$ BILLION BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON—The House Ways and Means Committee today approved President Kennedy's $1 billion emergency proposal to extend unemployment compensation benefits for jobless workers.

After three days of closed hearings, the committee approved this first part of Kennedy's program to help the unemployed. The bill would provide almost a billion dollars in extra relief to the 3,125,000 persons whose benefits either have run out or will expire during the next year or so.

WANTED: 7,000 SOLDIERS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld sought 7,000 soldiers today to beef up the United Nations force in the Congo to 20,000 men.

There was no immediate indication where he would find them.

Malaya has said it would contribute 800 troops, India is considering giving some manpower and Japan is talking about sending "observers."

GOP'S TO PUSH CIVIL RIGHTS

WASHINGTON—Republican congressional leaders announced Thursday they will push their own civil rights bill since President Kennedy failed to propose one in his 16-point priority legislative program.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., said he would offer the GOP measure in a couple of weeks because "there is no clear and immediate indication the administration is going to introduce something."

NATURAL RESOURCES PLAN POSED

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy sent Congress today a vast natural resources program to protect and develop the nation's lifeblood supplies of water, land, forests and minerals.

Kennedy put into a special message proposals ranging from purification of big city air to the de-salting of ocean water for drinking and industrial use.

He warned that unless wise broad-scale action is taken "we will be in trouble within a short time."

Peace Corps Ideas Previewed Sunday

The controversial Peace Corps program will be previewed in an exclusive report Sunday on NBC-TV and channel 4 locally.

Chet Huntley, NBC newsman, and Dr. Maurice H. Albertson, head of the group surveying the program's potentialities, will explain how the Peace Corps would affect today's college students.

Dr. Albertson was appointed by the International Cooperation Administration to head the survey group. He will report on its proposals for the establishment of the Corps on the television program, to begin at 5:30 p.m.

His official report will not be released to the public until Monday.

The Peace Corps would be a non-governmental organization to utilize young Americans with special skills and abilities to aid the economic growth of underdeveloped countries.

They would work on an active basis, concentrating on educational, community development, and health and sanitation programs.

In his televised report, Dr. Albertson will discuss selection of workers, what skills and abilities will be sought, salaries to be paid, and what pre-training will be required of those chosen.

He will also point out the international reaction to the U.S. plan. Dr. Albertson is director of the Research Foundation of Colorado State College.

Students Rally Behind McGuiremen

The Carolina Athletic Association yesterday urged all Carolina students and citizens of Chapel Hill to attend the "pep-and-appreciation" rally for the UNC basketball team and Coach Frank McGuire this afternoon at 4:00 p.m. in Woolen Gymnasium.

"Coach McGuire and the team need our vote of confidence," stated Swag Grimsley, President of the CAA and co-ordinator of the rally.

"A rebuke to the unjustifiable criticisms of Coach McGuire in the past weeks can only be given through a united demonstration of support on his behalf."

The following is a resolution which will be presented to Coach McGuire and the team at the rally:

WHEREAS: The 1960-61 University of North Carolina basketball team has performed with distinction and good sportsmanship in the face of the most damaging sort of criticism and with the knowledge that its efforts would not permit it to be entered in any of the national tournaments;

WHEREAS: Basketball Coach Frank McGuire has displayed, during his tenure at this University, a dignity and sportsmanship rarely found in this position;

WHEREAS: Coach McGuire has been the victim of particularly discouraging criticism and has met it with distinction, courage and good will;

WHEREAS: This team and its coach have been a credit to the University of North Carolina wherever they have gone;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

That the students of the University of North Carolina and the people of Chapel Hill express publicly their support of the 1960-61 basketball team and wish the team success in its final contest tomorrow afternoon against Duke University;

And that, in particular, the students and the townspeople voice their confidence in and affection for Coach Frank McGuire, one of our most distinguished adopted Chapel Hillians.

The rally is being jointly sponsored by the Carolina students and a group of interested Chapel Hill citizens headed by Mike Rubish, a former Carolina football player and local merchant.

A short ceremony will be held for the presentation of the resolution in the form of a certificate of appreciation to Coach McGuire and the team.

Representatives of the Chapel Hill community and UNC student body will preside over the rally.

Cheerleaders and band will lead cheers for a pre-Dook game pep rally.

Coach Frank McGuire

ON PLANES TOO

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mexican de Aviacion, the Mexican airline that prides itself on its gourmet food service on international flights, has added another touch.

The airline now claims to be the first to serve Metrecol instead of the meal to those passengers on diets.

The company said the 900-calories food substitute was added at the request of its regular passengers who had added pounds eating the regular fare.

Labor's Goldberg Prompts Settlement

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy Thursday announced the end of the costly six-day-old strike of airline flight engineers and said he expected passenger service to be resumed promptly on the affected airlines.

The engineers union agreed with the Airline Pilots Association and the airlines to resume operations while a special presidential commission investigates the dispute between the engineers and the carriers. The commission immediately went to work.

The agreement covered Pan American World Airways, American Airlines, Trans World Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, National Airlines, and the cargo-carrying Flying Tiger Airlines.

In Miami, National Airlines said it would resume immediate operation of its Miami-to-New York schedule with jet and piston-type aircraft. It said other routes would be restored as fast as possible.

Pan American said it would resume full operations "very shortly." TWA reported that it would take a couple of days for it to get back to normal. American said it would be operating at 38 per cent of normal Friday.

and resume a full schedule by Saturday.

