Soph Candidates Offer Statements

KIPPY CARTER, SP
For Soph Vice-President

As the Student Party nominee for Vice-President of the Sophomore class, there are several goals which I would like to see obtained if elected.

The first of these is urging the continuation of the Sophomore of the Month Award and second, the continued recognition of outstanding teachers on the sophomore level.

In addition to these academic goals are some social goals with which proper coordination may benefit the class financially as well as socially. There would be such things as the combo parties, sales and cake bakes started last year.

These practical grass-root goals will insure our class of being unified and solvent two years from now.

During the past year I served on the Campus Chest Solicitations Committee, the Publications Board, as an orientation counselor, and as a Legislative member from Dorm Men's II. I feel that this experience has qualified me as a candidate for Sophomore Class Vice-President.

PUD HASSELL
For Soph VP

In seeking the office of Vice-President of the Sophomore Class I find the job to hold two main responsibilities. The first is to help the President carry out the University Party platform by coordinating the various committees and carrying out the policies that he sets. The second is to encourage the class to participate fully in the programs that we will be carrying out. Our platform depends on active participation and active leadership. I, and those running with me, will give the leadership and will seek out the participation.

I believe my participation in Student Government here and my enthusiasm for our platform show my sincere desire to be Sophomore Class Vice-President. The University Party candidates have very definite plans for the coming year and they have the experience to carry them out. I hope that the members of our class will study our plans and our candidates and then will vote UP next Tuesday.

PAUL CHUSED, SP
For Soph Treasurer

With the SP and UP Campaigns in full swing, many ideas have been brought out. I feel there are several points I would like to enumerate again.

Last year, under a predominately SP slate of officers, our class had a very successful financial year. By many projects under the leadership of our cabinets and its committees, on which I played an active part, we raised $190. As decided last year, $100 was put away for a scholarship fund. I also plan this year, if I am elected, to put the first $100 we make in this fund.

At the present time I am on the Student Credit Commission, which is the main connecting link between the Merchant's Association and the UNC students. I feel that in my capacity on this Commission, I will have many inroads into setting up merchant-class sales and, most of all, setting up a student discount store.

Furthermore, in my plans for the coming year, I hope to see a Sophomore Weekend in the spring. This would consist of a picnic at Hogan's Lake, a concert, and a combo party on Saturday night.

Regardless of whether I win or not, I would like to serve the class and see these forementioned ideas fulfilled. I hope that on Nov. 6, you will look at my past service and initiative, and elect me to serve you in the capacity as Treasurer of the Sophomore Class. Thank you.

JOHN SCHULZ, UP
For Soph. Treasurer

In line with its all out effort to provide more opportunity in student government for dormitory residents, the University Party has selected the president of Manly Dormitory, John Schultz, to run for the office of sophomore class treasurer. John has displayed a keen interest and enthusiasm for service both in high school and at UNC. A National Honor Society member, Atlanta Journal Cup winner, American Legion Award winner, and possessor of other honors, John very definitely has the capability and the qualifications to insure the use of the office of treasurer not only as a financial recorder, but in service to the sophomore class as a whole.

To quote his words, "I am not going to make any absurd and unrealistic promises or predictions in an attempt to dazzle or more likely baffle the voters who are already overly bombarded with campaign propaganda. I do feel that a great deal can be accomplished with the residual funds we have to work with and with the active participation of all of those interested. I would sincerely like to serve the sophomore class in the capacity of treasurer."

JOHNSYVE MASSENBURG, UP
For Soph. Secretary

In light of the coming election, I would like to present the Sophomore class with my purpose in being a candidate for Secretary. Having served as Freshman Class Secretary, I feel that my experience would be most important in carrying out the projects I deem (Continued on Page 3)

Morehead Is Best Known For Gifts

By BOB SPEARMAN

(Editor's Note: Nov. 3 is Morehead Day. This is one in a series of articles on Mr. Morehead, and his contributions to the Carolina campus and student body).

