Yanks Wait For Release

BERLIN (UPI) — American officials waited in vain Monday for the Soviet Union to fulfill its promise to free two U.S. Air Force men captured 13 days ago when their RB66 jet reconnaissance plane was shot down over Communist East Germany.

In Washington, the State Department said it had received no definite word on when, where or how the Soviets would release the two officers.

A spokesman said there was no information available beyond Sunday's statement by Secretary of State Dean Rusk that Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin promised the fliers would be returned "in the near future."

U.S. officials here said they were disappointed and surprised that the airmen were not released Monday.

A third officer aboard the plane when it was shot down—1st Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, of Detroit—was turned over to American authorities Saturday. He was injured in parachuting from the airplane.

The other officers are Capt. David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn., and Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, of Philadelphia. Officials here could not understand why the Russians had told the State Department of the release plan if they did not intend to carry it out immediately.

The timing of the announcement also was remarkable. Rusk's television announcement took American State Department and military officials by surprise. They first heard of it from news reports.

The Russians promise to return the airmen meant acceptance of the American statement that the aircraft had not been on an espionage flight but had strayed across the East-West German border because of a navigational failure.

The Soviets at first charged the men had been on a spy flight. They apparently changed their mind about this when the United States in a protest note demanded the fliers' release and warned their continued detention would jeopardize relations with Moscow.

Aid Asked For Projects

The Community Welfare Committee of Student Government, in cooperation with the Inter-Church Council of Chapel Hill, has called for student aid in two community projects.

The Committee has called for volunteers to drive to the county welfare warehouse in Hillsboro on the second and third Tuesday and Thursday of each month to pick up and deliver surplus goods to 182 needy families in the Chapel Hill area.

Students interested in this program may contact Shirley White at 942-1277.

The Committee is also trying to raise $2000 for a school lunch program for 100 needy elementary and high school students in Chapel Hill.

Half the money has been collected, and Easter is the deadline for the drive. Contributors may send money to Dr. Robert Seymour at the Binkley Baptist Church, 507 East Franklin Street.

The Committee and the Council have also urged students who wish to tutor fifth and sixth grade Negro students, who are unprepared to enter local integrated junior high schools, to contact Hilliard Caldwell at 929-1492.

FASTERS — Five integrationists begin their third day of fasting today in protest to remaining segregation practices in Chapel Hill. The demonstrators, Pat Cusick, 32, a field secretary for the Student Peace Union; the Rev. La Vert Taylor, 23, field secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; James Foushee, 21; Melody Dickinson, 24, a former UNC student, and John Dunne, 21, chairman of the Chapel Hill Freedom Committee, have vowed to go without food in front of the Post Office for eight days. The group said that since their fast began, numerous people have brought them newspapers, cigarettes, blankets and crushed ice. The only reported incident occurred Sunday night around midnight when someone threw eggs at them. "The response has been much more favorable than we expected," said Dunne.

Cuba Nationalization Is Backed By Court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled today that U. S. courts must treat as valid Fidel Castro's nationalization of American property in Cuba.

As a result, Cuba can legally collect $175,000 realized from the sale of some sugar belonging to a seized American company. The case will have a hearing on many others with millions of dollars at stake.

Since Congress has frozen all Cuban funds in this country, however, the Castro regime cannot get its hands on the money. The 8 to 1 decision will have a bearing on numerous other court challenges here to Cuban nationalizations. The government reported 37 cases in New York alone.

The Cuban decision upheld the position of the Justice Department, which argued that generally speaking U. S. courts must recognize as valid acts of a recognized foreign government affecting ownership of property in that country.

This is known as the "act of state" doctrine. The department contended that U. S. foreign relations could be adversely affected if U. S. courts made judgments in this area.

Today's case dealt with Castro's seizure of a shipload of sugar on Aug. 6, 1960, in Jucaro Harbor. The sugar belonged to one of 26 companies seized by the Castro regime on that day.

A New York commodity broker, Farr, Whitlock, & Co., had already contracted to sell the shipment to a customer in Morocco. The firm went ahead with the deal and realized $175,000. On order of a New York State court, these funds were placed in escrow for the stockholders of the original owners, most of whom live in the United States.

The Banco Nacional de Cuba, financial agent of the Castro government, sued to recover the money.

Federal District Judge Edward J. Dimock dismissed the suit and was upheld by the 2nd U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The second circuit said Cuba violated international law when it took the property and therefore did not have legal title to the funds.

Justice John M. Harlan spoke for the court today in a 39-page opinion.

Regulations Released On Elections

Bill Aycock, chairman of the Elections Board, has issued the following statement in regard to regulations for the spring elections:

Spring elections for Student Body officers, Senior Class officers, President of the Carolina Athletic Association, President of the Women's Athletic Association, Editor(s)-in-Chief of the Daily Tar Heel, Chairman of the Women's Residence Council, Delegates to the National Student Congress, Student Legislature Representatives and Members of the Men's and Women's Councils will be held on Tuesday, April 14, 1964. Polls will be open from 10:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

- As specified by the General Election Law the following events are subject to deadlines:
- 1. Nominations by parties—April 2, 1964
- 2. Nominations by selections boards—April 2, 1964
- 3. Nominations by petition—April 2, 1964
- 4. Requests for absentee ballots—April 8, 1964 by 4 p.m.
- 5. Submitting of campaign expense accounts—April 13, 1964, by 12 noon.

