

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Box 570
Chapel Hill, N.C.
All White Edition

The Daily Tar Heel

The Weather

Joint Us In The DTH Truck For Beach Weekend!

Founded Feb. 23, 1893

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1964

United Press International Service

Dr. Winn's Trial Opens In Hillsboro

Dr. William Winn, assistant professor of psychology at UNC, underwent trial yesterday on charges stemming from a sit-in demonstration.

He was one of five professors arrested at the demonstration at Watts Restaurant Jan. 3. One of the professors, Dr. David Smith of Duke, has already been tried and convicted. He was sentenced to sixty days on the roads, and later appealed the case.

Dr. Herbert Robinson, acting chairman of the Psychology Dept., told the DTH the department "had no intention of taking action if Winn is given a sentence."

"Every effort," he continued, "will be made to protect his academic freedom and to keep this from interfering with his actions as a private citizen." Orange County Superior Court, Judge Raymond B. Mallard completed calling the list of defendants in cases transferred Monday to Federal court. Mallard asked each defendant if the attorneys who had filed the petition on their behalf represented them when doing so.

Mallard refused to answer questions from reporters as to the reasons for these questions.

When court recessed for lunch, attorneys for Dr. Winn had not yet begun to question members of the jury in order to pass on them.

How D'Ya Make Elephants Fried? (Feed Them Marula)

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Harassed game rangers in South Africa's famed Kruger National Park are trying to cope with 1,750 tipsy elephants.

The elephants have been disgracefully drunk for the last five weeks from eating the yellow fruit of the marula trees which dot the game reserve.

Elephants, it seems, are rarely mean drunks but their alcoholic hijinks already have put one man in a hospital and their annual binge has another week or two to run.

The marula bears fruit for six or seven weeks each year. It has a cloyingly sweet, very rich flavor. Africans use it to brew a particularly potent beverage.

The elephants have a simpler process. They lumber from tree to tree, stuffing the fruit down their gullets. It ferments in their stomachs and in no time they are loaded.

They wander red-eyed through the park, waving their trunks happily from side to side and looking for more marulas.

"They very rarely get aggressive," a national parks board spokesman said, "and they never get paralytically drunk. They are just like any human being after five or six drinks."

Student Party Elects Larry Ford As VP

Hockfield In SL; Stoddard Is Named

Larry Ford was elected vice-chairman and Dean Stoddard sergeant-at-arms of the Student Party in a meeting in Gerrard Hall last night.

Steve Hockfield was elected to fill a vacant legislative seat in Town Men's 3. All three elections were by acclamation.

Chairman Paul Dickson urged all candidates for spring elections to make themselves known to party officers.

Legislative candidates should see Jeff Davis, Lanny Shuff or Dickson. National Student Association candidates should see Phil Baddour or Neal Jackson. Candidates for senior class offices should see Dickson.

Bob Smith was appointed chairman of the Membership Committee by Dickson. Smith will coordinate chairmen of 15 districts in the spring membership drive.

The nominating convention will be held in Gerrard Hall March 17 and 18. The last party meeting before the convention will be Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Gerrard.

Party members are reminded that they must attend two spring meetings to be eligible to vote at the convention.

Dan Moore Addresses 425 In Gerrard

Photo by Jim Wallace

Moore Dines At Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity . . .

By FRED SEELY

The mountains came to Chapel Hill last night, and the 425 people at Gerrard Hall seemed impressed.

Dan Moore, the first candidate for governor to visit UNC this year, spoke to a near-capacity crowd, and gave his views on the Speaker Ban, Public Accommodations and integration to the attentive audience.

"The 'Gag Law' is not a necessary law," he said, "but I am not in favor of Communists bringing their ideology to public owned land. If they want to talk, they should rent a hall."

"The law should be amended to allow speakers with non-political topics to discuss their fields."

He tied the Speaker Ban to an earlier plea—that for more money in the state. "I can't see any reason to spend so much money to fight Communism, money that could be used to improve conditions in this state, and still allow them to come and try to convince us that their way is best."

