According to Siro Fox, chairman of the Social and Activities Committee of Phi Mu Alpha, the amount of the scholarship will be determined by the amount of money raised by this and following projects this year.

"We hope to get between $250 and $500 for this scholarship," said Fox. "There is only one music scholarship given to freshmen right now, and it is not renewable."

"We are trying to add to this. We feel a definite need for more scholarships in the music department."

The scholarship will be given this summer to an incoming freshman. "We'll get the money together, and give it to the music department," Fox said. "The department will set its own criteria for giving the scholarship."

U. S. Alone In Making Students Pay

The rising costs of student tuition and lodging at state universities was one of many education problems touched on here yesterday when Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, addressed the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.

Dr. Hatcher and the Committee were points relative to a Community College program, a system being considered by the Governor's Committee for possible implementation into North Carolina as a relief measure for crowded conditions in the state institutions.

OFFICIALS MEET — Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, spoke to the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School at the Institute of Government in

Junior Colleges

Hatcher stated that in Michigan there were 60 community or junior colleges available to almost everyone, encouraged, supported and developed by the state. These, he said, represented the "twilight zone" between local and state responsibility. The need for such a system of schools was, he indicated, keenly reflected in the fact that "out of a freshman class of 9,000 applications only 3,300 could be accepted by the University of Michigan."

Michigan University is recognized as one of the top institutions in the country. Entrance requirements, the drop-out problem, graduate school set-up, and year-round systems of study were some of the numerous other points considered at the meeting which was attended by representative educators and laymen from over the state.

NSA Urges

Other NEC resolutions: —Re-stated the position of the full Congress on nuclear testing. "In the event that nuclear testing is resumed by the United States Government, the NEC of USNSA urges that such testing be minimal in radioactive fallout and be conducted only as a means of safeguarding national security and not as a means of political terrorism."

—Reaffirmed NSA's stand that "students have a right to participate in active non-violent protest" against such social injustices as segregation.

Speaker Ban

—Condemned decisions by New York City colleges banning speakers (including a Communist, a Black Muslim, and conservative editor William F. Buckley Jr.) from appearing on campus.

—Forbid any student from claiming to represent NSA at the Eighth World Festival of Youth this summer in Helsinki, Finland. The Festival is dominated by Communist students.

—Deplored recent Dominican Republic "repressive action depriving students of the rights . . . of university autonomy and free association."

"Irresponsible Charges"

The NEC also mandated the national office to "prepare position papers to be used in making the Association's position clear in the face of many recent and historic irresponsible charges on both the political and structural nature of NSA."

Charges have been made by individual students in past years, condemning NSA's "leftist" position on many issues and calling it an unrepresentative body.

The executive committee set up a body to study the feasibility of adding two more national officers, one of whom would be Program Vice-President for the South.

London Dancing School Bans 'Twist' Craze As 'Too Sexy'

LONDON (UPI) — A London dancing school manager banned the new "twist" dance craze from his floor Friday because it is "too sexy," but others in the trade refused to follow suit.

Bernard Stetson, manager of the London Dance Institute, started the controversy over the shimmy-and-wiggle import from America. "The twist is far too uninhibited, abandoned and frankly sexy to be performed in Britain," he said. "It belongs to the African bush."

But his colleagues in the dance business rose up in arms. "If you are a sexy person, it will come out sexy, I suppose, but so will the tango," said Marie Cartmell, an attractive instructor at the Arthur Murray School of Dancing.

The director of Mecca, Inc., biggest ballroom chain in the world, ruled out the idea of banning the twist.

As long as a dance does not threaten disturbances, said Mecca's Eric Morley, it's perfectly permissible—and that goes for the twist. "Fully-fledged men and women don't want the twist," said Morley. "It's a dance for bored socialites who are tired of holding each other in their arms."

Dr. Allen Talks On 'Day After Rome Was Built'

Dr. Walter Allen Jr., Latin professor, will present a paper entitled, "The Day After Rome Was Built," at a meeting of the Philological Club, Tuesday at 7:45 p. m. in the Faculty Lounge, Morehead Planetarium.

Dr. Allen will explain to the members and their guests what American tourists actually see when they go to Rome. "The ancient monuments, impressive in their present state, are very different from what they once were," said Dr. Allen. "Some parts of them were re-used in Renaissance buildings. Some of the Roman buildings have had to be extensively restored in order to preserve them."
