Dean's Asst. Says Machines Smarter

By Linda Cravotta
"IBM machines did not chew up sorority rushee cards during rush," stated Assistant to Dean of Women Nancy Adams, in answer to rumors circulating about the newly installed equipment. "The only thing wrong with the IBM machines is that they are smarter than we are," she added with a smile.

Taking care of the complicated procedures of rush is only one of the problems which the IBM's have solved since their installation late last spring. These machines have already registered and recorded all summer school students and all students for the fall semester.

"We can do now in one week what it used to take four people six weeks to do," stated Raymond Strong, Director of the Office of Records and Registration.

Revolving IBM

Each student in the University now has their own number, which is the master key around which the IBM system revolves. This year the individual's number appears on all new Identification Cards.

"The only people who give us trouble with our system are the young ladies who get married," Strong revealed. "In fact, the only way you can get a new number is to get married or get a court order and change your name."

When a girl gets married, she is given a new number and also a cross reference to her old number so that she can also be located by her maiden name.

A master book which contains the numbers of all students registered is constantly being revised, particularly when new students are admitted. Each new student applying for admission now fills out a data processing sheet for his personal IBM number.

Rolling IBM

Grades are now submitted by means of a cross roll prepared by machines. The instructor inserts the grade on the roll and returns it to the Data Processing Center where the machines record and duplicate information.

Prior to the IBM machine installation, almost all of this work had to be done manually. Accuracy is now incalculably higher with machines handling the work, according to Strong.

Last year Robert Prenger, present chief of the Data Processing Division, was employed by the University to supervise installation and operation of the IBM equipment. The Data Processing Division is a smaller division of the Accounting Division, whose director is H. L. Ferguson.

"At present, we are stressing the completion of one problem at a time," stated Ferguson, who added that eventually almost all accounting and financial procedures for the University will be handled by IBM machines.

UNC Grad Helps Jailed Sit-Downers

A group of high school Negro sit-in demonstrators jailed in Mississippi under a ten thousand dollar bail received a helping hand Wednesday from a Carolina graduate, according to a letter received recently from Bob Kaiser of the Yale Daily News.

James Reginald Turner, class of '56 and now administrator of the Yale Freedom Fund for Southern Students, which was founded at Yale in 1960, announced that the fund's entire holding of $700 would go to the bail fund set up for these students by the SNCC.

Turner, whose home is in Winston-Salem, graduated from UNC with an A.B. in history.

Campus Briefs

All interested male students who would like to serve on the University Dance Committee have been asked to come for interviews Monday at 7 p.m. in the Grail Room in GM, by Chandler Van Orman, committee chairman. The dress for the interviews will be coat and tie.

Carolina Forum meets Friday at 3 p.m. in the Woodhouse Room.

There will be a meeting of the Cardboard today at 3 p.m. at the offices on the second floor of Emerson Fieldhouse. Pres. Tom Lawrence said there was to be a vote on the signs to be used for the Clemson game and that the meeting is open to anyone.

An organizational meeting of the CCC will be held Saturday evening at 146 E. Rosemary from eight until. Members are asked to prepare documented literature on summer experiences and to come ready to be stoned.

A pep rally will be held on Emerson Field at 6:15 p.m. tonight. Head Football Coach Jim Hickey, the 1961 Tar Heels and the cheerleaders will be present. The rally is expected to last about half an hour.

Dr. J. E. Moyal of the Australian National University, noted for his applications of probability and mathematical statistics to physics, will speak Monday at 4 p.m. at the Statistics Colloquium in 265 Phillips Hall.

The Young Republican Club will hold an organizational meeting in the Law School Courtroom, 219 Manning Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Syrian Army Revolts Against United Arab Republic Rule

Harriss Says Students Must Be Gentlemen

Student Body President Bill Harriss yesterday released the following statement concerning the UNC-State football game tomorrow:

"I want to take this opportunity to remind each student of his responsibility at the football game this Saturday. Over the past couple of years, student behavior at football games has steadily improved and it is my desire that improvement continue this year.

