'Severe Blow To UNC'

Grigg, Young Blast 'Unrealistic' View

Leaders Are Urging Strong Support Of Budget Proposals By Students

PAT HUNTER
... WAA President

S.C. Miss Cops WAA Post

Upon the recent resignation of Mimi Smith, Pat Hunter has assumed the position of president of the Women's Athletic Association.

Pat has served as Representative for the Nurses Dorm and was elected Vice-President last Spring by the Council.

A native of Rock Hill, S. C., Pat is now a junior in the School of Nursing.

Assisting Pat on the Executive Council are: Ginger Kenney, secretary; Judy Newton, treasurer; and Catherine Bolton, publicity director.

A new Vice-President will be elected in the next meeting from a roster of Jeanne Huntley, Jackie Womble and Ann Crawford.

Student Body President David Grigg and State Affairs Chairman Davis B. Young spoke out yesterday afternoon in direct opposition to the cuts of the State Board of Higher Education in the University budget for 1961-63.

Thursday, the State Board recommended the University's budget request be slashed by 67.5 per cent in the first year of the biennium and 76.6 per cent in the second.

The recommendations of the Board will be taken into consideration by the Advisory Budget Commission in its report to the 1961 General Assembly.

Cuts In Salary

Included in the recommendations were severe cuts in faculty salary increases and a total depletion of the section pertaining to new faculty positions.

In a statement, Grigg hit at the action saying, "The cut in UNC's budget request was extremely drastic in my opinion. I am very much concerned and disturbed by yesterday's action."

"I am not fully informed at this point as to the situation, but it seems to me that this must be interpreted as a severe blow to the undergraduate library-student union request. The least we can say is that the union request is in an extremely precarious position at present," the student leader added.

Not Released

The board's recommendations regarding the proposed undergraduate library-student union have not yet been released.

Young termed the Board's action "mystifying."

He said, "It is beyond my comprehension how men trained to deal in this area can make such drastic recommendations. It is simply impossible for this University to operate on a third or a fourth of its original requests."

"You can't get something for nothing. You can't keep a top-flight faculty without increasing salaries. It is a fact of life that our professors will leave in droves to accept more attractive offers if this persists."

Young went on to say, "Furthermore the idea of no new faculty positions is totally unrealistic in view of increasing student enrollment."

Capital Improvements

"As for the proposed undergraduate library-student union, the capital improvements recommendations have not yet been released. But if they're anything like those in the 'A' and 'B' budgets, we could certainly be in a much better position."

"The only frank thing to say is that I am not encouraged. I feel we have been given an unwarranted bad break, and that students must demonstrate their support of the University administration's budget requests in all areas and their disapproval of the State Board's proposals," he concluded.

M-m-m Moves Out On Miller

Beauty And Brains To Get Divorce

NEW YORK (UPI)—Marilyn Monroe and her playwright husband, Arthur Miller, have separated and the actress will file for a divorce, it was announced today.

A spokesman for the 34-year-old Miss Monroe, one of the most glamorous personalities ever developed by Hollywood said she has no immediate plans to consult her attorneys.

The parting of the ways after four years and three months of "perfect marriage" came last weekend when Miss Monroe finished filming "The Misfits" in Hollywood.

Share Bungalow

She and Miller had been sharing a bungalow at the Beverly Hills Hotel but they returned to New York separately.

The marriage of "Beauty and Brains" in White Plains, N. Y., on June 29, 1956, was one of the nation's most publicized weddings.

Miss Monroe, whose acting began to be taken seriously by critics, and Miller, winner of a Pulitzer Prize, seemed ideally happy until a few months ago when the actress made a film with French movie star Yves Montand.

Rumors Reported

There were rumors of a romance on the set of "Let's Make Love" and Montand was reported to have told friends that Miss Monroe had a crush on him.

However, friends said Miss Monroe was not seriously interested in Montand, husband of Oscar-winning actress Simone Signoret. He does not figure in her separation and divorce plans, they said.

Interdorm Council Tries Three Cases

In the third case, the defendant was found guilty of setting a fire in the waste can in his room and was put on probation.

Les Petite Musicale To Feature Chopin

"Carolinian," a symphony which endeavors to make use of the folk idiom of the Southern Appalachian Mountains, and "Joe Clark Steps Out," a setting of old Southern folk dances, are two works by Dr. Charles G. Vardell, a talented native composer who will be featured Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Hill Hall by Les Petites Musicales, part of the GM Musical Committee.

