Bunche To Talk On World Affairs

United Nations Undersecretary Ralph Bunche will return to the UNC campus Tuesday night to speak on the general state of world affairs. His speech at 8 in Memorial Hall is being sponsored by the Carolina Forum.

Bunche spoke here in 1956 in connection with the Symposium. His speech then was on colonialism, and he then stressed the close relationship of colonialism and race relations.

He then stated that on a tour of India, there were three questions that were asked him most frequently. The first was about Kashmir (a disputed province on the India-Pakistan border), and second and third were questions on colonialism and race relations.

Nobel Prize Winner

In his address Tuesday night, Bunche is expected to stress the problems of Africa and the Congo, and what the UN is trying to do about these problems.

He has served the UN since 1946 and has won a Nobel Prize for his efforts to promote harmony among nations.

Bunche served as mediator for the UN in the Palestine dispute and directed the negotiations which resulted in the four armistice Agreements between Israel and the Arab states.

In 1956 he organized and supervised the UN Emergency Force during the Suez crisis. He also organized United Nations operations in the Congo.

A UN Founder

Prior to his joining the United Nations, Bunche was with the State Department and was a delegate to many of the formative conferences of the UN.

He holds a Ph.D. degree from Harvard and resigned as a professor there in 1950, after organizing the Political Science Department.

In addition to the Nobel Prize, Bunche has been the recipient of several other honorary degrees and awards including Phi Beta Kappa and the Four Freedoms Award.

Following the inauguration, the Thirty-third Legislative Assembly will convene to hear President Allen's inauguration address.

Aycock Dormitory Closed One Week

The Interdormitory Council has officially closed the social room of Aycock Dormitory as a result of the abuse it received last week-end.

"This thing has been blown up completely out of proportion," said Bruce Welch, the new IDC president. "We've decided to close the social room in order to pressure the majority of residents in Aycock into influencing the few who don't appreciate their social room privileges."

According to IDC Court Chairman John Gould, the room will remain closed until April 15. Gould said, "If any further mistreatment of social room privileges occur the room will be closed for the remainder of the semester."

"The IDC," he continued, "will take the same action against any dorm which misuses the social room privilege. The privilege will be suspended for as long as the Council feels necessary."

Movieland Gives Oscars Monday

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
(UPI Hollywood Correspondent)
SANTA MONICA, Calif.—Movieland's top stars share the spotlight with Oscar Monday night at the 34th annual Academy Awards ceremony.

A crowd of 2,500 will attend the ceremonies in Santa Monica civic auditorium. Several thousand on-lookers are expected to line sidewalks and streets outside the auditorium hoping to catch a glimpse of their favorite star.

But the main Oscar audience is the millions of fans who will watch the show on television and read about it in the newspapers.

Bob Hope is master of ceremonies for the ABC-TV show scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. (PST), 10:30 p.m. (EST).

Honorary Awards
More than 25 Oscars and five honorary awards will be given out by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences to actors, actresses, directors, producers, writers and other industry members.

The award for best actress will be presented by Burt Lancaster. Contending for the award is Audrey Hepburn, "Breakfast at Tiffany's," Piper Laurie, "The Hustler," Sophia Loren, "Two Women," Geraldine Page, "Summer and Smoke," and Natalie Wood, "Splendor in the Grass."

Last year Elizabeth Taylor won this award for her role in "Butterfield 8." Miss Taylor's victory, following her serious illness, gave the 1961 awards ceremony real life drama. Joan Crawford, an Oscar winner for "Mildred Pierce" in 1945, bestows the best actor accolade on one of five nominees, including Charles Boyer, "Fanny," Paul Newman, "The Hustler," Maximilian Schell, "Judgment at Nuremberg," Spencer Tracy, "Judgment at Nuremberg," and Stuart Whitman, "The Mark." Lancaster won this honor last year for "Elmer Gantry."

Fred Astaire opens the secret envelope which contains the top motion picture award. Contenders are "Fanny," "The Guns of Navarone," "The Hustler," "Judgment at Nuremberg" and "West Side Story." In 1961 "The Apartment" won.

