SPU Speaker Says Policy Must Change

Allen Says Nations Must Find Accord

By BILL HICKS
"If we do not commit ourselves to finding and then utilizing some alternative to our present policy of deterrence, we may be placed in a situation where we have only the choice of surrender or suicide," the National Field Secretary of the Student Peace Union said Thursday night in Gerrard Hall.

"Not only is this policy of deterrence extremely dangerous," Peter Allen told a Gerrard Hall audience, "it is also failing to do what it is supposed to do."

Allen went on to point out that our foreign policy today is a no-win policy which refuses to resolve the issues involved.

"We must begin a policy which will resolve these very real issues—without ending civilization as we know it in both the Soviet Union and the U. S."

Allen, who has been speaking at colleges around the country for the past year, pointed out that the way to resolve these issues was not militarily, but economically and socially.

"Our emphasis on gaining military allies has produced situations opposed to the very thing we are fighting for. A good example is South Viet Nam, where we are supporting a dictatorship only because this guarantees our military dominance in the area—except that after ten years of 'military dominance,' the communists are taking over faster than ever."

Allen stressed that this attempt at military dominance was not succeeding, and was, in fact, increasing the chances of a grass-roots communist movement.

"Castro-type revolutions are taking place because the people of undeveloped countries want plows, not missiles."

The SPU Field Secretary outlined a number of possible steps which might lessen the present tense situation between the U. S. and the Soviets.

"One possibility might be allowing the Soviet Union to plug into our early warning system. After all, since we are not going to attack, national security won't be endangered by such a move."

Allen also praised the "hot line" between Moscow and Washington as a step in the right direction.

"People say we can't trust the Russians, and this may be true. But, if we put them in a position where they will either disarm or lose amounts of their influence, they will disarm."

"One of the most important functions of the SPU is being around when someone else gets worried about the world we are living in," Allen concluded. "Because only when a good number of people realize the danger will anything be done to alleviate that danger."

To Make Students Liable

Cheating Bill Goes Up For House Trial

By DAN DONAHUE
The Senate Committee on Higher Education will begin hearings Wednesday in Raleigh on a bill to prohibit the procurement of academic credit by fraudulent means.

Students who allegedly cheated on quizzes or exams or handed in term papers which they did not write will be liable for trial in a civil court if the state legislature okays this bill, as introduced by State Senator John Jordan of Wake County.

Under provisions of the bill persons who get someone to take an examination write a term paper for them or who cheat on quizzes or examinations would be charged with a misdemeanor. Upon conviction, these people would be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court.

The second article of the bill makes it unlawful for a firm or corporation to sell or advertise the sale of term papers for students.

New York is the only state with a similar law. Violators there are subject to a fine of fifty dollars or thirty days in jail for the first offense, and two hundred and fifty dollars or six months for the second.

Parents Day Set For Next Week

The 13th annual Parents' Day will be held Sunday, May 5, according to Mike Lee, chairman of this year's arrangements.

"The main purposes of Parents' Day," Lee said, "are to give the parents a rare opportunity to visit the campus, to visit student residences and to have a chance to meet members of the faculty and administration."

The Parents' Day event will be highlighted by an address by Consolidated University President William Friday in Memorial Hall at 2:30 p.m.

A spokesman for the administration said they are "especially anxious to meet and talk informally with every parent who can attend."

Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity and the University, co-sponsors of Parents' Day, feel that this will be the perfect opportunity to remove much of the impersonality associated with a university this size.

Between 11 and 1 p.m. parents will have an opportunity to visit in the students' dormitories, fraternities and sororities and also to look over many of the buildings on campus.

At 1 p.m. the Air Force ROTC unit will pass in review at Fetzer Field; at 1:30 there will be a faculty reception on the lawn in front of Graham Memorial; Friday's address is at 2:30; the UNC Glee Club and Woman's College Chorus will present a joint concert in Hill Hall at 3:15.

At 4, the UNC band will present a concert on the lawn. Then at 5 the faculty will hold a Tea in the Faculty Lounge at the Monogram Club.

Lee also announced that at 6 the parents are invited to any of the student supper forums held at various churches.

