

IFC Repeals Ruling Against Bull Pledges

By PETE WALES
A rule prohibiting bull pledges and inactive brothers from attending fraternity social functions was repealed in an IFC meeting Monday night.
IFC officers will meet with the Faculty Committee on Fraternities and Sororities Friday to discuss the change and possibly make alterations.
Dr. Clifton H. Krepes, chairman of the faculty committee, was not available for comment.

Bull pledges and inactive brothers are still not allowed to eat or sleep at the house. They are not allowed to participate in intramurals, pay house bills other than social fees or attend chapter meetings.
The rule about social functions was passed last spring by the IFC in answer to faculty criticism.

Faculty members felt that members inactive because of grades were keeping all the privileges of active fraternity men.

In other business, a motion was introduced on procedure for dealing with the delinquent payment of fines to the IFC Court.

The motion, if passed next Monday, will give fraternities who have not paid their fines for two months a general probation. After four months the fraternity will be put on intramural probation. After six months the penalty will be social probation.

Zeta Beta Tau was fined $50 and given an official reprimand for their homecoming display a week ago.

The display was considered indecent by the Court.

Cons Caught Here After Escaping

Two Franklin County escaped convicts were captured at gunpoint early yesterday morning in Chapel Hill after forcing a Durham doctor from his car on a highway near Wake Forest College.

According to Chapel Hill Police Chief William Blake, the apprehension was made after patrolman Amos Horne recognized their car as the '59 Buick described in an auto theft report made by Durham Police several hours earlier.

Dennis H. Westmoreland, and James L. Sprinkle, both 21, were forced from the stolen car by Chapel Hill police on the west end of Franklin Street shortly after 3:45 a.m. Both were serving prison terms for felony charges.

The car was reportedly stolen about two hours earlier near Winston-Salem from Dr. Ralph Baum of Durham. Blake said that Baum offered the two escapees a ride when he saw them hitchhiking east of Durham. Around 3:24 a.m. they forced him from the car with an order to "start walking."

PAT INITIATES

Phi Alpha Theta, national history honor society, will hold its fall initiation at Carolina Inn on Nov. 25.

The local chapter conducts meetings during the academic year to broaden the scholastic and social acquaintances among its members.

Qualifications necessary for membership include: Undergraduates: 12 semester hours of History, including Modern Civilization with better than a B average in two-thirds of other course work.

Interested persons can contact Dr. Bodman, first floor of Saunders Hall.

Highest Honorary For Carolina Coed

In pre-dawn ceremonies this morning, black-hooded figures stalked the women's residences calling forth five undergraduate women and one honorary to membership in the Order of Valkyries, the highest women's honorary organization on campus.

Tapped were Fay Hensley Coker, Canton, Georgia; Ann Susan Dellinger, Charlotte, N.C.; Elizabeth Darden Ward, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Kristin Clover Waterman, Knoxville, Tennessee; Jaene Carolyn Yeager, Winston-Salem, N.C.; and as an honorary Sue Fields Ross, Fayetteville, N.C.

Valkyries corresponds to the highest men's honorary, the Order of the Golden Fleece. It was founded in 1941 when it replaced Alpha Kappa Gamma, national women's honorary society. Members are recognized for excellence in scholarship, leadership, character, or service to the University; however they must be outstanding in each of these areas.

Citations to the new members read as follows:

DISCOVERS BODY

A UNC student in search of a quiet place to study discovered the body of Anthony Lynch, 61, of Durham in a clump of woods near Chapel Hill about 3 p.m. Sunday.

Lynch was found with a 12-gauge shotgun across his body, his head apparently shattered by a single blast from the gun. Suicide was ruled as the cause of death by Orange County coroner Allen Walker Jr.

MISS COKER . . . . .

"One who has shown devoted and consistent leadership in religious activities, especially through her work with the Baptist Student Union. At the same time, she has demonstrated outstanding academic ability—seeking knowledge as a true scholar. Her lively interest and genuine concern for those around her are reflected in all aspects of her work."

MISS DELLINGER . . . . .

