What They're Saying

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. — Sen. John F. Kennedy brought his campaign for a "new frontier" to the once "cold and bitter frontier of American independence" Saturday with a charge that Vice President Richard M. Nixon lacks trust in the people.

The Democratic presidential candidate said the nation cannot meet the frontier of the 1960s with "soft complacency, a satisfaction with things as they are, or a commitment to the past."

Kennedy climaxed a day of campaigning in the rain in Philadelphia suburbs with a speech at a Democratic fund raising dinner at Valley Forge, where George Washington held the line against the British in the Revolutionary War.

He drew big, enthusiastic crowds in a motorcade tour through usually Republican areas of eastern Pennsylvania as he stressed the state of the nation's prestige.

Kennedy attracted thousands of persons, many of them women, who ignored the rain to seek a glimpse of him as he toured Lawrence Park, Chester, Upper Derby and other points.

Large crowds swarmed around his open convertible. In Chester, a woman pulled so hard on his right hand that there were fears he had been hurt, but he continued to gesture to make his points in speeches.

Kennedy's only concession to the rain was to wear a hat. It was the first time persons in his party could recall his having done so during the campaign.

CHICAGO—Vice President Richard M. Nixon carried his presidential campaign into Chicago's Republican suburb Saturday accused his opponent, Democratic Sen. John A. Kennedy, of conjuring up economic hobgoblins.

At one point in his tour, security agents received a report of an anonymous telephone bomb threat against the vice president.

The caller told Illinois state police a bomb would be placed at the Southfield shopping center in suburban Bridgeview. A check of the area by police, the FBI and security agents turned up nothing in the way of a bomb and Police Chief Albin Ziaro said the "area is secure."

It was another in a series of incidents on the vice president's campaign swing through the Midwest this week.

Pelted by Tomatoes
In Michigan he was pelted with tomatoes and eggs. Outside of Fort Wayne, Ind., authorities found a fluorescent light transformer fixed to a railroad track some hours before the Nixon train was to have passed the area.

Nixon drew large crowds in his swing through the Chicago area, and pulled an estimated 20,000 to 25,000 persons in a stadium at Wheaton, where he whip-lashed Kennedy as too "rash and impulsive" to have the "White House as a training ground."

Earlier on his arrival, in a seasonal reference to the "trick or treat" holiday Monday, Nixon said America has not responded to Kennedy's "wail of woe because America long ago learned the lesson of Hallowe'en."

On The Campus

Lawrence Ferlinghetti, of San Francisco, will read from his poetry for the public at Carroll Hall, 8:00 p.m., November 17. His appearance on campus is sponsored by the English Club, through the auspices of the Graham Memorial Fund. A reception at GM will follow the talk.

The International Relations Committee and the U.N. Education Committee will meet on Monday at 4:30 p.m. on the second floor of the Y-Building. John Pritchard will speak on the Congo. All students attending the U.N. Seminar in New York are urged to attend.

The Christian Science Organization will meet this afternoon at 4:00 in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

The Philological Club will meet on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge of Morehead Planetarium. O. B. Hardison of the English Department will present a paper entitled, "Poetry and Praise: The Fusion of Rhetoric and Literary Criticism." Faculty members and Graduate students are invited.

Thursday evening at eight, Dr. Eugen Merzbacher of Carolina will address the joint Duke-UNC Physics Colloquium in the Duke Physics building. He will discuss the "Theory of Nuclear Structure." Dr. Ernst van der Spuy's talk has been postponed due to illness.

ELEVENTH-RANKED VOLTS COME FROM BEHIND TO HAND HEELS 27-14 DEFEAT

Vote For President, Too:

Campus Election Tuesday To Have Mock U.S. Ballot

Students will have a chance to indicate their choices for president of the United States when they go to the polls Tuesday to elect class officers and honor and student council representatives.

The presidential voting will be made under the supervision of the campus Elections Board in conjunction with the Young Democrats Club and the Young Republicans Club of Carolina.

The purpose of the presidential poll is to obtain "a general consensus of the campus and perhaps the state," according to Elections Board Chairman Dave Alexander.

Candidates Fail
Candidates failing to submit an account of their elections expenditures by noon Monday will be fined a late fee of $5.

The lists may be left at the Graham Memorial Information Desk or slipped under the door of the elections office there.

Dormitory presidents have been urged to remain in their rooms between 10 and 11 p.m. Monday to receive ballot boxes and to submit lists of poll tenders.

The following is a list of candidates for campus office. The name is followed by endorsement in parentheses:

Brown Running

RALPH POTTER has been elected as state secretary of the State YDC Executive Council. A law school senior from Wilmington, he is a member of Chi Phi and Delta Theta Phi. He was president of the first-year law class and secretary of the Barristers' Speakers Club.

Elliott Puts Tar Heels Ahead In First Period

By Davis B. Young

KNOXVILLE—The University of Tennessee had too much to offer yesterday afternoon, defeating the University of North Carolina by a 27-14 score in Shields-Watkins Field here before 27,060 highly partisan Volunteer fans.

The home team stormed back from an early 7-0 deficit, completely dominating the game after Carolina's quick opening score.

