

UNC Falls In Double-Overtime Thriller

The Daily Tar Heel

Parade Edition

★ ★ ★

Today's Weather

Variable cloudiness and cooler.

Offices in Graham Memorial

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1963

United Press International Service

Stars-Eye View

A WORKMAN puts the finishing touches on a star symbolizes the new program currently being given at the planetarium, "Star of Bethlehem." on the top of the Morehead Planetarium. The hem. —Photo by Jim Wallace

Violence-Torn Venezuela Calls For Cuban Blockade

CARACAS (UPI) — President Romulo Betancourt called Tuesday for an air naval blockade of Communist Cuba to prevent it from exporting arms and revolution.

Betancourt's call for hemispheric action against Fidel Castro came as new scattered violence flared anew in Venezuela and President-elect Raul Leoni awaited official confirmation of his election to the presidency. It also coincided with a Washington decision by the Organization of American States to investigate Venezuelan charges of aggression lodged against Cuba. The OAS council voted 16-0 to appoint a five-nation investigating committee to study the charges. Betancourt's call for action against Cuba was his second in a week. The first came after Venezuelan confirmation of suspicions that a three-ton shipment of arms and munitions found buried on a lonely Venezuelan beach last month originated in Cuba.

NEAR-WINNER

Leonard Victor Huggins Jr., part-time instructor in the Department of Art has been given an "Honorable Mention" award for his oil painting, "Painting Number 23" in the Fifth Annual Springs Art Contest and Show in Columbia, N. C.

The exhibition is limited to artists from the Carolinas and is sponsored annually in November by The Springs Cotton Mills. The six prize-winning entries and the 25 Honorable Mention winners will compose a traveling exhibit to be shown in the Springs Building in New York City for two weeks. The exhibition will then tour the Carolinas for six months.

UP To Meet Next Tuesday

The University Party will hold a regular business meeting next Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Gerrard Hall. The highlight of the meeting will be the election of a new party chairman to succeed Mike Chanin.

Other items on the agenda will be the same as those on the last scheduled party meeting which was postponed, with the exception that Dean Long will not speak. The UP Executive Committee will meet today at 4 p.m. in the Grail Room to conduct legislative interviews for vacant seats in TM II and IV.

Tom Gilmore To Address YDC Meet

Tom Gilmore, president-elect of the Young Democratic Clubs of North Carolina, will be the featured speaker at the second fall meeting of the Carolina YDC Thursday at 8 p.m. in Gerrard Hall. Gilmore will outline the YDC's obligations and responsibilities in next year's general elections. The speaker was selected as one of the three top Young Democrats in the nation in 1958 and was assistant manager of Gov. Terry Sanford's Youth Voters Campaign in 1960.

Exam Schedule

The time of an examination may not be changed after it has been fixed in the schedule. Quizzes are not to be given in this semester on or after Monday, January 13, 1964.

Prior to taking an examination to remove a grade of "Exc. Abs." or "Cond." a permit must be secured by the student from the Office of Records and Registration.

All French, German and Spanish courses
No'd 1, 2, 3, 3x & 4	Mon.	Jan. 20	8:30 a.m.
All 10:00 a.m. classes on MWF	Mon.	Jan. 20	2:00 p.m.
All 10:00 a.m. classes on TThS	Tues.	Jan. 21	8:30 a.m.
All 1:00 and 1:30 p.m. classes on MWF & *Political Sci. 41	Tues.	Jan. 21	2:00 p.m.
All 11:00 a.m. classes on MWF	Wed.	Jan. 22	8:30 a.m.
All 2:00 p.m. classes on TThS & *Busi. Adm. 71 & 72	Wed.	Jan. 22	2:00 p.m.
All 3:00 p.m. classes, all classes not otherwise provided for in this schedule & *Astr. 31 *Phys 24	Thurs.	Jan. 23	8:30 a.m.
All 8:00 a.m. classes on TThS	Thurs.	Jan. 23	8:30 p.m.
All 12:00 noon classes on MWF	Fri.	Jan. 24	2:00 p.m.
All 2:00 p.m. classes on MWF & *Econ. 61 & 70	Fri.	Jan. 24	2:00 p.m.
All 9:00 a.m. classes on TThS	Sat.	Jan. 25	8:30 a.m.
All 12:00 noon classes on TThS, All *Naval Science and *Air Science	Sat.	Jan. 25	2:00 p.m.
All 9:00 a.m. classes on MWF	Mon.	Jan. 27	8:30 a.m.
All 1:00 and 1:30 p.m. classes on TThS & *Busi 150	Mon.	Jan. 27	2:00 p.m.
All 11:00 a.m. classes on TThS	Tues.	Jan. 28	8:30 a.m.
All 8:00 a.m. classes on MWF	Tues.	Jan. 28	2:00 p.m.

