

Order Of Golden Fleece Taps 16 In Memorial Hall Rites

"You have dared to be above the average. . . . You have lost yourself . . . and tonight in the darkness of this hall you will find the Golden Fleece."

These words from Jason's oration were spoken to an audience of 2,000 in Memorial Hall here tonight just before hooded giants stalked the aisles and tapped 16 new members for the Order of the Golden Fleece, highest men's honorary of the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Sturgis Elleno Leavitt, Kenan Professor of Spanish; Nathan Anthony Womack, chairman of the Department of Surgery, and George Vanderbeck Taylor, Associate Professor of History; and 13 students were honored. Also, present officers of the Order were announced, their identities having been kept secret throughout the year.

First to be tapped was Ray Simpson Farris, Charlotte; then came Stanley Warren Black, III, Charlotte; William Floyd Sayers Jr., Gastonia; Henry Newton Patterson Jr., Manhasset, N. Y.; Lewis Odus Rush Jr., Asheboro; Hans Rudolf Frankfort, East Orange, N. J.; Charles Farris Himes, Brevard; George Worth Campbell Jr., High Point; David Eugene Price, Erwin, Tennessee; Willis Padgett Whichard, Durham; Louis Haynes Gump, Johnson City, Tennessee; Norton Fortune Tennille Jr., Winston-Salem; and Denton Lotz, Northport, New York.

All of the students are seniors except Farris, Patterson, Campbell, Whichard, who are juniors; and Frankfort, who is a graduate student.

Officers Announced

It was announced that Harvey Peck, Durham, has been Jason (president) of the 657-member organization during the 1960-61 academic year. Robert Vernon Fulk Jr., Wilmington, was introduced as Hyparchos (vice-president); Howard Holderness Jr., Greensboro, as Grammateus (secretary); and Raymond Stanley, Chapel Hill, as Chrystopher (treasurer).

The dramatic hour-long ceremony included the reading of the legend of Jason and the quest for the Golden Fleece. Kenneth Lawing Penegar, former Jason of the Order and third-year law student at the University, was the narrator of the legend.

Active Argonauts appeared on the stage with the new members at the conclusion of the program. They included Paul Gene Strasser, Harvey Peck, James Martin Scott, David Lee Grigg, Lawrence Byron Austin, III, Robert Vernon Fulk Jr., Roger Babson Foushee, and Maurice Glen Johnson, all students in the University.

Occupying special seats in the auditorium were alumni members of the Order, who joined active members and initiates for a banquet at the Carolina Inn following the tapping ceremony. Main speaker for this occasion, a closed meeting of the Order, was Argonaut Terry Sanford, Governor of the State of North Carolina. He was tapped into the Order as a student in 1941.

Jason's Speech

The annual oration of Jason gives some indication of the significance of membership in the order. In delivering it, Peck said, "The qualities sought in Argonauts of old are as real and as necessary today as in days past."

"In a world pleading for leadership," he continued, "is it not proper that we here in all humility attempt to honor those qualities of leadership and the men among us who emulate them?"

"To those chosen, let it be a tribute to work well done. To others, let it be an encouragement to higher achievement. To still others, let it be a challenge to prove the omissions of this night a testimony to human error in judgment."

Referring to the years of University history when "there have always been those who have risen in times of need and crisis, have loved this place, and given themselves in devoted service to it," Jason said, "it is they and their ideal which made it great."

He stated that the Fleece fifty-eight years ago when it was organized "became guardian of this ideal that it might have its fullest realization."

"In those men honored tonight and in their desires to give fully to University life are mirrored the qualities on which this ideal depends," he said.

APPLICATIONS NOW AVAILABLE Symposium Positions Open

Planning activity for the 1962 Carolina Symposium will move into high gear this week, as the Program Committee holds final deliberations on the week-long theme, and applications for committee chairmen and members are considered.

Chairman Joe Oppenheimer has announced that applications will be available through Friday at the YMCA, GM Information Desk, and the Library Reserve Reading Room. Positions are open for the Publicity, Related Discussions, Intercollegiate Seminar, Social and Hospitality, and Physical Arrangements committee heads.

"We plan to select the chairman this spring, along with a nucleus membership for each committee. As the work load increases next fall, more members will be added to each group," Oppenheimer stated.

Oldest Intellectual Effort
The Carolina Symposium, the oldest and most extensive student effort for the stimulation of the intellectual life of the community, was begun in 1926, and has since evolved into a week-long series of lectures, discussions, classroom seminars and debates held every other year.

