

The Daily Tar Heel

Seventy Years Of Editorial Freedom

108
Gradual clearing and not so warm, with temperatures in the 60's.

Offices In Graham Memorial

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1963

UPI Wire Service

John Motley Morehead and Next Year's 53 Scholars

—Photo by Jim Wallace

53 Morehead Scholarships Presented For Study Here

By MICKEY BLACKWELL

John Motley Morehead yesterday personally awarded Morehead Scholarships to 53 boys, more than ever before, to attend UNC next year. The Morehead scholarship pays all expenses plus spending money for the students' four years at Carolina.

the first grants were made. Morehead's benefactions to the University have totaled over $17 million, including the $3 million Morehead Building housing the Zeiss Planetarium; Morehead Sun Dial; Morehead-Patterson Bell Tower; aid to WUNC-TV; the Morehead Scholarships and other grants to the University. In 1961, Mr. Morehead granted an additional $7 million to the Morehead Foundation to continue the scholarship program here indefinitely.

The names, hometowns and schools of this year's scholars are as follows: Arthur Travis Abbott, Asheville, N. C.; Lee H. Edwards High School; James Granger Aplin, Chattanooga, Tenn.; The McCallie School, Chattanooga; Jonathan Bell Arterton, Washington, D. C.; St. Albans School, Washington D. C.; Timothy John Balch, Stanford, Calif.; Deerfield Academy, Deerfield, Mass.; Jeffrey Windsor Beaver, Charlotte, N. C.; Myers Park High School; Glenn Curtis Branscome, Semora, N. C.; Roxboro High School; Donald Hoyle Burgardner, Belmont, N. C.; Belmont High School; Alexander Bayard Clark III, Hendersonville, N. C.; Christ School, Arden, N. C.; Charles Frederick Crawford, Flint, Mich.; Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.; David Godwin Crockett, Vass, N. C.; Vass-Lakeview High School.

Also, Michael James Crosswell, Wiesbaden, Germany; Army Military Academy; George Huntington Damon Jr., Belmont, Mass.; St. Albans School; Herbert Miles Foy III, Statesville, N. C.; Statesville Sr. High School; Matthew Warren Hall, Heath, Mass.; Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.; John Henry Hanan, Sacramento, Calif.; The Taft School, Watertown, Conn.; Stanley Irving Hofmeister, Raleigh, N. C.; Needham B. Broughton High School; Wil Thomasville, N. C.; Thomasville (Continued on page 3)

Howe And Chinnis To Edit '64 Yack

John Howe and Charles Chinnis have been named co-editors of the 1964 Yackety Yack.

The Publications Board made the selection in a meeting yesterday afternoon. There were no other candidates for the position.

Dormitory Spotlight: Craige

This is another in a series of articles on UNC dorms, sponsored by the Communications Committee and the dorm presidents.

majoring in accounting. He has had extensive participation with the Yack and this past year served as a co-managing editor. Also a junior accounting major, Chinnis is from Raleigh. He has worked with the book for several years and was both the senior class editor and features editor with the '63 edition.

In their presentation of their plans for the '64 Yack, the new editors discussed the possibility of including a section on Carolina's summer session within the regular feature section, and thus making the features a more comprehensive part of the book.

Howe and Chinnis hope to preserve a readable informality in the Yack by making group pictures more lively and interesting. Another important idea in their plans is to focus more care and attention to the handling of academics and administration, thus bringing out to the campus the full value of the section.

Because of the problem of the judges and their decisions in the beauty contest, Howe and Chinnis are also giving some consideration to cutting down the number of girls in the Yack beauty court.

'Know Nothings' Win First Quiz Contest

The "Know Nothings" advanced to the second round of competition in the Junior Class-sponsored "College Bowl" Sunday by defeating the Pi Lambda Phi team 360-330.

The "Know Nothings," who include Walter Dellinger, Henry Mayer, Bob Spearman and Mickey Simmons, rallied from a 30-point intermission deficit by correctly answering numerous bonus questions to win the match. Members of the Pi Lambda team were Dennis Winner, Allan Luk, John Ulfelder and Peter Goldberg.

THE TOGETHERNESS of the short distance walker is illustrated by these pickets outside the Rialto Theater in Durham. The Chapel Hill chapter of the NAACP has joined the Durham Youth Chapter in protesting the theater's "segregation policy." —Photo by Jim Wallace

C-Chest To Open Monday

The Campus Chest will begin its annual spring drive next week. Co-chairmen Page Bradham and Jack Sechler announced today. The drive will officially begin Monday, March 11.

A solicitations drive will start the campaign. About 300 solicitors will contact students living in dormitories, sorority houses, and fraternity houses.

The goal is $1 per student. Students giving a $1 or more will be given a Campus Chest button with a number on the back. Three numbers will be drawn at Saturday's Carnival, and students holding the lucky numbers will be given door prizes.

The traditional Auction will be held Tuesday, March 12, at 7 p.m. in Carroll Hall. An added feature this year will be a concert by the Migrants before the Auction gets under way. Lee Ferrell will be auctioneer. Items going to the highest bidder include a bottle of champagne and "beach hats" from Milton's.

