

Offices in Graham Memorial

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1963

UPI Wire Service

4 Seniors Named For Yack's Frank Graham Award; Given This Year For First Time

The Yackety Yack announced today the inauguration of the Frank Porter Graham Award for Outstanding seniors. The first recipients of the award are Joe Craver, Walter Dellinger, Henry Mayer, and Bill Sullivan.

The Graham Award is an innovation of the Yack and its recipients will be named and featured in the Yack every year. "To honor the achievements of Dr. Frank P. Graham as President of the University, U. S. Senator, and special UN mediator, the Yack is proud to distinguish the award with the name of this humanitarian.

At Last, At Long, Long Long Last

Raleigh OKs Name Change For State

RALEIGH (UPI)—The General Assembly gave final approval today to a long-range program for higher education in North Carolina after a compromise on a controversial name change for N. C. State College.

A conference committee composed of three senators and five House members reported out the compromise name today. The name decided on was "North Carolina State of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh."

The House had approved the bill with the name "N. C. State University of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh." The Senate approved the bill with the name "N. C. State, the University of North Carolina at Raleigh."

The name change had blocked adoption of the omnibus bill which would create a statewide university system, upgrade three junior colleges to four-year institutions and set up a system of community colleges.

The name finally adopted was a victory for the administration and the UNC trustees. The change in name followed their final recommendation except for the change of a comma to an "of."

The Senate approved the name without objection after Sen. Robert Lee Humber of Pitt urged passage of the "compromise name."

Both Woman's College and State will be able under the bill to admit both male and female students and grant undergraduate degrees in liberal arts as well as in the specialized courses at the schools.

The University of North Carolina becomes under the measure the capstone of higher learning in the state.

House members who dissented from the conference report were Reps. George Wood of Camden and Ashley Murphy of Pender.

Murphy told the House today "I promised my folks I would stick with them" on the name change. "However, the way feelings were of some it might defeat a good education bill," he said.

"And I know six kids who might never see the inside of a college if they couldn't go to Wilmington College," which would be brought into the state system under the bill and upgraded to a four-year school.

PRESS INSTITUTE

The 22nd annual N. C. Scholastic Press Institute for high school editors will be held at Chapel Hill July 8-10, it was announced today by Walter Spearman, director and professor of journalism at the University. Invitations have been mailed to over 100 N. C. high schools and others may apply for admission to the institute by writing Walter Spearman, School of Journalism, Chapel Hill.

Meanwhile, Robert Risk, head of the Indiana Civil Liberties Union, asserted that the state statute the students were charged with violating is unconstitutional. The law forbids advocating the overthrow of the U. S. or Indiana governments.

Risk cited a 1956 Supreme Court decision overturning a similar Pennsylvania law on the grounds that federal law preempts state law in matters of national security. Risk said that his organization will enter the case.

The YSA this week denied that the purpose of the meeting, held at the student union, was to advocate the violent overthrow of any government. The group called the move a "witch hunt" and an effort by Hoadley to enhance his political career.

Friday Nixes Classic; Squabble Not Yet Over

SL Refuses Appointment Of Roundtable Chairman

By FRED SEELY

The Student Legislature went against precedent Thursday night and refused to confirm the appointment of Jack Harrell for co-chairman of the Editor's Roundtable, a student government committee.

The appointment was included in a list of committee chairmen proposed by President Mike Lawler for approval by the legislature. All other proposed chairmen were approved without debate.

Lawler said that he wished to reserve comment on the matter at the present time.

The Editor's Roundtable, as reorganized this year, will coordinate the dorm newspapers and enable the dorm editors to meet and exchange ideas. It would in no way effect the editorial policy of the papers, but merely perform any service that could otherwise not be obtained.

Richard Westin (Ind.-DM) led the drive against Harrell, citing his performance as president of the freshman class.

"Harrell has not shown leadership in this position, and I feel that a man's potential alone is not enough to justify our approval of this appointment," commented Westin.

Phil Baddour (SP-DMII) spoke in debate for Harrell.

"Jack has done a good job this year, and he would be a definite asset to the Roundtable," he said. "He has the drive to make this committee become a definite asset to the campus."

In ensuing debate, Lanny Shuff (SP-DMII), Munny Yates (UP-TMII) and Hugo Spechar (SP-DMIV) spoke for the appointment, while Bo Edwards (UP-TMIII) and John Ulfelder (UP-TMIII) spoke against it.

The final vote, which was non-partisan, was 20-19. It was the first time since 1957 that a legislature had refused to confirm a presidential appointment.

In other action, the legislature unanimously passed a bill introduced by Bob Jones (UP-TMI) to appropriate $60 from the unappropriated balance to the WRC. The money will be used to cover a deficit arising from the WRC-CWC banquet this year at the Carolina Inn.

