, was given a $200 award as "most talented non-finalist." Nancy did the same comic skit which helped her win Miss Chapel Hill: a pantomime of a little girl in the movies. At right is Ann Herring, Miss North Carolina.

Jordan Says Politics Influential

"You must interest yourself in politics in North Carolina for therein lies your most immediate and direct influence on the functions of State government."

Wake County Senator John R. Jordan, addressing women leaders throughout the state, last Wednesday night admonished them to participate in politics by exercising their privilege to vote, by assisting in local campaigns, and by determining the State's problems and participating in the efforts for their solution.