The Carnival will round up the Chest drive. It will get under way at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, March 16. Many attractions are in store this year. Booths, rides, beauty queens, and the crowning of the King of the Carnival are some of the events.

Money raised from this year's drive will aid the Children's Mental Hospital in Butner, the World University Service, the American Friends Service Committee, and the Panama Exchange. The goal has been set at $6,000. The first $700 will go to the Panama Exchange. The rest of the money will be divided up among the remaining three charities.

Campus Chest Chairman Page Bradham said, "We are only asking for $1 per student. Since this is Carolina's only charity drive, we do not feel this is too much to ask. Our charities are concerned with students, and we feel that each student here should feel the responsibility of helping other students, not only on our campus but all over the world."

Lawler To Address SP Meeting Tonight

Mike Lawler, vice president of the student body, will speak on "Student Government and the Student Party" at the Student Party meeting tonight at 8 in Howell Hall.

Following his speech, plans for the nominating convention will be discussed, especially in regard to the legislative nominations. The convention is scheduled for next week and all students interested in a Student Party endorsement for legislature, a senior class office, or Big Four positions should be present at tonight's meeting. In order to vote a member must attend two meetings prior to the convention. Another meeting is planned for Sunday night before the convention.

Draft Extension Gains Support Of Committee

SL Kills Proposal For Vote

By JOEL BULKLEY

Student Legislature Monday night defeated a proposal for a campus referendum on the right of SL to pass resolutions on matters not directly affecting UNC students. The vote was 22-5, with three abstentions.

Legislature approved a $50 appropriation to the National Student Association Committee (NSA) for continued programming for the remainder of this fiscal year, along with a $25 loan to the freshman class for its initial operating and publicity expenses.

A resolution urging that negotiations for the use of the Monogram Club Building as a dormitory social room be carried out and a bill to amend the by-laws for the student audit board were also okayed.

Action on a bill to appropriate $300 to the Publications Board for salaries of $10 a week for three Daily Tar Heel reporters was postponed until Thursday night when the author of the bill was not present. Action on a bill to establish a Conference Coordinating Committee was also postponed.

The proposed referendum asked students to specify which of three categories of resolutions they wanted SL to consider. An amendment which said that the results of the referendum would not bind SL in any way was approved. The bill, as introduced by Franklin Atkinson (SP), stated that since the power of SL to pass resolutions in certain areas of concern has been a source of continual controversy in the past, this proposal would assist the representatives in their expedition of future resolutions.

Legislators argued that Atkinson's referendum would not solve the problem of resolutions.

The freshman class appropriation, introduced by Bob Spearman (UP), requested money for the Class of 1966 to publicize their future program of activities, a Freshman Class Day and a dance. It must be paid back by July 1, 1964.

The Monogram Club resolution, introduced by Ford Rowan (UP), calls for the Campus Affairs Board and the IDC to begin discussions immediately with the administration and the faculty to secure the use of the Monogram Club as social room.

A bill to reorganize the campus orientation committee; a resolution in support of the proposed extension of the Ehrhgraus cafe; and two bills concerning proposed appropriations for communication between legislators were referred back to committee.

GOETTINGEN SCHOLARS—John Shelburne (left) and Gray Temple (right) stand next to Rolf Wesche, one of this year's exchange students from the University of Goettingen, Germany. John and Gray will represent UNC at Goettingen next fall. The Goettingen Scholarship is sponsored by the student government, and includes a full year's paid study.—Photo by Jim Wallace

Four Legislators Go Back To SP

Four student legislators who withdrew from the Student Party to form a third campus political party announced their return to the SP yesterday.

"A basic ideological disagreement among members of the new party," the Independent Student Party, and a "redirection of the party of the Student Party towards its ideals and traditional activities," were cited as the two principal reasons for the return.

The four legislators re-establishing their membership in the Student Party are: Dick Ellis, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; George Rosenthal, chairman of the Finance Committee; Bob Smith, chairman of the Rules Committee; and Bill Bowerman, representative from Town Men's IV. Ellis had been chairman of the ISP.

"We believe that the best way for students to have an active and effective voice in their Student Government is through a democratic, party-oriented political party open to students from every area of the campus," they said.

"Only through this type of party can strong and representative student self-government be achieved. We believe that the Student Party, although once failing to live up to these principles, has now returned to these ideals.

"In fact, the party had begun to redirect itself even before our withdrawal, although we were not aware of it at the time. Because of this redirection and revitalization our reasons for leaving the party are no longer valid.

"In regard to the ISP, our idea of forming another political party was based mainly upon a general dissatisfaction with the SP on the part of the ISP members. However, there arose some basic and important disagreements within the ISP concerning the nature of a campus political party. Those of us who are returning to the SP felt that a party must provide for an open forum of discussion in which every political opinion—conservative or liberal—has the right to be represented. This was the tradition of the old Student Party, and in calling ourselves the Independent Student Party, we felt we had expressed our commitment to this ideal.