Arthur Hays (SP-DMIV) gave a detailed report on the budget for the coming school year. Time did not permit completion of the report, and further discussion will be held in the special session Monday night. The legislature will vote on the budget item by item after the completion of the report.

President Lawler asked for legislative approval on his appointment of Dick Ellis as presidential assistant and also for a seat on the Graham Memorial Board of Directors. This will be acted upon next week.

Speaker Bob Spearman announced the appointment of Gayle (agland) (UP-TW) as clerk of the legislature, Jeff Davis (SP-DMII) as representative to the Carolina Quarterly and Bob Jones as representative to the Publications Board.

Legislators absent were Clark Brewer (SP-DMII), Bill Pitts (UP-DMII), Rufus Edmisten (SP-TMIV) and Danny Edwards (SP-TMIV).

Legislators absent were Clark Brewer (SP-DMII), Bill Pitts (UP-DMII), Rufus Edmisten (SP-TMIV) and Danny Edwards (SP-TMIV).

Legislators absent were Clark Brewer (SP-DMII), Bill Pitts (UP-DMII), Rufus Edmisten (SP-TMIV) and Danny Edwards (SP-TMIV).

Legislators absent were Clark Brewer (SP-DMII), Bill Pitts (UP-DMII), Rufus Edmisten (SP-TMIV) and Danny Edwards (SP-TMIV).

ZBT Starts New House

Peter Jason, president of Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity, confirmed today that work has begun on the new house for his fraternity on 240 Finley Golf Course Road. The site in New Fraternity Court has been cleared and foundations are being poured this week.

The new fraternity house, expected to cost over $200,000, will be completed by early October of this year.

The house will contain over 12,000 square feet of living, dining, entertaining, study and recreational accommodations for the fraternity. Most of the bedrooms are designed for two occupants and each will have complete facilities for sleeping and study.

The first floor will contain a three room housekeeper's apartment, storage and utility rooms, kitchen, a 100 seat dining area and a formal sunken living room with a large brick fireplace.

The new house is being built by the chapter's alumni group and the Zeta Beta Tau national.

Joan Baez To Sing At NCC Wednesday

Joan Baez, dark-tressed folk singer who has captured the fancy of audiences from coast to coast, will give a benefit concert at North Carolina College in Durham Wednesday, May 15, in the college's B.N. Duke auditorium at 8 p.m.

Admission will be $1. Tickets may be purchased here at the "Y."

The concert is sponsored by the Baptist Student Union and the United Campus Ministry at NCC and proceeds will go to University College in Basutoland, South Africa, the only high-ranking desegregated college in the country.

Miss Baez's concert of songs ranging from the satirical to spirituals will be recorded on the spot by Vanguard Records, Inc., of New York.

Opera Buffs Get Treat On WUNC

If you like opera, turn on WUNC (91.5 FM) today at 9 a.m. for a full day's broadcast. Five complete operas by Puccini will be presented from 9 to 9 together with the lively commentary of Norman Cordon, former Metropolitan Opera star.

The Puccini operas and the approximate starting times are: 9:00 a.m. — Manon Lescaut — Bjoerling, Albanese, and Merrill (singers); Roman Opera House Orchestra and Chorus, conducted by Perlea.

11:35 a.m. — La Boheme — De Los Angeles, Bjoerling, Merrill; NBC Orchestra and Chorus, conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham.

1:45 p.m. — La Tosca — Maria Callas, Giuseppe DiStefano, and Tito Gobbi; Orchestra and Chorus of La Scala, Milan, conducted by Victor deStabata.

4:00 p.m. — Madame Butterfly — Leontyne Price, Richard Tucker; Italiana Opera Orchestra and Chorus, conducted by Erich Leinsdorf.

6:35 p.m. — Turandot — Inge Borkh, Mario Del Monaco, and Renata Tebaldi; Santa Cecilia Orchestra and Chorus, Alberto Erede, conductor.

9:05 — Schedule close. Produced by Don Upham, this opera spectacular is the first 12-hour program on WUNC Radio this year.

At 10:15 p.m. following the operas, WUNC will carry the music of Stan Kenton and his Orchestra live from the campus of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Virginia. The Big-Band Jazz Broadcast will come direct from the Annual VPI Ring Dance.

Report Said Incomplete By Solon

RALEIGH—UNC does not plan to revive the Dixie Classic basketball tournament, according to a report made to the State House of Representatives yesterday, but at least one representative said that the report "was not complete" and he would ask for another.

In a statement read for them in the House yesterday, CU President William Friday and State College Chancellor John Caldwell, said they did not entertain the thought that any policy is perfect, but "responding to the request made of us, it is our judgment that our present position, including the discontinuance of the Dixie Classic, is a sound and defensible one among the solutions that are possible."