He drew his biggest round of applause when he answered a spectator's query on how he stood on the proposed Public Accommodations law with a simple, "I'm against it."

"This nation was founded on a system of free enterprise," he added. "I believe in this concept from head to toe."

"A man has a right to operate a business any way he desires, and he has the right to say who he will and who he won't accommodate."

On the subject of integration, he commented that it was his belief that "every citizen should have equality of opportunity—to make full use of his God-given abilities." But, he warned, "we should earn what we get."

Moore's speech was sponsored jointly by the Orange County and UNC Young Democratic Clubs.

Lane Brown, president of the UNC-YDC, directed the program. Moore was introduced by L. D. Hyde, his campaign manager at UNC. Hyde spoke of Moore's record in the legislative, judicial and executive fields and of his years of service to the state.

Moore, a former Superior Court judge, is a member of the UNC Law School Foundation, a director of the Alumni Association and serves on the Morehead Foundation. He received his B.S. degree here in 1927, attended law school and was admitted to the North Carolina Bar in 1928.

He served as Jackson County's representative to the General Assembly in the early 1940's, and later was appointed to the federal bench. He resigned the latter post to serve as attorney for Champion Paper and Fiber Co. in Canton. Moore is married and has two children. He makes his home in Canton.

Both Sides Of Rights Movement Hit

The Dean of the UNC Law School has blasted elements on both sides of the civil rights movement.

Dean Henry H. Brandis, speaking Monday before the Forsyth County Bar Association, urged the lawyers to "condemn with fine impartiality the scofflaw elements on both sides."

He criticized "young fanatics for lying down in the streets of Chapel Hill and other communities," but said:

"It is very much more dangerous for a small minority in the Senate to block a vote" on the civil rights bill.

He said lawyers who have been loud in condemning street demonstrations have been generally silent as to the dangers inherent in the defiance of law "by the Barnetts, the Gen. Walkers, the Wallaces."

"It is just as immoral to penalize someone because he is a member of a community as it is because he is black . . . By destroying public order they may achieve a kind of equality—the tragic equality of injustice and insecurity for all."

On the other side of the coin, Brandis said history shows that one of the reasons the Roman republic became a dictatorship was because the Roman Senate refused to bend "even a little to the winds of change. There was nowhere to go but the streets. If you have a situation where you cannot get a hearing then you are going to have an explosion."

Women's Council Frees 2 Sit-Ins

By JOHN GREENBACKER
The Women's Council set a precedent in the prosecution of coeds guilty of infractions of the late hours rule Monday night. It decided to dismiss charges against a coed who was jailed after a civil rights demonstration.

In dismissing charges, the Council ruled, "Any violation of the women's residence rules as the result of being jailed by civil authorities will not be tried by the Women's Council." "Infractions of the Honor and Campus Codes committed in connection with the above civil actions will, however, continue to be tried by the Council."

Stephanie Wilber, the defendant, was charged with being out of her dormitory without permission December 17 and 18 after being arrested by Chapel Hill Police.

Explaining that she "had no intention of not coming back on time," Miss Wilber said that she made "a split-second decision" to risk being jailed that night while at a civil rights meeting.

Miss Wilber said a member of the Chapel Hill Freedom Committee was supposed to notify her dorm mother if she was arrested.

The defendant was taken into custody by police for trespassing.

(Continued on Page 3)

AAUP Establishes Group To Check Discrimination

By KERRY SIPE

A committee to investigate racial discrimination in hiring practices at the University was established by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) Monday night.

The UNC chapter also passed a resolution opposing the punishment of faculty members and students participating in "peaceful" demonstrations in support of controversial causes.

CPU Interviews

The Carolina Political Union will hold interviews for the seven remaining positions this week.

Interviews will be held Friday from 2-5 p.m. in Roland Parker I of Graham Memorial. Interested students should sign up at GM Information Desk before noon Friday. Graduates and undergraduates may apply.

Anyone wishing to apply but unable to attend interviews Friday should contact Gerry Good in 310 Grimes before Friday.

