Tshombe Announces Ending Of Secession

Congolese Say They'll Agree To Amnesty

ELISABETHVILLE (UPI)—President Moise Tshombe announced the end of Katanga's secession from the Congo Tuesday. He said he was surrendering his last stronghold of Kolwezi to United Nations forces.

Tshombe, in a note to the United Nations, asked for truce talks and demanded amnesty for himself and his followers. The United Nations announced that a previous Congolese government guarantee of amnesty for Tshombe still held good.

Central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula and President Joseph Kasavubu promptly sent messages to U. N. Secretary General Thant from Leopoldville pledging they would respect the amnesty given Tshombe.

Barring a sudden new change of mind by Tshombe, the swift series of developments would mean an end to the war that U. N. troops have been waging with Tshombe's forces in an effort to bring the break-away province of Katanga into the Congo's central government.

May Change Mind

But observers here noted that Tshombe had made promises in the past and broken them. Sources said that if Tshombe keeps his word this time, it would remain only for Tshombe to reach political agreement with the Central Leopoldville government—a process that could take months or longer.

In Leopoldville Tuesday, an enraged mob of more than 300 screaming Congolese burst into the British embassy, ransacked offices, smashed windows and injured an embassy official. The rioters were protesting Britain's opposition to the U. N.'s use of military force to end Katanga's secession.

First word that Tshombe had agreed to end Katanga's secession and surrender Kolwezi—the mining town he and his supporters had threatened repeatedly to blow up under a "scorched earth" policy—came from Britain's consul in Elisabethville.

The United Nations in New York confirmed that Tshombe, in a note to the Belgian consul at Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, had announced his readiness to end Katanga's secession, give the United Nations full freedom of movement throughout the province, and cooperate with Thant's plan for reunification.

Despite Tshombe's action there was no guarantee that the 2,000 Katangese soldiers guarding the Kolwezi stronghold would give it up without a fight.

Chem Group Initiates 20 Pledges

Rho Chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, National Honorary Chemistry Fraternity, recently held its fall initiation, initiating 20 pledges to boost its total membership to 47.

The fraternity, founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1902, is composed of nearly 60 collegiate and professional chapters throughout the nation. Rho was founded at UNC in 1932, and is composed of undergraduate chemistry majors and graduate students in the field of chemistry. A professional branch is now being formed in the Chapel Hill area.

Those initiated were: Everett Baucum, Byron Bowman, Walter Brown, Phil Burks, Gerald Davis, Bob Day, Henry Drott, Richard Fleming, George Fozzard, Don Kendall, John Martin, Joe Mason, Jack Reece, Roy Swearington, Alan Taylor, Charles Twine, Richard Veazy, Ralph Wisnant, Ralph White and Ron Williams.

Newly elected officers for the coming year were installed at the chapter's January 14 meeting. They are: Bill Stephenson, president; Gilbert Merritt, vice president; Gene Heudrix, secretary; Jack Reece, treasurer; David Yount, reporter; Bob Cunningham, master of ceremonies; and Bill Rice, alumni secretary.

NEW REHEARSAL HALL—This acoustically-sound rehearsal hall, in the newly completed Hill Hall Annex, will be open and ready for use Feb. 4, for the spring semester. Annex To Increase Hill Hall Capacity

A new addition to the UNC School of Music allows for an increase in enrollment plus greater facilities and equipment.

Faculty and students have already moved into the added 32,000 square feet of space even though new equipment and furniture has not arrived. By Feb. 4, the first day of classes in UNC's spring semester, the gleaming green and white interior of the new addition will be complete for use. Kenan Professor Glen Hayden is chairman of the Music Department.

The biggest feature of the addition is its large acoustically-sound rehearsal hall for band and orchestra, located on the first floor. This partly-paneled hall will also be used for music clinics such as the band and piano clinics. Facing down on the hall is a control room suitable for recording performances.

Other rooms located on the first floor of the addition include an expansion of the music library with a new listening room, which will be equipped with cassettes and tapes, a reading room, and a check-out counter. The former library area will be used as a stack area and as graduate carrels.

There are new instrument storage rooms, a band library, a repair room to be used for training purposes for those going into band directing and public school music, and offices for the band director and the assistant band director on the first floor. Professor Herbert Fred is director of the band.

The second floor houses nine faculty studies and six graduate studies, an orchestra library, a string storage room, and the office of the string teacher.

In the basement is an organ practice room housing a new Moeller practice organ which has not yet been played. There are also six teaching studios, 26 practice rooms, three ensemble rehearsal rooms, a uniform storage room and dressing room, and a bulk instrument storage room for the football band equipment.

On order for shipment are several new grand pianos and lockers for students' equipment. New electronic equipment already received is a several-hundred-dollar strobe scope, used for the visual measurement of tuning.

