John Ehle's Novel Gets Rave Reviews

John Ehle's novel about Asheville, "Lion on the Hearth," is receiving rave reviews from book critics all across the country.

Ehle is at present a teacher of script writing for TV, radio and motion pictures at UNC.

Harper & Brothers, who published the book on September 27, has just released the following quotes from the first reviews received in their office:

"The mountain people, with their ancient ways and fierce pride, are vividly portrayed in this book. . . . John Ehle, a native of Asheville, covers a 15-year span in this, his third novel, that includes the 1930's depression." — Chicago Sun-Times.

"There is Thomas Wolfe's own eloquence, and none of his discursiveness, in the evocation you will find here of sight and sound and smell, of the enchantment of the hills, of food and speech, and the facts and acts of love and the somber tones of death." — New York Herald Tribune.

"Mr. Ehle is to be congratulated for writing such a lucid book about so many diverse personalities. . . . The book will hold your attention until the last page." — Miami News.

Rusk Says Khrush May Ease Tension

By Donald May
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Wednesday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's relaxation of his deadline for a German peace treaty "may serve to reduce tensions somewhat" in the Berlin crisis.

But the secretary said Khrushchev made "little if any" change in his Berlin demands—under which the West has refused to negotiate. Consequently, he told the news conference, it is impossible to say whether the prospects of war or peace have changed.

Rusk said even if Berlin talks between Moscow and the West could be arranged, there was no guarantee they would succeed. However, he said, catastrophe was the only alternative to keeping the door open to such negotiations.

Rusk spoke as Russia delivered new notes to the Allies in Moscow reaffirming the Kremlin's stand that the West can use air corridors to West Berlin only to supply its military garrisons. The United States, France and Britain insist they can use the corridors for whatever traffic they want.

In the first official U.S. reaction to Khrushchev's speech to the 22nd Communist Party Congress in Moscow Tuesday, Rusk said he believed the Soviet leader now understood the firm Western stand against Russia's Berlin threats.

But Rusk would not commit himself to early East-West negotiations. He said it was vital to continue exploratory talks to determine whether there was room for negotiations.

Turning to the other key point in Khrushchev's speech, Rusk renewed Tuesday night's White House appeal to Russia to abandon plans to set off a 50-megaton nuclear bomb late this month. Rusk said Khrushchev should consider the world reaction that such a blast might touch off.

On other world issues, Rusk said:

—He thinks Red China will not win admission to the United Nations this year.

—The United States is impatient after four weeks of haggling over a successor to the late U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. If agreement is not reached soon, this country may ask the General Assembly to name a successor over Russia's objections.

—The United States is giving thorough consideration to Peru's call for collective Western Hemisphere action against Cuba.

Rusk said the next exploratory discussions looking toward possible Berlin negotiations would be carried out by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow and perhaps by other Allied ambassadors there.

Police Check Dry Cleaning

All students who picked up their dry cleaning from Mike Barham after 9:35 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 6 were requested by Chief W. D. Blake yesterday to contact the Chapel Hill Police Dept.

They are checking for traces of spilled cyanide to see if any was brought into the room in Cobb and possibly what type it was.

The SBI is currently running tests on the boys' vital organs and samples of vomit to determine the approximate time of death and the amount of cyanide used.

The two students, Mike Barham and Bill Johnson, were found dead in their room at about 11:30 Friday morning by a janitor. Both were lying in unnaturally straight positions in their beds with traces of foam on their faces.

Death by Cyanide

A corner's jury ruled the cause of death was cyanide poisoning. No traces of cyanide have been found in their room and the source of the cyanide is unknown.

Johnson made inquiries about a "fast acting poison" the day before the deaths according to police. Cyanide is very accessible in the many laboratories on campus. Police Chief Blake said that he believed the possibility of finding the source of the poison was small.

A student saw Barham collapse in the laboratory at 11:30 the preceding Thursday night. Several students carried Barham down to the room and placed him on the bed. Johnson, his roommate, said that if Barham didn't get any better he would call a doctor. Neither boy was seen alive again.

Laotian 'Neutral' To Form Cabinet

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI)—"Neutralist" Prince Souvanna Phouma Wednesday won King Savang Vatthana's permission to form a new coalition government with himself as premier provided all three Laotian factions agree on the division of cabinet posts.

The king has called for a truly neutral government that would reunite his country and put an end to the long-smoldering civil war between the Communist-backed rebels and the pro-western rightwing forces.

The monarch made known his wishes in an audience with Souvanna, the compromise choice of the rival princes as premier of the proposed coalition.

