Land Owned By State

New Fraternity Court Planned Near Pines

By ED RINER

Big Fraternity Court and Little Fraternity Court may soon have a brother: a new fraternity court.

This is the proposal the Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen considered Sept. 27 when they studied an area near the Pines Restaurant, but the town's role is just part of the proposal which relies on the University and individual fraternities also.

The proposed court would be behind the Pines on the right hand side of the road to Finley Golf Course. Seven houses would be in the court with each house having a private parking lot: four for 20 cars, two for 24 cars and one for 28 cars.

No Athletic Field

The plans do not include an athletic field, joint or private.

The land would be owned by the state and leased to individual fraternities by the University. However, the land would have to be annexed by the town, and taxes would have to be paid to the town.

Each fraternity's plans for a house would have to be approved by the University in that certain requirements would be in the lease.

Some of the requirements proposed are as follows:

A fraternity house cannot exceed four stories.

Accommodations must be provided for "a hostess, house-mother or a faculty member and spouse."

Visiting Privileges

Proper representatives of the University shall have unlimited visiting privileges.

Six fraternities already on campus have, at one time or another, indicated interest in a new fraternity court.

Lambda Chi Alpha's President Jerry Roberts said, "We are very much interested in moving out there. We are taking steps in that direction, but I had rather not say what."

Delta Sigma Pi's Vice President David Webber said, "We are not especially interested in moving out there because of the restrictions. Also, we don't have enough money to build out there."

Kappa Psi's Vice President Charlie Hines said, "We are not interested anytime soon."

YACK PICTURES

Sophomores, Graduates, Public Health Students and 1, 2, 3 Medical Students are to have their pictures made for the 1961 Yackety Yack today through Friday between 1 and 6 p.m. in the basement of Graham Memorial.

Men are to wear dark coats and ties with white shirts, while women are to wear black sweaters.

Extension: Freshmen and Nurses may have their pictures taken today through Friday also. A late fee of $1.00 will be charged.

On The Campus

There will be a meeting of the Hospital and Gravely Committees of the YWCA this afternoon at 4 p.m. upstairs in the Y.

The Radio Amateur Club will hold its first meeting tonight at 9 p.m. in Caldwell Y. All persons interested in radio are invited to attend.

Four University Party Executive Board positions will be filled by personal interview today, 4-5:30, Grail Room.

Up Chairman Rick Overstreet announced that any interested student is eligible to apply.

The third in the series of slide lectures (in French) on the "History of French Civilization as Reflected in the Arts" will be presented at 4:30 p.m. today in the Ackland Art Center.

UP legislators will caucus at 6:45 p.m. tonight in Roland Parker II. Up floor leader Dennis Rash has termed the meeting as "very important."

Jim Hickey Holds Rally Friday Night

Football Coach Jim Hickey and his team will be on hand at a pre-game pep rally Friday evening about 6:30.

Carolina Athletic Association President Swag Grimsley announced that the rally would either be held at Emerson Stadium or would consist of a pep "march" beginning at Woollen Gym and winding through the campus, terminating downtown. Final decision on the type of rally will be made later.

Finalists in the homecoming queen contest will be presented at the rally. UNC cheerleaders will lead the yells and members of the University band will supply music.

Your GMAB

Coed Is Head Of Dramatics

Although the GMAB Drama Committee's efforts are known to the public as Les Petites Dramatiques, there is nothing small about the amount of work and planning involved.

Under the direction of Pam Patterson the committee is currently rehearsing and preparing the technical aspects of the season's first Petite Dramatique, "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

Provides Area

The Drama Committee provides an area in which students can get dramatic training and experience, in addition to providing entertainment for the student body.

"The committee offers an unusual medium for creative expression," according to Miss Patterson, "because we work under extremely limited circumstances, and this requires a great deal of ingenuity, both in the staging and actual performances."

Solid Gold Cadillac

In addition to "The Solid Gold Cadillac," which will be presented on Nov. 5 and 6, the committee plans a Christmas program and a spring Petite Dramatique. Original material and directors will be needed for both productions.

Students can secure more information on the opportunities available for work in this phase of GMAB operations during "Sign Up Days" Tuesday and Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Roland Parker Lounges.

Art Professors To Exhibit Work In Ackland Show

Professors Kenneth Ness, George Kachergis, and Robert Howard of the UNC Department of Art, will exhibit works of their art in the main gallery of the William Hayes Ackland Memorial Art Center here.