The gifts of John Motley Morehead to the Carolina campus are many and well-known. In 1931 he donated the Morehead-Patterson Bell Tower and Chimes. In 1949 he gave funds to set up the only planetarium on an American college campus. In 1956 he donated the Morehead Sundial and rose garden. Mr. Morehead also made a substantial contribution to establish WUNC, Carolina's educational television station.

But perhaps his most important gift was the Morehead Scholarships, which were set up in their present form in 1951. These scholarships are worth $5,100 over four years of college and are second in value only to the famous Rhodes scholarships.

Mr. Morehead's purpose in starting them was to attract outstanding students and leaders to Carolina. They are not primarily designed to help needy students, but rather to help Carolina. They are awarded solely on a basis of merit.

How well have these scholarships succeeded in their purpose? According to the records of the Morehead scholars, they have succeeded very well indeed.

Scholarships to the Morehead Scholars have been outstanding. Last year 13 were members of Phi Eta Sigma and 15 were in Phi Beta Kappa.

Many Moreheads have held positions of student leadership. Last year 18 were presidents of different campus organizations. One was president of the student body, another chairman of the Men's Honor Council and another was Attorney-General. The chairmen of both political parties were Moreheads.

They were also active on the athletic fields. Twenty-two were in the Monogram Club and ten won freshman numerals.

But statistics do not tell the whole story of the Morehead scholarships. The contribution which the scholars have made to campus life is a large one, but much of the value to Carolina lies in heightened reputation and prestige.

Before the Morehead Scholarships were started, it was very unusual for Carolina to attract outstanding Northern students away from the Ivy League schools. Now it is almost commonplace for many of the North's best to choose Carolina for college.

CAMPUS TOURS
Campus Tours of UNC are conducted daily from the Information Desk, South Building, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and at 10 and 11 a.m. on Saturdays.

MIKE HARRINGTON, socialist newspaper editor and lecturer, as he spoke in Carroll Hall Thursday night on the subject of Poverty in America. Presented by the Carolina forum, Harrington said that, "This society could in many ways turn out to be the cruelest society man has ever known," in the way it deals with the problem of poverty.

Voting Districts Won't Be Changed

The Student Legislature Thursday night passed a bill to reinstate the present judicial districts until the spring elections. If changes are made in the districts, there will now be time to make them well in advance of the election.

Charles Cooper (SP), Chairman of the Judicial Committee, introduced the bill Oct. 30. Mike Lawler (SP), Legislature Chairman, gave up his chair to speak for the bill.

A bill was also passed to appropriate $70 for 2 delegates to attend the Commencement Conference at the University of Pennsylvania, Nov. 9-10.

The purpose of this conference is to present an educational and interdisciplinary approach to the vital issues which confront the United States today.

Three bills were introduced Thursday night involving more than $5,500. Gordon Appell (SP), introduced a bill to appropriate $4,650 to purchase a Student Government bus. According to the bill the bus would "provide bus service during the day for Ehringhaus and Craige dormitories," would provide "transportation to and from conferences and other meetings," and would be available to "fraternities, dormitories, and other campus organizations."

A bill to supplement the Yackety-Yack budget by $951.60 was introduced by Jean Yoder (UP). Mistakes of $1,246 and of $420 had been made in the Yack budget. The bill stated that the Yack staff "has done everything possible to cover the deficit, but are still considerably in the red."

Bob Spearman (UP-SP) and Scott Summers (SP) introduced a bill to establish an interclass council. This council would guide and coordinate the activities of the four class cabinets.

It would be composed of the President and one other elected officer of each class to be appointed by the class president. The President of the Senior Class would preside over the Council.

Dellinger Issues Statement On Cases Heard

Walter Dellinger, chairman of the Men's Honor Council, made a statement yesterday concerning the cases heard by the council Thursday night. According to Dellinger, the following cases came before the council.