A compulsory meeting of all candidates and party chairmen will be held Thursday night, April 2, 1964 at 8:00 in the auditorium of Howell Hall. Any absence from this meeting without the WRITTEN permission of the Chairman of the Elections Board will result in the candidate being disqualified. Should such an unexcused absence occur the candidate can be reinstated by contacting the Chairman of the Elections Board within forty-eight (48) hours after the meeting and paying a $5.00 fine.

Glee Club Gives Program Tonight

By HENRY McINNIS

The Men's Glee Club will present a concert tonight at 8 p.m. in Hill Music Hall with a wide-ranging program encompassing American folk songs, excerpts from "Show Boat," specialties performed by a student singing quartet and two choral pieces with text by Carl Sandburg and Robert Frost.

A featured soprano soloist, Mrs. Bernice Otudeko, a teacher at Frank Porter Graham School in Chapel Hill, will join Glee Club director Dr. Joel Carter and accompanist Michael Kelly, in the event sponsored by University's Tuesday Evening Series.

The program in order of performance follows: "Almighty God of Our Fathers," Will James; "Florate, fili Israel," Giacomo Carissimi; "Hospodi Pomiloi," (Russian Liturgy), S. V. Lvovsky; "Missa Brevis" (1955) including "Kyrie Eleison," "Gloria in Excelsis," "Sanctus and Benedictus qui Venit," and "Agnus Dei," Healey Willan; "Who Shall Speak for the People," (Carl Sandburg), Robert Kurka; "Stopping by the Woods on a Snowy Evening," (Robert Frost), Randall Thompson.

Also, "Backe and Side Goe Bare (John Still), R. Vaughan Williams; "I Hear a Voice a-Praying," arr. Houston Bright, "Ol' Joe Clark," (American folk song), arr. Charles F. Bryan; solo, Bernice Otudeko, soprano; "Dark Water," Will James; "The Eddystone Light," (Sea Chantey), arr. Walter Ehret; specialties by "The Confederates," Bill Masten, Kris Silliman, Carlyle Stull and Ron Walker; "Dance, My Comrades!," (Russian folk song), Richard Bennett; Medley from "Showboat," including "Make Believe," "You Are Love," "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man," (solo: Bernice Otudeko), "Why Do I Love You?," and "Ol' Man River," solo by Ron Walker.

Several fires of undetermined origin broke out early Sunday morning in the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house on Pittsboro Street, causing extensive damage to a downstairs living room. Chief William Blake of the Chapel Hill police department said arson was suspected. His department, local firemen, and officials of the N. C. Fire Insurance Commission are investigating.

Debaters Lose Out In Meet

The UNC Debate Team failed to place in the finalist competition at the Southeastern Regional College Tournament at Emory University in Atlanta last weekend.

Haywood Clayton, captain of the team, and Bob Powell, former state high school debate champion, represented the team at the semi-final competition.

This was the first year that UNC had been invited to attend the Atlanta tournament.

Ten college teams, chosen by a panel of judges as the best in the South, met one another once during the semifinals. The top four teams in the competition will get a chance to attend the national championship runoff at West Point.

"We were very disappointed in the results, but there were some really good teams up against us," said Powell.

The Carolina team went into the debate as a "dark horse" entry. Favorites at the meet were Alabama and Vanderbilt. Clayton led the debate team to a 28-11 season this year with wins over strong Sanford, Wisconsin and Army and two wins over Duke.

Powell, a Morehead Scholar, was the only freshman to make the Varsity Debate Team this year.

The team is coached by Dr. Donald Springen, professor of Speech.

Mac Boxley, Phi Delt president, said the fires were discovered about 5:45 a.m. Sunday by two fraternity members, who called the fire department and awakened the occupants of the house. Approximately 40 persons were asleep in the house when the fires were discovered.

Fire extinguishers were used to put out the blaze. Three separate windows in the living room were burned, causing damage to curtains, woodwork, and furniture. A smaller fire was also found on a basement bar, but it was put out without difficulty.

Fraternity members also said that charred broom or rake handles were found in the boiler. The damages were covered by insurance.

No estimate of the damages could be made by house officials yesterday. They also declined to comment further on the fire pending the outcome of police and fire department investigations.

Chief Blake said that the apparently separate character of the fires and the fact that some curtains were apparently ignited four feet above the floor had led police to conduct their investigation.

The first police report on the case is expected today. Fraternity officials refused temporarily to allow photographs.

'Fantasticks' Opens Tonight At 8

"The Fantasticks," an off-Broadway musical comedy, will be presented by the Carolina Playmakers today and tomorrow at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for the production will not be covered by Playmakers season tickets. Based on Edmund Rostand's "Les Romanesques," the play has had a long and successful run in New York.

