

DAILY CROSSWORD

- ACROSS
1. A prime mover
  6. Alpha and —
  11. Harden
  12. Shade of purple
  13. Infants
  14. Angry
  15. Barrel strip
  17. Mr. Dewey
  20. Dutch commune
  21. Man's name
  24. Covered with vines
  26. Cut
  28. Become insipid
  29. Care for
  30. Branches
  32. Describe grammatically
  33. Eye
  34. Milkfish
  36. — Downing St.
  37. Oliver —
  39. Postpone
  42. Small drum
  46. Conscious
  47. Discharge
  48. Rhythm
  49. Covered the inside

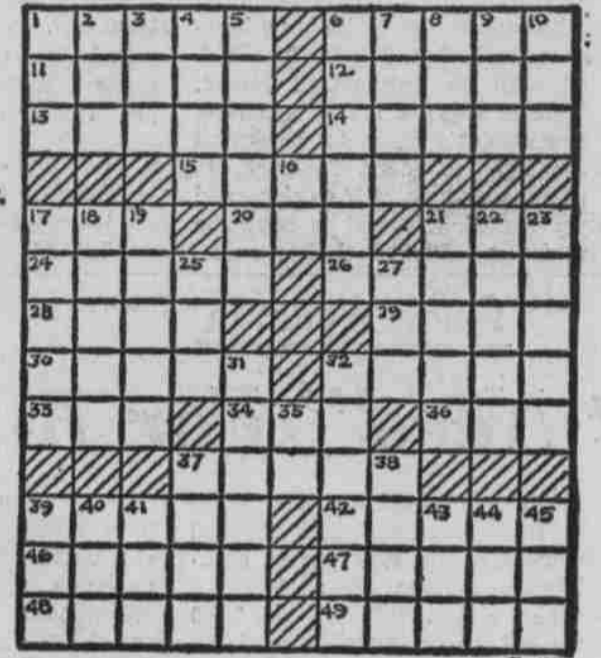

6. Martin garnishes
7. Bog
8. Guido's highest note
9. Gun (slang)
10. One-spot card
16. House-for-rent notice
17. Unsteady
18. Egg-shaped
19. Mr. Standish
21. Prevent
22. Meaning
23. TV's Eve

25. Tree
27. Greek letter
31. Huck's friend, Tom
32. Pale color
35. Windward Islands (abbr.)
37. Biblical weed
38. Cab
39. Mill-pond
40. Female sheep

Yesterday's Answer

41. Latvian monetary unit
43. Hot cross
44. Poem
45. Sea

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it!

AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

CAESAR
Caesar defended himself until the good Brutus struck him, when he explained, "What! You too, Brutus!" and disdained further fight. If this be true, he must have been an incorrigible comedian.—Bernard Shaw

MONKEY
I don't want my daughter or anybody's daughter having to read a book which puts a picture of a monkey on the same page with the picture of a man.—Governor of North Carolina in 1924.

Irving Long

Leave Racial Solution To Heirs Of Problem

Chicago, the home of many of the 'Freedom Riders' who descended on the South, has recently been rocked by sporadic outbursts of racial violence. Several people were injured and one 16-year-old Negro boy was shot to death in the July riots.

It all started when 92 Negroes were left homeless by a fire. The Red Cross set up temporary refuge for them in the Holy Cross Lutheran Church, but a white mob drove them from the church while a score of Chicago police watched, making no effort to break up the threatening crowd.

The homeless Negroes were driven from the Church, but this has not ended the trouble. Four white men later dragged a Negro from his car and beat and robbed him. A 69-year-old white man was beaten with chains, and a Negro youth died of a bullet wound he received while walking home from summer school classes.

The senior Senator from Mississippi has, of course, demanded that the Justice Department intervene in this touchy situation. Alabama editors, who denounced Kennedy for intervening in Montgomery, now insist that he send troops to Chicago; and Chicago editors, who lectured eloquently on the Montgomery race riots, are suddenly intensely concerned with the affairs of North-west Tibet.

However, the great majority of Southern newspapers have forfeited this chance for editorial revenge, and almost completely ignored these disorders. This is rather surprising, especially when one considers the headlines that Northern papers habitually devote to racial violence in the South.

This policy of refusing to indulge in futile finger-pointing is probably a wise one. Certainly there is too much dirt under our own nails to be pointing a finger at Chicago. By leaving the solution to the heirs of the problem, we can set them a good example, one by which they might profit, and permit the South to concentrate on its own very real racial problems.

Charles Heatherly

Plight Of Virginia Students...

The group of Negro students from Prince Edward County, Virginia brought here Tuesday a week ago by the Young Men's and Women's Christian Association composed a cross-section of colored students in that county and from them it was learned just how bad the situation there really is.

Mrs. Helen Baker explained the affair well when she said, "This is not indolence: this is a miscarriage of justice!"

Long before the racial issue became a local concern, the white population of Prince Edward County decided the action which they would take in the event that it did become local. And thus, in 1957 when the court order came to integrate, quietly but quickly the public schools, both colored and white, were closed and private facilities were immediately established to accommodate the WHITE students.

One of the Prince Edward County students visiting here Tuesday described the closing of the schools in the following manner: "We were all called into an assembly on the last day of school and the principal told us that as a result of the court order to integrate, the public schools would not reopen in the fall. It was really a sad experience. We were not happy and excited as students usually are on the last day of school; but rather, we were unhappy and distressed with the thought that we would not come back the next fall. The future seemed uncertain."

For the past two years, white students in this county have been attending private schools. According to the "Southern School News", the Prince Edward County Board of Supervisors adopted a budget this year with no provision for public schools; however, "The budget did include $285,000 for educational purposes in furtherance of the elementary and secondary education of children residing in Prince Edward County in private, non-sectarian schools."

During this same period of time, Prince Edward County Colored students have received only a compromise in terms of education. Through the efforts of the Virginia Teachers Association and the American Friends Society, attempts have been made to give the most qualified students an opportunity to continue their education.

THE BEST OF PEANUTS

There was strong feeling among members of the group especially among those who had been out of school altogether, that they would not return to school on a segregated basis even if the schools were opened as such. They explained that their sacrifices would have been in vain if the 1957 status quo was restored. In 1958, a colored Prince Edward County storekeeper told a Newsweek correspondent, "We would like to have some voice in our own schools. Right now no Negro has anything to say about how this county is run." Fifty-five percent of the county's 15,000 residents are colored.

Obviously, the truth which Thomas Jefferson said that we hold to be self-evident are not so self-evident after all. Can we really say truthfully that human equality exists in America, the Great and Bountiful? Since Jefferson did not indicate specifically with respect to what all men are created equal, some individuals attempt to maintain that White means equal to God and Black to beast. No, not even in America are all men created equal. Neither are they born to equal opportunities nor are they given equal chances to develop their potential abilities.

No longer is the racial issue small enough so that we may keep it out of sight. Now we must turn our face toward the darkened wall of Aristotle's cave where the truth cannot penetrate with its painful sting of reality. Or else we must correct the injustice which is being done to these and many other Americans.