

PARTLY CLOUDY

Little Warmer

The Daily Tar Heel

The Honor System

See Editorials, Page Two.

VOLUME LXIX, No. 150

Complete (UPI) Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1961

Offices in Graham Memorial

Four Pages This Issue

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

By United Press International

Chester Bowles

Heeding Of Cease-Fire Called

WASHINGTON—The United States has called on the Soviet Union to force pro-Communist armies in Laos to halt their offensive and heed the cease-fire ordered by Russia and Britain four days ago.

The State Department disclosed Thursday that Acting Secretary of State Chester Bowles called in Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov Wednesday night to protest the delay by the Laotian rebels in abiding by the cease-fire.

French Police Uncover Vast Plot

PARIS—French police Thursday uncovered a vast plot to aid the short-lived Algiers insurrection. By nightfall thousands of houses had been searched and hundreds of suspects arrested under President Charles de Gaulle's dictatorial powers.

Tshombe Refuses To Gain Liberty

COQUILHATVILLE, Congo — Katanga President Moise Tshombe defied his captors at the Coquilhatville airport Thursday and refused to gain his freedom by returning to a summit conference with other Congolese leaders.

He was arrested Wednesday by Congolese soldiers after he stormed out of a meeting with President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo and started to board a plane to fly home to his Elizabethville capital.

Cabinet To Avoid Segregated Meetings

WASHINGTON—The White House said Thursday that cabinet officers should avoid speaking dates at any functions where Negroes are barred.

The question arose in a news conference after Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges spoke last night at a Democratic fund raising dinner in Columbia, S. C.

Author Of 'The Fountainhead'

Ayn Rand Discusses Books & Philosophy

With a slight accent and piercing dark brown eyes, author-philosopher Ayn Rand discussed topics from the role of government to advertising concepts in a press conference here yesterday.

Miss Rand, author of "The Fountainhead," "Atlas Shrugged" and other works, was scheduled to speak in Gerrard Hall last night.

An Objectivist, Miss Rand has created nationwide interest resulting in her latest book, "For the New Intellectual: The Philosophy of Ayn Rand" offering the main philosophical passages from her four novels.

"I don't write novels as propaganda machines for my philosophy," she said. "What interested me was the presentation of man as he should be."

Philosophic Concepts
"My philosophy, in essence, is the concept of man as a heroic being, with his own happiness as the moral purpose of his life with productive achievement as his noblest activity and reason as his only absolute," she has stated.

Asked if she had any children, Miss Rand replied, "No, but I do have a cat."

Born in St. Petersburg, Russia, and educated at the University of Chicago.

(Continued on page 3)

Order Of Old Well Taps 52 At Midnight

Juniors, Seniors Honored

Order of The Old Well tapped 52 juniors and seniors in their thirteenth annual midnight ceremony last night.

The initiates were chosen on the basis of their contributions in the areas of scholarship, service and leadership.

The Order, founded in 1949, selects its membership on the basis of an equitable point system which evaluates the various areas of student participation.

Initiates included: Judith Ann Albergotti, Orangeburg, S. C.; Wayne Arnold Babb, Brevard; Mary Stewart Baker, Shreveport, La.; Robert Gene Baynes, Greensboro; Barbara Jane Bell, Statesville; Robert Hodges Bilbro, Greenville; Mary Glenn Boatwright, Charlotte; Catherine Ann Bolton, Rich Square;

Timothy Brooks Burnett, Greensboro; Judith Ellen Buxton, Princeton, W. Va.; George Worth Campbell, Jr., High Point; Susie Harwood Cordon, Chapel Hill; Edith Nash Davis, Morristown, Tenn.; Michael Irwin Deutsch, Bayside, N. Y.; William Franklin Farrell, Jr., Winston-Salem; Barbara Elise Faulkner, Wadesboro;

Beverly Ann Foard, Charlotte; John Callahan Frye, Hickory; Katherine Earle Fulenwider, Jacksonville, Fla.; Charles Patterson Graham, Jr., Wilmington; James Carlos Gauden, Jr., Durham; Louis Haynes Gump, Johnson City, Tenn.; Wade Hampton Hargrove, Jr., Clinton; Mary Hunter Kennedy, Charlotte;

