Ike Gets 'Clean Bill of Health'

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is in "excellent" health as he prepares to leave the White House next month, physicians reported Thursday after completing his annual physical examination.

The 70-year-old president, oldest man ever to serve as chief executive, has even shown improvement in his chronic bronchitis and the bursitis in his left shoulder since his last checkup in October, 1959, the doctors said.

Selassie Troops Battle New Rule

LONDON—Forces loyal to deposed Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie battled troops supporting the new regime Thursday in bloody fighting that caused heavy casualties and left the issue of government control still in doubt, dispatches to London said.

Sources in Aden, the British protectorate near Ethiopia, said civil war was likely as the African country divided between Selassie and his son, Crown Prince Asfa Wosen, who was described by some sources as a "figurehead" king for a group of military plotters.

U.S. Embassy Fired On In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos—Artillery and incendiary shells and bullets struck the U.S. embassy today as pre-Western soldiers battled to drive Communist-supported troops from the capital city.

Diplomatic officials in Washington said the American chancery, the building housing the embassy offices, was burned out in a fire started when an incendiary shell hit the building. There was no report of Americans hurt.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy Thursday named AFL-CIO attorney Arthur J. Goldberg as his secretary of labor and was reported to have tapped Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota as his secretary of agriculture. Freeman, who was defeated in his bid for re-election to a third term, immediately set out by National Guard plane for Washington. He was expected to join Kennedy for the formal announcement of his appointment on the front steps of the President-elect's home.

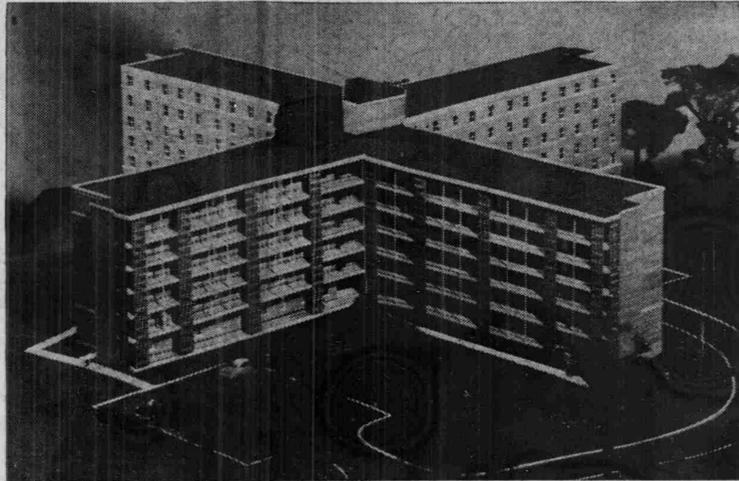

Kennedy announced the appointment of Goldberg from the steps of his Washington home and promptly joined him in a pledge to hit at causes of unemployment. He also lauded Goldberg's role in ousting Communist-dominated and scandal-tarred unions from the AFL-CIO.

JFK Names Negro To Post, Offer Declined

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy disclosed Thursday that he had asked a Negro, Rep. William Dawson of Illinois, to serve in his cabinet. But Dawson decided he would rather stay in Congress.

If the 74-year-old Democrat had accepted, he would have become the first Negro cabinet member in U.S. history.

Kennedy said he had asked Dawson to become postmaster general. After the offer was made last Tuesday, Dawson gave the matter "some reflection" and then decided to remain in the House.

Six-Story 'X' Buildings Will Cost $3,633,000, House 1,300

Plans for the construction of $3,633,000 worth of men's dormitories on the south side of the University campus were announced this week by J. A. Branch, University Business Manager.

Two new dormitories, to be named Burton Craige and J. C. B. Ehringhaus dorms, will be built near the University's three newest dormitories, Avery, Parker and Teague.

Burton Craige, named for a prominent UNC alumnus, will be located on a knoll south of Manning Drive and east of the new married students housing development.

J. C. B. Ehringhaus, named for the North Carolina governor noted for his instigation of the state sales tax in the 1930s, will be built on another knoll behind Avery Dorm.

apartment for a married student couple in each dormitory. The couple will serve as counselor and hostess for the students.

Half of the money for the dormitories came from the statewide bond election last October. The other half is financed by Federal loan. The loan on the buildings will be self-liquidating and no raise in room rent is contemplated.

Craige To Cost

Craige, to cost $1,883,000, will house 732 men. Ehringhaus, to cost $1,750,000, will contain slightly fewer students. Both buildings are planned to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1962.

Both dorms will be built with four wings in the shape of an X. Interior construction will be similar to that of Avery, Parker and Teague, with outside balconies on all six floors of each wing forming concrete corridors for four-room, one bathroom units. Each unit would contain eight men.

One innovation for University dormitories will be an

Carolina Gentlemen Entertain Tonight

The Carolina Gentlemen—UNC's professional vocal group—will entertain in the GM Rendezvous Room at 8 p.m. tonight.

They will perform selections from their ever-increasing repertoire and may entertain requests for special Christmas music.

Free juke box dancing will be available and nearby concession machines will offer hot and cold drinks.

Sanford Taps UNC Graduates As Aides

Two of the aides chosen by Governor-elect Terry Sanford to help run the gubernatorial office in Raleigh are graduates of UNC.

Tom Lambeth, 26, named administrative assistant in charge of office routine, got an A.B. degree in history in 1957, and Graham Jones, 33, named press secretary, received an A.B. in journalism in 1951.