The joint statement came one month after the House had asked Friday and Caldwell to "restudy and give serious consideration of the feasibility and desirability of reinstating" the Christmas holiday tournament held in Raleigh.

The basketball tournament was discontinued on May 22, 1961.

Rep. Sam Whitehurst of Craven "served notice" yesterday that the report "was not complete" and he would ask for another report.

"All they have done is give a defense," he said. "I do not think the report is complete and I regret it was reported this way."

The statement said the University had to take certain action, "including discontinuance of the Dixie Classic, to stem the deterioration that had befallen the sport and to announce its resolve to keep a sensible perspective on the place of intercollegiate athletics in education."

Friday and Caldwell elaborated on past instances of bribery, recruiting irregularities, and other misdoings which led to the corrective measures.

Previous Violations
"In May, 1954, N. C. State College was placed on probation by the NCAA for violating regulations concerning recruitment of players and was denied the privilege of participation in the NCAA championship play for one year."

"In November, 1956, State College was again penalized by the NCAA for irregularities connected with the recruitment of a player. The penalty was probationary status for a period of four years."

"In January, 1961, the NCAA placed the University at Chapel Hill on probation for one year in basketball for violating regulations governing the entertainment of prospective students athletes."

"In the spring of 1961, it was found that several players at State College and the University at Chapel Hill had been involved in bribery. In March, one student was permitted to withdraw from the University at Chapel Hill for participation in bribery. In May, another student at the University was suspended for initial misstatement and subsequent concealment of facts relevant to bribery attempts."

"In May, 1961, two basketball players at State College, who were temporarily not in residence, were informed that they would not be permitted to re-enter the College because of participation in bribery. At the same time, another State College player was dismissed for the same offense."

"During the five years between 1956 and 1961, the Atlantic Coast Conference found it necessary on three occasions to impose a fine or take other disciplinary measures affecting one of our teams."

"The foregoing events were recited to the Trustees at the time the University took its corrective measures, including discontinuance of the Dixie Classic. . . . A problem of disproportionate emphasis had become an issue of moral value."

The statement said there could be but one response to the House request: "We must declare in unmistakable terms that the University of North Carolina would not buck endlessly the humiliation of being repeatedly called to account and repeatedly disciplined by outside regulatory agencies for infractions which the University

(Continued on Page 3)

Council Suspends Two Men Students

Two students were found guilty and placed on suspension for violations of the Honor Code in two Men's Council trials Thursday night.

One student was charged with stealing books from Lenoir Hall, selling them to the Book Exchange, and lying to an employee of the Book Exchange.

He pled and was found innocent of lying, but was found guilty of stealing the books.

The council's report said that due to the seriousness of the offense and because the student had been previously suspended for the Honor

Code violation, he was given a sentence of indefinite suspension with the recommendation that he never be readmitted to the University.

In the other case, a student pled and was found guilty of stealing a considerable amount of money from another student.

When first confronted by his accusers, the defendant had declined to comment, but turned himself in to the Dean of Men's Office the following day.

He was placed on definite suspension for one full academic semester.

Subversion Charges Lodged Against 3 Indiana Students

BLOOMINGTON, Indiana—Three Indiana University students, all members of the Young Socialist Alliance, were indicted recently under the provisions of a 1951 state anti-subversive act.

The Monroe County Grand Jury, which brought the indictment, charged that the three students assembled on March 25 of this year "for the purpose of advocating or teaching the doctrine that the government of the United States or the State of Indiana should be overthrown by force, violence, or other unlawful means, voluntarily participating therein by their presence, aid or instigation, and as officers of a Trotskyite Communist organization called the Young Socialist Alliance, the youth group of the Socialist Workers' Party."

The students named in the indictment were Ralph Levitt and James Bingham of Indianapolis, and Tom Morgan of Terre Haute, Ind. The three are free on bail. The trial will probably not come for months, as the American Civil Liberties Union and other interested parties plan to enter Amicus Curiae briefs, which may take months to prepare.

The YSA's troubles at Indiana began last October, when a number of YSA members joined in demonstrations against the blockade of the island of Cuba by the Kennedy Administration. The demonstrators were jostled and threatened by a crowd of thousands. The Monroe County prosecutor, Thomas Hoadley, announced that he planned to investigate the YSA to determine if they had incited a riot.

The YSA charged that Hoadley dropped charges against two non-students also involved in the October disturbance. One of the two released is alleged to have hit a policeman, and the other to have slugged a YSA member.

Hoadley publicly suggested that the Indiana University administration throw the YSA chapter off campus in a letter to a local paper in February. Joseph Ewers, assistant to Indiana University President Elvis Stahr, said that the Hoadley statement on the YSA was sent to the papers before the university was notified of it.

