Quarterly Plans First Workshop For New Writers

The Carolina Quarterly will hold its first fiction workshop of the year this evening at 7:30 in the Quarterly office at Graham Memorial. All fiction staff members and students from around the campus who have original manuscripts they would like to read and submit for criticism are strongly urged to attend.

"Short stories, impressions, character sketches, descriptions, diary excerpts, any kind of prose work at all will do for the readings," said Editor Louis Bourne. Bourne said that the purpose of workshop is to provide campus writers with a sample reaction to their work in order that they may reevaluate and polish it into publishable form. "The meetings have proved to be quite valuable in the past," he said, "since several manuscripts, first read at the workshops, were later printed in the Quarterly."

"The meetings are always informal. We all gather together and listen silently to some fellow who had screwed up enough courage to read his writings to a group. After he is through, people start coming up with remarks about the story and pretty soon we've got a nice body of criticism going which we hope is of some value to the reader. Of course reading prose doesn't have quite the same value as reading poetry, but it is a nice way to get a large number of reactions quickly."

Barnett Seeking Grounds To Expel James Meredith

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — A state college board official confirmed Friday that Gov. Ross Barnett has been exploring possible grounds on which Negro James Meredith could be expelled from the University of Mississippi.

Tom Tubbs, chairman of the board, said the governor had phoned to ask what action the board could take if a psychiatrist should declare Meredith "mentally incompetent."

Tubbs said that while the governor had not specifically asked the board to expel Meredith, the purpose of his call was to discuss ways the Negro could be "removed from the school."

The school board official said he informed Barnett it was not the function of the board to handle expulsions and that any such action would have to originate with the university. Tubbs said the board wouldn't expel Meredith under any circumstances.

However, Tubbs noted that the board is scheduled to hold its regular monthly meeting next Thursday in Jackson.

He said Barnett could appear before the board at that time and "make any request he wants." The maneuvering recalled the case of Autherine Lucy, a Negro girl who fought a successful court battle and finally was admitted to the University of Alabama. She weathered the riots that marked her entrance to the school, but was finally expelled on grounds she had unjustly criticized school officials.

Meredith, meanwhile, was winding up his second full week of classes at the school. He was expected to leave the campus again this weekend and travel to Jackson, where his wife attends the Jackson State College for Negroes.

The campus, scene of a bloody riot when Meredith first arrived at the school, has been relatively quiet since then, although Meredith still is the target of occasional taunts and jeers.

Undefeated Maryland turned loose a brilliant backfield combination here yesterday and sent North Carolina reeling on its collective tar heels, 31-13.

Terrapin quarterback Dick Shiner, a legitimate candidate for All-American honors this year, proved he is the class signal-caller of the ACC as he did excessive damage both in the air (his specialty) and on the ground.

The six foot, 195-pound junior from Lebanon, Pa., passed for two touchdowns, ran for another and seemed in complete control of the situation at all times. Shiner completed 14 of 17 passes for 175 yards.

His partner in mischief, Tom Brown, also was impressive. Brown, called by Terp coach Tom Nugent, the best defensive half-back in the country, caught seven passes, six from Shiner for 89 yards and one from Carolina's Garry Black which Brown ran back 13 yards in the waning minutes of the game.

Maryland's John Hannigan kicked off in hot 85-degree temperature but Carolina could get nowhere in its first set of plays.

Terps March 56 Yards
The Terps then took the ball on their own 44 and marched 56 yards in nine plays with Shiner circling right end for the TD. In the drive, Shiner passed twice to Brown for 15 and 13-yard gains.

Hannigan kicked the first of his four extra points for a 7-0 lead.

After the ensuing kickoff, Carolina got a first down on its own 37. Here, quarterback Black called on Eason and the sophomore tore off four yards. But two straight Black passes fell incomplete and the Tar Heels were forced to punt.

Wally Dunham kicked 31 yards but the magnificent Brown returned the punt 32 yards and Maryland was again on the move.

Shiner Stars Again
Carolina stopped the Terps momentarily but with third and 17 at the UNC 49 Shiner was equal to the occasion. The blond pitcher threw a 17-yard aerial to Tom Rae and the first down was made by inches at the 32.

From there, a Shiner sneak gained eight and Brown ran tackle for three. At this point, the Shiner-Brown brilliance came into sharp focus. The quarterback faded back and threw on up-the-middle pass, which Brown, cutting in from the sideline, took right out of the UNC defender Roger Smith's hands at the goal line.

The picture play covered 21 yards and with 2:55 yet to play in the first quarter, it looked like a rout was on.

But swift little Ronnie Jackson returned the kickoff 23 yards to the Carolina 26, and this play started a drive which put the 'Heels back in the game.