Both were members of the UNC Young Democrats Club four years, Jones serving as president his senior year.

Both have impressive records in student activities.

Lambeth, of Winston-Salem, was active in the Carolina Political Union, Di Senate, GMAB president, member of the Golden Fleece, Graill and Order of the Old Well; president of the Publications Union Board; Student Legislature; chairman of the Student Party; State Student Legislature; chairman of the Carolina Forum; Amphoterotheren and managing editor of the Carolina Handbook.

Tar Heel Editor

Jones, also of Winston-Salem, was editor of "The Daily Tar Heel"; a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Phi Beta Kappa; speaker of the Phi Assembly; a member of Student Legislature.

Lambeth had been a reporter for the Winston-Salem Journal before joining the Sanford campaign staff where he was a personal aide to Sanford and schedule arranger in the primaries. He headed the campaign headquarters office of the Democratic State organization in the fall campaign.

Jones served as Raleigh reporter for the Durham Morning Herald before hitching up with the Sanford campaign where he

'Goodbye, Mr. Chips' Last Pre-Holiday Flick

"Goodbye, Mr. Chips," the serene, sensitive, nostalgic story taken from James Hilton's award-winning novel, will be tonight's Free Flick, the last before Christmas vacation.

Starring Robert Donat and Greer Garson, this is a moving tale of a shy English schoolteacher whose persistence, courage and sense of humor combined with his gentle wisdom establish him as a revered tradition in his school.

Warm and vital, this film has been called "brilliant" screen entertainment. Donat's Oscar-winning portrayal of the lovable Mr. Chips is described as an acting masterpiece.

Showings will be at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. in Carroll Hall.

New Phone System Slated For Jan. 15

Chapel Hill's new, seven-digit telephone dialing system will go into effect on January 15.

This All Number Calling system is designed to meet the increased demand for telephones in the Chapel Hill area. The change-over from four and five-digit telephone numbers to the seven-digit numbers has already begun. The old numbers will be used until 2:01 a.m. on January 15.

Students should tell their families the new area code number for long distance calls to Chapel Hill—919.

UNC Senior Nominee For Rhodes Grant

A UNC senior was selected this week as one of the state's two nominees for Rhodes Scholarships.

Norton F. Tennille, of Winston-Salem, will compete in Atlanta Saturday with other nominees from Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee and Georgia. Four Rhodes Scholars will be chosen from among the 12 candidates.

A Davidson College senior is the other North Carolina nominee.

Tennille is a straight A student, majoring in the classics. He is a member of the Order of the Grail, and is the student organizer of the advisory committee for the new honor's program.

He also is chairman of the special committee of the Carolina Symposium and organized the statewide radio network for the symposium.

Radio Features 'Messiah' At 8

A special presentation of Handel's "Messiah" will be featured on radio station WUNC at 8 p.m. tonight at 91.5 FM on the dial.

The "Messiah" will be played on Norman Cordon's weekly program, "Let's Listen to Opera." Cordon, Chapel Hillian and former Metropolitan Opera star, will play the rendition as performed by the London Philharmonic Orchestra and conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham.

This presentation will be the final program of the year for WUNC. The station will resume programming on Jan. 3, following the University holidays.

LIBRARY'S YULE SCHEDULE

The UNC Library's holiday schedule will be as follows: Dec. 17th, 7:45 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Dec. 18, closed; Dec. 19 through Dec. 23rd, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; December 24 through Dec. 26, closed; Dec. 27 through Dec. 30th, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Dec. 31 and Jan. 1, closed; Jan. 2nd, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Election News Coverage Is Survey Topic

A fact-finding survey into the fairness and other aspects of newspaper coverage in the 1960 Presidential election has been undertaken by the UNC School of Journalism.

A year-long project, the initial findings form an exhibit in the new Howell Hall here—the front pages of major newspapers of the nation the morning after the elections Nov. 8.

Associate Professors Wayne B. Danielson and John B. Adams are conducting the research. The newspapers studied are from every part of the country, and measurements are being made of amount of space given, display prominence, the kind of story and other criteria.

'La Traviata' Awaits January 14

LA TRAVIATA—Cast members of the coming January production of La Traviata rehearse a scene from the third act. The girl is Rebecca Carnes, soprano understudy for Phyllis Curtin and the boy is Gene Strassler, tenor, who plays Alfredo, her lover. In the background are members of the UNC chorus.

Top Students Initiated Into BGS Frat

Four honor students were tapped for membership at the fall initiation of the Alpha of N. C. Chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, national business administration honor fraternity.

They are: Geoff Churchill of Atlanta, James Allen Fine of New London, N. C., Robert Gibbons of Lenoir, and Stuart Teichman of Winston-Salem.

These new members were honored at a banquet at the Carolina Inn following the ceremony, where Chancellor Aycock addressed the fraternity on the difficulty of interpreting the needs of the University.

New officers of the chapter were elected at the initiation meeting. These are: Bruce Raynor of Raleigh, president; James Fine, treasurer; and Robert Gibbons, secretary.

Infirmary

Students in the infirmary yesterday included Wayne King, Ann Hopkins, Craig Moore, Laura Holder, David Hammer, Edward Riner, Morgan Happer, Judith Johnston, Sally Alle, Robert Deal and Benson Thomas.
