Soviets Blast Farm Trouble

MOSCOW (UPI) — A parade of Communist party leaders from throughout the Soviet Union Tuesday blamed everything from inefficient management to the late Josef Stalin for the nation's lagging farm production.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had placed part of the blame for the agricultural failures on "the leadership" in opening a meeting of the Communist party's Central Committee in the Kremlin Monday.

Khrushchev warned that the seven-year plan is in "serious danger" because of the failure of the farmers in the various republics to meet quotas in meat, dairy production, grains and other products. All leading Soviet newspapers printed lengthy accounts on Khrushchev's nearly six-hour report on the failure-after-failure of Soviet agriculture.

SP Endorses Clotfelter And Wrye For Ed.

The Student Party last night endorsed Jim Clotfelter and Chuck Wrye as co-editors of the Daily Tar Heel after a heated hour-and-a-half debate. The pair defeated Chuck Mooney by a fairly wide margin.

The party voted in the first action of the night to postpone the nomination of a vice-president of the student body until a party meeting Monday night.

The party voted to endorse a candidate after numerous speakers emphasized that it was the party's duty to take a stand on issues and candidates.

Other nominations and the presentation of a party platform were not complete at presstime.

Katanga Leader To Meet Adoula For Talks Soon

ELISABETHVILLE, KATANGA, The Congo (UPI)—President Moise Tshombe announced Tuesday he will leave for Leopoldville on March 15 for talks with Central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula on ending Katanga's secession from the Congo.

Tshombe said the United Nations has promised him all the security he wants for his mission. He told newsmen that Jose Relz Bennett, U. N. chief in Elisabethville, gave him a "solemn declaration" that all security arrangements for the trip and his stay in Leopoldville are complete.

Observers said Tshombe's acceptance of the guarantees by the United Nations removed the last obstacle to his meeting with Adoula. Tshombe will go to Leopoldville with a mandate from his assembly to discuss ending Katanga's 18-month secession on the basis of the Kitona agreement of last December.

Tshombe reported "all is calm" at Kamina, where U.N. patrols and Katangese gendarmes skirmished Monday.

U.N. sources said there had been no more shooting but that the garrison at the former Belgian military base was on a full alert. There were reports of "large-scale troop movement" by Katangese forces in the region in Northern Katanga.

Tshombe blamed the U.N. troops for the clash. But U.N. headquarters in Leopoldville said the Katangese opened fire first.

Military Aid To Thailand Is Increased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, declaring its firm intention to resist Red aggression in Southeast Asia, promised Tuesday to step up military aid to Thailand to the greatest extent possible.

It also said it would move to halt any Communist attack on Thailand without the prior agreement of other members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO). Some member countries have indicated they felt SEATO could act only by unanimous vote.

The U. S. pledges were made in a joint communique issued by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Thai Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman. It covered agreements reached during Thanat's five-day visit to Washington.

Thailand, which shares a common border with Laos, has shown mounting concern over its position if Laos or South Viet Nam should fall to the Communists. It also has questioned whether the SEATO alliance would act promptly or bog down in debate.

Although the U. S. pledges referred specifically to Thailand, they presumably applied with equal force to outright aggression against any Southeast Asian nation. The United States already has stepped up its military aid to South Viet Nam.

Thanat said that as a result of agreements reached during his talks here, "we can express hope for a more stable future for Southeast Asia and, of course, Thailand."

Sigma Chi Made Required Marks

The Office of Student Affairs yesterday reported that a recheck of the grade average of Sigma Chi revealed that the fraternity made an 80 per cent average and will not be placed on probation as the Office reported Saturday.

The rule is designed to help create a fraternal atmosphere toward academic achievement also.

"Although there is no definite axiom that pairs high academic achievement with general success in other areas, this trend has been observed on the campus."

The Dean, himself once a fraternity member for five years, observed that the rule has had a few adverse effects as some fraternities regularly de-activate many of their members merely to achieve the required 80 per cent C's. "This action appears to be a little blood-thirsty and is not the desired result of the rule. Other fraternities seem to approach the rule with a proper attitude, encouraging better scholarship by other methods."