Instructors teaching classes scheduled for common examinations shall request the students in these classes to report to them any conflict with any other examination not later than December 18. In case of a conflict, the regularly scheduled exam will take precedence over the common exam. (Common exams are indicated by an asterisk.)

Carey Addresses Newman Club

Labor Chieftain Blasts Business For 'Callous Hiring Indifference'

JAMES B. CAREY, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers and an AFL-CIO vice-president, Tuesday night charged that big business and industry have shown a "callous indifference" toward mass unemployment. Carey was addressing a meeting of the UNC Newman Club. —Photo by Jim Wallace

Labor Loss Is Cited As Top Problem

By GARY BLANCHARD
A top U.S. labor leader charged yesterday that big business and industry have shown a "callous indifference" and a "let-em-eat-cake condescension" toward mass unemployment, deprivation and suffering. He warned that this "could very possibly one day result in big business and industry being called to account."

"After all," said James B. Carey, 52, president of the International Union of Electrical workers and an AFL-CIO vice-president, "whose fault is it that the vaunted free enterprise system doesn't work for millions of jobless Americans?"

Speaking to the UNC Newman Club, a Catholic discussion group, Carey said "serious and drastic economic measures must be taken" to solve the nation's unemployment problem, which has caused "the paradox of poverty amidst plenty."

"Prominent among these measures should be a large public works program and the establishment of a 35-hour week throughout industry," he said. Carey, maintaining that two-fifths of the American people "live in poverty-stricken conditions," said "the right to a job is a property right" although this is not recognized as a constitutional fact or as a legal precedent.

"If an American in 1963 doesn't have the right to work, the right to a job, then what rights does he have?" Carey asked. "What rights does he have if he cannot provide a decent home for his family... if he cannot give his children necessary medical care and educational opportunities?"

In a brief interview, Carey said Monday's Supreme Court ruling giving state courts the right to enforce state laws regulating "agency shop" labor union agreements, "will have limited effects in limited areas and has mixed blessings."

"Rather than mincing steps, as the Court did in this decision," he added, "I would prefer that Congress enact legislation to repeal the Taft-Hartly Act, especially Section 14-B which gives the states the right to enact right-to-work legislation."

Carey also said that "Americans must rid themselves of irrational fears of economic planning, implanted by years of National Association of Manufacturers and Chamber of Commerce propaganda."

"Essentially what we have now is a planless society and a planless economy, and planlessness has brought us to our state of four postwar recessions, six million seemingly permanently unemployed, and 77 million impoverished and deprived."

"We must learn that economic planning thoroughly compatible with democracy and freedom, and that actually the greatest danger to freedom is mass unemployment, millions of men and women suffering enforced idleness and economic hardship."

Gator Bowl Train

Plans are under way to arrange for a special train to carry Carolina fans to the Gator Bowl, head cheerleader Tom Gruen announced today.

If enough interest is shown, the Seaboard Railroad will add special cars to its train, which will leave Raleigh at 9:15 p.m. Thursday night, Dec. 26, and arrive in Jacksonville Friday morning.

The round-trip cost will be $26.50 per person. Both block and individual seats will be sold, all on day coaches.

All interested persons are asked to call the student government secretary between 2 and 5 this afternoon. The number is 933-1257. Tell the secretary how many people are expected to be in your party.

Mike Lawler, Student Body president, will meet this afternoon with all dormitory, fraternity and sorority presidents. They will be notified sometime today of time and place for this meeting, the purpose of which is to coordinate groups interested in making the trip.

The 9:15 Thursday evening departure is only tentative. It is possible that the train could leave at 6:15 Friday morning (Dec. 27) or 9:50 that night, if the majority prefers this schedule.

World News Briefs

Administration Pledges Rights Support

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson Tuesday threw the full weight of his administration behind an all-out campaign to win the earliest possible passage of the late President Kennedy's civil rights bill. Leaders of Congress, organized labor and the Negro community immediately swung behind the President. They pledged solid support for swift enactment of what Johnson has described as one of the greatest tributes that could be paid to President Kennedy.

