Athletic Ruling Goes To NCAA Group

UNC Action On Irregularities Delayed; N.C. State Removed From Probation

By Wayne King

Chancellor William B. Aycock expected to receive official word yesterday of the NCAA's action against the University and head basketball coach, Frank McGuire, concerning charges of recruiting irregularities.

The NCAA met in San Francisco Wednesday, and lifted its four-year probation against N. C. State, a probation imposed for similar charges. The charges against Carolina have been referred to the Rules Infractions Committee.

An informed source here revealed that the charge would probably remain in committee for some time for consideration.

The decision of the NCAA council apparently means that UNC will not be punished with more than a reprimand and a warning, according to observers.

State was placed on probation November 13, 1956, for illegitimate recruiting practices, which, according to the NCAA, consisted of offering excessive aid to Jackie Moreland, one of the most sought-after basketball players in the country at that time.

State Charged

State was charged particularly with offering to give Moreland's girl friend a seven year medical scholarship along with cash gifts to Moreland himself, if he chose to attend State as a player.

Moreland now plays professional basketball.

The NCAA Policy Making Committee at their San Francisco meeting also ruled to place a two-year football probation and a one-year basketball probation on the University of Kansas—KU will not be able to participate in any post-season competition, such as bowl games, NCAA tournaments and such.

The Kansas track and field team was unaffected by the ruling. KU's track and field squad has won the NCAA championship for the past consecutive two years.

Council Restores

The Council also restored Wyoming to full participatory rights after a one-year post-season and TV ineligibility.

The University of Mississippi was also restored to full rights. Kansas University was the only school to receive a penalty at the council's meeting.

Mrs. Morehead Suffers Heart Attack In N.Y.

John Motley Morehead's wife suffered a heart attack sometime Wednesday, but she was resting well yesterday.

Mrs. Leila Morehead is in an oxygen tent at Blandwood in Rye, N. Y. Because of her illness her doctor advised cancellation of the Morehead birthday party planned for Nov. 3 at Rye.

Morehead will be 90 next Thursday. Mrs. Morehead's age is not known.

Roy Armstrong, director of the Morehead Foundation here, was notified yesterday by John L. Morehead of Charlotte, vice chairman of the foundation.

Armstrong said Mrs. Morehead has been in good health, and Morehead's health is rated excellent.

What They're Saying

NEW YORK—Sen. John F. Kennedy carried his presidential drive to the sidewalks of New York Thursday with an appeal to cheering garment workers at the biggest rally of his campaign to join him in "sweeping the Republicans all the way back to California."

"My chief disagreement with Mr. Nixon and the Republican party is that I don't think they have the vaguest idea of the kind of times in which we live," he said.

Kennedy's appearance in New York's garment district brought out crowds estimated by Frank Doyle, executive secretary to Mayor Robert F. Wagner, at a total of 350,000.

Wagner predicted Kennedy would carry New York City against GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon by a margin of one million votes in November. Democratic State Chairman Michael Prendergast predicted Kennedy would take the entire state by a margin of 400,000 votes. Adlai E. Stevenson lost the state by a margin of 1,400,000 in 1956.

ABOARD NIXON TRAIN—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, carrying his whistle-stop campaign across job hungry Michigan, pictured Sen. John F. Kennedy Thursday as a rich man's son who never had to worry about where the money came from.

He told rear platform and trackside audiences in a one-day swing through the state that Kennedy has a natural tendency to react to all problems by spending more money. At Monroe he called this an "obsession."

The result of such spending if Kennedy got into the White House, he said, would be higher prices and taxes and—as he put it at Jackson, which claims to be the birthplace of the Republican party—possibly "runaway inflation."

The Republican candidate, increasingly hoarse and apparently in danger of losing his voice, drew good crowds and manifest enthusiasm as he traveled north and west across the state in what most observers agreed was an uphill fight for Michigan's 20 electoral votes.

He saw a few more Kennedy signs than he had in Ohio Tuesday and Wednesday.

SOUTH PACIFIC MUSICAL OPENS HERE TONIGHT

Legislature Names Group

The Revised Student Constitution was referred back to Committee last night in Student Legislature, in accordance with the suggestion of Joe Oppenheimer.

In other action last night a bill requiring "all organizations desiring funds in excess of their appropriated budget to submit a detailed account of all anticipated expenditures for approval" was passed.

"This," asserted Pete Thompson, "eliminates the practice of some of these organizations coming to Legislature at the end of the year requesting to be bailed out of debt."

The bill to appropriate $2700 to the Yackety Yack to print the controversy as to how many complimentary copies would be given out of the extra copies to be printed.

A bill to establish a Student Credit Commission was passed last night. This bill provides for a committee to be formed to supersede the old Bad Check Committee and expand the functions of the old group for the purpose of establishing good relations between students and the merchants.

Play Runs 3 Nights

The melodious music of Rodgers and Hammerstein's famous play "South Pacific" will ring up the curtain of Memorial Hall stage tonight as the Carolina Playmakers present their first show of the season.

"South Pacific," an adaptation of James A. Michener's Pulitzer Prize-winning book "Tales of the South Pacific," will be presented tonight, Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 p.m. by a full-scale company of actors, dancers, soloists and chorus.

Thomas M. Patterson is director of the show.

Designs Set

Lynn Gault designed the set. Foster Fitz-Simons and Dot Silver staged the dances, and Gene Strasser of the Department of Music is directing the 27-piece orchestra.

Joel Carter, Associate Professor in the Department of Music at UNC, will be seen in the role of Emile de Becque, an exiled Frenchman turned planter in the islands.

Mr. Carter appeared with the Playmakers several years ago in the role of Fred Graham in "Kiss Me Kate."