Tennessee kicked off to open the game. On the first series of downs, UNC quarterback Ray Farris was forced to punt. On a third and ten situation, Volunteer tailback Billy Majors returned Farris' 41-yard boot 3 yards to the Tennessee 46.

On the first play from scrimmage, Volunteer fullback Bunny Orr fumbled and UNC's John Stunda fell on the ball at the midfield stripe.

Carolina promptly marched 50 yards on 11 plays, with Bob Elliott going the final yard and a half for the marker.

Elliott Adds
Elliott added the extra point for a quick 7-0 Tar Heel lead with 7:28 to go in the first quarter, and Vol fans were nervous.

The big play in this march was a 22-yard run by Farris. Elliott's extra point was the first successful point after touchdown attempt of the season for Carolina.

The score remained 7-0 until the 9:35 mark in the second stanza when alert Tennessee center Mike Lucci intercepted a Farris aerial on the Carolina 43-yard line and sprinted the distance for Tennessee's first score.

The extra point was added by Cotton Letner, and the score read 7-7.

El Salvador Government 'Is Democracy'

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI)—Members of El Salvador's new revolutionary junta said Friday their government will be based on "pure democracy" and will comply with all international treaties.

They emphasized, however, that they considered null and void such "personal agreements" as those between ousted President Maria Lemus and President Ydigoras Fuentes of Guatemala in which the two men pledged a "united front" against Communism.

Junta member Ricarda Falla Caceres, a lawyer, said the Lemus-Ydigoras accord was not ratified by the legislative assembly and hence could not be considered binding on the new government.

To Build Clinical Research Facility:

Medical School Receives Large Grant

Carolina's School of Medicine has been awarded $897,528 for the establishment of a clinical research facility.

The grant, from the National Institutes of Health of the U.S. Public Health Service, covers a three-year period. A total of $287,884 may be expended during the first year, the second year budget for the new research unit is $285,400 and $324,244 is allocated for the third year of operation.

The announcement of the award was made yesterday by Dr. W. Reece Berryhill, dean of the School of Medicine.

At the same time, Dr. Berryhill said the new research unit would be directed by Dr. Walter Hollander Jr., assistant professor of medicine and Markle Scholar in Medical Science. Dr. Hollander is a graduate of the Harvard School of Medicine and has been on the faculty for four years.

Explain Program
Dr. G. Halsey Hunt and Dr. G. Donald Whedon, both of the National Institutes of Health, writing in a recent issue of "The Journal of the American Medical Association" explained the new program:

"A clinical research facility supported by this program is designed to be a resource within a medical institution, which will permit enhancement of the quality and quantity of clinical investigation through the establishment of a discrete physical unit or research ward in the hospital but apart from the general care wards, with a stable, well-trained nursing and dietetic staff to provide needed precise control and observation and with directly supporting specialized laboratory facilities."

Thus, under this grant, the School of Medicine will have a type of research facility not hitherto possible permitting intensive study and treatment of all types of patients.

Plans Underway
Plans are underway to have the new research facility opened by this spring or early summer.

For the first several years, it will temporarily occupy one floor of South Wing, which was made possible because the Department of Psychiatry voluntarily agreed to release the space for this purpose.

A permanent location for the new facility will be arranged at a later date.

Patients will be treated in the research facility without any charges, either for hospital room or for professional services. Patients will be admitted on a volunteer basis and provided their illness is one which is under investigation in the research programs of the School of Medicine.

The staff for the new facility, to be named later, will be the same as that of a regular general hospital ward supplemented by research nurses and other specialized personnel required for the more intense observation and study of these patients.

I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa' My Hair

ENSIGN NELLIE FORBUSH explains to her fellow nurses that she has "Washed That Man Right Out of Her Hair," in the Carolina Playmakers production of "South Pacific" which opened Friday night and will play through this evening in Memorial Hall. Tickets are still available

World News in Brief

Anti-Castroites Grab Cuban Plane; Seek Asylum In Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Anti-Castro passengers overwhelmed armed government guards on a Cuban airline plane today in a blistering airborne gunbattle and forced the crowded DC3's crew to fly it to asylum in Key West.

One army guard was slain, the pilot was injured and a third person, a boy of about 12, was wounded as passengers shot it out in the air with Castro troops. But the plane landed safely.

Several dozen passengers were aboard the DC3 operated by a nationalized internal Cuban airline, Aerovias Q, which took off shortly after 7 a.m. from a Havana military airport headed for Cuba's Isle of Pines.

Fidel Bans Gulf Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fidel Castro's government has issued an order banning flights within 30 miles of the north coast of Cuba's westernmost province of Pinar del Rio and warned it may force down any plane crossing the "forbidden zone."

The order, covering a block of airspace over the Gulf of Mexico, was brought to light Saturday by U.S. military sources. It was issued Oct. 2, to apply "until further notice" and was received at the Pentagon here Oct. 10.

Questioned about the order the Navy, the U.S. agency most affected, said in effect that it had no intention of honoring the order because it sought to ban operations over international waters.

5,000 Balubas Rioting

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—A horde of 5,000 Baluba tribesmen armed with machine guns and automatic rifles rampaged through the jungle Saturday, killing and burning in a tribal bloodletting that sent U.N. reinforcements to the area with orders to shoot if attacked.