FBI Report Indicates Oswald 'A Loner'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An FBI report concludes that Lee Harvey Oswald was a "loner," who shot and killed President Kennedy, government sources said Tuesday. The report says the President was hit by two bullets, either of which would have killed him. The report is expected to be submitted to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Wednesday.

Murder Trial Of Jack Ruby Postponed

DALLAS (UPI)—The murder trial of Jack Ruby, who killed the man accused of assassinating President Kennedy, was postponed Tuesday until Feb. 3. Ruby's trial originally was scheduled to start Monday. But Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown postponed it after conferences with Dist. Atty. Henry Wade and defense lawyer Tom Howard. Neither Wade nor Howard commented. But it was understood that neither was ready for trial Monday.

Senate Approves Bill For Mrs. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate quickly approved a bill Tuesday to provide an office staff and Secret Service protection for Mrs. John F. Kennedy. The measure was sent back to the House for action on a couple of minor changes. The House passed the bill Monday. The Senate version gives Mrs. Kennedy an office staff for a year, free mailing privileges for life, and Secret Service protection for herself and her two children, Caroline and John Jr., for a year.

220 Servicemen Leave Saigon For Home

SAIGON, (UPI)—Three U.S. Air Force jet transports flew 220 U.S. military men out of South Viet Nam toward home Tuesday. Military sources here did not take the scheduled 1,000-man reduction as a sign the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas is going better or that the U.S. military effort is easing off. A total of 15,500 Americans remain.

Love Says Johnson Will Cut Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gov. John Love of Colorado said Tuesday that President Johnson will submit a budget next year $3 billion less than the one the late President Kennedy would have proposed. Love quoted Johnson as saying such a cut was necessary to assist in getting the tax bill through Congress. The governor did not know what the proposed Kennedy budget would have been.

Personality Tests Hard To Measure

By PATTY NASH

Measurement of personality tests in college admission procedures is "almost impossible," according to Charles Bernard, director of admissions at UNC. Bernard agrees with the College Entrance Examination Board which recently warned its members that the use of these tests involves "very serious risks."

"I just don't believe there's an effective test," he said. The CEEB feels that the full consequences of such tests of creativity, motivation and other characteristics are not yet known, and that they should not be used as a basis for admission to college.

The trustees also make it possible for students to lie in reporting their behavior to their advantage, the board stated. The trustees of the CEEB said that in many cases school authorities who don't understand the meaning of the measurement scores are given access to personal and private information.

UNC does not use personality tests in admitting students. In 1962, however, a group of freshmen were given the "Opinion, Attitude, and Interest Survey," a test which is known to be the most promising so far in its field. Motivation of the students was measured in this attempt to see if this type of testing is worthwhile. The results of the experiment are not yet known.

The "Opinion, Attitude, and Interest Survey" has several advantages over its predecessors. It is supposedly impossible to give a premeditated picture of yourself while taking the test. The best answers are not obvious, as is not the case with most tests of this type. The scoring keys are kept only at the scoring center, so it is impossible for unqualified persons to have access to this secret information.

The author of the test, Benno G. Fricke, hopes that this test will soon be used as College Boards are used, and to the same extent, according to Dan Campbell at the Computation Center.

Essentially what we have now is a planless society and a planless economy, and planlessness has brought us to our state of four postwar recessions, six million seemingly permanently unemployed, and 77 million impoverished and deprived.

"We must learn that economic planning thoroughly compatible with democracy and freedom, and that actually the greatest danger to freedom is mass unemployment, millions of men and women suffering enforced idleness and economic hardship."

"Government must play its role," he said, "with all other human institutions, in taking mankind's part in seeking the eradication of poverty and economic misery, in elevating the living standards and thus the dignity of all God's children."

Tracing the development of organized labor, Carey cited three papal encyclicals with playing a major role in bringing about recognition of "the rights and obligations of workers in the modern world."

"First was Pope Leo XIII's Rerum Novarum in 1891," he said, "and 40 years later Pope Pius XI's Quadragesimo Anno. Finally, two years ago, Pope John XXIII gave us the epochal Mater and Magistra."

Measurement of personality tests in college admission procedures is "almost impossible," according to Charles Bernard, director of admissions at UNC.

Bernard agrees with the College Entrance Examination Board which recently warned its members that the use of these tests involves "very serious risks."

