Craige Dormitory

New Dorms Won't Be Finished Soon

Craige and Ehringhaus, the two new men's dormitories being constructed, will not be completed in time for spring occupancy, said James Wadsworth, head of the UNC Housing department yesterday.

The construction of Craige dorm is progressing satisfactorily and Wadsworth hopes that the dorm will be ready in time for occupancy by students next summer. The other dorm, Ehringhaus, will definitely not be completed or ready for students until next fall.

Wadsworth added that even if they had been finished by this spring, it would have been impractical to occupy them at that time.

There are now three people in almost all of the men's and women's dormitories and four in Battle-Vance-Pettigrew.

Men May Not Serve 12 Months

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy said today that military reservists called to active duty in the Berlin crisis may not have to serve a full 12 months.

The President emphasized at a news conference that such citizen soldiers were called up to prevent, not fight, a war.

At his first meeting with reporters in three weeks, Kennedy strongly defended the callup of reservists and National Guardsmen although he conceded that some of them are living under unsatisfactory conditions and not training with the best possible equipment.

TO EXCHANGE VIEWS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Six Russian medical experts have arrived here to exchange views with U.S. scientists on polio, the Public Health Service said Wednesday.

Among other things, the American and Soviet virologist will discuss the relative merits of the Salk vaccine and the oral vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Sabin.

He said, however, that they were serving the cause of peace just as effectively as any Strategic Air Command bomber on a 15-minute alert.

The chief executive told newsmen that despite any published reports to the contrary, none of the reservists would serve more than 12 months. He then went on to say that every effort was being made to return them to civilian life in less time if possible.

Kennedy also said he is considering a trip out of the country before the end of the year. He would not disclose his possible destination, saying the plans still were tentative. A quick trip to South America was the prime possibility.

Said he saw no prospect of greater harmony between the North Atlantic Treaty and Warsaw Pact blocs until there have been meaningful, fruitful negotiations with Russia over Berlin and West Germany.

PREDICTS MOON FLIGHT

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin predicted Wednesday the first manned flight to the moon will take place soon.

'Face Of Soviet' Tuesday

Dinsmore To Give Lecture

Certainly no area of the world is more pertinent to this campus, or any other, than the Soviet Union. Ray Dinsmore, foremost authority on Russia, brings to life this area of the world at UNC next Tuesday night. Mr. Dinsmore will present "FACE OF THE SOVIET," a new film-lecture in color, in Memorial Hall on Dec. 5 at 8 p.m.

Ray Dinsmore is part of Graham Memorial's Travel Adventure Series, and the season ticket admission is $2.00 for the three lectures still remaining.

Season tickets may be purchased at the information desk of GM and tickets will be on sale at the door for $1.00 for each lecture.

In 1960 Ray Dinsmore completed an ambitious plan to re-visit Russia and make a 5,000 mile sweep behind the iron curtain through the sprawling Soviet.

He also included two of the world's tension ridden spots. He toured both Berlins and the tinder-box of the Middle East. He not only made color movies of the things and people he saw, but with his eyes and ears he captured the important details the camera could not get. These experiences he shares with his audience through the clear-cut commentary which accompanies the film.

U.S. Orbits Ape In Warm-Up To Manned Flight In 30 Days

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A Mercury space capsule manned by an ape and riding atop a powerful 93-foot Atlas rocket blasted off from this test center today on a three-times-around-the-earth orbital flight.

It was the final key test in a United States crash program to put a man into orbit by the end of this year.

The huge space machine rose from its launching pad at 10:08 a.m. in a burst of smoke and orange flame and climbed smoothly into blue skies, flecked with a few scattered clouds. It was visible for about four minutes before it disappeared out over the Atlantic.

The "pilot" on today's flight was a 37½-pound chimpanzee named Enos. If all went well his space capsule was to be returned to earth 1,000 miles southwest of the cape at about 2:40 p.m.

His job while whirling around the globe was to bang on a series of levers. This was designed to test how effectively he could function during a prolonged period of weightlessness.

The 93-foot rocket, after weathering a series of delays throughout the morning, blasted smoothly from its launching pad and climbed steeply toward the east. Less than two minutes after lift-off Mercury scientists said "all systems were go" aboard the space machine.

The rocket left a brilliant white contrail in the sky and disappeared.

A split second later, an escape tower riding atop the capsule was jettisoned. Mercury officials said the rocket was moving smoothly along its course.

IDC Dance Set Friday At Legion Hut

An Interdormitory Council-sponsored dance will be held Friday night 8-12 at the American Legion Hut. Joe Hatchet and The Big Axe Combo from Danville, Va., will provide music, "with twisting guaranteed."

An IDC spokesman said that the Council has sponsored a dance before each home football game and that only one was a "real success." He said this may have been due to the quality of the music, but that a "really rocking show" is guaranteed Friday night.

A bus will leave from Y-Court at 8 p.m. Friday to take students to the dance.
