

LARESE HITS 36, BUT BIRDS STUN UNC 89 TO 82

Yorkie And Doug Not Enough Against USC

South Carolina did to North Carolina in basketball here Wednesday night what it did to them in football last October, winning their first Atlantic Coast Conference game at the expense of the Tar Heels. Final score of the free-scoring tilt was 89-82. The McGuiresmen blew a ten-point lead midway of the second half and the Gamecocks couldn't be slowed in the frantic homestretch.

Despite York Larese's high of the season, 36, and Doug Moe's supporting 29, the Heels couldn't cope with the smaller Gamecocks, led by Scottie Ward's 20 and Bobbie Robinson and Dave Prevostnik with 19 each.

The Chapel Hillians jumped ahead early in the contest on the Moe-Larese combination, taking a 4-0 lead before their hosts scored. Coach Bob Stevens' crew pulled it closer on the work of forward Ron Johnson, tightening the count as close as 22-19 before the Tar Heels put on a spurge again.

Substitute center Prevostnik replaced scoring ace Art Whisman early in the first period, and led his team through the middle part of the game with some timely scoring and a yeoman's rebounding job. The closest that the Gamecocks could get in the first half was with 1:30 remaining when Ward hit a long shot to make the score 40-39. Doug Moe hit a basket and the Heels left at halftime with a slim 42-40 lead.

North Carolina held the advantage until the Gamecocks poured in seven points in a row early in the second half to take a 51-49 advantage. Here, Larry Brown hit a set, and Moe, Larese, and Dick Kopley combined talents to push UNC back out front, 56-53. Then after Robinson scored for USC, Hudock hit on a field goal, Larese canned a charity toss, Kopley got a bucket, Larese and Moe a field goal each to give the Heels their biggest lead of the night, 65-55. But then the roof caved in.

Carolina managed to hold the lead all the way until the final two minutes, but the work of Johnson, Prevostnik, Haney, and Robinson helped the Birds to whittle away at the margin. Johnson rolled in two field goals in succession to push the Roosters ahead by 77-76, and then Whisman got a free shot to give them a 2-point spread. Moe got his 29th and final point to tie the score, but then Robinson hit another charity toss. Larese got a jumper to

Track Team Hosts State Saturday

By Ed Dupree

UNC's varsity and freshmen track teams play host to N. C. State Saturday afternoon in the Tin Can.

The dual meet will be the second Tar Heel-Wolfpack track encounter of the young indoor season. The varsity clobbered State 86-10 in the opener, while the frosh coasted to a 69-31 victory. The State meet will serve as a warm-up for the Big Five meet to be held February 18 between UNC, State, Duke, Wake and low hurdles. Brown, a transfer from Southern Methodist, turned in many brilliant performances during the 1960 season, while running unattached.

Tar Babies Seeking 2nd Win Over NCS

Carolina's freshman basketball team tries to get back in the winning column tonight against the State College Wolflets in a game played at Rocky Mount, N. C.

The Tar Babies, winners of five games in a row before they met their downfall at Duke on Saturday night, have beaten the State freshmen once already this season. So far, Coach Ken Rosemond's boys stand 2-2 against Big Four competition, losing twice to the strong Blue Imps, and stopping Wake Forest and State once each.

When Carolina last played the Wolflets, guard Mike Cooke enjoyed his hottest night of the year, bombing away with his long, accurate jump shots at the outset of both the first and second periods. Cooke scored 32 points in the win.

In the starting lineup tonight will probably be Cooke and Tom Ryan at the guards, Jim Fisher at center, and Art Katz and Bryan McSweeney at forward. If Coach Rosemond proposes any kind of strategy, it will most likely be aimed at keeping his players on the court. Foul trouble in the Duke game resulted in all five starters and two subs leaving the game. The Tar Babies finished with three players.

UNC Visits Duke Saturday Looking For Second Fight

On Saturday night, Carolina makes a return trip to Duke with the purpose of beating the Blue Devils in a fight—a real fight—to be run off in eight parts.

But it's all legal. In other words, Coach Sam Barnes' wrestlers tangle with the Duke grapplers on the mats.

The locals will try to take their third consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference meet.

As the Barnesmen seek revenge for a close 14-16 loss to the Blue Devils last season, they will be depending heavily on Captain Pope Shuford.

Frosh Sets National Record

Thompson Mann, a freshman at North Carolina from Hickory, Va., set a new national collegiate freshman swimming record in the 200-yard backstroke here, yesterday.

Mann, participating in the Carolina-Raleigh high school meet, swam the distance in 2:08.3 minutes to eclipse the old mark of 2:09.6 set in 1955 by Ray Galvano of Southern Methodist University. His victory sparked the Tar Babies to a 55-34 win over their opponents. It was Carolina's second triumph of the season.

Tar Baby George Bensch was the only double winner of the day, capturing the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events. Carolina jumped off to a quick lead, taking the 200 yard medley relay, and never were in any danger of losing.

Of the eleven events which were swum, Raleigh managed to win only two—the diving and the 200-yard freestyle relay.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE TO BEGIN ON FEBRUARY 18

What has become known as "spring practice" among the members of the Carolina football team will begin on Saturday, February 18.

Coach Jim Hickey had planned earlier to hold the drills beginning February 11, but snow, rain and sleet have made the practice fields unusable. With forecasts for the remainder of the week bearing nothing encouraging, Hickey decided to try for next week.

Approximately 75 gridders are expected to take part in the drills which are limited by NCAA regulations to 30 days. At the conclusion of the practices the annual Monogram Club-sponsored Blue-White game will be played. The date for this intrasquad contest has been tentatively set for March 25.

Hickey's Sweeties Meet Rosie's Stars

UNC football players and Lennie Rosenbluth's All-Star basketball team have declared war on each other.

Monday night at 8 o'clock in Woolen Gym, Hickey's "Sweeties" will show their versatility in sports competition, by attempting to overthrow All-American Rosenbluth's squad and claiming fame to the South's greatest basketball classic (despite claims from over Raleigh way).

The "Sweeties," football players all, will not be strangers on the hardwood. Rip Hawkins, one of the mainstays, was offered a combined football-basketball scholarship to Tennessee. Mike Greenaday was an All-State basketballer in Pennsylvania, and Lenny Beck played freshman basketball for the University.

Other "Sweeties" are John

Schroeder, John Hegarty, Fred Mueller, Skip Clement, and Jim Rice.

Lennie Rosenbluth's All-Stars, a semi-professional team, will feature such past stars as Danny Lotz, Ray Stanley, Joe Quigg, Tony Radovich, and Billie Joe Harris. Rosenbluth, Quigg, and Lotz, were members of the 1957 Tar Heel team. Radovich made the bigtime a year before, as did Duke's Harris.

Ray Rarris, press agent for the "Sweeties," has stated that "so far Perry Mason, Maverick, and the 1957 Tar Heels have not met their match. But every dog has his day and Monday night will spoil the end of a long reign."

Tickets for the game are on sale at the "Y" or can be obtained at the door Monday night. Price is 25c.
