

Signs announcing the Carolina Symposium hang in the main lobby of the library. The Symposium starts Sunday and lasts through Thursday. Some of this year's speakers are Richard Harkness, John Aldridge, Crane Brinton, James Reston, Sen. Gale McGee, John Grierson, and others. —Photo by Jim Wallace

Clotfelter-Wrye Endorsed For Editor By Mathers

Mike Mathers, who withdrew from the Daily Tar Heel editorship race yesterday, endorsed Jim Clotfelter and Chuck Wrye for co-editors.

Ernest Stepp in a run-off election Tuesday. The vice-president of the student body will also be selected Tuesday.

to handle its problems," said Mathers in his endorsement.

Experience

"Ernest Stepp has not had the necessary experience to run the DTH," he said. "Both Jim Clotfelter and Chuck Wrye have had experience enough to put out a daily paper."

Mathers received the highest vote total as a write-in candidate in last Tuesday's regular election. Clotfelter-Wrye placed second and were scheduled to face Mathers in a run-off, before he withdrew Wednesday.

Statement

Following is the full statement by Mathers:

"Both Jim Clotfelter and Chuck Wrye have had experience enough to put out a daily paper. Because of the nature of this election I am sure that the co-editors will make every effort to publish a quality newspaper."

"Even though I disagree with the political opinions of Jim Clotfelter, it seems reasonable that Chuck Wrye will tend to temper Jim's views. The political opinions of the editors should be considered secondarily to their technical qualifications."

Never Worked

"Ernest Stepp has not had the necessary experience to run the DTH. He admits that he has never worked on this paper. The DTH has special problems found in no other paper. It is a daily paper put out by students who are only able to give part of their day to working on the Tar Heel."

"A million other problems must be handled every day by the editor. Only persons with experience working on the Tar Heel are able to handle its problems. These aspects taken into consideration, I endorse Jim Clotfelter and Chuck Wrye as co-editors of the Daily Tar Heel."

Stepp Is Ill

Ernie Stepp, candidate for editor of the DTH in Tuesday's runoff election, entered the Infirmary yesterday and said that he would be confined for three days with a virus infection.

"I have already stated the issues," he said, "and I feel that the campus knows where I stand." Stepp said he expected to get out of the Infirmary late Monday afternoon.

WC Girls Attend Dance Here

A group of 200 girls from Woman's College are scheduled to attend the freshman dance tonight in the Woolen Gym at 8.

Playing for the dance will be the Fedros, a combo from Monroe. Admission will be $1 for boys, with girls admitted free.

The dance is designed to cater primarily to freshmen, class publicity chairman Ellen Solomon has stated, but upperclassmen will not be excluded.

The dance will last from 8-12, and refreshments will be served.

U. S. Must Stay Strong Says Baxter

The United States must stay militarily and economically strong, otherwise 185,000,000 Americans could become slaves of Russia, Dr. James Phinney Baxter III declared at the 1962 Weil Lecture Thursday night.

Russian concentration on war instruments "stems from a desire to dominate the world," he said. Americans must be ready for prolonged tension, uncertainty, anxiety, and strain.

Conceding that the United States will not strike first in an atomic war, Dr. Baxter, former President of Williams College, said the safety of the American people depends upon the ability of the United States to strike back swiftly and massively — and thus deter the USSR from launching a missile attack on the United States.

Shelters Are Useful

Fall-out shelters are useful in maintenance of peace, he said, for such protection would reassure neutrals and Allies that we intend to strike back and destroy the enemy at any cost.

The deterrent is the key, not only to keep the Russians from attacking us, but in order to convince the neutral nations of the world that the United States will firmly keep its commitments to 40 nations with whom the U. S. has mutual-protection agreements, he stated.

Prof. Baxter said there is little hope that the atomic bomb will be outlawed. "I have spent several years of my life studying the history of disarmament and it is gloomy reading, indeed, for a lover of peace. It is not too difficult to get the powers to rule out a weapon that holds little hope of a large military payoff, but it is quite another thing to rule out one that does."

Deterrence Defense

If the enemy is to be deterred from an attack on the United States he must realize, in his own mind, that he cannot win, said Dr. Baxter. "The defense policy of the United States rests on deterrence, based on a substantial military superiority over the Russians. Remember that this concept rests on something that takes place in the enemy's mind, not in yours or mine," he said.

He then told the story about the man who was approached by a barking dog and remarked to a friend who tried to reassure him: "You know that the dog won't bite, and I know that he won't bite, but does the dog know?"

