Drama Dept. Gets 400 Rare Books

Kenan Professor Emeritus Archibald Henderson has given the Department of Dramatic Art more than 400 rare and out-of-print books from his private collections, Harry Davis, the department chairman, announced today.

Dr. Henderson has long been associated with the drama department and the Carolina Playmakers. An internationally-known literary critic at the turn of the century, Dr. Henderson was among the first to acclaim George Bernard Shaw as a great dramatic genius. He became Shaw's official biographer in 1904.

The 400 volumes are a part of his library collected during those drama reviewing and writing days. They largely center around Henrik Ibsen, the Norwegian playwright and allied dramatists.

The 400 titles include 99 by Ibsen, 40 by August Strindberg, 18 by Bjornson, 21 by Schnitzler, 24 by Suderman, 24 by Brieux and several each by Yeats, Synge, Pinero, Granville-Barker and Benavente, all top-drawer dramatists. More than 50 general books on the drama, miscellaneous in their nature, are also included.

Dr. Henderson, born in Salisbury, holds honorary degrees from the University of the South, Tulane, William and Mary, Catawba and Oglethorpe. He has published numerous books on mathematics, American history and drama. "Bernard Shaw: Playboy and Prophet," a work of almost nine hundred pages, is rated as probably the "most fully documented biography of a man of letters ever written."

Sanford Against Dorm Loan Plan

The Advisory Budget Commission met late Thursday with the State Board of Higher Education to hear a request for a 100 per cent federal loan program to continue dormitory construction at state-run schools.

At noon the following statement was issued: "The State Board of Higher Education and the Advisory Budget Commission met in joint session today and studied the need for increased dormitory facilities at state-supported institutions.

"The two boards agreed that further study is necessary to enable the boards to determine what action if any, should be taken at this time."

There was no indication of when a further study would be made, or by whom. Wednesday, Gov. Sanford had indicated little sympathy with hopes of state-run schools of higher education to continue housing construction with 100 per cent federal loans. Several members of the Advisory Budget Commission, made up mostly of legislators, also had indicated private opposition to the idea.

'Great Ziegfeld' Movie Set Tonight

Tonight's Free Flick "The Great Ziegfeld" will star William Powell Myrna Loy, Louise Rainer and Frank Morgan.

The story portrays the life of Florence Ziegfeld from his 1893 activity as promoter of Sandow, the "World's Strongest Man," to the height of his Broadway success. Top figures of American show business, and some of the best known theater tunes are presented in this film. An Academy Award as the best actress in a starring role was won by Louise Rainer for her role in this movie. The movie also won several other awards including the New York Times Critic awards for best actor and best actress won by Dick Powell and Myrna Loy.

The features are at 7:30 and 9:30 at Carroll Hall. Students must have ID cards.

He said banks had also indicated an interest in some sort of long-term higher educational loan program.

After the Nov. 7 bond referendum, several colleges, led by East Carolina College, broached the idea of 100 per cent federal loans. Funds for 50 per cent of the dormitory costs were included in the proposals which were defeated.

Most dorm construction for several years has been handled on a 50-50 basis, with the state paying half and a federal loan paying the other half. Student fees have been used to repay the loan.

Sanford said the entire field of college costs is being studied by his administration and the Committee on Education Beyond The High School. He indicated that one answer to the problem of rising costs is a revolving fund out of which 100 per cent loans would be made to needy students.

day, the Governor said the idea of such a loan runs contrary to two other factors.

"In effect," he said, "This would mean that the total loan must be paid off by student fees. This ties in with the idea of whether you are going to price college education out of the reach of the poor student. Our policy has been to try to find ways to meet the rising cost of education for the poor man. I still like that policy."

Second, Sanford said, the Higher Education Board had planned to ask the budget commission for a "gentlemen's agreement" to include 50 per cent of the dorm costs in the budget to be presented to the 1963 Legislature. Sanford called this "poor planning... we don't know what the 1963 Legislature will do."

Individual Needs Sanford said Wednesday that he didn't want to "advise the Advisory Budget Commission what to advise me," but felt that any decision on the request by the Higher Education Board should be made on the basis of "the need at each individual college and the capabilities of the students to pay."

Clay Will Give JFK First-Hand Report On Berlin

BERLIN UPI—Gen. Lucius D. Clay will fly to Washington this weekend for a first-hand report to President Kennedy on the Berlin situation, an American spokesman said Thursday.

Kennedy sent Clay, hero of the 1948-49 Soviet blockade of Berlin, to this divided city as his personal representative at the height of the Communist-provoked crisis last year.

The announcement coincided with renewed East German claims to the "right" to control official American traffic crossing the East-West Berlin border.

The Communists, meanwhile, reinforced security precautions along their wall through Berlin and the adjacent "death zone."

Three 50-foot high watchtowers were erected on the Communist side of the Soviet-American Zone border—in the Zehlendorf, Tempelhof and Steglitz districts.

A Literary Recognition Convocation honoring Jarrell was recently held here.

Jarrell was named as the recipient of the $1,000 National Book Award in March. He received the award for his collection of poetry entitled "The Woman at the Washington Zoo," published by Atheneum.

Other well-known poetry collections of the North Carolina poet include "Blood for a Stranger," 1942; "Little Friend, Little Friend," 1945; and "Losses," 1954. The poet-professor has served as Consultant in Poetry in English for the Library of Congress, as literary editor of "The Nation," as Poetry Critic for the "Partisan Review," and has received numerous other honors and awards.