Souvanna, who heads the so-called neutralist faction supported by the Communist-backed pathet lao, scheduled conferences with Premier Prince Boua Oum, whose post he will take over if he succeeds in bringing the feuding factions together in a "government of national reconciliation."

Islam Scholar To Visit UNC For Lectures

Professor Gustave E. von Grunebaum, director of the Near Eastern Center of the University of California and one of the country's leading scholars of Islam as a cultural movement, will visit the UNC campus next Monday and Tuesday.

Professor von Grunebaum will deliver a public lecture on "Islam and the West," Monday evening in the Auditorium of the Pharmacy Building at 8 p.m.

He will also meet with classes in the Departments of History, Religion, Political Science and Romance Languages.

Born in Germany, he received degrees from the Universities of Vienna and Berlin before coming to this country in 1938. He has been a professor at the Asia Institute and the University of Chicago. He was invited to UCLA in 1957.

Among his publications are Medieval Islam: A Study in the Nature and Growth of Cultural Tradition; Muhammadan Festivals; and Islam: Essays in the Nature and Growth of a Cultural Tradition.

In 1953 his stature in the field was recognized when he was invited to preside over the meeting of the International Symposium of Islamists at Spa, Belgium, and to edit the proceedings in the form of a book, Unity and Variety in Muslim Civilization, published in 1955.

Truman Confers With Camel Driver

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Bashir Ahmad, Pakistani camel driver, carried his quiet goodwill mission into the heart of the middle west Wednesday. He ate a Kansas City steak for breakfast, witnessed the auction of a grand champion steer, and conferred with former President Harry S. Truman.

Ahmad is in the United States as the invited guest of Lyndon B. Johnson who met him earlier this year on the Vice President's own goodwill tour of Pakistan.

Nikita Quarreling With Mao?

LONDON—In his sharp attack on Albania at the Soviet Party Congress Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently was delivering a message to Communist China.

Soviet experts here interpreted his remarks as a warning to a potential rival rather than a mere dressing down of a small nation that counts for little in the Communist scheme of things.

One of Khrushchev's listeners Tuesday was Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, who was reported to have sat stony-faced during the attack on the tiny country that has been a strict follower of the Red Chinese tough Stalin line.

Soviets Accused Of Nuclear Murder

MUNICH, Germany—A private Western radio station said Wednesday Soviet scientists made a mistake in weather prediction during a nuclear bomb test four years ago and winds dumped radioactive fallout over a part of Kazakhstan causing a "high death rate."

The account of the fallout poisoning was beamed to the Soviet Union by Radio Liberty, a privately-financed station specializing in Russian language broadcasts.

French Deport Rioters

PARIS—The French government announced Wednesday it will deport to Algeria 1,500 of an estimated 30,000 Algerian Moslems who ran riot through Paris Tuesday night and virtually took over sections of the city for six hours.

The government ordered reinforcements of riot police to protect the capital from any recurrence of the rioting that broke out in protest against an unofficial curfew on Moslems in the Paris area.

State Of Emergency Declared By South Viet Nam President

By STEWART HENSLEY

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—President Ngo Dinh Diem on Wednesday declared a state of emergency through Communist threat.

South Viet Nam. The declaration was timed to coincide with the arrival of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor for an on-the-spot survey of the Red guerrilla menace.

Taylor's conclusions may determine whether President Kennedy commits U. S. combat troops to help stop communism from engulfing all Southeast Asia.

He lost little time in plunging into what he described as an "across-the-board assessment" of the situation. Almost immediately after his arrival Wednesday he held a round of conferences with Diem and top American military and diplomatic officials.

The state of emergency decree suspends the application of all laws as necessary during the duration of the emergency which will continue until "further notice."

It was a first step to rally the national resources for an all-out struggle against the Communists within and outside the frontiers.

The national assembly met to discuss a draft bill giving Diem "exceptional powers" and approval was a foregone conclusion.

Taylor began his appraisal of what military measures the United States must take to keep Communists from overrunning South Viet Nam with a three-hour briefing at the U. S. Embassy.

Confers With Officials

He was given a fill-in on the overall military, political, economic and ideological situation by U. S. Ambassador Frederick Nolting, Lt. Gen. Lionel McGarr, head of the U. S. Military Advisory Group MAG, and other diplomatic and military officials.

During the afternoon, he met with Diem in the presidential palace for a general discussion of the South Viet Nam position caused by the increased Communist pressures. There was no immediate information on the details of the discussions.

On Friday, Taylor will leave for a two-day survey of various battle areas, including some where American military men are training anti-Communist rangers. He is scheduled to return to Saigon Sunday.