Samuel E. Braden, a vice-president of the university, issued a statement saying that "it is very difficult to understand why the prosecuting attorney, if he believed he had discovered a violation of the law, decided not to bring it to the attention of the university, but instead issued a statement to the press."

IU President Stahr requested the State of Indiana Atty. Gen. to issue an interpretation as to whether or not the YSA is in violation of the 1951 statute. The AG has yet to do so, and the university is continuing to recognize the YSA as a legitimate group until proven otherwise.

But the story really broke when YSA national secretary LeRoy McRae spoke in Bloomington at a meeting attended by about 125 persons. It is charged that the specific violation of the state anti-subversive statute occurred at that meeting. The content of McRae's speech centered around the civil rights struggle of the American Negro.

Some months ago the Indiana campus was hit by a narcotics scandal, several students being arrested for illegal possession of narcotics. Prosecutor Hoadley declared that the YSA "might" have been using narcotics to attract new members. A YSA spokesman said that the narcotics charge went before the grand jury, but could not be checked since no list of names of YSA members existed.

The YSA has also charged that Hoadley has said that a Moscow-trained man and wife team was sent to the IU campus to organize the YSA. The YSA has pointed out that no Moscow agent could possibly be sent to organize a Trotskyite group.

Indiana University took the position over the weekend that the three IU students indicted on charges of subversive activity would be considered innocent until and unless proven guilty. A spokesman said the students would remain considered in good standing.

The students were charged with having violated a state anti-subversive law by attending a meeting where the speaker advocated the forcible overthrow of the U. S. government. All three, Ralph Levitt, James Bingham, and Thomas Morgan, are officers of the IU chapter of the Young Socialist Alliance, youth division of the tiny Socialist Workers' Party.

"The important thing in this case," said County Prosecutor Thomas A. Hoadley, who obtained the indictment, "is to get this organization off the campus. The university is a department of the state government."

Meanwhile, Robert Risk, head of the Indiana Civil Liberties Union, asserted that the state statute the students were charged with violating is unconstitutional. The law forbids advocating the overthrow of the U. S. or Indiana governments.

Risk cited a 1956 Supreme Court decision overturning a similar Pennsylvania law on the grounds that federal law preempts state law in matters of national security. Risk said that his organization will enter the case.

The YSA this week denied that the purpose of the meeting, held at the student union, was to advocate the violent overthrow of any government. The group called the move a "witch hunt" and an effort by Hoadley to enhance his political career.

The YSA has also charged that Hoadley has said that a Moscow-

Chanin Picked UP Chairman

Mike Chanin was elected to serve a second term as Chairman of the University Party at its meeting Tuesday night. Also re-elected were Dick Edwards as vice-chairman, and Bob Jonas as Treasurer. Wendy Cook was elected Secretary and David Rowe was elected Sergeant-at-Arms during the same meeting.

Chairman Chanin said he was pleased to be working with Edwards and Jonas again because they had shown themselves to be very capable in the areas in which they worked last year.

He added, "Miss Cook should bring much experience into the position of Secretary as she was President of the student body at the school she attended before transferring to Carolina. She has many ideas on how women students may play a more active role in Student Government."

Byerly Finds Community Papers Taking Big Gain

Community newspaper — daily and weekly — in the 10 largest metropolitan areas of the United States have grown 30 times faster in circulation since World War II as have big city dailies in the same areas. That is a finding by a veteran publisher and professor of Journalism here.

Prof. Kenneth R. Byerly of the UNC School of Journalism and former publisher of newspapers in Montana and Wyoming has announced findings which reveal a 17-year circulation increase for community dailies and weeklies at 89.9 per cent. That is almost 30 times as great as the 3.0 per cent growth for metropolitan dailies in the same area.

The same trend seems to be continuing, stated Byerly, since 1962. Circulation of community newspapers has grown twice as rapidly as the population of the metropolitan areas in which they are located.

The 10 areas studied are designated by the principal city in each area: Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, San Francisco, Washington, D.C.

Prof. Byerly has taught news writing here since 1957. He is author of the textbook "Community Journalism" published by Chilton Co. of Philadelphia in 1961. He owns a small daily in Montana and The Tidewater News, a semi-weekly at Franklin, Va. with his two sons.

MANN AND METER—Pictured is UNC Professor of geology Virgil I. Mann and a gravimeter. With the aid of the gravimeter, Prof. Mann measured the pull of gravity at selected points throughout the state, and with the results of his measurements, he composed the first gravitational map ever made of North Carolina. Prof. Mann's studies indicate the kinds of rock underlying the earth's crust here in the state. (See story on page 2.)