First Week Of Semester To Be Full

A full slate of entertainment has been scheduled for the first week of the spring semester by the Graham Memorial Activities Board.

Headlining the program will be hypnotist John Kolisch on Friday evening, February 8, and the U. S. Army Men's Chorus on Saturday evening, February 9.

Kolisch will present "The Truth about Hypnotism" at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall, in which Kolisch will explain and demonstrate the uses of hypnotism. Kolisch was born in Vienna and became interested in hypnotism while he was a student of psychology at the University of Vienna. He will attempt to show how post-hypnotic suggestion may be used in weight control, stage-fright, insomnia, or the elimination of excessive smoking, drinking, or other habits.

Kolisch is noted not only for his ability as an entertainer, but also as a competent hypnotherapist. He will draw on audience participation to demonstrate such things as self-hypnosis, mass-hypnosis and post-hypnotic suggestion. Kolisch emphasizes that all volunteers from the audience will be treated with the "utmost respect and consideration they would expect in any clinical demonstration."

A question-and-answer period will follow the program. The performance will be free to all UNC students and faculty members.

On Saturday evening, February 9, at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall, the U. S. Army Men's Chorus will perform. According to Sam Blumberg, GMAAB publicity director, the Army Men's Chorus is "considered to be as good as any chorus around." The Chorus is composed of 52 men drawn from the entire army and has a waiting list of over 1000 others.

"La Dolce Vita" will be shown Sunday afternoon and evening, February 10, under the auspices of both GMAAB and the Sunday Cinema series. Two Free Flicks are also scheduled for the weekend. "Pepe," a comedy starring the Mexican actor Cantinflas and supporting stars such as Maurice Chevalier, Ernie Kovacs, Kim Novak, Peter Lawford and Jack Lemmon, will be seen on Saturday, February 9. "Pepe" is the story of a baggy-pants bullfighter and his affection for Don Juan, his horse.

"The Egyptian," a movie with a "cast of thousands," is scheduled for Friday, February 8.

Books Missing From Library Worth $3,000

There has been a startling increase in the number of missing Modern Civilization reference books from the undergraduate library, the Student Government Attorney General's office said yesterday.

Since June, 1962, 320 books valued at some $3,000 have been reported missing.

It is a violation of the Honor Code to have possession of any books taken from the library that are not properly checked out and anyone who has access to one of the books is urged to return it as soon as possible, the Attorney General's office said.

Student government action, through the Attorney General's staff and the Men's Council, will be taken to recover those books not turned in.

The Attorney General's office will be open during exams.

Any violations of the Honor Code can be reported between 10 p.m. and 12 p.m. or between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

East German Leader Sides Against China

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Communist party boss Walter Ulbricht, long a tough and cynical Stalinist, recently fell in line with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Tuesday in the rift between Moscow and Peking.

The goateed Ulbricht indirectly accused China of aiming at war and dropped a hint that the Soviet Union and its Communist bloc supporters might be considering breaking off relations with both China and Albania.

Khrushchev beamed broadly and the delegates from the East European countries applauded wildly during the speech. The Chinese Communist delegate froze into silence.

Without actually calling China by name, Ulbricht said the quarrel is not merely an internal one among Communists but one that affects world peace.

The arguments between the Soviet Union and the dissidents are about questions of peace or war, he said in a marathon five and a half hour speech to the opening session of the sixth party congress of the East German Communist party.

Ulbricht's hint of a possible future break came when he said the East German Communists are coming more and more to the conclusion that there is no point in dealing with the Albanians at all. It was the usual Communist custom of using Albania as a euphemism for China.

"The Albanians are enemies of Leninism and Marxism," he said. Ulbricht was interrupted by applause eight times during his onslaught against China and Albania. Each time Chinese delegate Wu Hsiu-chuan was a silent monument of Oriental inscrutability.

There had been rumors in the part that Ulbricht might fall into disfavor with Khrushchev because he clung too long to the Stalinist views denounced by Khrushchev but Tuesday he was pro-Khrushchev all the way.

Referring to Albania by name and to China by implication, Ulbricht attacked "dogmatists" who want war. Then he lambasted Communist China directly for violating the doctrine of peaceful co-existence by its border with India. He said the Chinese launched the war without consulting or even informing any of the other Communist bloc nations.

More than 2,500 delegates and 3,000 guests were massed in the huge Werner Seelenbinder Hall in East Berlin for the speech.

Some Even Go Naked For Khrushy's Sake

BERLIN (UPI)—The Communists Tuesday stripped some Westerners to their underwear and took other extraordinary precautions to protect Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev from possible attack.

Security agents scrutinized women's lipsticks, removed auto hub-caps and took other measures in their efforts to provide airtight protection for the man from Moscow. Observers said the security ring around East Berlin was at least twice as tight as during any of Khrushchev's five previous visits here.