"One who has readily assumed responsibility as the President of the Stray Greeks and as President of McIver Residence Hall. Her tireless enthusiasm and her efficiency has contributed significantly to the success of the Rush season. She shall be remembered because of her humble and selfless service to the University."

MISS ROSS . . . . .

"Valkyries recognizes her because of her interest in freshmen women and understanding of their problems. She has made possible the establishment of a new and more effective Freshman Counselor Program. First as a graduate counselor and now as assistant to the Dean of Women she has exhibited perfection in her administrative duties. Her enthusiasm and keen perception underscored by her warm sense of humor have won her the admiration of all who know her."

MISS WARD . . . . .

"One who has exhibited excellence in her positions as clerk of the Women's Council and as a member of the Executive Cabinet of the YWCA. Her dependability, organizational skill, and willingness to serve others characterize her participation in these activities. She has developed her artistic abilities in the fields of dance and drama as well as achieving academic excellence."

MISS WATERMAN . . . . .

"One who has attained excellence in all academic pursuits. She is the third student in the history of the University who has been selected to participate in research for an honors degree in Botany. In addition she has demonstrated further leadership by active participation with the YWCA as a co-chairman of the Campus Chest Auction. Her boundless energy and dedication have been an influential and motivating force for her classmates."

MISS YEAGER . . . . .

"One who has contributed to the betterment of the University through her thorough and conscientious efforts in training the women's orientation counselors. Her foresight as Chairman of the Honor System Commission has served to convey the significance of the Honor System to the students in high schools throughout North Carolina as well as to the students at the University. The genuine and kind manner with which she has carried out her responsibilities has served as an inspiration to all."

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Wave Of Violence Rips Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Pro-Castro terrorists unleashed a wave of violence that killed 5 persons and wounded 45 others Tuesday in Caracas.

Members of the underground anti-government Armed Forces for National Liberation (AFNL) resorted to bullets, bombs and burnings to enforce a strike order.

Fighting Reported In Bagdad

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Diplomatic reports said "fairly heavy firing" was heard Tuesday in Baghdad although the new revolutionary regime partly lifted the 24-hour curfew and reported the Iraqi capital calm.

der. The strike, however, was a failure. It was business as usual in most of the city.

Violence was sporadic and largely confined to the poorer sections of Caracas. Small shopkeepers in the slum areas received personal visits from terrorists Monday warning them their shops would be put to the torch if they opened Tuesday.

The diplomatic reports indicated the army was carrying out mopping-up operations against die-hard members of the national guard who resisted Monday's coup that ousted the Baathist government.

Cambodia Claims U.S. Plot

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI) — Chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk staged Cambodia's first Communist-style public trial Tuesday in support of his claim that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was plotting against him and his government.

The prince exhibited two confessed member of a Cambodian rebel group before a mass rally attended by an estimated 20,000 Cambodians who had to be kept by troops from lynching the rebels.

It became evident quickly that the United States was on trial at the mass gathering and not the two supposed Cambodian rebels.

Turncoat Jailed In Shooting Incident

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Korean war turncoat Lowell Skinner was charged Tuesday with assault with a deadly weapon and jailed in connection with a shooting incident Monday night at the home of an East Akron woman.

Skinner, 32, who returned here in August after spending nine years in Communist China, was held on $2,500 bond pending a hearing in Municipal Court Friday.

The former U. S. Army corporal was one of 21 Americans who stayed in Red China following the Korean armistice in 1953.

ROTC Programs Voted Revamped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee voted Tuesday to completely revamp ROTC programs at both the college and high school levels. But it rejected an anti-discrimination proposal.

The legislation, recommended by a subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., would authorize a two-year ROTC training course for universities. Students entering, however, would first have to complete a six-to-eight-week accelerated summer training period as privates.

Owe Kemp, Julian Money? Loan Fund's Got A Million

The Student Aid Program administered by the University now exceeds one million dollars a year.

This amount has been allocated to students for 1963-64 in the form of loans, scholarships, and on-campus jobs, Julian D. Mason, Jr., director of student aid announced recently.

