Boos, Cheers Greet Khrushchev, Castro At Harlem Hotel Meeting; Invitation To Cuba Seen Likely

Red 'Happy' Over Session

By CHARLES OHL
NEW YORK (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev went to Harlem Tuesday to see Cuban Premier Fidel Castro at his hotel. The meeting was the first between the two foes of the United States, and they hit it off like old comrades.

Laughing, smiling and waving, the two posed affably for photographers at the Hotel Theresa after conferring privately for about 30 minutes. Khrushchev described the session as "very pleasant."

Among other things, they presumably discussed Castro's invitation for Khrushchev to visit Cuba. Khrushchev possibly will journey to Havana after the United Nations General Assembly session.

The appearance of Khrushchev and Castro outside the Harlem hotel touched off cheers and a few boos from thousands jammed into the area. Khrushchev and members of his party were caught in the shoving, jostling throng while being escorted by Castro to their cars. Police were met with jeers and catcalls when they used nightsticks as bars to shove back the spectators.

The activities of the security-minded New York police apparently angered Khrushchev. The U.S. State Department later notified the city's police department that Khrushchev person-

WUNC Radio Meets Today

The first staff meeting of WUNC Radio, open to all interested students, will be held this afternoon, Wednesday, at 4 o'clock in Studio A of Swain Hall.

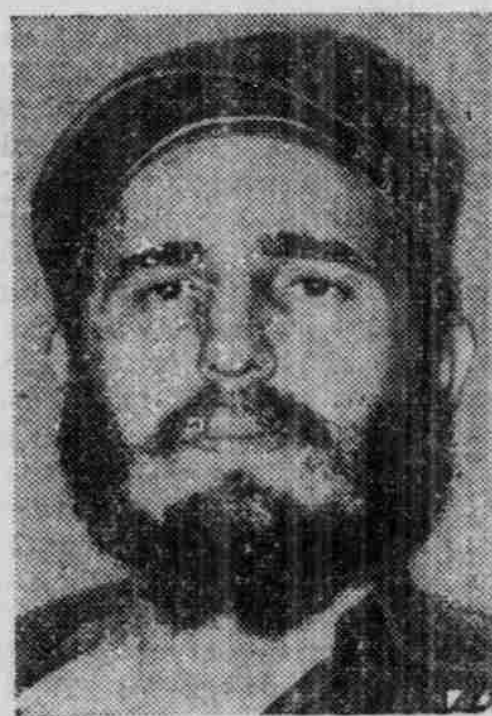

WUNC, which has been broadcasting music, news, talk, and drama programs for the past eight years, is staffed entirely by students, and offers experience for those qualified in announcing, engineering, writing, public relations, and music programming.

An applicant need not have experience in any given area; auditions and interviews will be held at the staff meeting to place prospective staff members in the proper department.

WUNC has been the recipient of many national awards for its programs in past years. Station Manager Chuck Couch states that several new, experimental series are planned for this year.

FIDEL CASTRO

Castro's Maids Battle

Ashes, Feathers & Steaks

By ALINE MOSBY
NEW YORK (UPI)—A mop-up squad of hotel chambermaids moved to the front line today to battle the mementos Fidel Castro left behind for them—from a yanked-out telephone to stale steaks.

Used hotelrooms never look tidy. But the 30 at the Hotel Shelburne that the whiskey Castro and friends moved out of in a huff had an air all their own.

It was pretty cigary in the three suites I looked into. A telephone, its wires yanked from the wall, was overturned in a corner. A lamp also had lost its wiring.

Two yellow Cuban toothpaste cartons and a heap of cigar bands littered one chair. A wastebasket bulged with empty milk cartons. Capsules of some medicine were spilled on the floor. The hallway was covered with cigarette butts and matches and one gray carpet sported several large burned holes.

"We took piles of old steaks out of the refrigerator," sighed the housekeeper, serving as chief of staff in the operation.

"They were all bloody. They were cooking in here, brought their own hot plate or canned heat and food. Cooking steaks and chickens! Look at this mess!"

In another room a chambermaid sighed. "There were chicken feathers all over this sofa. And that rug — terrible black marks."

Another chambermaid trained her vacuum cleaner on ashes and matches on the floor and shook her head sternly.

Nevertheless, hotel manager Edward Spatz said the Cubans could move back into the toney Shelburne anytime.

"I've never evicted them," said Spatz, a harried, fast-talking man. "Their rooms are reserved until Sunday and paid for. They will be held until our agreement is up."

"It's just a new carpet, and some new furniture," Spatz said. "Maybe Castro cooked in his room because he's sick and needs special food. They brought enough for weeks."

"Anyway, in my 55 years, and 11 years in running this hotel, it's one of the most difficult situations I've faced. I'm going to the hospital for two days—my ulcers are bleeding."

He described the play as, "one of the best-written plays Broadway has seen and one of the cleverest movies. Students of Chapel Hill can look forward to seeing one of the most humorous plays this campus has produced."

Chairman Patterson also said she was particularly interested in talking to any students wishing to direct the Petite Dramatique's spring production.

This production is to take place April 17 and 18; Miss Patterson would also like to see anyone who has written a play which they would like to have produced this spring.

World News In Brief

Mobutu Forms Congo Commission Warns Lumumba Of Possible Arrest

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu Tuesday formed an anti-Communist "high commission" to govern the Congo and warned ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba he will be arrested if he tries to fly to the United Nations as a Congo representative.

