

Sunglasses '64

The outlook from the glasses is all colors. Sunglasses are wild, man. They are square. They are large. They are small slits. They have pink glass. They have green glass. They are red and yellow. They are sometimes impractical. They are most often practical. They are French or American. They are not so much Italian. They look delicate. They are durable. They are great for girl watching. They are great for boy watching. They are great for hangovers. They are great for beach and hangovers. They are great for sun. They are great for incognito. We need 'em. Above all, we're ively . . . We have to come in shades.
