U. S. Promises Aid To India Against Reds

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru Monday asked for and was promised immediate U. S. military aid to fight Chinese Communists in the undeclared border war in which more than 5,000 Indians and Chinese have been reported killed or missing in action. The U. S. embassy said Nehru in a conference with Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith asked for infantry weapons which could be brought in by American airlift by the end of the week from such U. S. supply points as Japan, Okinawa or Thailand.

Thant To Observe Base Dismantling

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Acting Secretary General Thant held a final round of negotiations Monday preparatory to a quick trip to Havana to arrange for U.N. observation of the dismantling of Soviet missile bases in Cuba.

Although Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev informed President Kennedy Sunday that he had ordered the bases dismantled and shipped back to Russia, U. S. spokesmen here and in Washington had no word that work on their removal had begun.

Until "effective inspection" of the dismantling of the Soviet war bases is arranged, U. S. warships blockading Cuba will remain "on station," the Defense Department said. Aerial surveillance of the island was reported at a temporary standstill.

President Kennedy ordered Gen. Lauris Norstad, due for retirement on Wednesday, to remain in his post as supreme allied commander of NATO forces in Europe for another 90 days because of the crisis.

Kennedy, Council Meet

The President met with members of the National Security Council, which has been a daily occurrence since the crisis developed last Monday, and conferred with Adm. George M. Anderson, chief of naval operations, and Gen. David Shoup, Marine corps commandant whose forces would most likely have been called into action if the United States had decided on military measures to end the threat from the Cuban bases.

It was stated authoritatively in Washington that U. S. military action was perilously close when Khrushchev announced his decision to remove the bases.

The White House and the State Department studiously ignored Castro's demand that the United States get out of its great naval base at Guantanamo Bay. There was no indication that the demand had been filed formally here.

Committee Named

Kennedy appointed a three-man coordinating committee to handle developments involved in "the conclusion of the Cuban crisis" and to negotiate for "effective" U.N.

Indian Troops Killed

An Indian Defense Department spokesman announced Monday that India had lost up to 2,500 troops killed or missing in action during the past 10 days. He said the Chinese losses were "much heavier." The figures did not include the thousands of wounded.

The spokesman said the heaviest fighting was in the Ladakh area, north of Kashmir and at the extreme western end of the border, where the Indians appeared to have lost all of the southern tip of Ladakh on both sides of the Indus River.

The Chinese exerted "considerable pressure" with fresh troops, according to the spokesman and the Indians were forced to withdraw from Damchok and Jara La. Jara La is a pass leading into Himachal Pradesh and is eight miles northeast of Damchok in the upper Indus River valley.

Kennedy Sends Letter

The Indian militia there fought with such commendable courage and determination the units have been accorded regular army status. They will be known as "Ladakh Scouts" with the same pay as the regular army, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for the foreign affairs ministry said Galbraith had called on Nehru and delivered a letter from President Kennedy extending U. S. "sympathy and support in the crisis facing India."

The Kennedy message was in response to one Nehru sent Saturday explaining "the serious situation created by the Chinese aggression on India which took the form of a massive attack on our defense forces and which could only have been made after careful preparations."

Legislative Interviews Set Today

Interviews are being conducted for State Student Legislation today and tomorrow between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 in room 2 of Roland Parker in Graham Memorial.

A selections board composed of Beth Walker, Dave Williams, John Ulfelder and Scott Summers is interviewing students for a delegation to meet in Raleigh Nov. 29, Dec. 1.

Delegates from throughout the state will meet to discuss matters of student importance. Summers said, "The legislature affords an excellent opportunity for the student to participate in open discussion with other students. In addition, the student will come in contact with parliamentary forms and procedure." The legislature will be conducted the same as the N. C. State Legislature.

Guest speakers are to include Gov. Terry Sanford, and David Sincendivers, proposed director of the Voice of America Station to be opened soon in Greenville, N. C. Also, prominent state and National political figures will attend the banquet to be held Friday night.

Housing and transportation will be provided for official delegates and alternates. Summers said, "We would like to urge all interested students to come by and be interviewed for selection as a delegate to SSL."

New Left To Form Seminar On Disarming

Pat Cusick, a member of the Executive Committee of the New Left Club, announced the formation of a weekly seminar on disarmament to be held every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The committee, according to Cusick, has a two-fold purpose: to discuss the thinking of a man in the atomic age in relation to thermo-nuclear warfare, and to examine the means which individuals may use to bring about disarmament.

In explaining the goals of the seminar, Cusick quoted the late Albert Einstein, who said, "With the advent of atomic energy a new dimension has entered warfare—everything has changed except our thinking. If mankind is to survive, our thinking must also change."