Frost is a four-time Pulitzer Prize winner and the author of some of America's best-loved verse, including "Birches," "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening," "Mending Wall," "Brown's Descend," and "Death of the Hired Man."

Duke Presents E. Ormandy Orchestra

Duke University will present the Philadelphia Orchestra and its noted conductor Eugene Ormandy in a concert in the Duke Indoor Stadium on Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

The performance is the second attraction in the University's 1961-62 All Star Artists Series and will mark the Philadelphia group's seventh appearance here since 1939.

From its first concert on Nov. 16, 1900, the Philadelphia Orchestra has been one of the world's leading artistic institutions. A Newsweek critic calls it "the world's greatest orchestra."

Ormandy assumed his present position in 1936 and has since brought the group its brightest years in its history.

One of the objectives of the Philadelphia Orchestra and Ormandy is the introduction of new works and a continuing expansion of the repertoire. During an average season, approximately 50 works are added to the repertoire, including 12 new works, some of which are world premieres.

Reserved and unreserved seats are available for the Duke performance. All non-reserved seats are $1 and during the advance sale reserved seat tickets may be purchased for $1.50, $2 or $2.50. All reserved seat tickets will cost an additional half dollar the day of the concert.

Reservations may be made by calling Duke University at 681-0111, extension 2911, or writing Box KM, Duke Station, Durham.

Final selections will be announced soon, said Wheelers.

Norton Tennill Carolina Graduate Rhodes Scholar

A 1961 UNC graduate will begin two years of advanced study in classics at Oxford University next October as the 16th Rhodes Scholar to be chosen from UNC during the past 57 years and the first since 1955.

Norton Fortune Tennill, who compiled one of the "finest student records" while here, was named a Rhodes Scholar-elect for 1962 at district competition in Atlanta during the holidays.

The 21-year-old native of Winston-Salem, currently at Harvard on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, successfully competed against eight others from six Southern states. The Oxford grant, valued at more than $2,000 per year, carries considerable prestige.

An honor graduate in the classics, named Phi Beta Kappa on the strength of a straight A average and 1961 president of that organization, he was a member of leading honor societies including the Golden Fleece, the Order of the Minotaurs, the Old Well and the Order of the Grail.

He was also the student organizer of the Advisory Committee of the New Honors Programs, a member of Beta Theta Pi social fraternity, and chairman of the Special Committee of the Carolina Symposium.

Dr. Preston H. Epps, Kenan Professor Emeritus, who, during a teaching career of 45 years, has taught a host of brilliant students including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, calls Tennill one of the five best students he ever had. He is of the same calibre as Rusk, Dr. Epps said, and predicts that Tennill "will not only be a good Rhodes Scholar but a very distinguished one."

Dr. Charles Henderson, Associate Professor of Classics and Dean of Student Affairs, also is a former teacher of Tennill. "I've known him since he was a freshman," he says, "and he's as fine a student as I've had."

UNC's last contribution to the Rhodes Scholar rank was in 1955 when two seniors, Ed Yoder of Mebane and Richard H. Baker of Greensboro, swept to the forefront in Southern competition and became the first "pair" of UNC scholars in the history of the school to win.

Previous Rhodes Scholars from the University were James Horner Winston, class of 1904, a Chicago attorney; Col. Oscar R. Rand, U.S.A. Ret., '08, of Washington, D. C.; William M. Gaddy, '09; Edgar Turlington, '11, Washington, D. C. practicing international law; C. P. Spruill, '20, professor of economics here and former dean of the UNC faculty; Thomas J. Wilson III, '21, director Harvard University Press; William J. Coker, '25, Asheville attorney; D. Ed Hudgins, '28, Greensboro attorney;

Robert W. Barnett, '33, and Don G. Henderson, '47, both with the U.S. State Department; N. Ferebee Taylor, '42, New York City attorney; Paul Likins, '55, a nuclear physicist; and Yoder and Baker. Dr. Ernest Craigie, '39, a heart specialist with the UNC Medical School, was named a Rhodes Scholar but was unable to attend due to the outbreak of World War II.

Exam Schedule

By action of the faculty, the time of an examination may not be changed after it has been fixed in the schedule. Quizzes are not to be given in this semester on or after Monday, January 15, 1961.

The Official Class Roll and Grade Report will be prepared by the Data Processing Section and forwarded to the departments prior to the examination period. As in the past, the original copy will be returned to the Office of Records and Registration, the second copy (canary) is to be retained by the department, and the third copy (goldenrod) is to be kept by the instructor.

Grade reports are to be handed in to the department office within 72 hours after the scheduled time of the final examination. The department chairman shall be responsible for recording receipt of each grade report. (The Form DR-1 may be used for this) and for forwarding it promptly to the Office of Records and Registration. In unusual cases, if it is clearly needed, an extension of the time limit, preferably not to exceed 48 hours, may be approved by the department chairman or the dean of the school concerned. The Office of Records and Registration must be given notice of the delay. (Faculty Council, May 6, 1960.) Machine processing of grades makes it urgent that all grades be turned in on time.

All permits to take examinations to remove grades of "Exc. Abs." or "Cond." must be secured from the Office of Records and Registration prior to the exam. No students may be excused from a scheduled examination except by the University Infirmary in case of illness or by his Dean in case of any other emergency compelling his absence.