"The other members of the ISP wished to form an exclusively liberal party with fairly strict party discipline. We question not only the desirability of a party of an exclusive nature but the method by which it was to be achieved. A political coalition with the University Party for the office of the Vice-Presidency was part of the ISP plan from its inception. It was also proposed that the University Party provide partial financial backing for the ISP. Since we adhere to the concept of total campus representation through an open forum, and since the University Party does not operate under these principles, we were not happy with the proposed coalition. Finally, when the Student Party returned to the ideals which we hold in common, we could no longer support the idea of coalition.

"These, then are the principal reasons for our return to the Student Party."

- WUNC RADIO, 91.5 FM
Schedule for Wednesday evening March 6:
6:00 The Dinner Hour
6:55 News Summary
7:00 Paris Startime
7:30 Perspective 61
7:45 The Lincoln Story
8:00 Masterwork
10:00 Ten o'Clock Report
10:15 Latin American Press Review
10:30 Some Come to Sing
10:55 News Summary

Quota Up In March And April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's request for a four-year extension of the draft law was unanimously approved by the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday amid indications that inductions will continue at a high rate at least through spring.

The Defense Department has called for 9,000 and 10,000 draftees for the Army during March and April respectively, as compared to draft quotas of 4,000 each during January and February.

Defense officials said the draft is essential to maintain the strength of the three military services at total of more than a million men. The present draft law, which was largely inoperative during its first two years, has been on the books since 1948. It was extended for four years in 1959.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines had a strength totaling 2,676,832 on Jan. 31, an increase of nearly 10,000 compared to Dec. 31, with a prospect that the figure will continue to edge upward.

Defense officials never had any doubt that the draft law which expires July 1 would be renewed.

The committee did not adopt a proposal by the American Civil Liberties Union and various religious groups urging the elimination of a restriction which determines who can qualify as conscientious objectors.

The present law requires that an individual must believe in "a supreme being" in order to be eligible.

A number of witnesses said there were some sincere conscientious objectors who could not meet this test and it was unfair to exclude them. But the suggested amendment to eliminate the requirement was never formally proposed by any committee member.

Enlistments normally total as much or more than the draft. The Pentagon expects 9,500 enlistments against 9,000 in draft inductions this month. But officials believe the numbers of volunteers would fall off sharply if the threat of draft were removed.

The high draft rate this spring was attributed to the Army's requirements for men to replace draftees who were inducted during the Berlin crisis of 1961 and who will be getting out of service this fall.

Miss. State's NCAA Entry Protested

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Mounting protests against competing in integrated contests threw a shadow Tuesday over Mississippi State's long-awaited entry into the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) basketball playoffs.

Coach Babe McCarthy and his Southeastern Conference champion Bulldogs, barred three times from NCAA tournaments by the state's "unwritten law" against playing against teams with Negro players, went ahead with their plans to compete in the playoffs.

Five members of the state College Board, which oversees institutions of higher learning in the state, demanded and got a special meeting of the board Saturday in Jackson.

Presumably, the board will decide whether the Bulldogs, ranked seventh in the nation with a 21-5 record, will go ahead and participate in the NCAA regional playoff at East Lansing, Mich. March 15.

Dr. D. W. Colvard, president of Mississippi State, announced Saturday night the Bulldogs would enter the playoff unless his ruling is "hindered by competent authority."

The College Board could reverse the decision which touched off angry reaction. Some members of the legislature threatened to cut the school's state appropriation and Colvard was criticized by many (Continued on Page 4)

UP Is 'All-Campus' Party, Rowan Says

The University Party "is fast becoming the all-campus party," Ford Rowan told a UP meeting last night. Rowan is a former Student Party-endorsed legislator and president of Ehrhgraus dormitory.

"If student government is to continue to improve, if student government is to realize its goals, the only hope lies with the UP," he said.

The SP, said Rowan, "does nothing but bicker and talk within its ranks." Vice-President Mike Lawler, possible SP candidate for president, "exemplifies this lack of action."

Rowan, one of eight SP legislators to walk out of the party last month, said, "There may be some who would crawl back on their hands and knees to rattle the dead SP skeletons, but there are others of us who will face the future fearless of the wrath of skeletons."

Rowan said the differences in the two parties could be seen in personality differences between Lawler and UP Floorleader Bob Spearman.

He said, "Spearman's philosophy takes joy in converting ideas into actions. It is philosophy of thought, decision and action. The UP has come to represent this — reasoned action."

On the SP: "If they are not disagreeing among themselves they're elaborating on something that needs action, not just talk. That's the defect of the SP—they rarely can decide and they seldom act."

Rowan also discussed his overall view of student government. "Regardless of how asinine student government may look sometimes, the fact remains—if we can't govern ourselves in an academic enlightened community, then there is grave doubt as to whether democratic government can exist for long in Chapel Hill, or North Carolina, or the United States for that matter."

"The improvement of the individual within society," said Rowan, "is the reason for student autonomy, not necessarily because (Continued on page 3)