UGLY MAN RESULTS

Latest results in the Ugly Man voting are as follows:
Big Daddy DeBlasio, 1953; Jungle Jim, 1433; Eye of Newt, 826; M. T. Graves, 612; Rat, 119; Transformed Coed, 90.

The contest closes Friday at 11 p.m.

Dr. Sam Hill, head of the UNC department of religion, will give a short talk on the meaning of Christmas. Special music will be provided for the service as well as student caroling.

George M. Houser has worked in race relations on both a national and an international level. In 1947 he was the organizer of the Journey of Reconciliation, a forerunner of today's Freedom Riders. This trip tested segregation on interstate buses and trains in the Upper South. He has travelled extensively on fact-finding trips in the Congo, Angola and the Union of South Africa. Mr. Houser is an author as well as an organizer, having written "Erasing the Color Line" and "We Challenged Jim Crow."

UN Staffer
Udo Oton, serving on Nigeria's permanent United Nations staff, is a figure already known to many Carolina students. On the YMCA's

United Nations trip last year he spoke at length to the Chapel Hill delegation and was very well received. Considered by his colleagues to be an extremely intelligent and competent man, he will present first-hand information on the dramatic changes which the new African nations have caused in the U.N.
African Student
Tartt Bell of High Point holds college degrees from Chicago and Columbia and is Associate Director of the Quakers' United Nations program. He too has first-hand knowledge of Africa, having travelled in Ghana, Nigeria and Kenya. In addition to his concern with Africa, Mr. Bell has studied and written on race relations in the United States. He is the author of "Race and Conscience in America."
The panel will discuss both the peaceful and violent revolutions which are rapidly changing Africa from a state of colonial dependency to a collection of free nations. Although it has previously been negligible politically, Africa's resources and manpower indicate that her influence will be increasingly important in years to come. The current crisis in the Congo has given a small example of the vast repercussions which African internal affairs can have in the world political situation.
As Africa is now perhaps the most rapidly changing area on earth, it is particularly appropriate that it be considered in the 1962 Symposium on "Today's Revolutions."

Carolina Chorus Sings Thursday

The University Chorus under the direction of Dr. Wilton Mason of the Music Department will present its fall concert Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Hill Music Hall.

The first half of the program will consist of Christmas melodies of many lands written or arranged by contemporary composers such as Charles Gordon Rex, Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Luis Romeu, Geoffrey Shaw, and Teresa del Riego.

The second half of the program will feature Ottorino Respighi's "Laud to the Nativity." This will be the first North Carolina performance of this work which is characterized by Dr. Mason as being one of the finest of twentieth century choral compositions.

The same program will be given by the group Wednesday, December 13 on the concert series of the State Art Museum in Raleigh.

Soloists in the Respighi work are Rebecca Carnes and Helena Briggman, sopranos, and James Gibbs, tenor.

The University Chorus is a group of mixed voices drawing its membership from students, employees, and other members of the large University family. In recent years the chorus has served as the basic choral unit in the first presentations on the UNC campus of the operas "Carmen" and "La Traviata" given by the Department of Music.

The public has been invited and admission is free.

400 Negroes Are Arrested In Ga. On Hymnal Trek

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—About 400 young hymn-singing Negro students were herded off to jail on Tuesday when they staged a protest march in this south Georgia city that hasn't budged an inch from its strict segregation stand.

The march was timed to coincide with the opening of the court trial for 11 "freedom riders," arrested here Dec. 10 when they attempted to use the "white" waiting room at the train terminal.

Most of the Negro youths taken into custody are students at Albany State College, but some were of high school age, or younger.

Witnesses said the first of the marchers started showing shortly before the hearing opened at 10 a.m. They strolled slowly past the courthouse in pairs, singing hymns as they walked.

The numbers soon swelled into the hundreds—variously estimated between 250 and 500.

Police cars with loudspeakers rushed to the scene and told the Negroes to disperse.

Recreation Kit Items Suggested For Bomb Shelter

By LINDA BISER
Active ingredients of a recreation kit for use in bomb shelters are suggested in an interview with Prof. Harold D. Meyer, chairman of the recreation curriculum.

The kit should include table games such as checkers, cards and puzzles, books, simple arts and crafts materials, song sheets and bulletins with instructions for wholesome exercises and play activities. Purpose: to maintain physical and mental health, and decrease tensions among people confined.

Although Dr. Meyer personally opposes construction of individual family shelters and believes that, if built, they should be of neighborhood construction, he says, "Bomb shelter occupants better know some recreation pursuits or otherwise there will be severe tensions."

Prof. Meyer patterns the recreation kits after those used by people confined to shelters during World War II bombing raids.

The North Carolina Recreation Commission might distribute pamphlets telling bomb shelter occupants what recreation materials are considered best for bomb shelter activities, he said.

Dr. Meyer, who is interim chairman of the Recreation Committee of the United Nations' International Labor Office in Geneva, Switzerland, prefers to stress the more positive aspects of peace. For international aims, he recommends persons of different nationalities enjoy more recreation together. This cultural exchange, providing more dancing and singing together for example might promote world peace and understanding.