"Our primary aim," said Cusick, "is to examine our thinking in relation to this new dimension." Cusick said that the meeting will be open, but that he would like to extend a special invitation to all those who are opposed to "brinkmanship" and nuclear warfare, or to anyone who has not committed himself to one side or the other.

"Actually," said Cusick, "the person who does not commit himself is directly supporting the actions of those who are leading us to inevitable destruction."

The first meeting of the disarmament seminar will be sponsored by the New Left Club tonight in Roland Parker 3, Graham Memorial, at 7:30.

Adenauer Said Cautious On Cuban Deal

BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, meeting with his cabinet in extraordinary sessions, was reported to have adopted an attitude of extreme caution Monday toward the Soviet announcement it will withdraw missile bases from Cuba.

A spokesman said Adenauer also may comply with President Kennedy's request that West Germany increase its planned defense expenditure. Possible repercussions in Berlin from the Cuban crisis was stated as the reason for Adenauer's reconsideration.

The spokesman said Adenauer is willing to discuss the subject in detail when he goes to Washington Nov. 7 to see Kennedy. The sources said Kennedy has told Adenauer he sees no reason for postponing the trip to Washington. Adenauer and his government also were reported to have taken the stand that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev cannot expect western concessions at any negotiations because of his Cuban decision.

Government spokesman Karl Guenther von Hase said, "The Cuban affair certainly is not concluded and there is still cause for concern."

"There has been a change in the situation which could lead to possible improvement," Hase said. He refused to be more optimistic.

Hase said the cabinet empowered defense minister Franz-Josef Strauss to take a series of measures to increase defense readiness. He declined to elaborate. Hase then delivered what amounted to a clear warning to Khrushchev not to expect any Western concessions.

"If one party withdraws from an illegally developed position, that party cannot expect to see that honored as a prior concession in the next round of talks," Hase said.

Mayes Speaks Tonight On Church, Negroes

Dr. Benjamin Mayes, president of Morehead College in Atlanta, Ga., will speak on "The Southern Church and the Changing Status of Negroes" tonight at 8:00 in Gerard Hall.

He is recognized as a spokesman and leader in applying Christian principles to problems of human relations, and has written a book entitled "The Christian Way and Racial Relations."

Last night D. Mayes spoke on the changing status of Southern Negroes. The lectures are being sponsored by the Binkley Baptist Church, for the interest of the community.

Student Legislature Votes Tonight On Open Trials In Special Session

By HARRY DeLUNG

"Open" trials legislation will be considered by Student Legislature in a special session tonight.

Dave Williams (SP) has said that he will oppose allowing anyone to speak on the bill who is not a member of the body. He sighted the large amount of time spent last Thursday by the chairmen of the men's and women's councils, Walt Dellinger and Bev Haynes, and others who "should have expressed themselves at the committee meetings." Williams said that the legislators could present the issues adequately themselves at tonight's session.

The bill, which provides for campus approval of a constitutional amendment, is an amended version of one introduced over two weeks ago by Charles Cooper for Bill Hobbs and Walt Dellinger. If passed, the campus will decide in late elections if they want all honor council trials "open," except when the defendant objects. The bill originally provided for all trials to be "open" except when an appeals board approved a dependant's objection. In the present version, there is no appeals board, and the defendant would have the final decision. "Open" trials means that two reporters from the DTH would be present, and would report the trial without using the names of any defendants or witnesses.

A proposed amendment to the bill giving the campus four alternatives concerning open trials was defeated by legislature's judicial committee yesterday. Rufus Edmisten (SP) explained that by such a change, all students could determine to what extent they wanted the trials to be open.

The committee reported the bill out favorably, and in substantially the same form in which it was referred back to the committee at last Thursday's session. Minor stylistic changes were made by Arthur Hays (SP).

Y Forms Committee For Artist Study

Gil Stallings, YMCA President, and Mike Lawler, Vice-president of the Student Body, announced yesterday the formation of a "Y" committee to investigate the feasibility of obtaining an artist in residence for the University.

The formation of the committee, according to Lawler, is the result of interest shown by students he met in his campaign last spring and a resolution passed by the Student Legislature on September 27.

The committee is attempting to determine whether the English Department of the University and the administration will give its support to the program, and how people in those departments feel about the idea of having an artist-in-residence.

Stallings said that the committee has drawn up a preliminary list of writers who might be available to teach at least one course a semester for undergraduates. Three writers mentioned were Flannery O'Connor, James Baldwin, and William Styron.

"The program," said Stallings, "will probably start as a one year experiment and may be paid for by the students and Student Government." At present, according to Stallings, there is no established way to finance the artist-in-residence experiment.