Controls at the three checkpoints on the East-West Berlin border were redoubled. East German police and border guards, in addition to the usual close check of all foreigners and West Germans entering the Communist zone, forced some westerners to remove hub caps from their cars, and, in some cases, take off their clothes.

Khrushchev has been surrounded by Soviet and East German plainclothes and state security agents since his arrival Monday night.

All Westerners and Germans are being checked four times by Communist police on entry to East Berlin and four times when leaving.

Names Of Officers Not Known By Many

Less than half the Student Body knows three of its top four officers, according to a recent Communications Committee poll.

In a random survey of 171 students, only President Inman Allen was identified by a majority. One hundred forty-five students, or 84.8%, were able to answer correctly the question, "Who is the President of the Student Body?"

Vice-President Mike Lawler polled 49.7%, Secretary Judy Clark was identified by 30.9%, and Treasurer Bill Criswell was known by 28.7%.

Bob Spearman, chairman of the Communications Committee, commented that this poll was one in a series to be conducted through the remainder of the year.

APO BOOK EXCHANGE

Alpha Phi Omega will operate a book exchange in Y-Court Feb. 4-Feb. 11 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Students can set their own prices on used texts — APO will keep 10% of the sale price, and the rest is yours.

The APO Book Exchange will be closed Feb. 9th at 1 p.m. and Feb. 10th all day.

Temperatures In Midwest Drop To Near-Record Lows

CHICAGO (UPI)—The middle west, suffered Tuesday in a frigid blast that tumbled temperatures to 50 below zero in Wisconsin and came close to giving Milwaukee and Minneapolis-St. Paul their coldest weather in history.

The mighty new surge of arctic air off the Canadian prairies sent the mercury plunging to 50 below at Black River Falls, Wis., and to 46 below at Lone Rock and West Salem, Wis.

At Chicago, where temperatures hit 19 below at O'Hare International Airport, water crib tenders in Lake Michigan began synthesizing ice to keep the city's water supply flowing.

The Mississippi River froze bank to bank for six miles below the Alton, Ill., dam for the first time since the dam was built a quarter of a century ago.

Heavy snow swirled off the eastern shores of the Great Lakes. A storm that dumped 19 inches of snow on the Buffalo, N. Y., area moved inland and forecasters predicted seven to 15 inches of new snow.

Eisewhere in the nation, there was some moderation of the widespread cold wave that had claimed close to 100 lives. Thick clouds prevented fresh disaster to crops in Texas' semi-tropical Rio Grande Valley and forecasters in San Francisco saw hope for an easing of cold that caused frost damage to crops in much of California. But the temperature held below zero daylong in much of the middle west and midwesterners yearned for "sunny" Alaska where Juneau registered a comparatively balmy 33 above.

The mercury sank to 24 below zero in Milwaukee, breaking a Jan. 15 record which had stood for 75 years and falling only one degree short of the city's all-time low of 25 below, registered in 1875. Residents of Minnesota's twin cities congealed in a minus 32, only two degrees above the all-time low of 34 set in 1936. The 32-below was a new record for Jan. 15.

The Milwaukee weather bureau comforted shivering residents of Wisconsin with the statistic tidbit that "the world record low is minus 123" established on Aug. 25, 1958, in Antarctica.

French Exchange Program Now Open

The international Student's Board of Student Government has announced the second yearly exchange program between the University of North Carolina and the University of Poitiers, at Tours.

Scholarships have been set up for two students, one UNC student and one French student from the city of Tours.

The student from Tours will be selected by a committee in the city and will come for the fall term each year, remaining the entire year. This student will participate fully in the life of the University, socially and culturally, and academically.

The student government, Campus Chest, and the Faculty Scholarship Committee are supplying the necessary funds.

The UNC student will be selected in early March by a committee chosen from the Student Government, the French Department Faculty, and the Administration. Competition will be through written application and an interview.

The scholarship which the College American at the University of Poitiers will supply for the UNC student covers all university expenses, room and board with a French family, and trips to Paris, Flanders, and Monaco. Spending money will be provided by the student. His travel to and from France is provided for in the scholarship funds.

The programs of study at Nice which the UNC student may follow are International Affairs, French Language, Literature, and Culture, and Fine Arts. Since care has been taken to set up the courses properly, full credit can be obtained for work done in France. This means that the UNC student will not lose a year academically by participating in the exchange program.

Any Carolina undergraduate who has had sufficient minimum preparation to follow one of the study areas listed above, who has had sufficient training in the French language, and who would be willing to return to UNC for a year is eligible. The student should be well informed about campus activities and student government, national and international politics, and should show the interest and flexibility necessary for a student embarking on such an experience.

Application forms are available at the YMCA office and at Graham Memorial. Deadline for returning the applications is February 15.
