

Dorm Newspapers To Be Given Aid By Committee

The Communications Committee has begun a drive to assist dormitories with efforts to provide their residents with dorm newspapers. Several dorms which previously had not published dorm papers now have editors and plan to publish within a few weeks.

The committee is helping existing dorm newspapers to publish more frequently and to improve their papers. A file of old dorm newspapers is being prepared and numerous source materials such as joke books and cartoons are being furnished.

According to Chairman Robin Britt, the committee hopes to establish headquarters for the dorm papers where some of the more complicated Stylist work involved in mimeographing can be done. The headquarters will also furnish a central location for the files of the old newspapers and source materials.

The committee is working through the IDC and with dorm presidents. Britt presented the idea to the IDC in December and proceeded with the program on the basis of the interest shown at that meeting.

Originally the plan called for subsidization of the newspapers by Student Government, and $150 was earmarked for this purpose in a bill introduced in Legislature. However, the allocation for this subsidization was cut from the appropriation.

An Editors' Roundtable, composed of the editors of all dorm newspapers, has been established. The purpose of the Roundtable is to allow free exchange of ideas and articles between the dorm editors and to establish a central coordinating body for the papers.

Campus organizations wishing to publicize their activities can submit copies of an article concerning the activity to the Roundtable. It may then be printed in the various papers at the discretion of the editor. The Roundtable may also solicit advertising collectively for the dorm newspapers.

Jerry Hancock, editor of the Winston paper, announced its first publication on Friday of this week. The Committee worked with Tony Smithson, president of Winston, Hancock, George Carson, and Paul Quintus in reviving the Winstonian, which was last published in 1960 by Tom Williams.

Scabbard & Blade To Sponsor Dance

The Scabbard and Blade at UNC has announced contestants for Queen of the Military Ball to be held at the Elk's Club in Durham, on February 24, 1962.

The contestants are Miss Linda Kathie Law of Leonia, N. J. to be escorted by Cadet Capt. Michael J. Rooney, AFROTC; Miss Judy Anne Johnson of Burlington, N. C. to be escorted by Cadet Captain Rudolph O. Oates, AFROTC; Mrs. Anthony Davenport of Chapel Hill, N. C. to be escorted by her husband Cadet S/Sgt. Anthony Davenport, AFROTC; Miss Thora Belle Worly of Marshall, N. C. to be escorted by Midshipman Lt. Pender R. McElroy, NROTC;

Miss Brenda Jean Bumgarner of North Wilkesboro, N. C. to be escorted by Midshipman John eKerbaugh, NROTC; and Miss Judy Chostner of Greensboro, N. C. to be escorted by Midshipman Lt.

James D. Strickland, NROTC.

The Military Ball is an annual joint NROTC, AFROTC social function sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, a national military society composed of outstanding NROTC and AFROTC advanced cadets. At this Ball, the spring pledge class for Scabbard and Blade will be announced.

Notice Seniors

Invitations to graduation will be on sale for the final time Thursday and Friday from 9-12 a.m. in Y-Court, the Order of the Grail has announced. The order reminds all seniors that the sale will be the last opportunity to order invitations.

Full payment will be due when orders are placed.

Seniors in the schools of medicine, pharmacy, and law will have invitations available at a later date.

Seniors who are practicing teaching have been requested to have someone place their order.

Internal Mike To Broadcast Data On Heart

A pocket-sized transmitter which broadcasts data about the heart while the patient moves about freely is nearing perfection at N. C. Memorial Hospital. Support for continuing this work will come from the 1962 Campus Chest, which is contributing to heart research for the second year.

Conducting the project is Dr. Thomas C. Gibson, Assistant Professor of Medicine and William B. Thornton, Consultant in Engineering for the Medical School.

The Campus Chest grant will be used to perfect the new technique in two directions: to enable the patient to tape his heart record at home and to develop a better computing system for the information broadcast by the transmitter.

At present, a person trained in reading electrocardiograms must spend a large amount of time scanning many feet of record tape to translate the information recorded. The researchers are working now on a method of decoding this information mechanically and providing answers in a simpler form.

Dr. Gibson is a native of England and received his medical degree in 1946 from Cambridge. He trained at the London Hospital and engaged in private practice in London before he came to the UNC Medical School in 1957. His associate, Bill Thornton, is a native of Goldsboro and has a B.S. in Physics from UNC (1953). He spent two years as chief of the photo-optics instrumentation lab for the U. S. Air Force, a year as consultant to Air Proving Grounds on instrumentation systems, and two years as chief electronic engineer at Del Mar Engineering Labs in Los Angeles. He holds the Legion of Merit award for instrumentation development in the Air Force.

Reds Agree To Discuss Test Ban

Soviets Now Accept Separate Talks

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviets reversed themselves again Thursday and said they were "reluctantly forced to accept" discussions of the question of a nuclear test ban at the forthcoming 18-nation disarmament talks here.

When the test ban talks bogged down last year Russia said a test ban must be discussed at a general disarmament meeting. The United States and Britain accepted that idea, but on Jan. 26 Russia reversed itself and said test ban talks must be held separately.