Goldberg Pushed Settlement
The President's announcement of the end of the most crippling airline strike in U.S. history came after days of negotiations shepherded by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg. The airlines had estimated their strike losses at $5 million a day—a total of some $30 million.

The President, in a statement read to reporters at the White House, said the parties to the dispute agreed to the strike-ending proposal laid before them on his behalf last Saturday by Goldberg.

It was the second crippling strike which the new administration helped settle since Kennedy took office Jan. 20. Shortly after his inauguration Goldberg played a leading role in ending New York's tugboat walkout.

The special presidential commission was given 90 days within which to investigate the airline dispute, recommend settlement terms and try to mediate differences between the parties.

Goldberg told a news conference at the White House immediately after the President's announcement that he had assurances from the two unions and the six carriers that "the status quo before the strike will be maintained and guaranteed."

'Le Million' To Be Shown To Film Group

"Le Million," the French feature movie described by the Museum of Modern Art Film Library as the "only truly international sound film," will be shown to UNC-Chapel Hill Film Society members and guests on Monday, 8 p.m., Carroll Hall.

Directed and written by Rene Clair at the peak of his career, "Le Million" is a rollicking farce, in Chaplinesque style, which time and continuous worldwide showings have given the right to be called "classic." Taking delight in the absurdity of human behavior, the film stars Annabella, Rene Lefevre, Louis Allibert and Vanda Greville.

Dialog is used only where absolutely needed; there are no sub-titles because none are needed to clarify its story of what happens when a lost lottery ticket goes from hand to hand.

It is a comedy of universal appeal and of the freshest invention by a director considered one of the few—and real—artists of the cinema.

John Schnorrenberg, film society committee member, will briefly discuss Rene Clair's screen contribution in an introduction to the film Monday night.

Membership tickets for the remainder of the season are available at $1.20 from the YWCA office.

"Le Million," "Blackmail," directed by Alfred Hitchcock, and "The Joyless Street," directed by G. W. Pabst and starring Greta Garbo, complete the fall-winter season of the film society. The spring season begins April 4 with Marcel Carne's "Les Enfants du Paradis."

Pickers Air Parley Conclusions

Chapel Hill's integration-minded picketers will present results from its negotiations with local theater managers at an open meeting tonight at 8 at St. Joseph's Methodist Church on W. Rosemary Street.

"Evidence" Show
The picketing group, called the Citizens Committee for "Open" Movies, visited the managers of the Carolina and Varsity Theaters yesterday to present them with "evidence" of student desires for integration, and to offer assistance in making a change in policy.

Results of a recent campus-wide poll on integration opinions taken by a student group, will also be presented to the managers.

Integration Answers
Answers to the integration proposals will be taken to the meeting tonight. The meeting is open to the public.

Original requests for the integration of theaters were made by the Citizens Committee on January 19, and refused by the managers of both theaters.

Willing To Talk
E. Carrington Smith, manager of the Carolina Theater, stated at the time that his decision was not irrevocable, and that he would be willing to talk with members of the Committee at some future date if they desired.

The Varsity Theater manager indicated he was not responsible for a decision, but would be willing to confer again.

Picketing was resumed at both theaters on February 6, and has continued nightly ever since. The Committee reports that approximately 140 picketers of both races have volunteered.

Seminars Abroad Is European Tour For The Serious-Minded

Many students will be visiting Europe this summer primarily for entertainment purposes. However, there is one group on the UNC campus whose purpose is different.

Four years ago University of North Carolina students, under the auspices of the YMCA-YWCA, organized Seminars Abroad for the purpose of helping serious minded students add educational value to their fun in Europe.

Unlike the professional tours for sightseeing tourists, Seminars Abroad was designed for the student who was willing to take part in the planning and study that it required.

The first seminar of 30 Carolina students in the summer of 1958 was successful enough so that it has been repeated and broadened every summer since.

Seminars Abroad consists of two parts: 1) a two-month travel program in Europe during the summer, and 2) a series of seminars and meetings during the second semester of the school year in preparation of the summer.

A three-day trip to Washington in March to meet with Federal Government and State Department officials is part of the preparation for the summer tour.

The object of Seminars Abroad is to enable American students to meet people of other countries in order to not only better understand other people's way of life but also to give American students better insight into their own way of life.

The cost of Seminars Abroad is an important feature of the tour. Actual cost, which includes travel, meals, lodging, guides, and seminar programs is $1395.00.

The time factor is also an important aspect of Seminars Abroad. The tour lasts for 64 days, June 8 to August 10.

By traveling on planes and trains the actual travel time is reduced to about 80 hours or eight days. That leaves 56 days of program time in Europe.

Cities that will be visited by this summer's Seminar are Dublin, Paris, Berne, Wengen, Florence, Rome, Venice, Vienna, Salzburg, Bingen, Cologne, Goettingen, Berlin, Copenhagen, Amsterdam, and London.

There will be two leaders in this summer's seminar, Leon Marion, adult leader of the group, has spent several years in Europe.

Fred Parker, a senior from Goldsboro, N. C., has been elected by fellow students in the group as chairman of the seminar.

There is still room left for a few more students.

Jack Lemmon, an ingenious private assigned to the unit, tries to arrange a party for his buddies and the beautiful nurses on the base.

Ernie Kovacs plays a promotion-hungry, obnoxious officer who knows what's going on but can't ferret out the plotters. Kathryn Grant is featured as one of the nurses.