Lumumba retaliated with a proclamation that the army was behind him "in all six provinces." He demanded that U.N. forces disarm Mobutu's forces in Leopoldville.

But it appeared Mobutu was firmly in power, backed by President Joseph Kasavubu, who supported the commission. Secessionist Katanga Province was reported represented in the group.

Cuba May Seize Base

HAVANA (UPI)—Acting Premier Raul Castro warned the United States today that Cuba "at any determined moment" can seize the huge U.S. naval base of Guantanamo on Cuban soil.

The 29-year-old Cuban armed forces minister tagged the warning on the end of a speech in which he said the seizure of Guantanamo "is not on the order of the day . . . whatever happens there will provocation or self-provocation by the enemy . . ."

The threat was made during a rally called on two hours' notice to protest the "difficulties" of Premier Fidel Castro in finding hotel accommodations in New York.

Guam Crash Toll Rises

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—The death toll rose to 78 Tuesday in the crash of an air transport loaded with homeward-bound GI's and their families which burst into flames on takeoff and slashed a 1,000-foot path through a jungle like a ball of fire.

Seventeen persons survived the original impact and the fire but the list dropped to 16 today when one of the survivors died of injuries and burns in the U.S. Navy hospital at Agana. Two others remained in critical condition.

The World Airways airliner from Oakland, Calif., under charter to the U.S. Military Air Transport Service, was loaded with 94 persons—71 military passengers, 15 civilians and 8 airline crew members—when it took off from Guam. Most of the military passengers were traveling home from duty on Formosa.

2nd UNC-Canadian Exchange Trip Set

Move The UN?

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pravda suggested Tuesday that the time has come to shift the United Nations to another city because New York is too partisan.

The Communist Party newspaper's suggestion came in the wake of anti-Khrushchev demonstrations in New York.

With the arrival bannered in all Soviet newspapers, Pravda gave its own view of the welcome to the Russian leader.

Headlined "The United Nations Cannot Work Calmly in America," the article incorporated numerous foreign press comments claiming that the security problem had proved the United Nation's New York locale had been "unwise."

Mid-Winter Tour To Toronto Offered Any UNC Student

By LLOYD LITTLE

For the second consecutive year a Canadian Exchange trip between the University of North Carolina and the University of Toronto has been scheduled.

Any student, male or female, enrolled at Carolina, is eligible to apply for the tour.

Twenty-two students, 11 boys and 11 girls, will participate in the Student Government-sponsored trip designed to stimulate cultural and intellectual interests between the universities.

Applications for the trip will be available from Friday, September 23 to Friday, September 30, at Graham Memorial, the reserve reading room of the library, and Y-Court.

Carolina's trip to Toronto is scheduled for the weekend at the end of the fall semester, January 28.

Co-chairmen of the tours, senior Carolyn Kelly and junior Roy Michaux pointed out that emphasis on the tours will be on the exchange of ideas, and on the travel and educational aspects.

Michaux stressed that the event is open to anyone and that the group selected would be a representative section of Carolina life.

The trip last year, also to the University of Toronto, was regarded as "highly successful and rewarding" by those attending.

Although further details on the trip were not yet completed, Michaux said that costs per student would be kept at a minimum.

Interviews of each student applying will be held and final selection will be made by a committee chosen by the Student Legislature.

Decisions of the committee will be announced by October 11.

For more information students are asked to contact David Grigg, student body president, or one of the co-chairmen.

UNC Glee Club Extends Tryouts

Tryouts for the UNC Men's Glee Club have been extended until Sept. 26 so that more students may have a chance to participate in this year's program.

At the first rehearsal which was held Monday, business manager Al Miller explained the coming year's plans and gave the group the itinerary for this year's tours.

Fifty men were present at this meeting. The group is beginning work for their appearance on University Day, October 20.

New officers for the chorus are: John Knapp, president; Ken Beam, vice president; Sid Huggins, secretary, and Tom Fitzgerald, publicity manager.

Queen Entries Due Monday

All entries for Homecoming Queen must be turned in by next Monday, Sept. 26. All dorms, fraternities and sororities who wish to enter a candidate should turn in the names at Graham Memorial Information Desk, in care of Mike Deutsch.

Deutsch also urged all campus residence units to begin plans for Homecoming displays.

Four 14-inch gold cups will be presented to display winners in the four divisions of competition: men's dorms, women's dorms, sororities and fraternities.

University Chorus Auditions Daily

Auditions are being held daily for the University Chorus in Room 202 Hill Music Hall by Dr. Wilton Mason, director of the Chorus.

Tryouts will be held through September 24 for all persons interested in singing with the group.

With openings for voices in all ranges, the chorus is open to all students, faculty, and employees of the University, together with their wives.

This fall the Chorus will be preparing all the choral parts for a two-night performance of Verdi's "La Traviata," to be staged in Memorial Hall in January of 1961.

For this program the members of the chorus will be joined by Miss Phyllis Curtin, leading soprano of the New York City Center Opera in the title role, together with local artists in the other leading roles.

Tryouts for roles in the opera will be announced at a later date.

The chorus sings a wide variety of material in its public performances, ranging from operatic and oratorical performances to show-tunes and folk-song numbers.

Recent well-remembered programs by the groups include the presentation of Bizet's opera "Carmen" two years ago and last spring's concert version of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."