Chief Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin announced the Soviet double shuffle when he met for an hour with the deputy chiefs of the British and American nuclear delegations here, Derek Brinson and David Mark.

Tsarapkin made it clear the negotiations at the general disarmament talks will be just as tough as they were during the three-year nuclear test ban conferences which ended last Jan. 29.

He said the Soviets stand firmly on their Nov. 28 suggestion for an uncontrolled moratorium on nuclear tests. The West has rejected this and is certain to reject it once more when and if the nuclear test question goes before the 18-nation conference.

In announcing Thursday's shift, Tsarapkin said the Soviets mean "since it is clear that the West has no interest in continuing the nuclear discussions either officially or unofficially."

Tsarapkin told a news conference in his villa overlooking Lake Geneva that the latest decision had been taken because "there is nothing more to be gained, officially or unofficially" from the test ban talks.

24 Killed As Pair Of Trains Collide

CALI, Colombia (UPI) — At least 24 persons were killed Thursday and 36 others injured, including five California Merchant Marine cadets, in a head-on collision between a passenger train and a locomotive 30 miles from Cali.

The cadets, on a 48-hour shore leave to Cali from their training ship, the Golden Bear, anchored at Buenaventura, were not identified immediately. Two of them were hurt seriously.

In Vallejo, Calif., the California Maritime Academy listed only four midshipmen injured on the basis of reports from the American Embassy in Bogota. Seriously injured were Paul Murphy, of San Pedro, a broken leg and arm, and Dennis Allison, of Placerville, a broken leg and possible back injuries. The other two were identified as Daniel Clifford, of Coronado, a broken leg, and Terence Purdom, of Richmond, a broken arm.

Pan-Hellenic Council Abolishes Political Party Requirements

Kremlin Admits Abel Worked As Spy For Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Kremlin publicly acknowledged for the first time Thursday the existence of Col. Rudolf Abel, the convicted Soviet spy who was exchanged for U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers nearly two weeks ago.

The government newspaper Izvestia printed a letter revealing to the Russian public that Abel had been released and returned to Soviet authorities on Feb. 10.

The letter, from Abel's wife Helen and daughter, Lydia, publicly thanked Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for arranging the release of the colonel.

It ended years of official Soviet silence on the case of Abel, who had been sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment in the United States following his conviction on charges of sending American secrets to Moscow while posing as a Brooklyn photographer.

Publication of the letter was seen here as a Soviet attempt to offset criticism abroad and news leaking through to the Russian people that their government had concealed details of the exchange.

Abel's wife and daughter, in their letter to Khrushchev, said Abel had been "innocently arrested" and "unlawfully committed."

The letter did not specify that Abel had been exchanged for Powers. Nor did it mention the simultaneous release of American student Frederick Pryor, who had been held in East Germany.

Powers had been sentenced to 10 years in prison for spying after his high-flying plane crashed deep inside the Soviet Union on May 1, 1960.

At the time of his release, the government said it acted with the aim of improving Soviet-American relations. But no mention was made of the exchange for Abel at that time nor was his name mentioned in the press until Thursday.

The letter from Abel's wife and daughter, dated Feb. 19, gave no clue to Abel's present whereabouts. There was no indication from where the letter was written. It gave the impression that Abel's liberation was strictly a Soviet initiative.

ROBERT F. KENNEDY

RFK Pledges Full Defense Of W. Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arrived Thursday with a new presidential pledge to defend West Berlin against the Russians. He received a tumultuous welcome from West Berliners while Communists reacted with a decisive barrage of red flags and rockets.

Kennedy, in one of four speeches delivered Thursday, told a cheering throng of 150,000 to 160,000 in freezing, snow-covered city hall square that the United States would regard an attack on West Berlin as an attack on New York, Chicago, London or Paris.

The Communists tried to disrupt the rally by sending up four rockets which looked like balloons. They exploded overhead and unfurled four-foot-square red flags which drifted down by parachute. The crowd boomed and Kennedy taunted: "The Communists send out balloons but they will not let their people out."

Veteran observers said Thursday's welcome was one of the warmest ever given a visitor here. Police estimated another 150,000 to 160,000 lined the road from the airport to the square. There were cries of "welcome" and shouts of "Bob" and "Ethel" for Kennedy and his wife.

Council President Janice Haley emphasized the suggestion that sorority pledges be required to attend meetings of both parties because she believes that "pledges may become interested in campus politics if they have a chance to find out what politics is like."

SP Chairman Jimmy Weeks also expressed complete agreement with the resolution. "I do not think however, that this resolution will affect Spring elections a great deal because of the lack of time before elections."

Members Free To Join Any Campus Unit

Sorority girls no longer can be required to join either or any campus political party by their sororities.

This resolution was made public yesterday by the Panhellenic Council. The resolution also stated that no sorority could place party membership dues on a sorority bill and that it could not place a fine for non-attendance at any political party function. It said also that there will be no promising of votes prior to the balloting process. "Our members will vote as individuals," the resolution stated, "and we will do all in our power to discourage the practice of block voting among other groups."