"I just don't believe there's an effective test," he said. The CEEB feels that the full consequences of such tests of creativity, motivation and other characteristics are not yet known, and that they should not be used as a basis for admission to college.

The trustees also make it possible for students to lie in reporting their behavior to their advantage, the board stated. The trustees of the CEEB said that in many cases school authorities who don't understand the meaning of the measurement scores are given access to personal and private information.

UNC does not use personality tests in admitting students. In 1962, however, a group of freshmen were given the "Opinion, Attitude, and Interest Survey," a test which is known to be the most promising so far in its field. Motivation of the students was measured in this attempt to see if this type of testing is worthwhile. The results of the experiment are not yet known.

The "Opinion, Attitude, and Interest Survey" has several advantages over its predecessors. It is supposedly impossible to give a premeditated picture of yourself while taking the test. The best answers are not obvious, as is not the case with most tests of this type. The scoring keys are kept only at the scoring center, so it is impossible for unqualified persons to have access to this secret information.

The author of the test, Benno G. Fricke, hopes that this test will soon be used as College Boards are used, and to the same extent, according to Dan Campbell at the Computation Center.

Essentially what we have now is a planless society and a planless economy, and planlessness has brought us to our state of four postwar recessions, six million seemingly permanently unemployed, and 77 million impoverished and deprived.

"We must learn that economic planning thoroughly compatible with democracy and freedom, and that actually the greatest danger to freedom is mass unemployment, millions of men and women suffering enforced idleness and economic hardship."

"Government must play its role," he said, "with all other human institutions, in taking mankind's part in seeking the eradication of poverty and economic misery, in elevating the living standards and thus the dignity of all God's children."

Tracing the development of organized labor, Carey cited three papal encyclicals with playing a major role in bringing about recognition of "the rights and obligations of workers in the modern world."

"First was Pope Leo XIII's Rerum Novarum in 1891," he said, "and 40 years later Pope Pius XI's Quadragesimo Anno. Finally, two years ago, Pope John XXIII gave us the epochal Mater and Magistra."

Personality Tests Hard To Measure

By PATTY NASH

Measurement of personality tests in college admission procedures is "almost impossible," according to Charles Bernard, director of admissions at UNC. Bernard agrees with the College Entrance Examination Board which recently warned its members that the use of these tests involves "very serious risks."

"I just don't believe there's an effective test," he said. The CEEB feels that the full consequences of such tests of creativity, motivation and other characteristics are not yet known, and that they should not be used as a basis for admission to college.

The trustees also make it possible for students to lie in reporting their behavior to their advantage, the board stated. The trustees of the CEEB said that in many cases school authorities who don't understand the meaning of the measurement scores are given access to personal and private information.

UNC does not use personality tests in admitting students. In 1962, however, a group of freshmen were given the "Opinion, Attitude, and Interest Survey," a test which is known to be the most promising so far in its field. Motivation of the students was measured in this attempt to see if this type of testing is worthwhile. The results of the experiment are not yet known.

The "Opinion, Attitude, and Interest Survey" has several advantages over its predecessors. It is supposedly impossible to give a premeditated picture of yourself while taking the test. The best answers are not obvious, as is not the case with most tests of this type. The scoring keys are kept only at the scoring center, so it is impossible for unqualified persons to have access to this secret information.

The author of the test, Benno G. Fricke, hopes that this test will soon be used as College Boards are used, and to the same extent, according to Dan Campbell at the Computation Center.

Essentially what we have now is a planless society and a planless economy, and planlessness has brought us to our state of four postwar recessions, six million seemingly permanently unemployed, and 77 million impoverished and deprived.

"We must learn that economic planning thoroughly compatible with democracy and freedom, and that actually the greatest danger to freedom is mass unemployment, millions of men and women suffering enforced idleness and economic hardship."

"Government must play its role," he said, "with all other human institutions, in taking mankind's part in seeking the eradication of poverty and economic misery, in elevating the living standards and thus the dignity of all God's children."

Tracing the development of organized labor, Carey cited three papal encyclicals with playing a major role in bringing about recognition of "the rights and obligations of workers in the modern world."

"First was Pope Leo XIII's Rerum Novarum in 1891," he said, "and 40 years later Pope Pius XI's Quadragesimo Anno. Finally, two years ago, Pope John XXIII gave us the epochal Mater and Magistra."