UNC Delegates Hear Shriver:

Post Card Furor 'Blown Up'

By Bill Hobbs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—Peace Corps Director R. Sargeant Shriver Jr., yesterday said incidents such as the recent postcard from Nigeria were blown out of proportion by "those who fear the image of a really free people which the Peace Corps presents."

Five UNC delegates at the Peace Corps conference heard Shriver say he was "greatly encouraged by Nigerian officials' support during the furor caused by Peace Corps volunteer Margery Michelmore's postcard describing Nigerian conditions. "We're trying to wrap up an idea and an ideal in a person and send it overseas," said Shriver. "There have been mistakes and there may be more; but I have been greatly encouraged by the requests from other countries and the quality of the people now working for us."

The symposium traced Peace Corps functions in the selection of volunteers, training project development and administration.

Following the symposium was Shriver's luncheon address. The conference then divided into four discussion groups to meet and question "specialists in program recruitment selection and training fields."

'Abolition' Film Slated For Monday

"Operation Abolition," the House Un-American Activities Committee's controversial film version of the 1960 San Francisco student "riots," will be shown Monday night at 8:30 in Carroll Hall.

Fulton Lewis III, son of the prominent conservative radio commentator, Fulton Lewis Jr., will debate Mike Harrington, Socialist newspaper editor, following the film.

Lewis is narrator in the 45-minute film. Harrington is editor of NEW AMERICA, the American Socialist Party newspaper.

The debate and film are being sponsored by the Carolina Forum of student government and the campus Young Republicans Club.

Neither of the campus organizations endorse the views expressed by the film or the debaters, said Forum chairman Bob Powell and YRC president Earl Baker.

"Since the film has not been shown on campus previously, much of the controversy surrounding 'Operation Abolition' is going on above the knowledge of many UNC students," said Baker. "The film is being brought here to give students the opportunity to decide for themselves on the merits of the film's content."

"Operation Abolition" concerns college student demonstrations which occurred in San Francisco in May, 1960 protesting HUAC hearings there.

The House Committee claims the demonstrations were led by Communists. Student demonstrators deny this.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and San Francisco city officials say "Operation Abolition" is a true representation of the "riots."

The National Council of Churches and several leading newspapers—including the Washington Post, the New York Times, and two San Francisco papers—have claimed the film distorts the facts and is prejudicial to the students.

"Operation Abolition" was made from film clips subpoenaed from San Francisco TV stations, and spliced together by HUAC. Lewis was narrator and technical director for the film.

The film is sold for $100 a copy and has been shown to college, civic club and government organizations around the country.

Lewis and Harrington have debated the film on numerous college campuses. Lewis, a former HUAC research analyst, has spoken on 220 college campuses since January.

Death Time Trimmed To Half Hour Period

Police Chief W. D. Blake yesterday said the SBI report on articles belonging to the two Carolina students who died of cyanide will not be completed until Wednesday.

Meanwhile police have narrowed down to a half-hour period the time in which the students took or were given the poison. Detectives Howard Pendergraft and John Nesbitt said they talked to a student who saw Barham entering the bathroom in apparently normal condition at 10:30 p.m., Oct. 5. This was a half-hour before he was found in unconscious convulsions in the bathroom.

The student, who said he knew Barham casually, told police that he passed Barham in the hall about 10:30 p.m. and that they exchanged greetings. He said Barham was entering the shower room, clad only in a towel and that he seemed completely normal.

Prior to that, Barham was last seen at 9:35 p.m. when another student entered his room to get some dry cleaning. It was just after 11 p.m. that night when three other students saw Barham in the shower gagging and in unconscious convulsions on the tile floor. At that time he was clad in pajamas.

They called his roommate Johnson, and helped carry Barham back to the room where Johnson dismissed them, assuring them he would take care of Barham and call a doctor if necessary. It was about 10:30 a.m. the next day when janitor Robert Holt, asked to see why the boys failed to show up for breakfast work in Lenoir Hall, entered the room and found them dead.

Chief Blake has requested that all students who picked up dry cleaning from Barham on Thursday night, Oct. 5, to bring it by the police station. Police are believed to be checking for traces of cyanide on the clothing.

The chief said the investigation was proceeding satisfactorily but slowly as detectives follow up new leads and re-check evidence already uncovered. The officers are working on the theory that one of both died from powdered cyanide spread on peanut butter crackers they may have eaten as they played a game of rook sometime late in the evening. Cards for the game and a score card from previous games were found in the room.

Virulent Attacks

Soviet affairs experts in London said Saturday the virulent attacks on Molotov and the other members of the group—former Premier Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich—indicated a trial and possibly even a purge was in the making.

While Khrushchev was carrying out the decisions of the 20th Congress, Mikoyan said, "Molotov stuck poles in the wheel spokes, hindered the work of the Central Committee, tried to attract adherents for the members of the Presidium of the Central Committee, all of which he did indeed secretly."

Remarks Indicate Purge

MOSCOW (UPI)—First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan accused former Premier and Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov of trying to seize power in Russia in 1957.

He also attacked Albania in terms so strong observers said it amounted to expulsion of Albania from the Communist camp.

Mikoyan made his accusations in a speech Friday to the current 22nd Soviet Communist Party Congress. The speech was published Saturday in the official government newspaper Izvestia.

Mikoyan said Molotov pretended to accept the peaceful co-existence policy laid down by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev at the 20th Congress in 1956 but actually was organizing a "palace revolution" behind the scenes with other members of the "anti-party group."

And in effect the moustached deputy premier said that if Molotov had succeeded in seizing power Khrushchev and some of the other leaders of present-day Soviet Russia might have been physically liquidated.

School-Spirited Vandals?

School-spirited Gamecocks or Carolina Gentlemen plastered USC in black and red paint in about a dozen places on the campus sometime Friday night.

The Gamecocks lost to the University of North Carolina by a score of 17 to 0. The game was played in Columbia.

Perhaps most conspicuous was a large black USC on the screen doors at Lenoir Hall which greeted students cheerfully going to breakfast.

Chapel Hill merchants also reported a number of circular paper stickers reading "Take the Tar Heels" were found stuck to store windows and along the streets.

"USC" and "Gamecocks," most of the words administered by a paint sprayer, were found on Manning Hall steps, the Tin Can, the Bell Tower, the Old Well walk and on several roads around campus.

Campus Police Chief Arthur Beaumont said that paint damage was not too much but that some of the marble objects may have to be sand-blasted.

"I think that some of the painting may have been done by our own boys who wanted to raise school spirit," said Beaumont. "We have run across a lot of paint in several of the dormitory inspections."