Director of the play is UNC graduate student Larry Warner of the Department of Dramatic Arts.

Tickets are on sale at the Playmakers Business Office, 214 Abernethy Hall, at $1 each.

CS Goes Literary

By JANE DALLEN

"Reflections of the Conflict?; The Cold War and American Letters" will be the panel discussion of Irving Howe, Marya Mannes, John Knowles and William Coles for the Carolina Symposium on April 8.

The distinguished panel, to be moderated by William Coles, will examine the possible changes in philosophic themes, moral assumptions, and conceptions of a society in the Cold War environment.

Irving Howe is Professor of English at Hunter College. Formerly Chairman of the English Department at Brandeis University, he has taught at Stanford, Indiana, Washington, and Wayne State Universities. In 1953 Professor Howe conducted the Christian Gauss Seminar in Literary Criticism at Princeton University.

Awarded the Kenyon Review Fellowship in Literary Criticism and the Bollingen Fellowship for work on American Literature, Mr. Howe has also received awards from the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and the Longview Foundation.

Dr. Howe is the author of "Politics and the Novel; Modern Literary Criticism; William Faulkner, a Critical Study; and The Basic Writings of Trotsky." Marya Mannes, essayist, political satirist and TV and theatre critic, was on the staff of "The Reporter" from 1952-1963. Author of monthly essays for "Book Week," Dr. Mannes also has written "More in Anger," "Subverse," "Message from a Stranger," and "The New York I Know."

Jackson Scholarship Goes To Lawrence

John E. Lawrence Jr. of Shelby has been awarded the four-year Herbert Worth Jackson Scholarship to attend UNC.

The Jackson Scholarship was established in 1933 by Mrs. Jackson as a memorial to her husband, a UNC graduate in 1886 and a banker in North Carolina and later in Virginia where he was president of the Virginia Trust Company.

The scholarship is worth $3400 and is awarded only once in four years to either a graduate of a North Carolina high school or a prep school in or out of the state.

Adams Takes 3rd Place In Contest

Bert Adams, a UNC graduate student, was the third prize winner in the southeastern Metropolitan Opera competition in Atlanta.

He received the Anne duPont Peyton Memorial Award, a $100 check, and has been urged by John Gutman of the Met to go to New York for an individual hearing.

Adams, a baritone, has appeared with the NC Symphony, the University Chorus and the Chapel Hill Choral Club.

A 1961 recipient of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, Adams is completing work for his Ph.D. in sociology under a National Institute of Mental Health grant.

Bond And Outwater Get Teacher Awards

Carolyn Bond and David Outwater, both seniors, have been elected Miss and Mr. Student Teacher of 1964 at UNC and are representing the University at the state Student National Education Association (SNEA) meeting in Raleigh.

Carolyn, who graduated from Peace College, has served as program chairman of the local SNEA chapter and has been active on the Secretariat and the Carolina Handbook. David attended Pfeiffer College and is now president of the local SNEA chapter. In December he presented a paper to the National Education Association in Washington, D. C.

They will be attending the Raleigh meeting through Saturday with eight other UNC students.

SPU Will Sponsor Speaker Tonight

David Hartsough of the American Friends Service Committee will address the Student Peace Union tonight at 8 in Gerrard Hall on the influences an American student can wield over Congressional legislation.

Hartsough believes that American students could have a decisive influence over legislation in Congress.

A graduate of Howard University in Washington, D. C., Hartsough studied for a year in Germany and has made several trips to the Soviet Union in recent years.

He is a member of the Friends Committee on National Legislation, which is sponsoring his appearance here.

Triangle Players Hold Over Show

"Except We Got Robbins," an absurd comedy in one act, will be presented by the Triangle Players at the Triangle Coffee House (formerly the Null and Void) in Durham at 9:30 p.m. on March 25 and 29. Written by Dalton Smith of UNC and directed by Ben Jones, the play is an examination of a society which traps its members or "debtors" in a net of conformity.

The cast includes Cara Landry, Dan Clayton, Lise Knox, Keith Payne and Ben Jones, all of Chapel Hill, along with Jim Zellner and Jim Pipkins of Durham.

Coed Reinstated

A coed was reinstated from an indefinite suspension in a hearing before the Women's Council Thursday night.

The student received the sentence April 27, 1963, when she was convicted of both Campus and Honor Code violations. She had stayed overnight in a fraternity and then lied about it to her dormitory advisor.

Indefinite suspension generally lasts for one full academic semester. A student may be reinstated at any time upon acceptance of a written request to the Council.

Gentry Appointed By Chancellor

Chancellor William B. Aycock announced the appointment of Dr. John T. Gentry as assistant dean for Program Development and associate professor of Public Health Administration, School of Public Health, beginning August 1, 1964.

Dr. Gentry belongs to the American Public Health Association; the American Association for the Advancement of Sciences; the American College of Preventive Medicine; and the American Cancer Society.