"Alpha Phi Omega will maintain information booths at South Building and Graham Memorial to assist the parents and visitors," Lee said.

4 Professors Honored With Tanner Prizes

Dawson, McKnight, Geer, Mackie Named

The annual Tanner Awards for excellence in teaching of undergraduate students were awarded last night to four faculty members who teach: political science, mathematics, Spanish, and history.

UNC Chancellor William B. Aycock presented the valued $1,000 awards each to: Raymond H. Dawson, assistant professor of political science; Ernest L. Mackie, professor of mathematics; William A. McKnight, associate professor of romance language and William M. Geer, instructor in history.

Geer is one of two UNC faculty members to have received a Tanner Award twice. He received the Award in 1957.

The Tanner Awards were established in 1955 by the Tanner family of Rutherfordton in honor of the late Lola Spencer and Simpson Bobo Tanner. The awards go to teachers who devote a portion of their time to classroom teaching of undergraduates and are "in recognition of excellence and inspirational teaching." The Tanner Awards were first presented in 1956.

Candidates of the awards are nominated by UNC faculty members and some 300 representative students.

Prof. Dawson teaches the honors group in political science and is also an adviser in the General College. He also teaches a course in international relations and world politics.

Prof. Mackie teaches integrated algebra and trigonometry and calculus with analytic geometry. He is an adviser for Phi Eta Sigma, the national freshman honorary fraternity, and is a faculty officer for Phi Beta Kappa.

Prof. McKnight teaches Spanish to second and fourth year students of the Spanish Language. He also teaches a course on a survey of Spanish literature to 1700, and a survey course on Spanish Literature from 1700 to the present. He has taught beginning courses in Spanish advanced students, and is the Department of Romance Languages' coordinator for undergraduate instruction in Spanish.

Instructor Geer teaches in modern civilization in the Department of History, and is very active in student activities.

Winners of the Tanner Awards last year were Ransom Taylor of the Department of Germanic Languages, Earle Wallace of the Department of Political Science, Frank W. Ryan Jr. of the Department of History, and John Laseley Jr. of the Department of Mathematics.

Di-Phi Sympathy Given To Arabs

The Di-Phi voted Tuesday night to table a long-pending bill advocating the abolition of the UNC student government, supported the integration movement, and passed a resolution of sympathy to the displaced Arabs of Palestine.

A previous vote on reconsideration of the student government bill was declared illegal because copies presented to the body had been incorrectly written. Action to table the reconsideration was unanimous.

The Di-Phi also voted to support a boycott of local segregated businesses by signing the society's name to a petition presented by the Student Peace Union.

A News Analysis

By MICKEY BLACKWELL

The Senate will have one vote. Since the two houses will probably send members representing the majority point of view, the bill may again reach an impasse.

The award is presented annually to the UNC faculty member "whose life and work is in the best tradition and spirit of Thomas Jefferson."

World News In Brief

Khrushy Promises Free Laos Attempt

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev responded to a personal plea from President Kennedy Friday and promised to keep working for an independent and neutral Laos.

The President's message was handed to the premier by U. S. troubleshooter W. Averell Harriman at a three and a half hour meeting in the Kremlin.

A tersely worded joint statement issued afterward declared both governments "fully support the Geneva agreements on the Laotian question about which there was an exchange of views between them in Vienna and a mutual understanding reached."

The full import of the statement could not be determined immediately, however. It said nothing about whether Moscow would take an active part in trying to stop the fighting in Laos.

Harriman, who also met with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko for 2 hours and 40 minutes, declined to discuss his talks with reporters.

No Meddling

ATLANTA (UPI)—U. S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy assured Georgia Gov. Carl E. Sandus Friday that the federal government has no desire to meddle in local racial problems.

Sandus said in a statement that he and the attorney general had agreed Georgia has "demonstrated the ability to handle our own affairs in our own ways."

"The attorney general recognizes this as I do and he assured us that as long as Georgia continued to demonstrate the leadership necessary to solve its own problems, we need never expect any problem from the federal government," Sanders said.

Civil War Threat

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops Friday were reported fighting right-wing forces in southern Laos and the neutralists in the north-eastern Plain of Jars, threatening this Southeast Asian nation with a full-scale civil war.