A roster of distinguished speakers is brought to the campus for the week in order to examine the many facets of a particular problem.

The following is a short resume of the functions and duties of each committee, so that applicants may gain a clearer perspective of the work involved.

PUBLICITY.—In addition to being responsible for general Symposium publicity, including newspaper, radio and television coverage, this committee will coordinate the work of two subcommittees: Exhibits and Handbook.

The Exhibits group will prepare displays and demonstrations throughout the year, designed to provide students with prior orientation as to the scope of the subject.

The Handbook Committee will compile, print and distribute the Symposium Handbook, the program guide for the week's activity.

RELATED DISCUSSIONS COMMITTEE.—This group will coordinate the work of two subcommittees—Classroom and Departmental Seminars and Discussion Groups. The Seminars committee will schedule speakers for classroom discussions in close cooperation with University departments, while the Discussion Group committee will initiate student discussion in living units on the Symposium theme, and will provide guest speakers for these meetings.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SEMINAR.—The planning and execution of the intercollegiate seminar program will be the job of this group. Work entails the determination of the prospectus for the week, communicating with student leaders at schools throughout the nation to arrange for representation in the program, and the other arrangements involved.

SOCIAL AND HOSPITALITY.—This group will schedule arrivals and departures for visiting speakers, secure rooms and dining arrangements, plan receptions and provide hospitality and assistance to all visitors.

PHYSICAL ARRANGEMENTS.—Arranging stage settings, securing necessary equipment, and assisting the publicity and related discussions committees in the execution of their plans are the major functions of this group.

The Finance and Office Committees, chaired by the Treasurer and Secretary respectively, will also accept applications for members.

State Of Emergency Declared By Castro

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

A fighting force of Cuban rebels invaded their homeland by air and sea today only 90 miles from Havana, and Premier Fidel Castro declared a state of national emergency.

Rebel troops swamped ashore after midnight in the swampy area around the Bahia de Cochinos, the Bay of Pigs. The invasion area lies at the south of Matanzas Province below Havana.

First indications were that the casualties were heavy. Near midday the largest radio station in Havana, CMQ, was heard announcing that Castro had declared a state of national emergency.

There were reports segments of the Cuban navy had revolted. For more than an hour this morning naval stations were heard trying to raise Cuban naval headquarters in Havana by radio. Castro has conducted four major purges of the Navy in the last year.

Uprising Hinted
Castro called for action against "those who are surprised committing . . . sabotage, shooting, or assassination attempts" — indicating that an uprising within Cuba had accompanied the invasion.

In a broadcast statement Castro identified himself as "commander-in-chief and prime minister," indicating that he had assumed personal command. President Osvaldo Dorticos previously had been designated as commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

Streams of persons were reported jamming the roads into the Escambray Mountains where guerilla bands have been operating against Castro. They were believed to be civilians on the move and not invaders.

As the government acted to fight off the invaders, Cuba had charged in the United Nations that the attack was waged by mercenaries" from bases in Florida and Guatemala. The invasion, Cuba said, was financed by the United States.

U.S. Sympathetic
In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied that the invasion came from American soil, but said the United States is sympathetic with the invaders' aims.

The landing by anti-Castro was accompanied by a rebel radio appeal for a simultaneous uprising within Cuba.

Several hours after dawn the government's internal radio communications system, which had been commandeered by the army, reported invaders were dropping by parachute, that planes were bombing and strafing the beachhead area, and that two gunboats supported the assault.

President Jose Miro Cardona of the Cuban Revolutionary Council in New York said the assault was the beginning of the battle "to liberate our (Continued on Page 3)

Dean Rusk Says US Sympathizes With Invasion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the anti-Castro invasion Cuba was not staged from American soil but that the United States is sympathetic with the aims of those participating.

Rusk said the Cuban affair was one for the Cubans themselves to settle but that the United States was not indifferent to the extension of Communist tyranny in this hemisphere.

No Intervention

He pledged again that there would be no armed American intervention in Cuba. He hedged, however, when asked at his news conference whether this meant the United States was abandoning its traditional right to go to the aid of endangered American citizens.

Rusk said that was a question he would have to leave for the future.

Nor would he predict what action the United States might take if Russia intervenes on Castro's side.

While ruling out intervention to aid the anti-Castro forces, Rusk said there was no doubt fighting for freedom.