THE CHAD MICHELL TRIO will appear at Memorial Hall tonight at 8. The popular group combines folk music with humor, but, unfortunately, if you don't have a ticket yet you can't go. It's sold out.

No Demonstrations

The town is now in its third week of comparative racial calm, although integration leaders have not officially extended their moratorium on protests which invite arrest.

The moratorium, called on Feb. 15, ran out Friday and the Chapel Hill Freedom Committee said it would not be extended. But there were no demonstrations of any kind over the weekend.

Some observers have expressed opinions that the switching of attention from the streets to the courts—whether in Hillsboro's Superior Court or Greensboro's Federal Court—means there will be no full-scale protests for at least several more weeks. Smaller protests are considered more likely.

If the demonstration cases are sent back to Hillsboro, most of the integration leaders, all with multiple counts, will have to spend most of each week in the courthouse.

One integration leader said, "We are leaving ourselves open to resume demonstrations." He pointed out that most protests which have resulted in the arrest of more than 600 since mid-December, have occurred at night and on weekends, when court is not in session.

The expulsion of two Lincoln High School students, both active in demonstrations, has subdued the enthusiasm of many Lincoln students for engaging in protests, integration leaders have indicated privately. High school students have formed a large part of recent protests.

A town official said, when the moratorium began, that the halt was called because the integrationists had run out of money and could not maintain the high momentum of their movement.

Rev. LaVert Taylor, an SCLC field secretary, is in Chapel Hill this week.

—Photo by Jim Wallace.

. . . Then Addressing A Gathering of 425 Listeners In Gerrard

Dean's List Given For Fall Semester

Five hundred and twenty-seven students have made the Dean's List for the fall semester, the College of Arts and Sciences announced yesterday. Of these, 25 made all A's: Franklin Adkinson, Everett Baucum, Stephen Blackwelder, William Brown, Thomas Byrd, Mary Daniell, Joel Drinkard, Stuart Eizenstat, Charles Jones, Edward Kouri, John Leonard, Richard Lewis, Edward Martin, Marjorie Matthews, Charles McFadden, Betty McIntosh, Henry Middleton, James Nelson, Warren Ogden, Lavon Page, James Rossman, William Rowe, James Smith, Roy Sparrow, Robert Spearman, and Ann Thompson.

Requirements for the Dean's List are at least 15 semester hours and an over-all average of B with no grade under C.

The other students on the Dean's List are:

Henry Aldridge, Sandra Alexander, Elizabeth Allen, Edward Anderson, Willard Andes, David Ange, Carven Angel, John Angell, Floyd Anley.

Caleria Armstrong, Thomas Arnold, Robert Arthur, John Atkins, John Aull, David Bamberger, William Barclay, George Bare, Roberta Barkoff, Jesse Barnes, James Barnhill.

Vance Barron, Wanda Battle, Bernard Baucum, Jeffrey Bayer, Jonathan Baylin, Cyrus Bazemore, James Beall, Joseph Beatty, James Beck.

Daniel Bell, Marshall Bellovin, Robert Bennett, Robert Bennett, James Benson, Robert Benson, Jeffrey Bernstein, Hugh Blackwell, Lucius Blanchard, William Boggan, Ronald Bone, Carl Boswell, William Bowerman, John Boxley.

Eugene Bricklemeyer, Corbett Britt, Mary Arnall Broach, Thomas Brooks, Bette Broome, Holman Brown, Thomas Brown, Wilbur Brown, Bruce Bruhwel, Richard Bryson, Robert Buchanan.

Elizabeth Bullard, Maida Burch, Fred Burdette, Randy Burge, David Burkette, Phillip Burks, Raymond Burns, William Busby, Thomas Byrum, Harold Cameron, Jon Caminez, William Campbell, Carlton Cann, Gene

Capps, Robert Carden. James Robert Carpenter, Sylvia Carpenter, George Carson, Michael Carson, Willard Case, James Cashion, Margaret Cathell, Dudley Chandler, Keywood Cheves, John Church, Hubert Clapp, Elizabeth Clark, James Clark.