"The building of fall-out shelters is a basic part of the U. S. policy of deterrence, said Dr. Baxter. Fall-out shelters will have the influence of showing the Russians we intend to come back after they strike first. "It is our avowed national policy not to strike the first blow in a nuclear war," he said, "and because of this there is a temptation to a potential aggressor to try for a devastating surprise."

"Our defense against sneak attack must include dispersal, radar warning against missiles as well as against manned bombers, hardening of the bases, anti-aircraft defense and anti-missile missiles, and maintenance of a portion of our force airborne around the clock and more of it on the ground alert."

"Here as before the value of deterrent depends on what the enemy thinks about our second-strike capability. He must be certain not only that our surviving dogs will bite, but that they will be numerous, mobile and strong enough for their bites to be fatal to him."

Speaking of limited wars that might be inspired to deplete our strength and to "put out brushfires" in several parts of the world, Dr. Baxter spoke of U.S.A. commitments to two score nations. "In the neutral areas of the world doubts have been ex-

Free Flick Features Kim Novak

"Bell, Book and Candle", starring James Stewart, Kim Novak, Jack Lemmon, Ernie Kovacs, Hermione Gingold, Elsa Lanchester, and Janice Rule will be tonight's Free Flick presentation.

The story tells of a conventional bachelor "bewitched" on the eve of his wedding by his beautiful blonde neighbor. The "strange" antics and powers of Kim Novak and Jack Lemmon as the blonde and her brother are exceeded only by those of their relatives.

Showings will be in Carroll Hall at 7:30 and 9:30. Only students with ID cards will be admitted.

'Today's Revolutions' Is Symposium Theme

Symposium Schedule

THE CONCEPT OF REVOLUTION

Sunday Night, April 1

8:00 P.M. Memorial Hall
Dr. Crane Brinton, author and historian, Harvard
Reception immediately following address in Graham Memorial

Monday Afternoon, April 2

3:00 P.M. Carroll Hall
Panel Discussion: Race Relations
Moderator—Walter Spearman, Professor of Journalism, UNC
Panel: Floyd McKissick, NAACP attorney
James Kilpatrick, Editor, Richmond News Leader
McNeill Smith, Chairman, North Carolina Advisory Committee
United States Civil Rights Commission
REVOLUTION IN THE ARTS
Monday Night, April 2

8:00 P.M. Memorial Hall
Dr. Gilbert Seldes, critic, University of Pennsylvania
Dr. John Grierson, Scottish Television Limited, Glasgow
Tuesday Afternoon, April 3

2:00 P.M. Gerrard Hall
Panel Discussion: Literature
Moderator—Charles Edge, Professor of English, UNC
Panel: Charles Eaton, poet, Chapel Hill
John Aldridge, critic and author, Hollins College
Andrew Lytle, Editor, Sewanee Review

4:00 P.M. Ackland Art Museum
Panel Discussion: Art
Moderator—John Schnorrenberg, Art Historian, UNC
Panel: John Sedgwick, artist, Women's College, UNC
Roy Gussow, sculpture, Professor of Design, North Carolina State

POLITICAL REVOLUTIONS

Tuesday Night, April 3

8:00 P.M. Memorial Hall
Gale W. McGee, U. S. Senator from Wyoming
Reception immediately following address in Graham Memorial

Wednesday Afternoon, April 4

2:00 P.M. Carroll Hall
Panel Discussion: Africa
Moderator—Guy Johnson, Professor of Anthropology and Sociology
Panel: Udo Oton, Information Officer, Nigerian Consulate General
George Houser, Executive Director, American Committee on Africa
Tartt Bell, Executive Secretary, American Friends Service Committee

4:00 P.M. Carroll Hall
Address: Latin America
Dr. George I. Blankens, Professor of Political Science, Northwestern University
SOCIAL AND SCIENTIFIC REVOLUTIONS
Wednesday Night, April 4

8:00 P.M. Memorial Hall
Dr. Huston Smith, Professor of Philosophy, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Dr. Samuel Kirkwood, Biochemist, University of Minnesota
Reception immediately following address in Graham Memorial

Thursday Afternoon, April 5

2:00 P.M. Gerrard Hall
Address: Religion and Philosophy
Dr. Roger Hazeltin, Dean, Theological Seminary, Oberlin College

4:00 P.M. Gerrard Hall
Address: Mass Media
Richard Harkness, NBC News Commentator
THE IMPACT OF TODAY'S REVOLUTIONS
Thursday Night, April 5

8:00 P.M. Memorial Hall
James B. Reston, Director, Washington Bureau, New York Times
Reception immediately following address in Graham Memorial
Dr. G. V. Taylor, Professor of History, will introduce the evening speakers.