The first case concerned a student who pled guilty to violations of both the Honor Code and the Campus Code. The student, a freshman, admitted having taken a total of six books from the Library on two separate occasions without checking them out. He also admitted to the theft of a raincoat and to fighting in his own dorm. He was suspended for the remainder of the year.

The second student to come before the council, also a freshman, admitted having taken two books from the Library without checking them out. This student voluntarily turned himself in to his resident advisor after learning that this was considered a serious violation of the Honor Code. The council placed him on definite probation for the remainder of the year.

Under a sentence of probation a student cannot belong to any campus organization or represent the University in any way. A second violation of campus law by a student on probation results in automatic suspension.

The final case to be heard involved a student who was brought before the council for alleged public drunkenness and refusing to leave the police station upon the request of an officer.

The council felt that this action cast no discredit upon the University. The arresting officer said that the boy was not boisterous, profane or disorderly. Hence the council felt the defendant did not behave ungentlemanly and accordingly found him not guilty of a Campus Code violation.

Junior Class Candidates Tell Why They Want Office

WATTS CARR, UP

for Junior Vice President

The University Party has established a very sound and workable platform for the Junior class. As Vice President, my job would be to co-ordinate this platform. Basically our platform consists of unity among the Juniors. We would like to see a Junior Class Day in the early spring, with a campus-wide address by some prominent state or national figure to be followed by a class social function, an organization of the "Junior Eggs-heads", a representative group of our most intelligent class members to form a debating team to challenge faculty and other students to debates on current events, organization of intra-class competition to raise money for charities, expansion of campus-wide Essay Contest, Campus-wide sales Downtown to raise money, combo party every month solely for our class, expansion of the teacher of the month recognition, and expansion of Class Cabinet participation.

We would appreciate your support very much, and in all our projects our aim will be class unity through wider participation. Therefore we are asking all juniors to vote UP next Tuesday.

WOODY HARRISON, SP
for Junior VP

The Student Party platform for the Junior Class offers a progressive and effective program that will benefit every member of our class. Our emphasis is a dual emphasis concentrating not on academics alone or social activity alone, but on both academics and social life. The projects which we have outlined are good projects, projects that make a contribution to our class and to the whole campus. But perhaps most important we the Student Party candidates will fulfill every single promise contained in our platform while meeting any other needs of the Junior Class that may arise.

The Vice-President of the class I feel is an extremely important position. But it is up to the individual to make it an office of effectiveness. I feel that the Vice-President must not only assist the President in class activities but must also coordinate the activities of the various class committees in order to gain the greatest value from these committees. He must be an initiator of ideas and at the same time must offer practical means of achieving these ideas. Most important he must be willing to work—I am more willing to work for a class with as much potential as our Junior Class.

Experience is another important factor in the election of class officers. I feel that my experience as Treasurer of our class last year would be extremely valuable in achieving our goals this year.

These then are a few of my ideas concerning my candidacy for Vice-President of the Junior Class. I would appreciate your consideration for the office.

BONNIE HOYLE, SP
for Jr. Class Sec'y

To me, a new student at Carolina, one of the most striking aspects of life here is the importance and emphasis placed on Student Government. Feeling that I can serve my class and participate actively in Student Government work, I am seeking the office of Secretary of the Junior Class.

I am aware of the responsibilities which this office entails, and I feel that my past experience will equip me to fill this position effectively. If I am elected, it will be my personal goal to keep all members of the class more closely in touch with the officers and the activities which they plan. I can only promise my sincere interest, and hope that you see fit to elect me your secretary.

PAM RUDY, UP
for Junior Secretary

I am the University Party candidate for Secretary of the Junior class. It is my aim to establish a better relationship between the members of the Junior Class and their officers and also to encourage Juniors to get to know their class officers so that the officers may know exactly what the class wants in the way of social functions and other activities.

As secretary, I would keep all members informed of class activities through the Daily Tar Heel and also through bulletins and notices. In addition, the class scrapbook would take on more meaning for our class as I would make an honest effort to see that all our class activities and achievements of our class would be recorded.