In "South Pacific" he will sing the beautiful songs "Some Enchanted Evening" and "This Nearly Was Mine."

Appears In Role

Jane Page, a UNC Junior from Richmond, Va., will appear in the role of Ensign Nellie Forbush, a Navy nurse from Arkansas who falls in love with the Frenchman, de Becque.

Others in the cast include Edward Robins, Jr., as the lieutenant struggling against prejudice in his love with a Tonkinese girl; Elaine Chang as the dainty Tonkinese; Marilyn Zschau of Raleigh as her raucous mother who beckons on the lieutenant with her haunting paean to a tropical island, "Ball Ha'I"; Frank McDonald of Charlotte as the "bib-operator" Sea. ### ENJOYMENT, EDUCATION, EXCITEMENT:

Seminars Abroad Are Open

Enjoyment, education and excitement! All three in one package labeled Seminars Abroad open to all Carolina students.

France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany, Denmark, Holland, England and Ireland are the nine countries included in the Seminars Abroad 1961 two month itinerary. The program includes a full week's stay in Paris, Florence, Berlin and London.

Seminars Abroad is planned purposely on a second and third class level which has proven a much easier and relaxed way of traveling. The hotels are not fancy but are adequate and comfortable, and give a person much more feel for the country's atmosphere and a real break from tourists. A meeting will be held Nov. 8 in the "Y" Cabinet Room at 6:45 p.m. for all students interested in the Seminars Abroad. There will be members from previous Seminars programs to give more details and to answer any questions.

Meetings To Be Held

During the spring semester meetings will be held on campus every other week to instruct and prepare students for the summer in Europe.

Highlighting this preliminary program will be a three day visit in Washington, D. C., where meetings are planned with Edward P. Morgan, with the State Dept. and with the German and Russian Embassies—all in preparing for the week-long seminar in Berlin.

Organized on a non-profit basis Seminars Abroad makes reservations and arrangements directly through a London agent and provides speakers of greater quality at less cost.

Estimated Cost

The estimated cost of the program is $1300.00 which includes reservations, food, tips, transportation, everything but personal gifts and baths in a few hotels.

Undergraduates at the Methodist school voted in favor of Nixon, with 1,711 casting their ballots for the GOP ticket and 847 voting for Kennedy.

Symbolic Sculpture In Steel

SYMBOLIC SCULPTURE IN STEEL—Two UNC students gaze at a metal creation of Robert A. Howard, associate professor in the Department of Art. The work is entitled "Growth." The outer figure is composed of intersecting triangular pieces which enclose an inner figure (not visible) made of intersecting arcs and straight lines. Professor Howard, along with Professor Kenneth Ness and Associate Professor George Kachergis are exhibiting their art at Ackland Art Center through November 6.

BLOODY MARY the raucous Tonkinese of the Carolina Playmakers production of "South Pacific" which opens tonight in Memorial Hall at 8:30 p.m. is portrayed by Marilyn Zschau. ### World News in Brief

Atlanta Mayor Declares No Charges On Dr. King

DECATUR, Ga. (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader, was taken to the state prison in the dawn hours Thursday.

He was ordered to jail Tuesday on grounds that he had violated parole on a minor traffic charge by taking part in a sit-in demonstration.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield of Atlanta issued a statement, which he asked wire services to distribute, declaring that the "city of Atlanta has no charges against any of the sit-in demonstrators, including Dr. King, and has no one in custody."

"We want the world to know this. The trial and incarceration of Dr. King is the responsibility of DeKalb County and the state of Georgia," Hartsfield said.

"We have nothing to do with it."

Reports Say U. S. Prestige Declining

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two newspapers reported today that a government survey showed public opinion of the United States as a world power declined in Britain and France after the May summit collapse.

The dispatches were published in the New York Times and Washington Post and Times Herald amid angry Democratic criticism of the White House for refusing to make public a secret U. S. Information Agency USIA poll reported to indicate U. S. prestige abroad has dropped.

The Times and the Post said a USIA study prepared in June found an overwhelming majority of those questioned in Britain and France felt Russia was ahead of the United States in space progress. The Times said the study also showed a majority felt the Soviet Union was the world's strongest military power.

Alerted Cuba Fears Invasion

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuba went on virtual war footing Thursday as invasion jitters spread throughout the land.

Army troops were held in barracks and civilian militia units reported to army posts.

Government propaganda agencies fanned invasion fears by reporting an armed attack from abroad was imminent. Street rumors were allowed to circulate that Saturday is "D-Day."

Eisenhower May Attend NATO Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower may attend the Paris meeting of the NATO Council in December to bid official farewell to the Western defense alliance which he served as first supreme commander.

Interviews End For Delegates To SSL Meet

Intercollegiate expression will flourish in December when the State Student Legislature meets in the state capitol building in Raleigh.

Composed of representatives of many North Carolina colleges and universities, SSL is an annual assembly devoted to discussion of state, national and international affairs.

UNC's representatives will be selected from interviews which close today. Interviews are scheduled 2-5 p.m. in Roland Parker II, Graham Memorial.

Students will be selected on basis of interest, knowledge of current affairs and parliamentary procedure.

This will be the 23rd session of SSL. Since it meets in the legislative halls of the capitol, this year's assembly will be Dec. 8, 9, and 10 and not in the spring when the North Carolina General Assembly will be in session.

SSL caused statewide controversy in 1958 when it approved a bill calling for repeal of the state law barring members of different races to marry. News-men and government officials labeled SSL an assembly of radicals with the intention of creating unrest and bad publicity for the state.

However, SSL was not censured for the act. Delegates and alternates will be announced next week, and the group will begin to draw up a bill for the UNC delegation to introduce.