Brinton Opens Program With Speech Sunday

"Today's Revolutions," the 1962 Symposium, will begin tomorrow night and run for five days with a featured lecture in Memorial Hall each night and lectures and panel discussions in the afternoons.

The afternoon programs will deal with specific problems on local, national and international levels.

Dr. Crane Brinton, author and Harvard historian, will deliver the opening address to the 1962 Symposium on Sunday evening at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall. His speech, "Some Concepts of Revolution," will deal with the origin and bases of revolutions in our modern Western environment.

Race Relations Panel

At 3:00 p.m. on Monday, April 2, the first panel discussion on race relations and problems will take place in Carroll Hall. Participating in the discussion will be Floyd B. McKissick, NAACP lawyer from Durham; Jack Kilpatrick, editor of the "Richmond News Leader," and McNeill Smith, former UNC student and Chairman of the State Advisory Commission on Civil Rights.

In addition to Carolina students and members of the University community, students from 16 different colleges and universities throughout the South and East will attend the programs. These students, over 20 in number, are coming to Carolina as a part of the Intercollegiate Seminars Program and will attend the first three days of the Symposium.

Special classes and closed meetings with university professors and the featured speakers are being arranged for the Seminar students during Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday mornings.

Larger Audience

In order to increase the audience participation in this area, WUNC-TV, the Chapel Hill educational television station, will carry the series of evening lectures throughout the week except Wednesday. The programs will begin at 8:00 p.m. on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday and will continue for the duration of the main speech and the subsequent question and answer period.

Persons in the Memorial Hall audience will be encouraged to write down any questions which may occur during the speech. Dr. G. V. Taylor, professor of History, will introduce the speakers and will preside over the question and answer period.

Ribicoff Announces Racial Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff made a surprise announcement Friday that the Kennedy administration plans to take its first direct action against racial segregation in the nation's schools.

In a statement that drew immediate fire from Southern Democrats in Congress, Ribicoff said his Health, Education and Welfare Department will cut off some federal aid next year to certain segregated schools attended by the children of servicemen and government workers living on federal installations. Integrated schools would be provided for the youngsters.

Ribicoff also said the Justice Department was considering legal action aimed at ending all such "impacted areas" assistance to segregated schools.

The political effect of Ribicoff's statement, which came as a complete surprise to Congress, was expected to be immediate and troublesome for some of President Kennedy's key legislative proposals such as his liberal trade plan and medical care programs.

Depending On South

To win congressional approval, Kennedy is depending heavily on support from Southern Democrats. So far, the Southerners have displayed a willingness to be wooed.

But Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S. C., said the aid cut-off "constitutes a flagrant act of economic blackmail."

Senior High Concert Is Sunday

Greensboro Senior High School's award-winning 80-piece orchestra will play here Sunday afternoon in a free concert in Hill Hall at 4.

The program will include classical selections from Beethoven and Saint-Saens, and several more modern compositions. An original composition by John Barnes Chance will be a featured part of the concert.

Chance is a Ford Foundation composer now in residence with the Greensboro High School music department. He has been writing music for the school's musical groups for the past two years.

The orchestra is nationally recognized, having played for the Golden Anniversary Convention of the Music Educators National Conference in St. Louis in 1956. In 1959, the group played before the Southern Division meeting of the Conference in Richmond.

The concert is being sponsored by the Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity.

F. H. Weaver Addresses Meeting

Fred H. Weaver, secretary of the Consolidated University, will give the president's address at the annual meeting of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Monday in Philadelphia, Pa.

As the outgoing president of the association of deans of students, Weaver will review the duties and goals of the association in his address.

UNC Professor of Social Work Alan Keith-Lucas has been invited to address the four-day meeting of the association, on Monday. Professor Keith-Lucas's address is entitled "Some Ideas on the Helping Process." The talk will be a description of what it takes to help people and what it takes to receive help.

Dr. Keith-Lucas will be introduced by UNC Dean of Student Affairs Charles Henderson Jr. William G. Long, UNC assistant dean of Student Affairs, will attend the meeting as a delegate.

The UNC junior varsity executing a screen pass in a scrimmage on the Graham Memorial field. —Photo by Zalk