He noted that the large number of fraternities on probation now is probably partially a result of the greater emphasis placed on fall rush rather than spring rush. "Since rushing and pledging is the lifeblood of any fraternity, the rule could be considered harsh. With a strong IFC however, this responsibility of maintaining high standards could possibly be placed once again in the hands of the students and they could conceivably change the type of restriction."

"Relative to the situation prevalent at the time of its institution, I'd say that the 80 per cent rule has been effective, but I think a strong IFC would be even more successful."

Although he is not completely satisfied with the IFC at this time, the Dean did say that it has improved this year in the proper direction.

U.S. Promises Safe Testing In Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House gave assurances Tuesday that U. S. atomic tests in the Pacific will be conducted with "no hazard to the people of Hawaii or other Pacific islands."

The statement was made in a letter sent from the White House to Sen. Oren E. Long, D-Hawaii. Long had inquired about the possible effects in Hawaii of the resumption of U. S. atmospheric tests.

The tests are set for Christmas Island in the Pacific, 1,500 miles south of Hawaii, and Johnston Island, 1,000 miles southwest of the state.

Lawrence J. O'Brien, special assistant to President Kennedy, wrote Long that "the President agrees that the people of Hawaii should be forewarned of effects which might cause concern."

He said that "instructions have been issued that advance public notice be given of any scheduled event which is expected to produce any such effects in Hawaii, so that the people there will know what to expect."

O'Brien also said that the task force conducting the tests "will make careful meteorological observations before each test to establish that prevailing weather conditions are such that no hazard from radiation will result in areas outside the danger zone."

Further precautionary actions will include early notices to navigators and airmen of the boundaries of the danger area, constant screening of the perimeter of this area to warn surveillance craft away, and general surveillance of the area to ascertain that no one is in the danger area who has not been advised that the area has been set aside for nuclear tests," he said.

Tax Law Changes On House Floor In Near Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker John W. McCormack predicted Tuesday after meeting with President Kennedy that administration-backed changes in the nation's tax laws would be brought before the House "in the very near future."

McCormack and other Democratic congressional leaders met with Kennedy for more than an hour at the White House. The Speaker said the weekly breakfast meeting was devoted largely to tax legislation which has been approved by the House Ways & Means Committee. The legislation would provide tax credit for industrial investments and make other changes in tax laws. McCormack told reporters after the White House meeting that he expected the measure to be ready for floor action by this weekend.

House Democratic whip Hale Boggs, a member of the Ways & Means Committee, said it was hoped that the tax credit measure would stimulate a great deal of new investment and, in the process, new employment.

French Fleet Leaves Port

PARIS (UPI) — France's Mediterranean fleet put to sea Tuesday on the eve of the crucial round of Algerian peace talks. Unofficial reports said some of the warships would arrive in Algiers and Oran just before proclamation of an Algerian cease-fire.

The fleet, spearheaded by an anti-aircraft cruiser and a carrier sailed from Toulon as an Algerian rebel delegation arrived in Geneva for the resumption of negotiations with the French beginning Wednesday at the French border resort of Evian-Les-Bains.

Officials said the fleet sailed for a one-month training cruise and would return April 4. It included the cruiser Colbert, flagship of Vice Adm. Andre Jubelin, the aircraft carrier Lafayette, 10 escort vessels, three submarines and a supply ship.

The fleet is scheduled to hold exercises Saturday off the coast of Corsica and to visit Naples, Bizerte, the Spanish Balearic Islands and the big naval base of Mors-El-Kebir, just west of the Algerian trouble-spot port of Oran.

Both French and Algerian rebel officials expressed optimism on Tuesday that the new round of peace talks would produce a cease-fire ending the 7½-year-old war in Algeria.

Algerian rebel Vice Premier Bekkacem Krim, arriving at the head of a 10-man delegation in Geneva, said: "We have come here with a desire to put a definite end, if possible, to these negotiations."