The exhibition opened Tuesday and will run until Nov. 6. This is the first time that such a group exhibition will be held by the professors in charge of the studio instruction in the department, although each of the artists have had individual exhibitions elsewhere.

Paintings and drawings by Professors Ness and Kachergis, will be on display, along with metal sculpture by Professor Howard. Each artist will have approximately 14 pieces in the exhibition.

The hours of Ackland Art Museum are: 2:30-5 p.m. and 8-10 p.m. on weekdays; Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sundays from 2-5 p.m. The Museum is closed on Mondays.

Adventure Series Begins Tonight With Lecture By African Hunter

"LONE WOLF" Explorer Hector Acebes will present a program on "Africa Astir" tonight at 8 in Memorial Hall. This filmed narrative of Acebes' adventures among primitive African tribes marks the premiere of the new GM Travel Adventure Series. Season tickets are available for $1.75 and include tonight's presentation in addition to the remaining three lectures. Single admission will be 90 cents at the door.

Adventurer To Show Movie, 'Africa Astir'

By NANCY BARR

A young M.I.T. engineer turned explorer is slated to lecture here tonight at Memorial Hall, as the first presentation in the GM Travel Adventure Film Series. Hector Acebes, with the aid of color movies and stills, will speak on "Africa Astir."

A native Colombian, the speaker is an all-round adventurer, an on-the-scene student of primitive cultures and customs and an ardent big game hunter in Africa and South America. During his last expedition into the plains of Colombia, Acebes filmed the capture of a giant Anaconda, the water counterpart of the Boa Constrictor.

Unknown Regions

Acebes explores unknown regions with only the help of native guides and porters. Since his principal desire is to live with savages—to eat their food, share their quarters and participate in their community life—he avoids companions. He has found that many primitive tribes are afraid of group expeditions, but will permit a single white man to enter their territory. Another reason for going it alone, he says, is the increased risk that accident or illness will endanger a group expedition.

Acebes started exploring South America early in life. Because his father couldn't keep him out of the Colombian wilds, he was packed off to New York Military Academy. But exploration continued to be his goal, and with this incentive he completed his schooling as soon as possible. He won his engineering degree at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in three years, studying photography in his spare time so that he could capture future explorations on film.

Plans Delayed

His plans were delayed, however, because as a U.S. citizen born in New York City, Acebes had to serve with the Armed Forces in Germany during World War II. After the war, he returned to Colombia and the lure of the unknown wilds. Before the year was up, he started on what has been a decade of almost continuous explorations in South America and Africa, with some of his expeditions lasting a year.

Acebes has been featured on network TV programs and in Look, Time and True Magazines. His book, "Orinoco Adventure," published by Doubleday, has been translated into several languages.

Tickets for the presentation will be 90 cents at the door. A season ticket is available for $1.75, which will provide admission to the four programs in the series.

100 Students Applying For Canadian Trip

More than 100 applications were made for the Canadian Exchange program, Student Government President David Grigg announced yesterday.

Of this number, 50 were chosen for interviews. From the 50 will come the 22 students (11 boys, 11 girls) who will host for the Canadians in November and make the return trip to Toronto between semesters.

"All the applications were excellent," Grigg said, "and we had a hard time cutting the list down to 50. It will be even worse cutting down to 22." Grigg explained that selection of the 50 was based on excellence of application and class. Freshmen and sophomores, who will have an opportunity to apply in coming years, were excluded from the 50.

Personal interviews for final selection began yesterday and will continue through tomorrow in Roland Parker. Members of the selections board are Grigg, Mike Lawler, Anne Terry, Ray Jefferies and Pete Thompson.

Grigg expressed his appreciation to all those who applied for this program and urged them to re-apply next year.

INFIRMARY

At 2 A.M. Sunday Morn

Males Sometimes Visit Coeds At Odd Hours

By SUSAN LEWIS

Carolina males sometimes pick strange hours to visit coeds. Like 2 a.m. last Sunday in Alderman.

It seems that a slightly intoxicated male student (believed to be a freshman) wandered into Alderman Dorm in the morning's wee hours.

His entrance was a feat in itself, since all doors are locked at closing hours or before.

He marched up to the east door—the one which faces Raleigh Street and usually bears the sign "Entrance for women students only"—and bent the door hinges enough to spring the door open.

From the ground floor he traveled to the second floor and surprised two sleepy coeds with a room visit.

"I'm looking for my dorm. Can you tell me how to get to Winston?" he asked.