NOW STANDARD EQUIPMENT

HOUNSLOW, England (UPI)—The British Army has introduced a new piece of standard equipment for its barracks—an officially-approved bulletin board for pin-up pictures.

F-100 CRASHES

ADANA, Turkey (UPI)—Officials said Wednesday that a U.S. Air Force F-100 jet crashed 10 miles southwest of Incirlik Air Base Tuesday. The pilot, 2nd Lt. Harvey Ayakowski, 24, of Haskell, N. J., parachuted to safety.

FORMER AMBASSADOR DIES

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI)—Dr. Ibrahim Annis, former Sudanese ambassador to Washington, died Wednesday of a heart attack while presiding over a meeting of the Khartoum Lions Club.

Hits Capitalism For 'Softness,' Presents Plan

By Henry Shapiro

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev on Wednesday promised the Soviet people a rosy future of a world without war and without want—a world in which he foresaw capitalism crumbling and communism supreme around the earth.

Khrushchev promised this utopia by 1980, if the world stays at peace.

And he told assembled leaders of world communism they can have every confidence of "preventing a world war"—because "the balance of world political, economic and military forces has changed in favor of the peace-loving Communist camp."

Speaking as first secretary of the Soviet Communist Party, Khrushchev presented his party "platform" to more than 5,000 delegates at the second day of the 22nd Party Congress inside the ancient Kremlin.

The six-hour speech — Khrushchev's second in two days—repeated the flowing promises published last July in the Kremlin's new 20-year program to give Russia a "peaceful" victory over the United States.

Invitation To Socialism

It also issued a special invitation to the underdeveloped nations of Latin America, Asia and Africa to "throw off the yoke of colonialism and enter on the road to socialism."

But his speech contained more of the bombshells of Tuesday's six-hour address in which he announced Soviet plans to explode a 50-megaton hydrogen bomb and tentatively lifted his year-end deadline for concluding a separate Soviet peace treaty with East Germany.

The Soviet chieftain Wednesday declared the principal aim of the Communist party foreign policy is: "No war, to banish it from the life of society in one generation."

"Once the Soviet Union will have become the first industrial power," he said, "once the socialist system will have become the decisive factor of world development, the scale will tilt and the barometer of international weather will show: 'clear,' the menace of world war is gone, never to return."

Will Strengthen Defense

In the meantime, Khrushchev said, the Soviets will maintain "the most up-to-date means for the defense of our homeland, atomic and thermo-nuclear weapons and rockets of every range . . . the strengthening of U.S.S.R. defense and the might of the Soviet armed forces."

Khrushchev told the delegates that "American capitalism has passed its prime and is on the decline" and said the United States is "the epicenter of the capitalist's economic difficulties."

A weakness of the capitalist powers, he said, is that war production has become a "permanent element" of their economy, with "15 to 20 per cent of the national income spent on armaments."

University Party To Hold Convention For Fall Nominations In Memorial Hall

The University Party will hold its annual nominating convention on Tuesday in Memorial Hall at 7:00 p.m.

The convention will nominate candidates for the positions of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes.

The convention will also elect a treasurer for the University Party who will automatically serve as a member of the Party Executive Committee.

Gerrard Inadequate

Attendance at this convention is especially requested by party chairman Bill Criswell. He said, Hall at 7:20 p.m. to prevent the have been held in the highly inadequate Gerrard Hall.

"This year, however, due to the great enthusiasm which has already been exhibited in the University Party and its platform for the coming year, we are holding the convention in Memorial in order that adequate seating facilities will be available."

Doors Closed

Criswell further added that the doors will be closed to Memorial "In the past the U.P. Conventions late entry of delegates who come only to vote for their particular interest."

Delegates will be allowed to leave whenever they choose, but their absence will be counted against their delegation by the subtraction of that number of votes from the respective delegations.

To aid in this process, voting will be conducted this year on a roll call basis. Each delegation will have a delegation chairman who will respond to the chairman from the floor when he calls for the votes of that particular delegation.

Plans for this year's convention also include the sectioning of specific areas of the hall to be assigned to the different delegations. All dormitories, fraternities, and sororities will have their particular area and the presidents of these housing units will receive a notice of these accommodations before the Convention.

Finally, Chairman Criswell said that all dormitories, fraternities, and sororities are urged to have as large a delegation as possible at the convention in order to get the full representation of the campus.

All delegations and students who plan to gain the nomination of the U.P. at the convention should turn in their names and the position they are seeking to Mrs. Fambrough at the G.M. Information Desk or to the U.P. Office on the second floor of Graham Memorial.