"A state law forbids the public display of alcoholic beverages and common decency demands gentlemanly conduct at our athletic contests.

Don't Throw

"I would call upon all students to refrain from throwing the cardboard placards used in our card section. Students have been hurt in the past and this is inexcusable.

"I feel that the behavior of some adults returning to UNC for football games is downright disgusting and that it reflects shame on our university. I feel that it is the responsibility of each student to conduct himself in such a manner that he will be an example of gentlemanly conduct rather than a bad reflection on the University and its student body.

"The men on the football team have worked hard preparing to beat State and I believe that the rest of us students should show our appreciation for their effort by acting like gentlemen and during the Tar Heels, on to victory."

GAMAL ABDEL NASSER

Nasser Calls Army To Crush Rebellion

By DAVID DUGAS

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The Syrian army revolted Thursday against President Gamal Abdel Nasser and the United Arab Republic control in a move that revived the threat of a Communist takeover in Syria. Nasser ordered his troops Thursday to crush the rebellion.

The revolutionaries who rose up Thursday morning were joined by Communists who demonstrated in the streets against Nasser and the UAR.

Nasser, in his second radio broadcast in ten hours, said Thursday night "I shall never accept bargaining or compromise" with the rebels and warned that they must now "accept the consequences of their action." He told his soldiers to "do your duty" to crush the revolt.

In an emotional speech over Cairo Radio Thursday morning he ordered the Royal Syrian First Army to march on Damascus and recapture it. The revolt appeared to end there but it flared up seven hours later and Nasser again gave the orders to march.

Nasser's warnings and his troop order indicated he planned an all out military action to smash the rebellion which he called the greatest threat to the country since the Franco-British invasion of Suez in 1956.

Tried to Force Bargaining

He said the rebels tried to force Vice President Abdel Hakim Amer and Syrian army commander Gen. Gamal Faysal to bargain with them at army headquarters in Damascus and to issue statements that the rebellion was over.

He said both refused because Amer did not approve the rebel communique claiming that the military situation had returned to normal. Thursday night rebel-held Radio Damascus said the revolt had flared again because the government did not fulfill its pledges.

The U.A.R. announced that Nasser had fired six leaders of the mutiny, stripped them of their rank and told their troops not to obey their orders. But the rebels retaliated by broadcasting their 11th communique of the day ordering a dark-to-dawn curfew. A 12th communique then said hopes for an end to the rebellion collapsed.

The UAR announcement listed the revolt leaders as Brigs. Abdel Ghani Dahman and Muwaffak Asafaw, Lt. Col. Abdel keim El Nahlawi, Haydar El Kuzbari, Nasseeb Hindi and Hisham AbdRabbu.

Children Join Outburst

Radio reports received here said street demonstrations against Nasser were carried out Thursday by mobs, including schoolchildren, who roamed through the streets chanting "Syria is for the Syrians. Long may it live an independent Republic."

Informed sources Thursday night said the Communists had exploited the situation to tear down the UAR flags and pictures of Nasser. They also raced through the streets shouting slogans against UAR and trying to foment further disorders. Syria and Egypt were combined into the United Arab Republic in February 1958 and were later joined by Yemen. Egypt played a dominant role in the federation and resentment against Cairo's growing

Demos, GOP Fight For New Members

By Jean Yoder

From either side of the "Y" and Lenoir Hall, the continuing battle between the Democrats and Republicans rages on as members of UNC's Young Democrats Club on the left side and Young Republicans Club on the right side stage their annual membership drives.

Both clubs are looking forward to active years according to the men minding membership campaign booths. The Democrats who have a membership goal of 500 members by Thursday afternoon while the Republicans with a goal of 200 members had signed up around 175. The only membership requirement for both parties is an interest in the group and a one-dollar fee to help cover operational expenses.