A minute later he added, "Do you have a cigarette?"

Receiving negative answers to both questions and pleas to leave, he did just that — left quickly and quietly the way he came.

Whether he ever found Winston is unknown.

He does, however, hold the distinction of being the only after-hours male visitor in Alderman this year, so far!

Voting Requirements Outlined

Most Students Aren't Eligible To Vote In Chapel Hill

By MARGARET GWATHMEY

"Most Carolina students have come to Chapel Hill for a temporary purpose—attending the University," said Dr. Clyde Carter of the Orange County Elections Board yesterday. "Therefore they are not eligible to vote here in the November 8 Presidential election."

Some graduate, professional, and married students are exceptions, however. Individual cases will be considered, with decisions resting on such considerations as payments of local property taxes and registration of automobiles in Orange County, Carter explained.

People wishing to vote in North Carolina must meet the following requirements established by law:

1. Be a citizen, native or naturalized, of the United States.

2. Be 21 years of age or older by the date of the general election.

3. Be of sound mind.

4. Have been a resident of North Carolina one year by the date of the general election.

5. Have been a permanent resident of the precinct 30 days by the date of the general election.

6. Be able to read and write any section of the North Carolina Constitution in the English language.

7. Not have been convicted in court of any crime the punishment of which is imprisonment in the state's prison, unless such person has since been restored to citizenship.

8. Be registered in the precinct in which he votes.

It is the responsibility of each voter to see that he is registered for the election in which he is eligible to vote.

If a registered voter moves from one precinct to another within the state (even though in a different county), he is not deprived of the right to vote in the precinct from which he has moved until 30 days after his removal. At this time he becomes eligible to register in the precinct of his new residence.

The applicant for registration must apply in person to the registrar and make oath or affirmation as to his statements. Only servicemen and service-connected civilians may apply for absentee registration. When the voter has moved his place of permanent residence or has changed his name by marriage, divorce, or court order, he must re-register.

When a voter registers he must state the party of his choice—Democratic, Republican, or independent. He then becomes a member of that party and is entitled to take part in party meetings and primary elections. The voter who registers as an independent cannot vote in a primary, which is a function of the political party.

- Chapel Hill No. 5, Glenwood School

Carrboro, Town Hall, Carrboro

The registrar is at the polling place from 9 a.m. until sunset on October 15, 22, and 29, and the applicant may register at this time. On other days (except Sunday) during these two periods, the applicant may register at the registrar's home or place of business between 9 a.m. and sunset.

The preceding information on when and where to register applies in 94 counties. Six counties—Cumberland, Forsyth, Guilford, Mecklenburg, Wake and Wilson—have a system of permanent loose-leaf registration. In these counties registration is continuous at a central location until three weeks before the election. The final date for registration in these counties is October 17.

Check with your County Board of Elections for the exact location of your polling place.

A qualified voter may vote by absentee ballot in a general election if he is absent on election day from the county in which he is entitled to vote, or if he is sick or physically disabled so that he is unable to go to the voting place. Not more than 30 days nor less than two days before the election, the voter must apply to the Chairman of the County Board of Elections for an absentee ballot.

Florida, Georgia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, and Virginia allow no registration by mail. Below are pertinent voting regulations in states with large representations on the UNC campus: Florida: Minimum age requirement is 21 years and residence, one year. Final registration date is October 8. For absentee ballot apply between 45 and five days prior to election. See "Application for Absentee Ballot," Supervisor of Registration, county of your residence.

Georgia: Minimum age requirement is 18 years and residence, one year. Final registration date was May 7, but for absentee ballot apply between 60 and three days prior to election to Registrar or Ordinary of county of residence.

Maryland: Minimum age requirement is 21 years and residence, one year. Final registration dates vary. For absentee ballot apply more than 20 days prior to election. Applications for absentee ballot should be directed to the Board of Supervisors of Election, county of residence.

New Jersey: Minimum age is 21 years and residence, six months. Final registration date was September 29, but for absentee ballot apply more than eight days prior to election to county clerk, county of residence.

New York: Under most circumstances, allows no absentee registration. Minimum age requirement is 21 years and residence, one year. Final registration dates vary. For absentee ballot apply between October 9 and November 1 to "Application for Absentee Voter's Ballot," Board of Elections, county or borough of residence.

South Carolina: Minimum age is 21 years and residence, two years. Final registration date is October 8, and there is no absentee balloting.