Fannie Louise Lacy, Hopkinsville, Ky.; Susan Moring Lewis, Madison; James Patrick Morgan, Raleigh; Lafayette Ferguson Norion, Raleigh; Mariel Eryan O'Dell, Birmingham, Ala.; Joe Loveman, Openheimer, Birmingham, Ala.; Pam Lovelace Patterson, Atlanta; David Eugene Price, Erwin, Tenn.; Jong Ward Purrington, Raleigh;

(Continued on page 3)

Ugly Man

Today's totals in the Ugly Man voting are as follows: Whit, 208; Yogi Bear, 800; George, 59; Pretty Boy, 81; Jeff, 1741; Lob, 1798; Smokey, 103; Rodan, 680; Mike, 3235. Sealed bids will be accepted through Friday.

FOR BOOKS

Students Asked For Permission To Search Homes

Students in an 11 a.m. mathematics class yesterday were asked to sign statements permitting University and police officials to search their homes for missing library books.

The request was made by Kenan Professor A. T. Brauer. The class, consisting of advanced undergraduates and graduates, included students on scholarships from the Academic Year Institution, Visiting Professor Merrill E. Shanks was conducting the class, but stepped aside for Brauer's request.

Several members of the class have reported that Brauer told them any student refusing to sign such a statement would not receive a favorable job recommendation or recommendation for admission to another school from him.

Missing Books Cause
The increasing number of books missing without leave from the Math Library apparently caused the action.

Many of the students complied with the request, and wrote notes stating that they would allow officials to search their homes. Others, however, told the DTH that they would not and did not sign such a statement.

The Daily Tar Heel has already received several phone calls and one letter protesting the action. This letter and any others on the subject will be printed at the earliest opportunity.

SERVES THE PURPOSE

LONDON (UPI)—Sir Chaffes Wheeler, president of the Royal Academy of Art, said Wednesday he wore his hair in long flowing locks "partly to cover my ears so that it shall not hear all the nonsense spoken."

Lou Brown

... Former Carolina Cage Star

Former Cage Star 'Co-Conspirator'

By Steve Vaughn

Lou Brown, former Carolina student and basketball player, was named yesterday as a co-conspirator in attempts to bribe college basketball players, in an investigation by New York authorities.

Brown is said to have contacted and was "most successful" at St. Joseph's and LaSalle in setting up players" for Aaron Wagman, the prime mover in the latest eruption of the fix scandal.

Wagman was recently indicted by a grand jury on 37 counts of bribery and corruption of college basketball players.

According to different sources, nine to ten athletes from five to six colleges were up before the jury. All, however, were granted immunity and will serve as witnesses for the state in the case against Wagman.

Five other men, including Brown, were cited as go-betweens for Wagman to contact players. Brown has not been granted immunity and is liable to prosecution.

Under Surveillance
Brown had been under surveillance for some time, and was taken to New York on March 22 by members of the New York district attorney's staff.

Another U.N.C. ball player went to New York the next day under subpoena to be a witness. Brown returned to Chapel Hill March 29 and withdrew from the University.

He was under no pressure from the university, according to Chancellor William B. Aycock. However, he may not re-enter UNC without permission of the chancellor. Brown was a sophomore.

No UNC Players
No Carolina players have been named as having taken bribes. Carolina was named as having had the members of its squad contacted by Jerry Vogel, a graduate of the University of Alabama, but nothing involving Carolina players as having accepted them was unearthed.

"The administration has cooperated fully with the New York police," Chancellor Aycock stated. "We are open at all times to suggestions to keep things not within the rules and regulations from happening, and we will cooperate in those respects."

Yerby Story Is Flick

Two exciting dramas will highlight this weekend's Free Flicks.

"The Foxes of Harrow" is tonight's movie. Adapted from Frank Yerby's novel of the same name, this is the opulent story of the rise and fall of a New Orleans gambler in 1827.

Rex Harrison, Maureen O'Hara, Victor McLaglen and Gene Lockhart star in the title roles.