The Council recommended that both political parties put more emphasis on pre-nomination meetings. The resolution suggested that sorority pledges be required to attend both the Student Party's and University Party's preliminary meetings, and afterwards be allowed to make their own choice.

"I am in complete agreement with the Panhellenic resolution," UP Chairman Bill Criswell said yesterday. "I think this will help clear up the political apathy on this campus."

"I also believe this resolution will help to end the misconception that the University Party belongs to the fraternities and sororities." He said he thought the clause suggesting that pledges be required to attend one meeting of each party would be an incentive to the parties to improve their platforms. "Block voting can no longer be counted on to provide party members," he stated. "The parties must now work to attract their members."

SP Chairman Jimmy Weeks also expressed complete agreement with the resolution. "I do not think however, that this resolution will affect Spring elections a great deal because of the lack of time before elections."

ASTRONAUT WAS NERVOUS

Glenn, Happy Family Meet With President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John H. Glenn's wife and two excited teenage children flew to Florida with President Kennedy aboard his jet plane Thursday for an eagerly awaited reunion Friday with the hero astronaut.

Also invited along by the President were Glenn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr., New Concord, Ohio; Mrs. Glenn's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Easton, New Concord; and Mrs. Glenn's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Hosey, Pittsburgh, and the astronaut's long-time friend, Marine Lt. Col. Thomas B. Miller.

At the airport, Glenn's wife Anna said: "Isn't this an exciting day. I'm really looking forward to this day and to tomorrow morning."

From Grand Turk Island, where he was being "de-briefed" after his earth-orbiting trip Tuesday, Glenn was reported "living from moment to moment" for the meeting at Cape Canaveral Friday with his wife, their children, and other relatives.

He also was reported a little nervous about ceremonies at the spaceport where the President was scheduled to present him with the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Still more honors are in store for Glenn, the nation's biggest peacetime hero since Charles A. Lindbergh's Atlantic flight, when the astronaut returns to Washington Monday with the President.

After a White House chat between Glenn and Kennedy, the spaceman will ride in triumph to Capitol Hill where he will be honored at a joint meeting of Congress. Joining in the parade to the Capitol will be as many of Glenn's fellow astronauts as can be brought to Washington.

On Thursday Glenn and other astronauts will be treated to a New York ticker tape parade that promised to equal the most memorable receptions ever tendered by the metropolis.

Riding in the New York parade with Glenn will be Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Capt. Virgil I. Grissom, the men who broke the space trail by riding rockets down the Atlantic Missile range.

Glenn will return to his hometown of New Concord, Ohio, late Thursday. The mayor, James K. Taylor, said Thursday a big parade and day-long celebration were planned for the astronaut on Saturday.

The President flew to Palm Beach, Fla., to see his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is convalescing from a stroke.

HARLOW, England (UPI) — With Britons caught up by a twist craze that has resulted in marathon competition, local officials Thursday set up a board of control to lay down ground rules for twist championships to avoid injury to dancers.

Andy Griffith Donates $100 To Barham Scholarship Fund

Andy Griffith, stage, screen and television star, has donated $100 to the new James Michael Barham Music Scholarship for freshmen music students which is now being established at UNC by the Alpha Rho chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia national music fraternity.

The UNC chapter of the fraternity is sponsoring two special U. S. Navy Band concerts to be held at the University's Memorial Hall March 6. Proceeds of the concert will go to the new scholarship.

Griffith, UNC graduate from the Department of Music, said, "I am sorry I will be unable to attend the concert given by the United States Navy Band in Memorial Hall on March 6, but I am pleased to help out in this worthwhile endeavor of Alpha Rho chapter in establishing a scholarship fund." Griffith was a member of the music fraternity while studying at UNC.

James Michael Barham was vice president of the campus chapter of the fraternity at the time of his death in October, 1961. The scholarship in his honor will be administered by the faculty of the music department. Its size will be

Troops Guard Dominican Cane Fields

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic — Troops and planes guarded Dominican cane fields against further sabotage Thursday under a state of emergency proclamation.

Nearly a score of incendiary blazes have caused an estimated $1 million in sugar crop damage in recent weeks. The coalition provisional government under President Rafael L. Bonnelly started a roundup of agitators Wednesday and authorized their deportation to cope with what officials claimed was an unholy conspiracy of former members of the Trujillo dynasty with "international communism."

Bonnelly in a radio speech Wednesday night said the proclamation of a state of emergency was aimed at halting not only growing sabotage but increasingly frequent riots and leftist-sparked disorders.

Five leftist leaders detained for questioning Wednesday still were held. Police refused to release any information on their statements, or to permit the local or foreign press to interview them. It was denied, however, that they were held incommunicado.

The police hunt for Maximo Lopez Molina, leader of the pro-Castro Dominican popular movement, continued. He was believed to have gone underground. Lopez returned to Santo Domingo recently from years in exile.
