UNC Renews Grid Rivalry With Irish

By MICKEY BLACKWELL
The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame entertain UNC's Tar Heels Saturday at South Bend, Indiana. The Tar Heels, fresh from their 11-7 win over Virginia and the Irish, jubilant from their 43-22 romp over Pittsburgh, will resume their pigskin series which started in 1949.

Their last meeting was at Chapel Hill in 1960. Carolina won, 12-7. UNC head scout, Emmett Cheek, who saw the Irish defeat Pitt last Saturday said, "Notre Dame really had a great day and about everything they did turned into a TD."

Notre Dame's most outstanding player is senior quarterback Dar-yle Lamonia. Cheek observed that Lamonia "had his best day against Pittsburgh. It seemed when they couldn't make any yardage, Lamonia would drop back, pass, and they would have their first down."

Lamonia completed 20 passes out of 34 attempted last week for 243 yards. His favorite target was Jim Kelly, junior right end, who has caught more than 20 passes this year.

Sophomore Don Hogan, a right half is Notre Dame's leading ground-gainer. He has averaged more than four yards per carry.

Cheek compared Notre Dame's running game with Clemson's and its passing game with Maryland's.

Concerning his own team, UNC head football coach Jim Hickey said he was pleased with his team's improvement in the past four games. "Our defense has improved a great deal every week. Our linebackers played well against Virginia, and they are working real hard to be up for the Notre Dame game," Hickey said.

Hickey said that speedy half-back Ronnie Jackson will still not be able to play because of the hip injury he received in the Clemson game.

Cheerleaders Head Rally In Tin Can

Saturday, North Carolina travels to Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. in quest of its fourth football victory.

Since it is impossible for the student body to follow the team to this game, the Carolina cheerleaders have devised a way for the student body to stay at school, and at the same time cheer the team to that fourth victory.

RADIO-LOOP BROADCAST

Head Cheerleader Hannis Latham announced yesterday that the cheerleaders have arranged with Bell Telephone and Telegraph for a radio-loop broadcast circuit between South Bend and Chapel Hill on Saturday afternoon.

With this set-up, the cheers of the student body are going to be broadcast over a speaker system located behind the Tar Heel bench in the stadium at Notre Dame.

"In order for this to be successful, it is necessary to have a large and concentrated grouping of students here at UNC," said Latham. "We have chosen the Tin-Can as the place from which our broadcast will originate."

Latham: Real Blast

"The cheerleaders have spent a lot of time organizing this event. This is the first time anything of this type has been attempted here at Carolina. With the cooperation of everyone this could turn into a real blast," said Latham.

The cheerleader also announced that a mock football field will be set up showing the progress of the teams, first downs, yard markers and score board.

A play by play broadcast of the game will also be piped into the Tin Can.

Latham, who will accompany the team to South Bend and be in contact with the other cheerleaders here in Chapel Hill, urged support for this rally.

"The Tar Heels can beat Notre Dame but I believe that the importance of the support of the student body cannot be over-emphasized as concerned with the performance of the team. By cheering for the team at the Tin Can, we will be showing that we are supporting them."

Combo Party, Too

Lee Ferrell and The Trojans will play for dancing and listening beginning at 1:30 in the Can.

"Just being a woman and a blanket (and whatever else is necessary to have a good time)," said Latham.

"This is a chance for the entire student body to get together and do some real socializing and at the same time, help get our team on the stick. Incidentally, refreshments will be provided," Latham concluded.

Oklahoma Is Choice Over Tough Mizzou

NEW YORK (UPI) — Missouri was the only team ranked among the nation's top 10 which was not listed as a favorite Tuesday in a rundown of odds on Saturday's leading college football games.

Resurgent Oklahoma, which has ripped off four straight victories after losing two of its first three games, was rated a four-point choice over Missouri, unbeaten but tied once in eight games this year. Missouri is ranked No. 6 nationally, Oklahoma No. 16.

Of the two top contenders for the No. 1 ranking, Southern California was figured to win rather easily and Alabama was seen facing a tough fight.

The Southern Cal Trojans, rated tops in the nation by the UPI board of coaches, were favored by 16 points over Navy in one of the day's top intersectional games. Alabama, ranked No. 2, was picked by only six points over Georgia Tech in one of its toughest tests of the year.

Third-ranked Mississippi is rated 16 points over Tennessee, fourth-ranked Wisconsin 18 over Illinois; fifth-ranked Texas over Texas Christian and Northwestern No. 7 over Michigan State.

Tag Football Nearing Close

By STUART BALL

Both Mangum and Manly advanced in the Dormitory Tag-football playoffs Monday by topping Navy and Ruffin respectively. The Mangum victory took them to the quarter-finals and Manly's win assured them a berth in the finals.

Manly, holding the opposition scoreless through its first four games before Joyner finally broke the ice in the second round of the playoffs, had to fight for its life in eaking out a 13-12 win over the Ruffin Hosers.

No Runaway

The score was deadlocked 0-0 at the end of the first half and it was plain that neither team was going to run away with the game.

In the second period Lamar Reid of Ruffin broke through the Manly defense and put the Hosers ahead 6-0 as their extra point kick was no good. The Riverrats came right back, however as Russ McCormick scored a TD and Jeff Swing added what was to be the winning margin on an extra point kick.

Ruffin was not through, though, as it again caught the Manly defense off guard and Phil McKnight scored a six-pointer. With their collective back to the wall, the Riverrats drove down field and Bill Hanna pushed across the winning score with just under four minutes remaining.

The Riverrats will meet the winner of the Alexander Playboy-Mangum Maverick contest for the Dorm championship Wednesday November 14.

In the Mangum-Navy contest the Mavericks had no trouble defeating the Midshipmen as they romped to a 46-0 win. George Shelton led the scoring parade by tallying three touchdowns and extra points Charles Rhyne scored twice and Doug Pearson and P. W. Swing added one each.

The Grad Division now has its finalists by virtue of Law School III's win over Med School I. The 12-0 win by the lawyers made the finals an all Law School affair. Law School I had already clinched a birth by whipping Law II 14-7.

Grail Mural Entries

Walt Tuthill of the Intramural Department reminds all team managers to have their entries in for the Grail Mural Basketball Tournament by six p.m. today. Because of the large number of entries no incomplete or late applications will be accepted.

The All Campus Squash winner for the second year in a row is Jack Rugheimer. Jack's cousin Mac, last year's runner up also placed high among the finalists.