Although more than half of this figure has been awarded to UNC students in the form of loans thus far $247,689 has also been given in the form of scholarships to some 1,049 students, and 543 students now hold part-time jobs on campus which provide them approximately $256,000 per year. This amount does not include athletic grants-in-aid or National Merit or Morehead scholarships.

"Because of these three programs, no student who can maintain a 'C' average needs to leave UNC for financial reasons," said Mason. "These programs can be used in a variety of combinations. We have a great many students who take advantage of two or more programs, and some who utilize all three."

"The two primary sources for our scholarships are escheats funds ('unclaimed' money in banks and other institutions which has reverted to the state and then been given to the University) and profits earned from the student stores. These funds constitute about 80 per cent of UNC's scholarship money," continued Mason.

However, every UNC student actually benefits from a "scholarship" from the N. C. legislature in the form of $776 per year for out-of-state students, and $351 for out-of-staters. This is money the legislature allocates to the University to make up the deficit between the amount of tuition and fees the students pay ($285 for in-state students and $710 for out-of-state students) and the actual cost of the academic year per student.

With the cost of higher education rising each year, it is becoming more and more difficult for students to work their way through college. Most need other help in the form of scholarships or loans, said Mason. The average part-time job on campus provides about $450 per academic year, only one-third of what the student needs. According to this year's figures, the total cost for an academic year for an in-state student is $1352, including all expenses.

Prospective students interested in scholarships or part-time work should contact the Office of Student Aid, 2 Hanes Hall for applications and information.

To be eligible for a scholarship a student must be in the upper quarter of his high school class, and he must have a College Board examination score the total of which is at least equal to the average score made by North Carolina students in the present freshman class (at least 1050). For most scholarships, a student must also show financial need.

"We are particularly interested in the above average student who has financial need," said Mason.

There is a single application for all scholarships with the exception of the following: the Alston-Pleasants, the Blanchard, the Herbert North Jackson and the Marvin B. Smith scholarships. Separate applications are needed for each of these due to the special qualifications required.

Prospective students can apply for part-time work at the same time they apply for scholarships, explained Mason. Typical student jobs include work in the University's library, planetarium, dining halls, or student stores.

Applications for loans will not be accepted until late May when the student can furnish a more accurate picture of his financial resources. After this time, loan applications may be made any time, up to and during the academic year.

At Ackland

Ackland Art Center has announced its schedule of exhibits for the 1963-64 season.

The current exhibit, "The Mannerists," a collection illustrating the 16th century artist's interest in "unresolved tensions and ambiguities," can be seen until Dec. 3. Circulated by the American Federation of Arts (AFA), the collection contains 32 prints from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, and 10 bronze sculptures from the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore.

An exhibition of prints from the private collection of Dr. W. P. Jacobs will be featured at Ackland from Dec. 5 to Jan. 5. "The John White Drawings," which depict life in the "Lost Colony" in 1585, will be shown from Jan. 7 to Feb. 14.

Seventy-nine drawings by living sculptors will be shown from Feb. 15 to March 15 including the work of Giacometti, Lipton, Hepworth, Marini, Moore, and Calder. The exhibit is circulated by the Smithsonian Institute (SI). "Great Paintings of Our Time" is the title of a collection of contemporary paintings by outstanding artists from 40 International Exhibitions held at the Carnegie Institute. The artists represented include Afro, Dubuffet, de Kooning, Hartigan, Pollock, Tobey and Francis. To be held Mar. 3 thru the 31st, the collection is circulated by the AFA.

Ink and wash drawings from the Donald Oenslager Collection trace the history of stage design from the 16th century to the present day. Entitled "Four Centuries of Theatre Design," the collection is circulated by the AFA and will be presented Mar. 15 to April 12.

Photographs and drawings showing the recent architectural trends in the designs of educational facilities at Yale, Princeton, Harvard, M.I.T. and others can be seen April 15 to the 26 in a showing entitled, "On Campus: Recent Buildings." This collection is also circulated by the AFA.