Nominees for best supporting actress are Fay Bainter, "The Children Hour," Judy Garland, "Judgment at Nuremberg," Lotte Lenya, "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone," Una Merkel, "Summer and Smoke" and Rita Moreno, "West Side Story." $300 Is Due From Unpaid Pledges

The 1962 Campus Chest Drive netted more than $5,000 through solicitations and special projects in this spring's campaign, co-chairmen Charlie Shelton and Jeanie MacDougall announced yesterday.

This figure includes $4,710.94 which is already in the bank and more than $300 in accounts receivable (money pledged to the Campus Chest but not yet paid). Those persons who have pledged money but have not yet paid will be contacted during the first part of next week, starting Monday.

Approximately $850 was raised by the Campus Chest Carnival, about $600 was raised by the auction and more than $3,500 was solicited from the students. The Carolina Women's Council raised $135 by shining shoes in Y-Court.

Funds raised through this year's solicitations drive more than doubled the amount raised by last year's drive.

Money Used

The money will be distributed in the following manner: $1,000 will go to the Mental Health Clinic for children at Butner, N. C.; $753 will go to the Tours Scholarship Fund and the remainder of the money will be distributed as equitably as possible between the American Friends Service, the World University Service and to Dr. Thomas Gibson at Memorial Hospital to further his research on an improved electrocardiogram for hospital and space-astonaut use.

In the drawing for "door prizes" given at the carnival, Walter Delinger won a Madras sport coat from Milton's, James Gerardi won two steak dinners at the Ranch House and Tim Burnett won five 20-minute backrubs from senior physical therapists at Whitehead Dorm. All students who contributed a dollar to the Campus Chest were eligible for the drawing.

Possible Suit

Shelton also said that the Campus Chest Committee has employed a Charlotte attorney to investigate the possibility of bringing suit against Ross Manning Shows. Shelton said that Manning failed to fulfill a contract with the Campus Chest signed on February 23 in which he agreed to provide five carnival rides for the Campus Carnival on March 17.

Shelton estimated that the Campus Chest lost about $500 when the rides were not provided. The Campus Chest was to receive 15% of the gross intake from the rides.

Campus Carrier Radio Returns To Air Tonight

After several months of engineering difficulties, WUNC-FM will return to its 91.5 spot on the radio dial tonight. Broadcasting from six until 11 each night the operation will also include the resumption of the campus carrier line, 645 on the AM dial.

The engineering difficulties were repaired under the supervision of Mac Preslar, director of operations for the Communication Center. Operating again at 50,000 watts, WUNC-FM should reach all persons within 100 miles of Chapel Hill.

Featured Programs

Among WUNC programs which have received special commendation in the past are "Masterwork," two hours of the world's finest classical music; "World of the Mind," a program of essays which are read and then analyzed by UNC professors; "Some Come to Sing," with UNC folk singer Dan Brock; "Carolina Roundtable," a panel discussion of important issues facing this area; "Project 60," a series of programs on a variety of subjects prepared by WBT in Charlotte; and "Let's Listen to Opera," the presentation of full-length operas with commentary by Norman Cordon. On the carrier current side of the program schedule, Martin Rieck hosts a program each Sunday evening from 10-12 midnight entitled "Nightbeat." Martin calls this show a "fantasmagoria of radio entertainment." The program includes everything from jazz to contests with free meals at Byron's as prizes. "Nightbeat" has the distinction of being the one program which weathered the past engineering difficulties and remained on the air.

"Quality Programming"
Under the leadership of station manager Reno Bailey, WUNC hopes to bring its listeners the finest in radio programming. "We have the quality programming," said Manager Bailey, "our task now is to make all FM listeners in our area WUNC listeners."

Any students who have interest in any phase of the radio operation, whether it be copy, announcing, engineering, art work, news, are encouraged to stop by the WUNC offices in the basement of Swain Hall.