Lawler also said that he had spoken to Dr. Cotton in the English Department about the program. Cotton said that several members of the department have been interested in such a program, but finances and student initiative have been lacking before now.

Stallings said that he also wished to stress the importance of student participation in the program. "Anyone interested in working on the committee should contact me through the YMCA," he said.

Salaries Of UNC Grads Show Rise

The job placement picture for graduates of the University has been "quite favorable" over the past year — and "salaries have continued to climb," according to Joe M. Galloway, director of the University's Placement Service.

"Salaries for beginning jobs, both in and out of the state, show a considerable increase over those of 1961," he said. His report covers the period October 1961 through September 1962.

He pointed out, however, that last year was one of "uncertainty and indecision on part of the student." This, he believes, is because the senior class last year was smaller and also because more men were subject to earlier military duty than in recent years.

Nevertheless, more company representatives than ever before came to the UNC campus to conduct student interviews. A total of 420 company visits were scheduled for the period.

"The Placement Service has a wide range of employers visiting the campus in search of men and women with potential," Mr. Galloway said.

"These recruiters represent the gamut from large industrial organizations (like G. E.) to governmental representatives (from national, state, and local governments) to non-profit, social organizations, such as the Boy Scouts of America."

Companies sending representatives included: Proctor and Gamble, General Electric, Westinghouse, IBM, Eastman Corporation, Burlington Industries, Chemstrand, Carolina Power and Light, J. B. Ivey and Co., and Wachovia Bank and Trust—to name a few.

But students were "more selective in their interviews" and an increasing number weighed carefully "the possibilities of taking graduate work instead of a job."

According to Mr. Galloway's report, the median monthly salary for men landing jobs in North Carolina was $415—while those employed outside the state received $455. The median salary for men (irrespective of job location) was $365.

The above figures are for 1962 BA and BS men graduates and returning veterans who took beginning jobs in business, industry and government.

Graduates with master degrees in business administration received monthly salaries ranging from $450 to $700, while the median was $565.

For 1962 women graduates, the lowest salary reported was $236 per month, the highest, $530. The median salary was $320. The median salary for men and women graduates and graduate students who became high school or prep school teachers was $414; college instructors, $547; and assistant professors, $566. In the teaching field, 21 North Carolina residents took jobs out of the state, while 18 chose jobs out of state. In non-teaching fields, 102 state residents took jobs within North Carolina, while 58 found jobs outside the state.

Coenen Gets Honors From German Dept.

Thirty-two years a teacher, ten years an editor.

That describes a University faculty member whose work is believed to have advanced the cause of Germanic languages not only at the University here but everywhere.

Dr. Frederic E. Coenen was this week lauded for his achievements as editor of the "University of North Carolina Studies in the Germanic Languages and Literature." For ten years Dr. Coenen has had editorship of the series regarded as one of national and international significance in its field.

At a testimonial dinner held last Friday at the University, Kenan Professor John G. Kunstmann, chairman of the UNC Department of Germanic Languages, cited Dr. Coenen for his success as editor of the series.

As editor, Dr. Kunstmann said, Dr. Coenen "has developed a system of advertising and selling the Series which is the envy of commercial publishers and University Presses. Through his work he has made known the name and extended the usefulness and the prestige of the Department of Germanic Languages and of the University of North Carolina here and abroad."

The series of publications, 32 of which have been published during the editorship of Dr. Coenen was established in 1949. It publishes critical monographs on problems of literary history and translations of German texts not otherwise available.

The University professor spends an average of 20 to 25 hours each week in reading manuscripts to be considered for publication. In addition he teaches a full load of courses.

Members of the editorial board of the department series who particularly cited the editor-teacher were Prof. Kunstmann, Kenan Professor Werner P. Frederick, Kenan Professor George S. Lane, and Professor Herbert W. Reichert.

Statement Made On Late Permission

Should any campus organization wish to request late permission for University coeds who may be in attendance at a function sponsored by that organization the president or head of such organization is asked to contact personally either Diane Blanton, Chairman of Women's Residence Council (Chi Omega House, Tel. 968-9005), or Mrs. J. M. Alexander, Assistant to the Dean of Women (202 South Building, Tel. 942-3562). Such requests for coed late permission should be made AT LEAST FIVE DAYS IN ADVANCE, so as to provide an adequate amount of time for clearance and for the issuing of the information to the women's dormitories and sorority houses. Sufficient reason for request of such permission must be presented.

The Women's Residence Council emphasizes that such requests from campus organizations will normally be granted only if this procedure is followed. Late permission given will not exceed one hour, according to the Women's Residence Council.