"Selection from the Princeton Collection," works of art from one of the outstanding university art collections in the United States, can be seen April 21 to May 17.

During the summer months from May 27 to Oct. 1, "The 26th Student Art Annual" can be seen. This exhibition is designed to show the progression of the art students through the university's department of art.

Carolina Symposium Selects Committees

106 UNC students have been selected for the staff of the 1964 Carolina Symposium, according to Chairman Dick Hesse.

All committees of the Symposium met last week to begin work on the biannual program, which will be presented next spring. The topic is "Arms and the Man: National Security and the Aims of a Free Society."

The committees, their functions and their members are:

Related Discussions: This committee will arrange discussion sessions to be held in the weeks before the Symposium in classrooms and campus living units. The topics will provide background for the general Symposium subjects. Professors and other qualified speakers will lead the seminars.

Co-chairmen are Emily Klyce and Ford Rowan; members are Gordon Appell, Jim Barron, Alice Britton, Mary Ellis Cartiere, Stu Ellington, John Greenbacker, Hap Steward, Jay Hanon, Jane Moore, Alan Stevenson, Lane Verlonden, Willy Clark, Stanley Hofmeister, Gordon Hooks, Boyce Hudson, Nancy Huzzey, Mebane McDonald, Robert Noe, Bill Tomford, and Alice Ann Tucker.

Social and Hospitality: Members of this committee will act as hosts for the guests of the Symposium, and coordinate social functions during the week of the program.

The Exhibits sub-committee will be responsible for displays about Symposium topics and speakers. Chairman is Dave Edwards, and members are Mike Bissell, Nancy Fry, Roxanne Kalb, Don Lewis, Shirley Truitt, Eric Van Loon, and Tom White.

The Handbook committee will write and publish the Symposium handbook which contains information about the program and speakers. Patti Perrin is the chairman, and members are George Butler, Pat Dearborn, Susan Goode, Steve Hoar, and Al Shivers.

Remaining publicity work will be done by a committee headed by Carnes and DeLung. Members are Bert Bradshaw, David Broadhurst, Dave Crockett, and Dallen, Helen Ehrhardt, Miles Foy, ohn Froneberger, Steve Lackey, Suzanne Micaud, ohn Seago, Hugh Stevens, Franklin Tew, and Frank Welsh.

BULLETIN

A small fire in a refrigerator motor at Memorial Hospital brought several hundred students and three Chapel Hill Fire Department engines scurrying to the scene about 8:30 last night.

About $20 in damage was done when the motor, located in a seventh floor pantry, became overheated. The fire was put out by a hand extinguisher before firemen arrived.

Exclusive Cuban Film To Be Shown

Robert Cohen, photographer and lecturer, will present a film entitled "Castro's Cuba" Thursday at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall. The uncensored film was shot in Cuba this summer, and records Cuban life for the first time since Castro came to power.

The free film is sponsored by the GMAB Current Affairs Committee.

Cohen was granted authorization to enter Cuba at about the time American students were being refused entrance to the country. The entire film was developed in the U. S., and the Cubans had no opportunity to approve or disapprove.

The film shows a number of aspects of Cuban life, including Russian artillery sites, communist power plants, and state and private farms. There are sequences of an illegal Coca-Cola plant being run by the socialist government, and of Russian oil being produced in former Esso and Shell refineries.

There is also film of Castro in action, including the negotiations with American congressmen over the release of political prisoners. Mr. Cohen was official photographer for such sessions.

CADETS OF THE MONTH

Three UNC Air Force ROTC cadets selected as "Cadets of the Month" were announced recently by Lt. Col. Gordon D. Kage, professor of air science and commander of the UNC Air Force detachment.

Named were Cadet Sergeant Robert P. Lukens, a junior from Lansdale, Pa.; Cadet Ronald J. Logan, a sophomore from Chapel Hill, and Cadet Basic Lawrence W. Markham, a freshman from Durham.

The cadets were selected for their excellence in appearance, military bearing and knowledge of leadership functions within the Cadet Corps.