I believe my past record and experiences, such as last summer's when I was secretary to the Director of National Airport in Washington, would be of invaluable aid as secretary. I urge all my fellow juniors elect experience and provide leadership and vote UP on Nov. 6.

GERRY GOOD, UP
For Junior Treasurer

I feel that the office of treasurer is more than a position of finance officer; he must keep the ideas of the class cabinet going and also think of new ideas to both raise and spend money so that the class may have a surplus going into its senior year. I believe that I am well qualified for this position since I served as President of Ruffin Dormitory.

Anyone who has lived in a dormitory knows there is no harder job than keeping a dorm out of financial difficulty. At the present time my dorm has more money per capita than any other. Also I have served on the IDC and as a committee chairman have had to coordinate the efforts of several groups at times.

I have had experience working with the administration here on several occasions and think that this could be of help to me. To be of success as a class officer takes more than experience, however.

The successful officer has to have an extreme amount of energy and drive in order to handle the many facets of the job. I believe that I have these qualities and the necessary experience to fulfill the office of Junior Class Treasurer.

ANNE ESKRIDGE, SP
For Jr. Class Treasurer

Being a girl and seeking the position of Treasurer of the Junior Class, an office usually held by a boy, I, Anne Eskridge, would like to bring to your attention some aspects of this campaign I believe to be important.

I sincerely believe that some experience is necessary for this office. Therefore I think that some of my previous experience would be an asset. At W. C. I served as treasurer of the Sophomore class, executive officer of the Sophomore Commission, executive member of the Interclass Council, and as a freshman member of the Hall Board. I also helped co-ordinate Rat Day and Parents Weekend which are two of the largest yearly functions for sophomores.

At Carolina the Junior Class has sponsored in the past a successful program of activities including combo parties and awards to professors. The Junior Class Student Party candidates will undertake specific projects in the areas of academics, social life, and class spirit. I am interested in working for and with our class, and I pledge myself to the continuation of the progressive programs begun last year and the new programs set forth in our platform.

With respect to my previous experience I feel that I am capable of carrying out the duties of this office. I would not be going into this office unaware of the responsibility that it entails. Thus, I offer to you my interest and experience.

DIANE HILE, SP
For Jr. Class Social Chmn.

Proud to be the Student Party candidate for Jr. Class Social Chairman, I would like to enthusiastically support our platform for the Junior Class. As you know, it is the Social Chairman's duty to make these plans effective. The office of Social Chairman can be broken down into Journalism's five W's and the H. That is, it uses the "Who," "What," "When," "Where," "Why" and "How."

A social chairman must know "who" to see in order to carry out plans for social functions. She must know "what" to do in order to carry out both academic lectures and lost weekends. Since timing is of the essence, she must be constantly aware "When" to make plans, and "Where" to hold these many and diversified functions.

Now I come to "Why." "Why" is the reason I would like to be elected—because I'm interested and aware of the intricacies involved to make your Junior year "unforgettable."

And "How"? "How" is through your votes on November 6.

JOAN HALEY, UP
For Junior Social Chmn.

Joan Haley comes from Lookout Mountain, Tennessee. She has wanted to come to the University of North Carolina since her first weekend visit four years ago. Now that she is here, she is extremely anxious to participate in student affairs.

Joan has always been an active participant in class activities. She has held various class offices including those of secretary and president. She has served on her school's Honor Council, the staff of her school newspaper, and was art editor of her high school yearbook and has been a member of various clubs.

She has been in class plays and was head cheerleader. Upon her arrival at U.N.C., she joined Y committees, the Catholic Orphanage and International Relations. She was a member of the Homecoming Court. Joan feels that these varied activities prepare her as a qualified candidate for social chairman of the junior class, since she would be organizing varied events if she is elected to serve in that capacity.

Having attended small schools, Joan is extremely anxious to unify