Not 'Full-Scale'

Rusk said that, on the basis of the information so far, he did not believe that what was taking place in Cuba was a "full-scale invasion."

There had been landings on the coast by anti-Castro forces, he said, and disorders were mounting in the country. But he would not characterize it as an all-out affair as yet.

Rusk dodged a number of specific questions on Cuba on the grounds that the matter was under debate in the United Nations. He did, however, reject Premier Fidel Castro's assertion that the United States was behind the landings and other attacks.

Infirmiry

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

By United Press International

Nikita Khrushchev

Russia Accuses U.S.

MOSCOW—The Soviet government newspaper Izvesia Monday charged that "American hirelings" staged the invasion of Cuba and demanded that the "aggression" be halted at once.

The newspaper compared the invasion against Fidel Castro's regime to the American-backed overthrow of the left-wing government of President Jacobo Arbenz in Guatemala in 1954.

Angola Terror Heightens

LUANDA, Angola—Rebel marauders put a northern Angola town to the torch Monday and suicidally attacked a Portuguese troop column in a spreading jungle terror campaign.

A specially trained jungle warfare unit was rushed to the Portuguese African territory bordering the Congo and sources said Portugal was sending a 10,000-man armed force to try to smash the raids which have taken a heavy toll in lives, both European and Africans.

Communists Advance In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos—Pro-Communist rebel troops, advancing under a heavy Red artillery barrage, were reported Monday to have captured a key road junction in central Laos in a drive threatening to slash this nation in two.

Informed sources said the Red Pathet Lao forces, breaking through royal army defenses in "battalion strength," had pushed to within 30 miles of the Mekong River provincial capital town of Thakhek.

Rusk Challenges Soviet

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Dean Rusk called on Russia Monday to clarify immediately its position on a Laotian cease fire to avoid a dangerous situation in the war-torn Asian country.

He told a news conference that Russia's reply to a British cease fire proposal was not clear on the key point—the timing of any halt to hostilities. The United States has insisted on a cease fire before an international conference is held on Laos.

Harriss Appoints Pair To Positions

The appointments of Dwight Whelless as Presidential Assistant and Allen Cronenberg as Attorney General were announced yesterday by Student Body President Bill Harriss.

Whelless, a sophomore from High Point, is currently floor leader in Student Legislature for the Student Party and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

He has also served as a delegate to State Student Legislature and as vice-chairman of the party.

Of the appointment, President Harriss said: "Dwight has been one of the key men in the rise of the Student Party this year and one of the men whose interest, dedication and enthusiasm has brought the party to its present heights.

"He has applied the same enthusiasm in everything he has attempted since he came to Carolina. I am certain that he will do an excellent job as Presidential Assistant."

Whelless will serve in coordinating the executive staff with Student Government in general, setting up appointments and keeping an eye on Student Government committees and presidential activities.

Cronenberg, a junior from Rocky Mount, advocated a three point program for his staff for the coming year. First, he hopes to educate the student body in the philosophy of the honor system at Carolina.

Second, he wants the staff to act as a "middle man" between the university administration (which decides whether or not to have a student charged with an Honor or Campus Code violation heard before one of the honor councils) and the councils themselves.

Third, Cronenberg said some re-organizational work on the Attorney General's staff needs to be done. The recent Constitutional amendment which in effect abolished the Student Council will make necessary some shuffling of the staff and its investigative work.

Cronenberg said that he hopes to work with Student Legislature in connection with any new judicial legislation to come up.

Quarterly Story Deadline Nears

Student writing—short stories, poems or articles—for the Summer Issue of The Carolina Quarterly should be submitted to the editors by Monday night, April 24. Richard Rickert, editor requests that manuscripts be in good typed condition. "Quality work will receive immediate editorial criticism if it is suitable for publication," stated Rickert.

Prizes for the best short story and two poems will be announced in the Summer Issue, and all students' work submitted by Monday will be considered together with work published previously in this year's Quarterly. The award for the best short story will be $50, with $25 each for the two best poems.

Writing should be submitted at the Quarterly office in Graham Memorial on Monday afternoon, April 24, 3-5 or 8-9 p.m., or at any time during the week at the Graham Memorial desk in the lobby.

SG INTERVIEWS

Student Government interviews will continue throughout the week at second floor GM offices between 1:00 and 6:00 p.m. Coeds have been especially encouraged to apply for committee work. Appointments for interviews should be made at Graham Memorial prior to the interview.