Admission will be free to the performance, which will feature an all-Chopin program. Dr. Vardell has selected a program of representative Chopin compositions in honor of the 150th anniversary of the composer's birth.

In the previously mentioned works and others, Dr. Vardell has incorporated themes descriptive of the state of North Carolina. "From a Mountain Walk," one of his earlier compositions, took a prize in the state competition for the Shirley Cup, offered for work by a North Carolina composer.

This cup is now in the permanent possession of Dr. Vardell. "Song in the Wilderness," a later work, is a cantata for baritone solo, chorus, and orchestra.

The poem for the cantata was written by Paul Green. It has been published by the North Carolina Press and had its first public performance at the Piedmont Festival in Winston-Salem in May of 1947.

PAYING GUESTS

BARNEGAT, N. J. (UPI)—Sgt. Stanley Zenew, a tollgate policeman on the Garden State Parkway, thought he was being bombed Thursday when a white object was dropped from a U.S. Navy blimp and landed near his booth.

Zenew picked it up, found a quarter inside a knotted handkerchief and a note reading: "The Navy pays its way."

Students Arrive Early For Weekend Exchange

Twenty-four energetic Canadian students invaded Chapel Hill Friday for a weekend of the UNC-University of Toronto exchange program.

Arriving at Morehead Planetarium parking lot in a green and white bus about noon, the Canadians took the campus host committee by surprise—they arrived earlier than expected.

Camilla Joseph, Susan Lewis, Ed Riner and Dennis Rash, of the host committee, just happened to be in the parking lot when the bus arrived. However, others of the committee gathered in a few minutes.

Marks Second Year

This weekend marks the beginning of the second year of the exchange program. During the semester break, 24 Carolina students will go to the University of Toronto to complete the exchange.

Friday Objecting To Salary Status

President Fears Faculty Loss If Requests Refused

By WAYNE KING

William C. Friday, president of the Consolidated University, issued a statement Thursday objecting to the recommended cutback in the University's budget.

"We must object to this severe reduction as it will seriously jeopardize our facilities," Friday stated in commenting on the recommended 45 per cent reduction in funds requested to raise faculty salaries.

Referring to the proposed increases as "modest," the University president feels that the proposed cutback will seriously hamper UNC in her attempts to maintain competitive faculty salaries.

Losing Faculty

Friday pointed out that even now the three divisions of the University have continued to lose some of their most competent and eminent faculty members despite all-out efforts to hold them through competitive salaries.

UNC, Woman's College, and State requested a total of $14,181,958 for the expansion of the greater University under the enrichment program.

The State Board of Higher Education recommended only $4.5 million of the amount requested, a reduction of around 70 per cent for the biennium.

'Severe Damage'

President Friday felt that the proposed reductions "would do severe damage to the quality of the University."

Appreciation was expressed in the statement for the Board's endorsement of the "A" section of the budget, which includes the necessary capital to continue operation of the University at its present level, allowing for increased enrollments.

The huge slice was taken out of the "B" budget, which is intended to provide for "enrichment" or improvement and expansion.

Hardest Hit

Hardest hit in the appropriations, in President Friday's estimation, were the items pertaining to increased faculty salaries and improved and expanded library facilities.

He called these items, along with the others on the "B" budget, "the true measure of the distinction of the University."

Further commenting on the "enrichment" or "B" item requests, President Friday stated that they were "our best judgement of the increased appropriations necessary to maintain our place in the company of (the leading Southern) universities and to do our rightful share in fulfilling the great demands upon higher education in America."

Board of Trustees

"As to procedure, under the laws of the state, the Board of Trustees is responsible for the maintenance of the quality of the faculty and the excellence of the programs of the three-fold University.

In recommending a cut of 67 per cent of the first year in the biennium, and 76 per cent for the second . . . the Board fails to advocate increased support necessary to preserve and improve the University."

Students Are Urged To See Legislators

A few hours after the Board of Higher Education had slashed the proposed University budget, Addison Hewlett, Speaker of the House of the state's General Assembly, was telling a meeting of student officials what had impressed him most about the 1959 plea for funds.

"The fact that a delegation of students from my hometown of Wilmington came to talk personally to me about the needs of the University impressed me greatly," Hewlett said.

"I would think it would be a very good idea for you to see your own representatives on this matter."

Hewlett Addresses

Hewlett addressed a joint meeting of the Student Legislature and the campus Committee on State Affairs in Howell Thursday night. His main topic was a discussion on the workings of the General Assembly.

After his formal speech, Hewlett answered questions from the floor, many of which per-