Carolina Comes Back
After a penalty which set Carolina back on its own 18, "Blue" quarterback Junior Edge brought the victory-hungry Kenan Stadium crowd to its feet with a 39-yard (Continued On Page 3)

HOMECOMING QUEEN — Dianne Monroe, a sophomore from Rockingham, was crowned Homecoming Queen during halftime ceremonies at yesterday's game. She was sponsored by West Cobb. Dianne was chosen from six other finalists, all of whom were picked Thursday. Students Publish Article On Tacitus

An article written jointly by a UNC Latin professor and students in his Tacitus seminar has been published in "Latomus," a Belgian journal of Latin Studies.

This was the second article published by Professor Walter Allen, Jr. and his seminar. In October, 1961, they published an article, concerned with aspects of Tacitus' "Annals," in the UNC journal, "Studies in Philology."

The class and Allen will have another article in the next issue of "Numen," the international review for the history of religions, published in the Netherlands.

The article to be published in "Latomus" concerns the circumstances of two banquets described in the "Annals." Both banquets were attended by the Emperor Tiberius and members of the royal family who plotted murdering him.

The students participating in the Tacitus seminar are: Robert J. Barnett, Jr., Mary D. Beaty, Baerbel Becker, Frederick Behrends, W. F. Boggess, Theodore Crane, Jr., Kathleen Ann Dempsey, L. E. Garrido, R. R. Harris, Vivian Holliday, Richard G. Jensen, William C. Kurth, M. A. Robbins and H. W. Taylor, Jr.

Pollitt Praised By Labor Board

The chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, Frank W. McCulloch, in a letter to the Dean of the UNC Law School, has expressed his gratitude for the services of a Law School faculty member who has been one year's loan to them.

Professor Daniel H. Pollitt was lauded by the National Labor Relations Board for his "immense help in connection with the investigation of the Board by a House Committee, the Senate hearings on our proposed Reorganization Plan, the evaluation and revision of the Board's own internal rules and procedures, analyses of a number of key legal issues, and of the adequacy of the Board's remedies, important inter-agency negotiations and the renewal of a practical and vita research program."

CHORAL CLUB

Monday, October 15, will mark the third rehearsal of the Chapel Hill Choral Club's 42nd year. The Club is in preparation for its annual Christmas Concert, set for December 18th. The program will feature Vaughan Williams' "Fantasia on Christmas Carols", a flight collection of some lesser known English carols, Britten's "Festival Te Deum", a beautiful work by the contemporary British composer, and Vivaldi's "Gloria", a difficult work not performed in Chapel Hill in many years.

The Chorus will be accompanied by a chamber orchestra. This 75 voice oratorio society is composed of staff members, townspeople, and students. The club rehearses once a week on Monday night from 7:30 to 9:00 in Hill Hall. Tryouts are not required.

Infirmary

The following people were in the infirmary Saturday:
Gail Gray Murdock, Roy Frank Lowry, John Cornelison Morrissey, Richard Henderson Goodwin, Ray Vestal George, James Leslie Ray, Barry Osten Centini.

Peace Corps Panel To Give Program In Carroll Tonight

Representatives from the Peace Corps training group on campus will participate in a program sponsored by the Student Party and the YMCA tonight at 8 in Carroll Hall.

Four Peace Corps students will answer questions posed by a panel of UNC students and from the floor. These representatives are part of a group of thirty-eight college graduates who have been in training here since September 5 for work at the University of the East in Venezuela. The training program has been coordinated by Dr. Federico Gil, chairman of the Institute of Latin American Studies here.

The Corpsmen schedule includes intensive language study, physical training, and courses in Venezuelan culture, and American government.

The Peace Corps trainees will leave for Puerto Rico on Nov. 17 for future training.

Plans To Seek Out Scholars Outlined

New plans for "identifying" and encouraging top scholars here were disclosed today following the annual welcome meeting to 50 freshmen in the University's Honor Program for selected first-year students.

Distinguished Alumni Professor Alfred G. Engstrom announced continuing efforts in this year in the Honor Program, not only for the Honors Freshmen—a group of 50 students selected for their high promise in scholarship—but those in sophomore, junior and senior classes in the University. He is the present chairman of the Faculty Council on Honors.

The plans are:

1. Prof. George S. Welsh, authority on "personality" in the Department of Psychology, is organizing further efforts to "identify and encourage capable undergraduates whose interests might lead them into graduate work." Finding these students early in the academic careers would serve to give the students helpful direction sooner than has been practical heretofore.

2. The Faculty Honors Council will seek constantly to identify new members for the program during the freshman and sophomore year while the students are in the General College.

3. Gifted students in the sophomore and freshman classes who are

YACK PICTURES

Yack pictures Monday and Tuesday will be made of sophomores and pharmacy students. Late pictures will also be made of juniors, nurses, general nursing students, and physical therapy students. A fee of $1 will be charged for late pictures.

CORRECTION: Monett Powers, one of the finalists in the Homecoming Queen beauty contest, was incorrectly identified as a candidate of West Cobb dorm. Miss Powers was sponsored by Alpha Delta Pi sorority.