"The Sweet Smell of Success," the hardhitting tale of a Broadway columnist with an evil lust for power, will be tomorrow's film.

A cast of performers is headed by Burt Lancaster as the famous columnist and Tony Curtis as a corrupt press agent.

All showings are in Carroll Hall at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Student identification cards will be checked.

NOT UNFRIENDLY

LONDON (UPI)—George Farrow, head of a real estate company, told the Daily Express today his home is surrounded with barbed wire for the sole purpose of keeping intruders out.

"I am not anti-social," he emphasized.

MONOGRAM CLUB MOVES TO WOOLLEN GYM

Club Trades Shoulder Pads For Cap & Gown

BY STEVE VAUGHN

The brick colonial structure beside Cobb dorm traded its shoulder pads for a cap and gown recently when the Monogram Club moved to Woollen Gym and the Faculty Club occupied its former quarters.

University Business Manager J. Arthur Branch called the transition a "happy coincidence," and indicated that the move has benefited all concerned.

"Chancellor (William B.) Aycock was responsible for the move," continued Branch. He stated that the Chancellor found that many of the Monogram Club members preferred to eat at fraternity houses or at home, since many of the members were married, and that the club would actually prefer a club room at Woollen.

The reason for this was that at the "Mono," the members had access to only one room for meetings and a room at the gym would offer a greater proximity to their interests.

This move was effected, and the building then being unused, the Chancellor offered the building to the Faculty Club.

The Faculty Club, which has been more or less a "mens sine corpore," had been meeting every two weeks at the Carolina Inn for luncheons.

Up to now the club has proved a success, with 85 to 105 persons dining there each day, according to Branch.

The Monogram Dining Room and the Circus Room snack bar will remain open to the students and public. A patio has been constructed outside the Circus Room for the ingestion of edibles acquired therein. A weather-proofed structure for this purpose is planned for use in bad weather. Other student conveniences are also planned.

Brains Replace Brawn In Former Monogram Club

(Photo by Jim Wallace)

Duke U. Student Presses Charges In Assault Case

Bob Purcell, a Duke University medical student, has pressed charges of "assault and battery with a deadly weapon" against two of the three men suspected of attacking him last Monday night in Durham.

The third suspect in the beating was still uncaptured as of yesterday afternoon, according to a Durham Detective Lieutenant. Neither of the two men now in custody will reveal the identity of their companion.

Beaten With Stick
Purcell was beaten with a foot-and-a-half broom stick produced from the jacket of one of the three men charged with his assault. This occurred at about 10:30 last Monday night shortly after Purcell left Duke's Giles House.

Durham police picked up Ronald B. Rodenhizer, a 20-year-old clerk, on the basis of Purcell's description. Rodenhizer revealed the name of one of his companions, David M. Norwood.

After beating Purcell, the three men started a fight with a group of Negroes. Norwood's nose was broken in the brawl and he was admitted to Watts hospital Wednesday for an operation.

TONIGHT AT 8

Voice Recital Set

Robert Williamson will give a senior voice recital tonight at 8 p.m. in Hill Music Hall.

Williamson, a tenor, is a student of Joel Carter of the Department of Music, having studied previously with James Brisson at Chowan College.

He sang the role of Gastone in UNC's production of "La Traviata," and is a soloist with both the Men's Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus.

Last summer he participated as a singer-actor-dancer in the Lost Colony outdoor drama.

Friday's program will open with a group of Italian songs after which Mr. Williamson will sing "Salut demeure" from Coundou's "Faust."

Other numbers include the Beethoven song cycle "An die ferne geliebte" and "Winterstürme wichen dem Wonnemond" from "Die Walküre" by Wagner. Mr. Williamson will conclude the recital with a group of modern art songs.

Robert Williamson is the son of O. W. Williamson of Cerro Gordo.

TV Show Features ROTC Unit Tonite

WUNC-TV "Showcase" will feature the UNC Navy Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit in its weekly show at 8:00 p.m. tonight.

The show, video taped in and around the Naval Armory, depicts the life of Carolina Midshipmen in their association with the NROTC Program.

ROBERT WILLIAMSON
... Carolina Tenor