Full Schedule

The YDC has a full fall schedule which will be highlighted by the visit of President John F. Kennedy to the campus on Oct. 12, and by their plans to attend the State YDC convention on Nov. 9-11. Also they plan to help out and take part in the county politics whenever called upon.

The YRC, who are advocating joining to help "Stamp out High-tax Terry and free trips to Berlin for males 18-26," are anticipating the visits of several nationally known political figures this year.

Charles Raper Jonas, NC congressman is scheduled to speak at a time to be set later. Also four other congressmen, including Cramer of Florida, will speak in November. Earl Baker, president of the YRC, expressed the hope that possibly arrangements can be made for Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater to speak here later in the year.

mittee and the second concerns the controversial procedures in voter registration. A news sheet will also be published by the YRC and distributed to members and exchanged with other YRC campus publications throughout the country.

A highlight of the year's activities for both clubs may come later in the year if a debate between the two organizations can be arranged. A challenge by YRC President Baker to YDC President La Fontaine Odum has been extended for a debate on the subject.

"Dissolved: That the One-Party System in North Carolina Has Been Detrimental to the Citizens and the State," but so far no definite plans have been made. Commenting on Nixon's recent decision to run for the governorship of California, Baker said, "Undoubtedly Nixon had to make the decision if he was going to obtain any position in the party. Since the polls show he is ahead, with a well-run campaign he should win and thus place himself in position for the presidential nomination in '68 and possibly in '64 with a draft."

Carrboro Man Kills Himself

Raymond Brewer, 40, of 111 High St., Carrboro, shot himself to death this morning with a 12 gauge shotgun, according to Carrboro Police Chief J. A. Williams. Walter Brewer, the victim's father, found the body yesterday about 8:15 a.m. in the house where the two lived.

Brewer was a carpenter. Funeral arrangements are being arranged by Walker Funeral Home.

Kidnapping In Berlin?

BERLIN—The East German Communists accused the United States Thursday night of "kidnapping" seven German refugees from the village of Steinsteucken and said U. S. helicopter flights to the village violated Communist air space.

Steinsteucken is considered part of the American sector of West Berlin but is isolated a mile within the Soviet Zone. The Communist people's police control the roads to the village and the U. S. Army has used helicopters to reach it.

U. S. officials promptly termed the Communist charge groundless. They said that under four power agreements Allied aircraft have the right to cross East German territory and land in Steinsteucken.

British Reject "Troika"

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Britain warned Russia Wednesday against its "double-dealing" in world affairs and called upon the Soviet Union to abandon its policy of exploiting civil strife. Britain's foreign secretary, the Earl of Home, vigorously rejected the Soviet-proposed "troika," or any variant of the "troika" to direct the United Nations in succession to the late Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

In a policy speech to the General Assembly, Lord Home endorsed the disarmament plan proposed by the United States earlier this week, called for self-determination for the people of Berlin and all of Germany, and defended Britain against attacks on its "colonialist" policy.

Singer In "Good" Condition

NEW YORK—Singer Harry Belafonte, hospitalized for a severe respiratory infection, was reported in "good" condition Wednesday and was expected to leave the hospital by Sunday. A spokesman for the 34-year-old Negro entertainer said Belafonte would take another week's rest at home before resuming singing.

Belafonte was stricken Monday night during a two and a half hour benefit concert at Carnegie Hall. He said he had had a severe cold for the past five weeks. He entered doctors hospital on physicians' advice for observation, treatment and rest. His illness forced him to cancel an appearance at Nashville, Tenn. Wednesday and a network TV show Friday.

Caroline K. Views Ship

NEWPORT, R. I.—President Kennedy, yachting with his wife and their daughter Caroline, had a Navy destroyer halted in Narragansett Bay Thursday for a shipside look at the vessel and some 225 saluting crewmen lined on deck.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, wearing chartreuse slacks, blouse and kerchief, held 3½-year-old Caroline by the hand and pointed to the sailors as the 92-foot presidential yacht, Honey Fitz passed beside the 500-foot long grey battle craft, the U.S.S. Willis A. Lee.