Locke Clifford, Ann Cline, Winston Cochran, Phillip Coleman, Wesley Collins, Richard Cooler, Betty Cordell, Guy Crompton, Joanne Creasy, John Creech, Thomas Cribblin, David Crook, Lawrence Cross, Alvin Crowder.

Larry Crumpler, Janica Cutler, Jane Dallen, Bobby Dampier, Deanna Darr, Joseph Daugherty, Melanie Dauskart, Donald Davenport, Andrew Davidson, Archibald Davis, Beverly Davis, Ralph Davis, Thomas Davis.

William Davis, William Davis, Alain DeFonstey, Paul Delamar, Ann Dellinger, Jerry Dellinger, Stephen Dennis, David Derr, Margot Deupree, Foy Devine, Lawrence Diedrick, Jean Dillin, George Dingeldein, Kent Dixon, Arthur Dodson, George Doyle, John Doyle.

Stephen Dudasik, Valerie Dumontier, Elliott Dworin, Leonard Dzelzitis, Alton Eason, Ellen Edlenfield, Herbert Edwards, Sam Edwards, Helen Ehrhardt, Lawrence Ehrhart, Robert Ekstrom.

Louise Emerson, James Estridge, Carolyn Eubanks, Mary Evans, Richard Falls, Hyman Field, Beth Fineberg, Leslie Fleisher, Mary Fleming, Frank Fletcher, Faye Ford, Tara Forsyth, Kathryn Fort.

Alvin Fountain, John Fromberger, Holly Frost, Nancy Frye, Edwin Fuller, Martha Gardner, Richard Garner, David Garnett, Dorothy Gerth, Charles Gidney, Howard Godwin, Steven Goldstein, Cleon Goodwin.

Susan Gordon, Norman Gorsuch, Walter Graham, Annette Grant, James Gravelly, James Gray, Richard Greenanier, John Grier, William Griffith, Francis Griffin, Joseph Griffin.

(Continued on Page 3)

Campus Calendar

All Campus Calendar items must be submitted in person at the DTH offices in GM by 2 p.m. the day before the desired publication date.

TODAY

UP Interviews for Endorsement to SL—3-5 p.m., Woodhouse.

Psychiatry Seminar—1:30 p.m., South Wing, Dr. G. A. Tolley, "Schizophrenia."

Women interested in the $2 dance lessons, Thurs. 7-8:30 p.m., may sign up at GM information desk.

Basketball Club—4 p.m., Women's Gym.

Stray Greeks—6 p.m., Lenior.

Badminton Club—7 p.m., Women's Gym.

Scuba Diving Club—7:30 p.m., indoor pool.

Italian Cultural Society—7-9 p.m., Villa Tempesta, reservation for Italian dinner will be taken by Gail Garrison (929-1456) before Monday.

CWC—6:30 p.m., Grail Room.

SL Ways & Means Comm.—5 p.m., Woodhouse.

YM-YWCA Dix Hill Group—2 p.m., Y-Court, orientation for volunteer work.

Foreign Students' Comm.—6 p.m., Lenior.

Town Students Campus Chest Booth will be set up in Y-Court, today and Thursday., 9-5; and in the library today, 7-10:30.

Drug Symposium—8 p.m., School of Pharmacy, Dr. C. Fordham, "Drugs Acting on the Pancreas."

MOVIES

Carolina—Sunday in New York Varsity—America, America Rialto—Tom Jones

LOST AND FOUND

Lost—twisted gold circle pin between Pine Room and Mc— (Continued on Page 3)

Aycock Meets With Students On Rights

Student investigations of discriminatory practices in the University continued yesterday at a meeting of students and administrators.

The Student Legislature's Special Committee on Discriminatory Practices, chaired by Neal Jackson (SP), met with Chancellor William Aycock and Dean of Student Affairs C. O. Cathey.

The Committee had previously (Continued on Page 3)

Terry And The Pirates

Governor Terry Sanford hands over his check to UNC Campus Chest co-chairmen Betty Ward and Gerry Good. The solicitation fund drive starts on campus this week.