Fighting broke out Thursday night and Friday between the Pathet Lao and neutralists at four places in the strategic Plain of Jars.

A defense ministry spokesman reported that the Pathet Lao launched an attack Thursday night against the rightist outpost of Ban Vong Boua La in southern Savannakhet province. He gave no details but stressed it was "an attack—not a skirmish."

It was the first reported involvement of right-wing forces in recent fighting.

Rusk Plans Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced Friday he will visit two leading neutralist powers, Yugoslavia and India, after a plane-hopping tour of U. S. allies in the Middle East.

Rusk and President Kennedy discussed major issues involved a few hours before his scheduled departure by air for Ankara, Turkey, his first stop.

The primary purpose of Rusk's trip is to attend a meeting of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) in Karachi, Pakistan, April 30-May 1, but the stop-over to see Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Yugoslav President Tito have taken on added significance in the light of recent developments.

Raid Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A freelance reporter—photographer in Washington and Cuban exiles in Miami Friday reported a bombing raid Thursday night against Cuban oil refineries on the outskirts of Havana. There was no official confirmation.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was silent and the U. S. State Department expressed skepticism over the claimed attack. The department said Castro's radio would have been "the first voice to shrill the air" if such an attack had occurred.

SL Elects Committee Members

By JOEL BULKLEY

Student body president Mike Lawler Thursday night cited several statements he had used in earlier speeches in order to reaffirm his belief that "in our assertion of autonomy there is inherent responsibility."

Lawler addressed the second session of Student Legislature and stated:

"—Will we realize that much of what we at first see as malicious intervention of the administration is, after experience and quiet thought, more truly an acute failure of the administration to understand the dynamics of student government?"

"—What we need is thought that will not sacrifice principle to expediency or efficiency, but thought that will commit itself to a student government directed of its citizens."

"—This student generation is concerned... about its government, not whether the principle of student self-government is valid but whether our generation will express its concern through its government in concentrated effort on the challenges this student community faces."

Block Voting

Block voting continued Thursday as Student Party members were elected to the Consolidated University Student Council and the Publications Board. Representatives named include Hugh Blackwell and Evelyn Morris to the CUSC and Martin Lancaster and Jeff Davis to the Pub. Board.

Jon Commander was elected to a two-year seat on the Graham Memorial Board of Directors while Dick Westin took the three-year seat.

Rufus Edmisten (SP) was named SL Chairman and Don Carson (UP) was named Parliamentarian in appointments announced Thursday by SL Speaker Bob Spearman.

Legislature will hold a special session Tuesday night to consider presidential committee chairmanship appointments, a bill concerning the SL clerk being appointed by the Speaker, and legislative appointments to the Carolina Forum, Quarterly and the Athletic Association.

Campaign Material

Individuals and political parties may be fined five dollars and twenty-five dollars, respectively for defacing University grounds and property with political campaign material if SL gives its approval to a bill introduced this week.

The bill, as introduced by Bill Straughn (SP), would amend the elections laws by not allowing posters and campaign material to be placed on campus property.

It was the first reported involvement of right-wing forces in recent fighting.

The following Representatives were absent: Gordon Shapiro (UP, TM 2), Bill Newsome (SP, TM 4), Rufus Edmisten (SP, TM 4) and Bo Edwards (UP, TM 3).

College Bowl Ends First Season Run

The Junior Class College Bowl was forced to close last Sunday due to lack of time, according to Junior Class Vice-President Woody Harrison.

Present champions are the "Know Nothings" (Walter Dellinger, Henry Mayer, Mickey Simmons and Bob Spearman). They defeated Phi Lambda Phi, Tau Epsilon Phi, Delta Upsilon fraternities and Ruffin and Joyner dorms, after coming from behind to win their first match.

The "Know Nothings" will be unable to meet the challenge of Zeta Beta Tau, Mangum and Avery dorms.

Harrison said that he hoped that the Bowl will continue to be as successful as it was this year. He expressed a special note of thanks to Dr. John Clayton, moderator for the Bowl, and to Tracy Spencer, Pat Peden, Sherry Rottman, Bob Ross, Chris Fink and Emily Klyce for their help in the program.
